Rose, ranked fourth deep in the world and " No. 1 seeded here, lived up to advance notices with a 6-3, 6-4, 6-2 victory over second-seeded Vic Hartwig, also of Australia, and then teamed with Hartwig for a 6-4, 6-4, 6-2 triumph over George Worthington, Australia, and Tony Vincent, New York in the doubles.

The large entry list of Canadians didn't have a chance and the Australians had to be content with championships in the veterans' singles and doubles open only to codgers of 45 or older. Phil Michlin of Rochester, N.Y., won the singles title 7-5, 6-4 over Ben Freedhoff of Toronto and Jack Castle and Lou Stein, also of Rochester, took the doubles 6-1, 6-3 over Staff Beck Toronto, and Michlin.

Only one big upset came out of the proceedings. Lorne Main, former city of Vancouver and now living in Toronto, went out in the third round of the men's singles by 7-5, 1-6, 6-3 scores to Mario Llamas of Mexico.

Buffalo Wins Canadian Henley Title
St. Kitts Fades in Stretch, Finish 2nd

By CRAIG SWAYZE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PORT DALHOUSIE (CP)—A 37-year-old veteran of 37 rowing campaigns led the Buffalo Canoe Club Rowing Club to its third consecutive Royal Canadian Henley championship here Saturday.

First-seated Jimmy Newton rowed three Buffalo fours to victory on the final afternoon of the four-day regatta in a sweep which saw the West Siders' crop six firsts, one second and two thirds for the Maple Leaf trophy, emblematic of the Henley title.

Buffalo went into Saturday's 12 senior events' deep in which place and came out on top in 8 of the 12 events. Their chief rivals, the St. Catharines Rowing Club, leaders Thursday and Friday, faded in the stretch to finish with 29 points, 11 behind the top spot. Hamilton Leanders were third with 19½, Hewson rowed to Buffalo's winning senior four-oared, junior 155-pound four and senior 155-pound four. It also won junior fours, senior 155-pound eights and senior 155-pound eights.

Vespers Win Eights

However, Buffalo dropped its favorite race, the senior heavy eights for the Neil Mann Memorial Trophy. A powerful Philadelphia Vesper Boat Club crew came through in that event, won by West Sides the previous seven years.

Jack Kelly, Jr., Grover Cleveland Sculls winner, stroked the Vesper eight to a 4½ length victory over St. Catharines and Leanders in that order.

Kelly also clicked in the championship singles with a seven-length win on Bobby Williams of Hamilton Leanders. He appeared set' easy in his win, but Williams led for more than half of the two-mile, 550-yard course.

Earlier Kelly and Chuck McIlvaine combined to win the senior doubles by open water from the York-AC Eugene Loveless and Eddy Lyons and the WYAC finished second to Kelly and McIlvaine, pushing the Vesper entry all the way.

The veteran Joe Angyal of NYAC came up with victories in the senior 140-pound singles, the senior 140-pound quarter-mile dash and the senior lightweight doubles with Terry Welsh, sculled with him in the doubles.

Welsh and Angyal also broke a 1936 record in the double, knocking 10 seconds off the old time mark set by Ken Thornburn and Jack Kelly at Carnegie, Argosauts.

Tom McGraw of the Philadelphia Penn AC took the open quarter-mile dash by less than a foot over McIlvaine with identical finishing times.

Detroit Rowing Club had an easy win in the senior 145-pound eights. They finished two lengths up on the Detroit Boat Club with St. Catharines Isolde in the stretch to allow Buffalo a third.

Sport in Brief

WINNIPEG (CP)—British Columbia swimmers, headed by the strong Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club, boosted 18 titles as the three-day 1953 Aquanal Canadian swimming championships opened Saturday night at Winnipeg's Sherbrook pool.

Only three records were broken during the first day of the meet, and none went to the VASC.

Montreal wound up with four swimming championships, Ontario three and Winnipeg two. The senior men's diving crown went to Bill Patrick of Calgary. Jacqueline Le-Blanc of Toronto was the senior women's winner.

Sixteen-year-old Leno Fisher of Ocean Falls, B. C., took the first 5-1 heat of the 100-yard backstroke. The senior women in one minute, 10 4-10 seconds—1 6-10 seconds better than her own previous record of one minute, 12 seconds, set in 1952. Royals, Wings Close in on Leading Bisons

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Buffalo Bisons remained International League leaders following weekend games, but their hold on the choice spot was cut to two games.

Rochester Red Wings and Montreal Royals are sec a game back, with Rochester in second place by one percentage point.

The Wings swept three week-end games from Springfield Cubs while the Royals won three of their four contests with Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Bisons swept a Sunday twin bill from Ottawa Athletics, 7-3 and 9-2. They were non-scheduled Saturday.

Eleven Bisons came to the plate in the seventh inning of the first game Sunday to push across five runs. Bob Trice's bid for his 15th triumph was thus assured. Frank Lary squelched the Athletics and scored his 10th victory in the nightcap. Herm Wehmeier was the homer and two triples.

At Toronto, lefthanders Tommy LaSorda and Ken Lehman pitched back-to-back seven-hitters, respectively, Saturday to rest back the Leafs 5-1 and 12-4.

Sunday, Montreal and Toronto split a twin bill, the Royals taking the nine-inning first game 9-7 and the Leafs the abbreviated second 6-2.

The Leafs had a 5-0 lead until the sixth of the opener, a marathon in which the clubs used 34 players. Stan Rojek was the big man in the Montreal attack with a homer, a triple and three runs batted in.

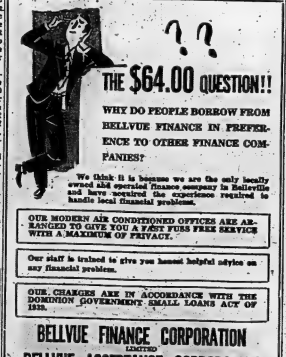
Boko Kellerman, who threw a no-hitter for the American League St. Louis Browns and who was purchased by Toronto, pitched the first game and had a two-hitter going for him until in the seventh. In the second game, Don Newcombe was the distance to even his record at 8-8.

Baltimore Orioles, who were only 2½ games back of the Highlands before the week-end, dropped all three games to Syracuse Chiefs.

The Chiefs won the Saturday contest 4-3 behind Lynn Lovenguth's six-hitter. Although outhit in both games, Syracuse swept a Sunday double bill from the Orioles—getting 19 innings for a 7-6 victory, then taking the abbreviated nightcap 6-3.

The Red Wings' victories at Rochester mark it a sweep of a five-game series with the tail-end Cubs.

The Birds scored their third win of the series Saturday by defeating the tail-enders 11-4, with a six-run, seventh-inning rally.



The Wings swept a Sunday doubleheader, 8-7 and 3-1. The winners pounded 14 hits in the opener to give reliefer Jack Crimian his ninth win. Cuban righthander Octavio Rubert went the distance to win the nightcap.

Hamilton Star Scores Triple Wins In Track and Field Championships

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian track and field championships here indicate there is no shortage of athletes. But the lack of public interest was glaringly evident.

The meet was staged in the heart of an area with more than a million population. More than 150 athletes, most of them from within the immediate vicinity, competed. Yet barely a 10th of the 15,000-seat East York Stadium was needed to accommodate the paying customers interested in such feats as the triple distance victory of Hamilton toolmaker Selwyn Jones.

Jones, a 26-year-old veteran runner, won the one- and three-mile titles Friday night before only 300 fans in the floodlit stadium. Saturday, with a cloudless sky and warm temperatures, a few more turned up to see him win the six-mile.

Athletic ability was not lacking. Enough to record was as much as evened, Toronto policeman Stan Rains, a husky six-foot three-inch muscle man, gave evidence of ability with a double win in discus and 16-pound shot put.

Jo Breenan, a 23-year-old Hamilton secretary, also scored a double in the discus and javelin for women. Eleanor Miller, Toronto house wife, took the 440- and 100-yard sprints.

And Jackie MacDonald, a husky, shaggy Toronto school teacher, who until three months ago concentrated his athletic ability on basketball, won the women's eight-pound shot and placed a close second to Miss Breenan in discus and javelin in her first major competition.

Bruce Springbett of Vancouver, winner of the men's 220, and Negro Victor Cassis of the RCAF at Big John, Que., hop, step and jump champion, added a national flavor.

One outstanding performance of an out-of-doorsed was that of Lorne White of Guelph. White entered only the six-mile run and managed to keep astride Jones for 21 of the 34 laps. Then he faded and finished third to Lionel Nesbitt of Toronto.

BORET WINS CLASSIC

PARIS (CP)—Louis Bobet of France, 28-year-old former baker, won the 50th anniversary running of the classic Tour de France bicycle race Sunday. Jean Malisier of France was second and Italy's Giancarlo Astrua third. Bobet covered the 3,792 miles in 128 hours, 23 minutes and 25 seconds.

Nick Weslock Wins Sudbury Golf Tourney

SUDBURY (CP)—A red-hot putter helped Nick Weslock of Welland Essex score a 54-hole 211 here during the week-end and capture the 17th annual Sagamok Trophy invitation tournament at the Idylwylde Golf and Country Club.

Weslock made the six trips around the nine-hole Idylwylde layout in five strokes under regulation figures in defeating a record field of 221 entries. It was the first time that any tournament winner had been par at the tough Nickel City club.

Friday, Weslock came in with a par, 36 for even-par 72; then added rounds of 69 and 70 Saturday.

Seven strokes behind Weslock was Kitchener's Gerry Kesselring with the qualifying round was 74, and Weslock he carded 70 and 74. Gordon Hall, another Kitchener entry, finished third with 73-73-78 for a 222 total.

Other entries in the championship flight were Tony Matlock, Kitchener 76-76-76—228; Bill Morland, North Bay, 78-76-78—232; Dave Morland, North Bay, 76-80-76—232 and Moe Norman, Kitchener, 79-77-79—235.

Graham, Basilio Fight to Draw

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Billy Graham and hood-spattered Carmen Basilio battled fifteen rounds to a draw Saturday night at War Memorial Auditorium with no one official voting a draw and the other two split on the winner. Each weighed 147.

Closing strong against the well-battered Basilio, Graham closed the rugged ex-marine's left eye in the final rounds.

Referee Petey Scalzo scored it 7-4-1 in favor of Basilio, Judge Jack Kinchla 8-6 with Graham on top. Judge Jack Michaels had it even in rounds 5-6 and also even in points, 6-6, for a draw.

St. Kitts Defeats Terriers 12-8

GRILLIA (CP)—St. Catharines Athletics held first place in the Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association Saturday night by defeating third-place Orillia Terriers 12-8. The game was rough and rugged with each team drawing six minor penalties.

Martin of St. Catharines and Facto of Orillia received five minute majors for fighting, while Skip Teal of the Athletics drew a 10-minute misconduct.

Max Wooley with five goals and two assists paced the Athletics' attack, with L. Fride and Martin getting three each and Norman Corcoran getting one. Three players—Tony Gordon, Stu Scott and Elmer Lee—sank two each for the Terriers.

WEST INDIES BLANKED

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—The United States Olympic swimming star of its second round North American zone Davis Cup tennis play against the British West Indies Saturday when Bernard Bartzen of Los Angeles, Tom and Bob Harris of Los Angeles won the final singles matches.

Bartzen defeated Ian MacDonald 6-3, 6-1, 6-2, and Perry downed Ron Cooper 6-4, 6-3, 6-4.

Quebec Retains Cricket Trophy

TORONTO (CP)—Quebec Saturday retained the Alhodstad trophy in the annual inter-provincial cricket match between Quebec and Ontario.

The competition, played at the Toronto Cricket Club during the week-end, resulted at the end of the second day in a most unsatisfactory draw.

Scores:

Ontario—265 for one wicket declared.

Quebec—163 and 197 for eight wickets.

Leslie Wight (128 not out) and Arnold Wight (16) gave fine exhibitions of batting on the first day and put on 211 runs for the first wicket which probably constitutes a Canadian record for first wicket scoring.

ARGO END INJURED

TORONTO (CP)—Harold Newton, defensive end and wing from Windsor, Ont., became the first hospital case of the season for Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football Union.

At Saturday's scrimmage Newton was hit being down Royal Copeland on an end sweep. He went down and suffered torn ligaments in his right knee and was taken to hospital. It is not known how long he will be out of action.

Eight Thousand Enemies of Reds Active in Poland

BERLIN (AP)—Eight thousand anti-communist partisans are active in Poland and their chief activities are against Soviet military trains hauling troops and East German reparations, intelligence experts said Friday night.

Soviet and Polish divisions are on manoeuvres at present in Silesia and sounds of artillery fire gave rise to rumors that the Neisse river frontier this week that open battles with partisans are in progress, the sources said. They dismissed the rumors as baseless fabrications.

By their account of Polish defences against Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky staged his big army and air force review last Wednesday in Stalinogrod, Silesian steel centre, to intimidate discontented workers.

Silesia is "full of undercover unrest against the regime, but very little overt resistance."

The Polish partisans are inadequately armed, although they occasionally obtain additional weapons when Soviet troop trains are derailed or military freight hijacked.

Their capabilities are limited to sudden hit and-run raids on Soviet communications and they could not expect to survive any sort of head on battle.

Princess Visits Big Horse Show

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret went to the International Horse Show Friday night escorted by two lancer officers.

The Duke of Beaufort, president of the horse show, welcomed her, and then she sat down to dinner in the Royal box.

The Royal Family, meanwhile, is making plans for its annual August visit to Scotland.

The August visit is always a big thing for Margaret. First of all, it is the month of her birthday and secondly, it was in Scotland—at Glamis Castle—that she was born. She will be 23 Aug. 26.

C. D. Howe Denies Canada On Verge of Losing Markets

MARMORA (Staff Special) — Canada is not on the verge of losing her markets abroad. That is the statement was made here on Saturday by Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Trade and Commerce and Minister of Defence Production.

Mr. Howe was speaking at a meeting held in the Town Hall on Saturday afternoon in the interests of Cleworth W. (Chile) Foster, Liberal candidate in the riding of Hastings-Frontenac in the forthcoming Federal election.

Practically eschewing politics, except insofar as his remarks on Canada's trade prospects could be cited a reply to criticisms of the trade policies of the Liberal Government, Mr. Howe devoted almost his entire speech to economic questions, aside from a reference to "my good friend Chile Foster" and the wit which he had given at Ottawa during the war years as vice-chairman of the National Selective Service Committee, could cited a reply to criticisms of the trade policies of the Liberal Government, Mr. Howe devoted almost his entire speech to economic questions, aside from a reference to "my good friend Chile Foster" and the wit which he had given at Ottawa during the war years as vice-chairman of the National Selective Service Committee, could

"I think I am warranted in asking you to listen for him", said Mr. Howe. "I can't think of anyone who could serve you nearly as well."

Mr. Foster had introduced Mr. Howe in the usual fashion. He made mention of the fact that the population of the former riding of Hastings-Peterborough was shown by the 1951 census to have declined during the decade.

Great Potential

"In my opinion the potential of this area can be so great, in agriculture, forestry, industry and the tourist trade, that if effort is made the population will not continue to decline", Mr. Foster said. "The future and the prosperity of the riding of Hastings-Frontenac rests with the people of this area."

Other speakers at the brief meeting were Mr. Stanley W. Warner of Yarker, who had unsuccessfully contested the Liberal nomination meeting here three weeks ago, and Rocky Ferguson of Norwood, Ont., ex-M.P. for Hastings-Peterborough. Norman Gilroy of Coe Hill, president of the Hastings-Frontenac Liberal Association, acted as chairman. Reeve Ritchie Wells of Marmora extended an official welcome to Mr. Howe.

Mr. Howe arrived in the riding Saturday morning, motoring from the Malton airport. He spoke at Port Hope in the evening and then returned to Malton, en route to Vancouver.

Visits Industries

At noon Mr. Howe lunched with Mr. Foster and with Liberal workers. He later visited the Bethlehem Steel property at Marmora and the Dekore smelter and pelated bolt mills there in his address.

"The Liberal Government does everything in its power to encourage the expansion of industries that are good for the country", he declared. "We don't encourage hothouse industries that need tariff protection or anything of that sort.

"To promote the growth of the country, to safeguard prosperity and to raise the standard of living, that's what the people want of a government. That is what the Liberal Government has done and, past experience, that is what I am confident it will continue to do."

Mr. Howe scoffed at stories of a decline, or a threatened decline, in Canada's foreign trade.

Last Year Record

"Last year was the greatest export year Canada has ever known" he asserted. "Last year trade with Britain and the Commonwealth countries was the biggest in our history. In spite of everything you hear, Canada has been able to market all the agricultural products produced in this country."

Sensationally, he admitted, this was a difficult task. "The reason we don't ship beef and cheese to Britain", he said, "is that we cannot produce them at a price that Britain can afford to pay."

But he saw no storm clouds ahead.

"I look for no recession that will have any effect on the producers of Canada", he concluded.

Reds Try Ruse To Make Truce Seem Surrender

By ROBERT EUNSON

TOKYO—(AP)—Communist delegates at Panmunjon tried to pull a last minute ruse which would make the signing of the Korean armistice appear to be an Allied surrender.

But Gen. Mark W. Clark didn't fall for it, stated a reliable source said.

In fact, Associated Press correspondent Robert Tuckman reported to Panmunjon, at the whole signing ceremony may be changed.

There is a possibility, Tuckman said, that the 27 copies of the armistice may all be signed in Panmunjon by the chief delegates and then mailed to the headquarters of the field commanders. This would eliminate the long-awaited meeting across the table of Gen. Clark, Generalissimo Kim Il Sung of North Korea and Red Chinese Gen. Peng Teh-huai.

Doves Used

The first move in the Red plot to set up the scene for a purported surrender was to have doves of peace blastered all over the signing site.

Clark, whose armies drove the Germans out of Africa and Italy during the Second World War, was never known to be a bird watcher. But he knew the Picasso-designed doves are the Red propaganda symbol of peace.

"Down come the doves," Clark is reported to have snapped, "or I don't go to Panmunjon." They came down.

Return to Old Plan

"It was interesting to note that in the opening hours of the armistice talks, the Reds went right back to their old scheme which Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, then United Nations Far East commander, had to whip back in 1951.

When the talks started at Kaesong, the armistice site was plastered with Communists signs and propaganda.

There were pictures of U.S. officers walking past armed Chinese soldiers and the inference was that the Americans had surrendered.

Picasso's dove was there too.

United Nations reporters were not.

Ridgway told the Reds to take down their signs and get the armed guards away from the door.

He insisted that U. S. military police join the armistice site detail.

And he insisted that United Nations reporters could attend if he wanted them to.

Pick 12,000 Rocks From Swim Hole

SOUTH MARCH, Ont. (CP)—While plenty of good deeds have been done by Scouts attending the second Canadian national Scout Jamboree since last week-end a record of accomplishment has been set by scouts at nearby Shirley's Bay.

The bay is where scouts swim twice daily. Each time a boy leaves the water he brings out a rock to make swimming easier for persons who will follow.

To date, 12,000 rocks have been removed.

Stan Richardson, executive commissioner for the Ottawa, Ont., Scout district, has charge of Scouts on the beach, assisted by life guards and the Ottawa services patrol.

Canadian manufacturers produced nearly 140,000 dozen golf balls in 1953, up from 104,000 dozen the year before.

Cheese Jobber Is Told to Tell Woes to Paper

OTTAWA (CP)—A cheese jobber who trikd to air his views on Canada's poor food laws was stopped short in magistrate's court Friday with the advice to tell his troubles to the newspapers.

William Martin was fined $60 when he pleaded guilty to selling cheese made from pasteurized milk without complying with the requirement that it be stored for 60 days. The storage period is designed as a protection against disease.

Martin attempted to read Magistrate Glenn Strike a prepared statement justifying the sale of new cheese but was stopped by the magistrate.

"All I can do is find out whether you broke the regulations," the magistrate said.

"I did," Martin answered, "and I want to ask the whole question here and find out why the government makers feed at some people and flesh of others in the cheese question."

"Talk to the newspaper men," replied the magistrate. "We can't air issues in a court of law."

Duke of Edinburgh Carries No Insurance

LONDON (AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh admitted to a group of insurance men Friday night that he has never carried any life insurance, and that he did not own anything worth insuring.

At a dinner of the Chartered Insurance Institute, the Duke—the old sailor—added, however, that the Royal racing yacht is insured "and you can put that down as a hapa to my better knowledge of marine risks—especially when it happen to be sailing them."

Eisenhower's Brother Assails Senator McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's older brother, Arthur, confirmed Friday that he had described Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep, Wis.) as "the most dangerous menace to America."

After Eisenhower, a Kansas City banker, was quoted on McCarthy Thursday in the Las Vegas, Nev., Sun, the Wisconsin senator called on him to confirm or deny the newspaper story.

A reporter for the Phoenix, Ariz., Gazette caught up with Eisenhower at Phoenix airport, where he got confirmation of the Sun's quote.

"It's too bad we have such a man in public life," Eisenhower said in a brief interview between flights. He added that McCarthy makes "deplorable attacks on people and gives people no chance to answer charges."

Informed of Eisenhower's latest remarks, McCarthy shrugged them off.

"I have no concern at all in this fellow's blasting at me, and I certainly can't hold President Eisenhower responsible for what his relatives say," the senator said.

The White House had no comment.

Seventeen Are Dead In Philippines Fire

CEBU, Philippines (Reuters)—Seventeen persons have died and three are missing in a $1,500,000 blaze set by arsonists Friday night.

Police today rounded up for questioning 12 Filipinos and Chinese suspected of starting the fire.

The fire, described by police as "the most disastrous in Cebu's history," was the second in two days to raze a business district of the city. The first, on Thursday, caused $250,000 damage.

RCMP to Probe Alleged Changes In Vessel's Log

TORONTO (CP)—The RCMP will investigate whether entries in the log of the freighter Burlington were changed after the ship was in collision with the grain-laden Scotiadoc June 30 in Lake Superior.

Hartley Wells, K.C., Wells of the Ontario Supreme Court, presiding at the commission of inquiry into the collision which sank the Scotiadoc with loss of one life, said Friday he felt the matter of the log book should be cleared up.

He made his ruling after Peter Wright, commission counsel, asked his approval of arranging for the RCMP investigation.

Capt. George S. Ward of Burlington, Ont., master of the Burlington, was asked if changes had been made in the ship's log. He answered: "There were no changes."

Erasure Hinted

Wright asked: there has been an erasure?" Mr. Wright asked.

Harding Capt. Ward a magnifying glass and requesting him to look at the log book a second time, Mr. Wright said:

"You don't perceive a difference on the top entry?"

The Burlington's skipper said he could see no difference.

There was a buzz-bub over the log books of both the engine room and the navigation room. The inquiry was told the only entries that were the same were those for a "half-speed" order.

RCMP will take the log to Ottawa where it will be scrutinized by experts.

HOSPITAL COMPLETED

STOCKHOLM (CP)—The Soder Hospital has been completed after 15 years of work at a cost of $13,000,000. With the addition of a new pavilion for geriatrics, it has 1,339 beds and is the largest hospital in Europe.

Charter 2 Ships To Take Indian Troops to Korea

NEW DELHI, India (Reuters)—India has chartered two ships to take to Korea the Indian troops who are to guard prisoners of war awaiting to be repatriated, it was learned today.

One of the ships is understood to be British, and the other Indian.

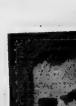
The vessels will leave for Korea after the Indian government has received a report fro mits seven-man advance team, which is expected to go to Korea within two or three days of the signing of the armistice for a quick on-the-spot study of the situation.

The exact number of troops they have to be in Korea within two months of the signing of the truce—is to be determined in the recommendations of the advance party. It is understood that about 3,000 men have been kept ready to sail at brief notice.

SEEK SOLITUDE

NELSON, N.Z. (CP)—New Zealanders have a great urge to get away from it all, judging by the rush of applications for the job of warden of the Abel Tasman National Park in the South Island. The warden's house is 20 miles from the nearest town in one of the loneliest spots in New Zealand and the salary is only $1,500 a year —but there were 113 applicants for the job.

WHO'S A FRIEND OF LABOR?



LET'S TAKE 2 FACTS

1. THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY when in office brought in almost every progressive piece of labor legislation on our statute books including recognition of trade unions, fair wages and reasonable work hours, workmen's compensation, minimum wages, legal holidays with pay, unemployment insurance and collective bargaining.

2. THE PRESENT GOVERNMENT at Ottawa denied the right of labor to collective bargaining and substituted compulsory arbitration in the railway strike. The P.C. opposition fought long and hard to uphold the principle of collective bargaining in all labor-management disputes.

20 Men Charged Result of Fracas At Timmins Mine

Mine Head Arms Workers; Called 'Improper' by Police

TIMMINS (CP) — Twenty men have been summoned to appear in South Porcupine court next Monday to answer charges laid in connection with a fracas at the Broulan-Reef mine last Friday.

The charges were disclosed Monday night shortly after provincial police had criticized Walter F. Brown, manager of the mine, for his action in supplying arms and ammunition to men picketing mines and men who had returned to work.

Police said investigations into the matter, between picketing miners and men who had returned to work, is continuing, and additional charges may be laid. The accused men are said to be members of the Canadian Steelworkers' Union of America (CIO-CCL). The men struck Friday July 12 demanding higher wages.

Criticizes Manager

Staff Inspector Thomas Trimble of the provincial police termed the mine manager's action in arming the pickets "improper" and said Mr. Brown replied he was compelled to issue the arms because he felt the police were not strong enough to maintain law and order at the time.

Mr. Brown charged he had warned provincial police 24 hours before the attack last Friday the onslaught was imminent. In spite of this warning, Mr. Brown said, provincial police had withdrawn their men and did not return to the mine property until 10 minutes after the melee was ended. In the fracas about 40 men were injured, some seriously.

Will Be Responsible

Inspector Trimble said Monday night that after a conference with Walter Scott, Timmins crown attorney, that Mr. Brown had been informed he would be held responsible for any damage which occurred on the property.

Mr. Brown is facing obstruction charges are reported to have prevented provincial police from entering the mine before the fracas took place. The malicious charges are reported to be in connection with the breaking down of a door and the smashing of windows and equipment inside the mine. Strikers jumped 30 of the miners who were attempting to enter the mine.

TRACTOR KILLS FARMER

ITALIAN PREMIER BEATEN IN HOUSE CONFIDENCE VOTE

Premier de Gasperi Must Resign Post

ROME (AP)—Premier Alcide de Gasperi's eighth government fell Monday in a house confidence vote. It was a thefirst time that the 72-year-old Christian Democrat leader suffered such defeat since he took the reins of Italy's government Dec 10, 1945.

There were howls of delight from the Communist and extreme Socialist benches when the result was announced.

It was the first time since before the days of fascism that an Italian government was thus overthrown.

Must Resign

For the weary De Gasperi there remained the formality of offering his resignation to President Luigi Einaudi for the government he had reluctantly agreed to form two weeks ago, following the national elections.

The Italian constitution requires that the government must have the confidence of both Chamber and Senate.

The president immediately accepted the premier's resignation, pending notification to the deputies for reconsideration after formation of the new government.

Holds to Centre

De Gasperi, who had declined to form an accord either with the extreme right composed of Monarchists and the Fascist Social movement as well as with the extreme left Communists and Socialists, clearly fighting again today that he would hold to his centre line. That meant that De Gasperi, or another member of his party, would likely try to bring together a new government the members of the centre parties.

Legislature Member At Niagara Resigns

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario legislature will face its first by-election since the general election in 1951 as a result of William Houck's resigning his seat as member for Niagara Falls to contest a federal seat.

Members of the provincial house must resign as soon as they are officially nominated for a federal seat. Mr. Houck's name was entered to contest the federal riding of Niagara Falls.

At the close of federal nominations Monday, Mr. Houck's was the only name received by Speaker M. C. Davies.

ICE TONGS LAND FISH

NORTH BAY (CP)—Two Pensetang fishermen landed a 50-pound muskie on Lake Nipissing with a pair of ice tongs.

Theodore Park of Bradford, Pa., hooked the fish Friday night. He tried to get a gaff or pet to lift the lunker into the boat, so a fishing companion, Don Price, also of Bradford, struck the ice tongs through the fish's gills and heaved it in.

St. Laurent Says No Big Cut In Defence Costs Possible

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

Prime Minister St. Laurent says Canada should continue her defence build-up until no possible aggressor would dare attack her or her allies.

In a political campaign speech Monday night at London, Ont., the prime minister said the Korean truce will mean some savings in defence expenditures on ammunition, but there must be more than an armistice before there can be any substantial reduction in Canada's $2,000,000,000-a-year defence budget.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, took his campaign riding of Carleton, Ont., for a rough-and-tumble nomination convention at which all four candidates spoke from the same platform.

Promises Tax Cut

Later, in a free-time political broadcast a CBC network feature, Mr. Drew said a Progressive Conservative government would shear $400,000,000 annually from the Tax exemption for a married man would be raised to $2,000 from $3,000, for a single person from $1,500 to $1,000. The $400,000,000 reduction in taxes would consist of the promised total $500,000,000 less cuts in indirect taxes, he said.

Urges Health Plan

Mr. Drew also favors a polio epidemic is raging, CCF leader M. J. Coldwell said a national health insurance plan, drafted by the CCF, has become the No. 1 issue in the election campaign.

He said an individual in Manitoba now is stricken indefinitely, struck by polio, that his hospital and medical expenses will be met. As a result, private insurance companies were capitalizing on Manitobans need for some protection.

"This privately-sponsored plan means that all such private plans, a limit on the amount the company will pay for any one case or treatment. No provision of treatment is given beyond this limit for those who can afford more.

The reason, Mr. Coldwell said, was that private companies exist only to make a profit. He then described Saskatchewan's hospital insurance scheme.

"If Saskatchewan, a single province with limited resources, can do it, can provide services of this kind to its people, then surely the federal government, with almost unlimited financial resources, can do something more than merely pass the responsibility to private companies to give Canadians whatever kind of health and medical-care insurance they want."

To Build Defences

Mr. Drew told an applauding audience of 2,500 that if the Liberals are returned to power Aug. 10, he would continue to build up Canada's armed services. If defence could prevent war, he would feel he had done his duty and that defence expenditures would be money well spent.

He contended that a Progressive Conservative pledge to cut defence expenditures by $250,000,000 was "the most irresponsible promise ever made."

"You have heard a lot from Mr. Drew and his party about what they are pleased to call the government's contempt of Parliament. The fact is we have never shown any contempt of Parliament. . . . But I suggest quite seriously that the Progressive promise to reduce defence expenditures by more than 10 per cent really is contempt of Parliament.

"These defence expenditures were approved by Parliament a few recently as last May, and not one responsible party knows at this time that they should be reduced."

Sense Mistaken Mode

Mr. Drew frankly admitted there might have been some mistakes in defence appropriations—too many planes, too few, or planes wrongly chased. There had also been some waste, he said, but "we cannot always have to be a "great many things" of that kind to make up $250,000,000."

At the Carleton nominating meeting a Tory MP threw up his hands and accused the Liberals of trying to alter Canadian history to capture votes.

He quoted the prime minister as saying that Canada's economic strength, stature and unity had all increased while the Liberal party was in office.

"Did you ever hear such utterly incredible nonsense?" the MP exclaimed. "That is the most wonderful history I have ever heard."

From the way the Liberals talked, one would think everything that was good came from the government. But the CPR, CNR, CBC and Canadian Pacific Airlines all had come into being while Conservative governments were in power.

"We are not living in Russia where we can change history to fit your own claims," Mr. Drew said.

Total of 902 Candidates For 265 Seats in Commons

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Liberals have the biggest slate of candidates in the field for a general election, with the Progressive Conservatives right behind.

The government party named 294 candidates for the 265 House of Commons seats, and the official opposition put up 250.

Both the big parties in their formal nominations have concentrated heavily for the Ontario and Quebec seats where the issue could be decided.

So did the CCF and the Commonwealth Co-operative Federation, despite earlier expectations of an eastern invasion, largely struck to the west.

Social Credit, which picked off the British Columbia administration last year, ran only nine candidates east of the Prairies, one in New Brunswick and eight in Ontario. The party had a total of 71 in the field.

All parties nominated a total of 902, compared to 848 in the general election of four years ago and the record of 934 in the 1945 voting.

They were divided this way:

In 1949, with a 262-seat House compared with the 265-seat chamber her next month, the total number of the last session, the Liberals nominated 260 and the Progressive Conservatives 246. The CCF had 120 candidates and Social Credit 74. The Communists had only 19.

This time, the major parties, except for Social Credit, spread their candidates through every province. They shed their ammunition largely in the decisive Ontario and Quebec territory which will provide, respectively, 85 and 75 candidates.

Brig. J. Allard Watches Signing For Canadians

By BILL ROSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PANMUNJOM (CP)—Brig. Jean Allard, Canada's chief liaison officer at the armistice talks, observed the signing of the documents here.

Allard, who has been in charge of Canada's liaison staff at the talks, signed at 10 a.m. Monday setting in motion machinery for the truce on both sides of Korea's 120-mile front.

Within a few hours the commander-in-chief of the 25th Canadian brigade had arranged to have his signature added to the armistice. Complete muster parades showed that every Canadian had carried out his task and the brigade headquarters reported that it was ready for combat.

On returning to his headquarters Allard summoned the battalions where he had also observed Gen. Mark Clark's signature. Orders documents as United Nations commander-in-chief, Brig. Allard summoned his staff of commissioned officers. He described to them the events he had witnessed and ordered them to pass the information on to the troops. Then the brigadier briefed his officers on things to come.

U.S. MAY SEEK TO BAR NEUTRALS FROM PEACE TALKS

May Urge Delegates Be from Combatants

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. may press for a United Nations delegation to the Korean peace conference made up exclusively from nations that actually fought the Communists.

This was reported under consideration today after Senator William Knowland (Rep.-Calif.) told the Senate "we must not allow Russia to sit out these years of war" to have a decisive voice in the peace talks, due to begin within 90 days.

Authorities said State Secretary Dulles and his principal advisers have started a close study of plans for negotiating the conference, but for decision is whether to try to limit the delegations to the countries which made direct military contributions.

U.N. Needs Aug. 7

The UN general assembly has been summoned to meet Aug. 17 to discuss the Korean armistice. The UN command on the Korean armistice. The UN command on the Korean armistice will have the responsibility of deciding the site for the political conference with the Communists which will work out a permanent Korean peace settlement. It is the question of the agenda and composition of the UN delegation.

Even if the delegation should be limited to those countries which took part in the fighting, the U.S. might find itself in the minority.

Senators said Dulles told a Senate foreign relations subcommittee in closed session recently that one of the peace questions is how to prevent the U.S. from being outvoted by countries which contributed only about five per cent of the fighting forces, not counting South Koreans.

Finds No Formula

They said he conceded he had not yet found any satisfactory formula.

Dulles has said the U.S. and South Korea certainly will be represented on the UN side. He has indicated that he would like to subject to Russia as a UN representative as a result of Russia's supply role in the Korean affair.

Aside from the U.S. and South Korea, the countries which have had ground or air forces under Clark's command are the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, France, Belgium, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Greece, Turkey, Ethiopia, the Philippines, Thailand and Colombia.

Cheers Seoul

Marines reported that unarmed Chinese wandered through the new buffer zone to cheer Seoul. "It was enough to our bunkers to ask for a cigaret."

"We did't fraternize with them," the marines said.

The Red Chinese flags, sent to work in full view of the marines to clean up the battle area around their positions, were also put up.

Allied troops were under orders to leave nothing of value.

South Korean troops, whose homes are no doubt until Premier Rhee announced Monday they would not boycott the truce talks, were on the time being, also began pulling back.

Because there was no arrangement for timing by the National Aeronautic Association, the speed mark is unofficial. The previous unofficial record was five hours, 22 minutes for an average of 575 MPH, set last June 6 by another B-47.

Allies and Reds Start to Withdraw From Buffer Zone

No Violations of Armistice Reported on Korean Front

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SEOUL (AP)—Allied and Communist troops started today pulling back front-line troops all across the battle-blistered Korean front.

United Nations forces started withdrawing at daybreak. Chinese and North Korean Communist troops were pulling back during the day.

Each side must withdraw two kilometres—about 1¼ miles—to form a demilitarized buffer zone across Korea.

Evacuate Islands

Far behind Red lines, the Allies began evacuating islands off both the east and west coasts of North Korea. The islands had served as guerrilla operations, and commando training bases.

In keeping with the armistice signed Monday, the battlefield withdrawal must be completed by 10 p.m. Thursday (9 a.m. EDT). The Allied-held islands must be evacuated by 10 p.m. Aug. 5.

In the east sector, the only armistice no violations or incidents were reported. At the final 8th army briefing, of correspondents, a staff officer said the last infantry action was a patrol clash at 2 a.m. Monday on the eastern front—some 19 hours before the truce became effective.

Commission Meets

While Allied and Communist troops withdrew slowly in the open today, the Joint Allied-Communist military armistice commission held its first meeting at Panmunjom to begin supervision of the truce.

Gen. Mark W. Clark, UN commander, completed signing copies of the truce documents—those that had been taken north Monday and signed by the Red high command—and flew back to his Tokyo headquarters.

The 2½-mile wide buffer zone will be marked off on its southern and northern boundaries with barbed wire signs at numerous intervals and with ground panels for aerial observation.

On the western front, the U.S. 24th Infantry Division was pulling back its front-line units at 6:30 a.m.

Cease Seek Snakes

Marines reported that unarmed Chinese wandered through the new buffer zone to cheer Seoul. "It was enough to our bunkers to ask for a cigaret."

"We did't fraternize with them," the marines said.

The Red Chinese flags, sent to work in full view of the marines to clean up the battle area around their positions, were also put up.

Allied troops were under orders to leave nothing of value.

South Korean troops, whose homes are no doubt until Premier Rhee announced Monday they would not boycott the truce talks, were on the time being, also began pulling back.

Because there was no arrangement for timing by the National Aeronautic Association, the speed mark is unofficial. The previous unofficial record was five hours, 22 minutes for an average of 575 MPH, set last June 6 by another B-47.

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The Allies and Communists agreed today to start exchanging almost 87,000 prisoners of war Aug. 5 and the joint military armistice commission got its motion machinery for enforcing the Korean armistice.

Once the long-awaited prisoner exchange gets under way, the Reds will free about 400 men daily at Panmunjom. The UN command at first will deliver about 2,780 daily, including 300 sick and wounded.

Detailed prisoners exchange rules were adopted by the military armistice committee for prisoner exchange as five different truce bodies gathered in Panmunjom.

Maj.-Gen. Blackshear M. Bryan, chief of staff for the UN command on the joint military commission, described the first meeting of the group as "like talking a lightpost."

Bryan said the UN command was ready to start exchanging prisoners this week, but he understood the Reds would be able to begin that swiftly. The Aug. 5 date was Bryan's estimate.

The commission meets again at 9 a. m. Wednesday (10 p. m. EDT, today).

Other Developments

These other developments pointed to the final signing of the Korean armistice:

1. Allied and Red forces began pulling back about 1¼ miles from the battle front to create a 2½-mile wide buffer zone, to be free of front-line fortifications. The UN also began evacuating her islands off both North Korean coasts.

2. South Korean President Syngman Rhee said he has received assurances that if the post-war political conference breaks down, the 16 United Nations with forces in Korea "are determined to fight with us jointly in a completely unity of purpose."

3. Polish and Czech officers were travelling from Peiping, the Red China capital, to Panmunjom, apparently to take their seats on the neutral nations supervisory commission. Some of the Swedish delegates, now in Tokyo, were due within 48 hours. The commission will police the truce.

Prisoner Exchange

As staff officers agreed on plans for exchanging prisoners, the UN command began moving North Korean and Chinese prisoners by ship from mainland camps to the Koje and Cheju Islands off South Korea. There are about 3,000 Koreans and 1,300 Chinese were in the first group. The prisoners will be held at Yongdongpo on the outskirts of Seoul and at Munsan, the Allied assembly point for prisoners announced.

Preparations were being taken to head off possible Red demonstrations such as occurred during the truce talks when Communist-handled prisoners last April.

Lt.-Gen. Maxwell Taylor, head of the UN team on the military armistice committee for prisoner exchange, said he expected wounded prisoners. They gave no break down by nationality.

Thoughts of Buddies Most in Minds Of Canadian Soldiers as Truce Signed

TOKYO (CP)—Canadian soldiers on leave here, some of them just out of the Korean front lines, took the news of the Korean armistice quietly, many of them thinking of buddies.

"It will mean a lot to the boys to get back to their families," said Pte. Gilbert La Perade of Montreal. "My brother is still over there but I won't be doing any celebrating until we are together again."

Pte. Jack Warden of Cobourg, Ont., said: "I hope it will be a full peace. My friends still in Korea will be pleased."

L.-Col. Arnold Lanzon of Ansonville, Ont., mentioned President Syngman Rhee of South Korea: "I am very happy it is over but I cannot help feeling we have gained little since June, 1950. I hope that the United Nations and the Reds will come to an agreement which will please everybody including Syngman Rhee. One thing for sure, it is going to be a helluva fellow to please."

Sgt. Arthur Fisher of London, Ont.: "I cannot help wondering if we have helped Korea. After all, the Reds are north and are still not united."

Maj. Alex Christian of Vancouver, officer commanding the Canadian detachment in Tokyo: "From our point of view the continued acceptance of casualties without gain appears to be senseless."

Sgt. Marcel Desjardins of Ottawa: "I am sure that my fiancee will be glad, too."

Wrestling Match Costs Him Wallet

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — John Senta told police Monday that what he thought was a playful wrestling match turned out to be far from funny when he realized his wallet containing $15 was lifted from his pocket by his opponent.

Senta said he was standing at a bus stop when an unidentified man grabbed him from behind. He thought it was a friend playing a prank and blamed the fun.

Senta realized his wallet was missing soon after the man broke free and ran down a side street.

Lunge Weighing 37 Pounds Tops List Of Big Ones 'That Didn't Get Away'

From various parts of the district come reports of the big "whale" being hauled in from bay, river and lake.

A target for "muskie" fishermen to shoot at was established over the week-end off the Glenora Ferry crossing when Herbert Punchard, Adolphustown, landed a huge 37 pound fish that gave him a stiff battle before being hooked. It measured 51 inches in length and had a girth of 21 inches.

Second to this beauty was that landed in Prinyer Bay near Campbellford on Monday, Jack Cromwell of Massapehala, Pennsylvania hauled in a lunge that tipped the scales at 29½ pounds. The fish gave Cromwell an hour's tussle before saying "Uncle" and the report said that, when measured it was fifty inches and had a girth of 21.

Third in line is the lunge hooked by Tom Hollett, Toronto, who landed a 23-pounder off Adolphustown on Monday.

In the pickerel field Bargeer's Bay, Prince Edward county is tops this far. Wally Evans of Picton landed a beauty that weighed 10 pounds 14 ounces, was 29 inches long and had a girth of 18 inches.

According to reports from Picton, the largest lunge entered in its annual contest over a period of four years weighed 32 pounds. The biggest pickerel tilted the scales at 10 pounds 2 ounces.

Unofficially, and the story came from a very authoritative source, the Bay of Quinte in this district holds the all-time record for muskies. The "daddy" of them all was hooked last season and weighed 52 pounds, but unfortunately was caught two days after the season closed. It was confiscated.

Lunge weighing from 15 to 20 pounds —are being hooked with more or less consistency in the northern lakes and rivers.

This looks like the year of the "big fish."

Durham County Athletes Win Junior Farmers' Meet

Durham county athletes literally showed a clean pair of heels to junior farmer contestants from other counties at the annual Junior Farmers' field day held last week at the Ontario School for the Blind.

Approximately 200 contestants and supporters from five counties attended the event which saw Durham county roll up a total of 70 points to carry off the honors in the second place was Peterborough county with Hastings taking third place. Other counties competing were Prince Edward and Northumberland.

Competitors from Durham were front of their points in track and field events with boys and girls scoring effectively. In boys' softball Durham county won over Durham while in the girls' softball Hastings won over Durham. Peterborough won over Hastings in the tug of war.

The Ontario Junior Farmers Association sponsored the event with Association president Don Middleton and Secretary T.R. Hilliard in charge. The field day was concluded with a dance in the evening in the gymnasium at the school.

Tells Rotarians About Stratford Drama Festival

The story of Stratford's Shakespeare Festival was outlined to the Rotary Club at the Monday luncheon by Robert H. Tanner, whose hobby is dramatics.

Dwelling upon the organizational end of the production, Mr. Tanner paid tribute to the efforts of General Manager E. Patterson, through whose efforts the festival came into being. He said he was happy to see the project had turned out to be such a success both financially and culturally.

He spoke of Mr. Patterson's work in attempting to interest the people of Stratford in such a production and his efforts to bring in the talent.

As the idea grew within Stratford, it became apparent a special theatre would be necessary. The people of the city got together and built a $150,000 building which would seat 1,500 persons. Its architecture varies, according to Mr. Tanner, between a Greek amphitheatre and the Elizabethan stage. However, the speaker estimated more than 180,000 would pass through the city during the performances.

Mr. Tanner gave a brief review of the two plays presented at Stratford, "Richard III" and "All's Well That Ends Well." He said Hitler, considered to be an extremely difficult play to produce, was done in such a manner as to have it labelled, "the first successful presentation of the play," by critics.

The speaker also paid tribute to Tom Skinner, the star of the two plays.

The speaker was introduced by Court Miller and the thanks of the club were expressed by Carson Elliott.

Thief's Ignorance Owner's Bliss

The would-be thief who tried unsuccessfully Monday night to steal the car owned by Bert Wells, employee of the Big-A Company, didn't know that the means of getting the car started was resting in the rear seat.

Mr. Wells had been having trouble with the fuel pump on his car and had purchased the new pump which he had intended to install. He left the car parked on the Big-A lot overnight with the new fuel pump lying on the back seat.

The would-be-thieves smashed no-draft ventilators to get into the car but when the car would not start apparently gave up in disgust.

Grade A large eggs were down from the Saturday price to 70 cents a dozen.

Tomatoes were at 50 cents a quart and $1.25 a six-quart basket.

Apples were 15 and 25 cents a quart or 50 cents a basket. Beans were 15 cents a quart or 75 cents a basket.

Montmorency cherries were $1.25 or $1.50 a basket.

Dutch lettuce was 35 cents. Four pound pails of extracted honey were 86 cents.

Three Candidates Qualify At Nomination

Three candidates will officially contest the riding of Hastings South in the forthcoming Dominion election.

They are Lee Grills, Progressive Conservative, Frank S. Follwell, Liberal, and George A. Elliott, C.C.F.

All three candidates have filed their proper nomination papers and the conventional deposit, stated Mr. Felix Hamilton, Chief Returning Officer, at the official nomination meeting held in the city hall this afternoon.

There were no addresses given at the meeting, for Mr. Messrs. Grills and Follwell put in an appearance during the official two hours allowed for nomination or withdrawals. Mr. Elliott appeared briefly but remained only a few minutes.

With the exception of Mr. Elliott only three persons entered the city hall council chambers where the nomination meeting was held. These were Mr. Rashotte, Mrs. Dorian Bosley, Tweed, clerk and a representative of the Ontario Intelligencer.

The three candidate agreed by mutual consent that no addresses would be given at the meeting.

Mr. Rashotte stated that two advance polls will be available. These will be held at the corner of Victoria Avenue and William Street, Belleville, and the residence of Irvine McCoy, Division Street, Trenton. The advance polls will be open on August 6, 7 and 8.

George Tustin, D. Thompson Are Candidates

Official nominations failed to disclose a third candidate in the Prince Edward-Lennox riding on Monday afternoon.

George Tustin, Progressive Conservative, sitting member for the past 18 years, and Donald Thompson, Independent, were officially nominated.

The riding is the only one in Ontario in which the Liberal party did not enter a candidate. A meeting of the local reform party in Napanee a short time ago, failed to produce a standard-bearer to oppose Messrs. Tustin and Thompson.

Driver Injured When Truck Turns Over

Francis Sullivan, 28, dock construction worker at Oshawa, is in Belleville hospital with serious injuries suffered early Monday morning when the half-ton pickup truck he was driving went out of control on the four-lane highway east of the city and rolled over several times.

He suffered severe facial cuts and bruises and a broken collar bone.

According to reports Sullivan was driving west on the north lane when he lost control of the truck. The vehicle mounted the boulevard, struck a tree and after rolling several times ended up on the south lane.

A twelve-year-old boy riding in the truck was uninjured. He was thrown clear of the cab of the truck.

Provincial Police Constable E. W. McAlonen investigated.

Two-Way Fight In New Riding

Close of official nominations at Madoc Monday afternoon revealed that it will be a two-way fight in the new riding or Hastings-Frontenac.

Officially qualified are George S. White, former member for Hastings-Frontenac (Progressive Conservative) and Clerworth Foley, (Liberal).

The nominations were conducted quietly with no actions being taken being given by the candidates.

Stirling Worker Has Arm Torn Off by Machine

He was taken to Belleville hospital where doctors amputated the limb between the shoulder and elbow.

Holcroft, son of one of the owners of the dry cleaning plant, was operating the extractor and apparently got his arm caught while the machine was turning. He was thrown from the machine and also suffered a gash in his head.

The injured man was working in an L-shaped wing of the plant a short distance from his father, but his sister Malcroft was unable to state what had happened.

At the hospital today Holcroft's condition was said to be satisfactory.

BIBLES IN BALLOONS

NEW YORK (AP)—Several copies of the Bible have been wafted behind the Iron Curtain by balloons, says an official of the Russian Bible Society, a U. S. organization. Rev. John F. B. Carruthers, the society's foreign relations secretary, who returned from Europe last week, said he helped set up the project. He said possession of the Russian orthodox bible is not outlawed in the Soviet Union but it may not be printed or sold.

Big Bass Is Caught In Marmora District

One of the largest large-mouth bass caught in the district fell to the lure of Walter Roblin, 77 Chatham Street, last night while fishing in the Crowe River near Marmora.

Mr. Roblin hooked the five and three quarter pound bass with a surface lure shortly after 9 o'clock p.m. It gave him "quite a battle" before being boated. He added a "good-size" pickerel to his haul before calling it a night.

With Mr. Roblin was Elden Bonter.

Taft's Condition Reported Worse

A hospital spokesman recently underwent an exploratory operation of the abdominal wall to investigate a hip ailment.

The announcement was the first that did not take an optimistic view of his condition.

It had been announced last week that he would return to Washington on Wednesday. A statement from the hospital today denied the only that his departure would be delayed.

Taft relinquished his duties as Senate majority leader to Senator William E. Knowland, California Republican, to undergo treatment for what was described as a lesion in a hip bone.

Industrials lost opening steam in mid-morning and carried base metals and western oils lower with them. Golds were mixed.

In industrials weakness appeared in refining oils, manufacturing companies and papers. Steels and utilities were firmer.

In golds, Kerr Addison added a fraction but McIntyre and Macleod slipped.

No trend was evident in base metals, w h e r e higher-priced stocks gained while a wide majority of lower-priced issues moved lower.

Western oils sank to a further two-year low as Canadian Atlantic, Triad, New British and New Concord weakened.

Bold Thief Takes Camera from Car

The first time he left his car unlocked since it was new proved costly for Norman Gateson, manager of The Credit Bureau in the city. Mr. Gateson parked his car in the Kiwanis Centre parking lot at noon today and entered the building to attend the regular luncheon. On emerging at the conclusion of the meeting, he discovered a thief or thieves had attempted to cross the wires on the ignition by breaking the lock on the dash.

A complete search of the car revealed Mr. Gateson's camera to be gone from the glove compartment. The theft was made in full view of anyone passing by on Dundas street and also in view of the Kiwanis Centre windows.

Truckers' Strike Hands Railways 'Slice of Pie'

HAMILTON (CP)—The truck drivers' strike in southwestern Ontario has lost the industry "10 years of goodwill with public and shippers" a union executive said Saturday.

Violence which has marked the strike of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (AFL-IND.) for higher wages had undone public relations work which amounted to small but tasty slice of pie to the railroad," he said.

Things remained quiet on the strike front Sunday but incidents Friday have brought non-union transport companies in a quandary.

A report from Stratford said local non-union drivers were stoned while making deliveries to London, Ont., and were told by strikers "don't come back Monday."

To Use Guards

Graham Lowes, general manager of Lowes Transport, RR No. 1, Woodstock, said the company would use armed guards to protect company property but would not have them on its trucks.

Union leaders here said they had instructions to maintain their picket lines but to use no violence. The strike, now heading into its second week, involves truckers in the London-Hamilton-Windsor area. The union originally asked for a 15-cent-an-hour pay boost but has scaled its demands down to an immediate 15-cent-an-hour increase with additional raise of seven cents to be added by Aug. 1.

Yvonne Saunders of Oshawa, Ont., holds a box of chocolates which, police say, contained enough arsenic to kill eight men. She had given away some on a bus en route to Bowmanville, but none of the eight was touched. After six months of investigation, Yvonne's stepfather, Stanley Cowling of Tyrone, has been arrested. — Central Press Canadian.

Govt. Refuses Truman Permission To Spread $600,000 Fee Over 7 Years

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Tribune say today the government has refused to let former president Truman spread $600,000 from magazine sale of his memoirs over seven income tax years.

The Tribune says Charles D. Dickey, former chief counsel of the internal revenue service, refused to approve an agreement between Truman and Time, Inc. The Truman memoirs are to be published by Life magazine before they appear in book form.

The ruling which the Tribune says Truman sought was not the same ruling which allowed President Eisenhower a tax savings on income from his book, "Crusade in Europe."

Eisenhower was allowed to pay a 25-per-cent capital gains tax, rather than an income tax, on a graduated scale, on proceeds from his memoirs as supreme Allied commander in Western Europe in the Second World War. The ruling permitted him almost $400,000 in taxes as the book brought him a gross income of about $1,000,000.

The ruling under which Eisenhower benefited was outlawed by Congress shortly after the decision in the general's case.

Truman will deliver the manuscript in 1954 or early in 1951, the Tribune says and they will appear in Life one year after delivery.

Dulles Says U.S. Will Not Admit Red China to UN

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary John Foster Dulles said today the United States will not buy Korean unity at the price of Red Chinese membership in the United Nations. He added that the U.S. has the right to veto any move to grant the Chinese communists a UN seat.

He said, however, he did not think a veto would be necessary.

Dulles announced that he will fly to Korea next Sunday to confer with South Korean President Syngman Rhee. He will discuss problems coming up in a Korean political conference and the negotiation of a U.S.-Korean security pact.

Agree on Walk-Out

Dulles disclosed for the first time officially, although it has been publicly known for two weeks, that the United States had agreed with Rhee to walk out of the political conference if after 90 days it appears to be a sham, with the Reds negotiating in bad faith.

Talking at a press conference, Dulles also disclosed officially that the United States has inspected it would be willing to include in the defence pact with Korea a provision giving the U.S. the right to station forces in or around Korea for the purpose of preserving peace. Rhee had asked such a provision.

Will Not Reduce Size of Canadian Brigade in Korea

OTTAWA (CP)—The defence department announced today it has no immediate plans to reduce the strength of Canada's 7,000-man 25th infantry brigade in Korea.

The department in a statement said the 2nd Highland battalion will proceed to Korea as scheduled to replace the 3rd battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

The Highland battalion now is stationed at the Wainwright, Alta., army camp undergoing intensive training. It is slated to move to Korea early in October. The Patricias return from Korea the same month.

LIGHTNING KILLS 5 COWS

BEAVERTON (CP) — Lightning Sunday killed five registered Holstein cows near this Lake Simcoe town. Harold D. Steedle, the owner, said the cows had been killed by the same bolt of lightning which struck a tree under which they had gathered.

Record Number Of Women Seek Seats in House

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The jump from the frying pan of the kitchen to the fire of the Commons is attracting more women than ever.

A record number of them are shooting for the June 10 general election. Forty-eight are out to try to boost their sex representation in the House, upheld by a lone housewife in the last sitting.

They are about five per cent of the 902 candidates nominated Monday for the Aug. 19 election, yet they far outnumber the 15 who ran in 1949 and the record of 18 in 1945.

The Communist Labor - Progressive party leads in women candidates with 22. The CCF ranks second with 12. Nine are Progressive Conservative standard - bearers, three Liberal, one Social Credit and one Independent. The CCF women are largely concentrated in Ontario, with 7 women nominees.

One in Parties

Their aim will be to move in about Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, 48, slender public accountant who has been representing Hamilton West since 1950. Miss Fairclough is running for re-election on the Progressive Conservative ticket.

Her immediate predecessor as the only woman in the 265-member chamber, Mrs. Gladys Strum, is trying to get back. Mrs. Strum succeeded Mrs. Agnes Macphail, who died in 1948. Mrs. Strum, also a housewife, sat as the CCF member for Qu'Appelle, Sask., and was defeated in the 1949 general contest.

In her three years, she was the only woman in the House.

A series of nationally-known women are among the group running for election this time.

One is Dorise Nielsen, trying to get the Branford, Ont., seat as standard - bearer of the Communist Labor-Progressive party. She sat in the Commons earlier as a representative of the "Unity" party.

Bennett's Niece Runs

Far to her right is Miss Sybil Bennett, greying and aristocratic-looking niece of the late R. B. Bennett, Conservative premier. Miss Bennett is trying to capture Halton, Ont., formerly held by the Liberals.

Then in Quebec there is Mme. Therese Casgrain, leader of the CCF party in that province. Making her second try after an unsuccessful by-election campaign in 1952, she is running in Montreal Jacques Cartier-Lasalle.

A St. John's newspaper woman making her second run for the Commons is Miss Clarence Spurrell, the Progressive Conservative candidate in Newfoundland's Burin-Burgeo constituency. She will be opposed by C. W. Carter, who lost to her in the 1949 election that was Newfoundland's first after confederation with Canada.

Twenty-two of the women are looking for seats in Ontario. Nine more are going after ridings in Quebec. There are seven in British Columbia, two each in Alberta and Saskatchewan and one in Newfoundland.

Toronto Planning Huge Stadium, Seeks Olympics

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Allan Lamport said today that plans are under way for a 60,000-seat $2,000,000 civic stadium in the Canadian National Exhibition to back Toronto's bid for the 1960 summer Olympics. He said the new stadium could be finished next summer.

The new bowl would incorporate the existing 24,000-seat CNE grandstand by completing the oval with uncovered cement stands.

It would be constructed to meet requirements of sports organizations, sports editors and sports-casters. The date has not yet been set.

In Ontario, the Liberals named 84 and the Progressive Conservatives 85. In Quebec, the Liberals put up 68 and the Progressive Conservatives 73.

398 in Ontario

A total of 280 was nominated in Ontario, compared with 267 the last time out, and 261 in Quebec against 255 four years ago.

Behind these provinces came 23-seat British Columbia, which picked up four seats out of redistribution and where 100 candidates jumped into the running. Largely Liberal-held at dissolution, British Columbia will be contested by an almost-equal division of Liberal, Progressive Conservative, Social Credit and Communist opponents.

The Ontario candidates include 67 CCF, 28 Labor-Progressive, and seven others.

CCF nominations in the province were down from the 76 put forward in 1949 while the eight Social Credit entries were down from four that year. The Labor-Progressives led by Tim Buck again seeking election himself in Toronto Trinity riding, nominated 22 more candidates than in 1949.

No Liberal in Prince Edward

The only seat the Liberals are not contesting is Prince Edward-Lennox where Donald Thompson, ex-speaker, is opposed by George Tustin, Progressive Conservative, who held the seat in the last House. The last-minute withdrawal of Mr. Thompson upset the possibility of an acclamation for Mr. Tustin.

William Bendickson, running in Kenora-Rainy River as a Liberal-Labor candidate, has the backing of the Liberal party.

There will be seven five-way contests, 28 four-way battles, 25 three-cornered scraps and 19 two-way fights. There were no acclamations.

Two Liberals are running in the eastern Toronto constituency of Glengarry-Prescott. Before the ridings were merged, one represented Glengarry and the other Prescott in the last House.

Two A. G. Casselmans are fighting it out for Grenville-Dundas in Eastern Ontario. Arthur C. Casselman is the Liberal candidate and Alex C. Casselman the Progressive Conservative.

Leaders All Run

All major figures in the Commons parties have renominated. Prime Minister St. Laurent will be running again in Quebec East against four opponents. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, is out in Ontario's Carleton county, which takes in part of Ottawa, where he has experienced from representatives of all the major parties.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, is running again in Saskatchewan's Rosetown-Biggar against four opponents including a Communist. Solon Low, Social Credit leader, is up against three contestants in his Peace River riding near the north end of the Alberta-British Columbia border.

Communist leader Tim Buck, who has never sat in the Commons, is the Labor-Progressive candidate in Toronto Trinity. In trying to take that seat away from Lionel Conacher, Liberal and all-time athlete.

The Commons' only woman member, Mrs. Ellen Fairclough of Hamilton West, was renominated today as a Progressive Conservative.

She was the victim of an unusually large number of women, 43, named to contest this election. Twenty-two of them are running in Ontario.

A TRUCE — BUT NOT PEACE

The truce has come at last to Korea.

But not peace. That needs to be emphasized. The threat to South Korea has merely been suspended. It has not been eliminated.

Both sides issued warnings immediately after the signing of the historic truce documents — and before fighting had actually ceased. They stressed that there is always a possibility of a resumption of hostilities. We must face that fact or expose ourselves to the danger of losing the struggle after the guns have ceased firing. For, if the United Nations should be unwilling to continue the struggle no matter what terms the Communists may seek in the peace treaty, then they will be accepting defeat.

But, by the same token, the Communists cannot be expected to accept at the peace table terms which the armies of the Allied nations could not impose on them in the field.

A report from Washington states that in the political conference which will convene in the fall "the major objective of the United States and presumably of other friendly nations will be to seek the Korean unification", and adds that the western allies "conceive of this as unification under a non-Communist government."

It seems highly improbable that the North Koreans will accept any such an arrangement and if the United Nations insist on such a solution to the Korean question the resumption of the war would seem to be inevitable.

MUNICIPALITIES AND FEDERAL TAXES

At London, Ontario, Finance Minister Douglas Abbott defended the Federal Government's policy of demanding and getting exclusive municipal taxation for governmental properties. He also defended the levy of sales tax on articles purchased by municipalities.

Mr. Abbott advanced the same reason for both policies. The same people pay municipal taxes and federal income taxes. If the government paid municipal taxes it would have to "tax the people of that municipality to get it back." If the government did not levy sales taxes on purchases by municipalities, it would have to "tax exactly the same people" an additional amount equal to the sales tax on the purchases.

This is nonsense. Mr. Abbott knows it is nonsense. There is no need for us to point out to him the fallacy in his reasoning. And there be some persons who believe that Mr. Abbott is actually unable to distinguish the difference between "the government paying municipal taxes and not paying municipal taxes, between the government collecting sales tax from municipalities and the government not collecting sales tax, let us review the facts.

In the first place, though we doubt it, it may be true, as Mr. Abbott argued, that every municipal taxpayer also pays federal income taxes. That does not mean, though, that if the government paid municipal taxes in Belleville out of the taxes paid the city. This amount might, by the strangest coincidence, be exactly the same, but it is much more likely to be a little more, or a little less, depending on the ratio of the assessment of government property in Belleville and the total taxable incomes of Belleville residents to the assessment of government property and the total taxable incomes for all the remainder of Canada.

In other words, if the government has a lot of property in a municipality, then that community would gain by having the government pay municipal taxes and increase income taxes to meet this extra additional expenditure. If a community has a relatively small amount of property within its limits, then it would pay out more in income taxes than it would receive in municipal taxes. And, of course, the income of the residents would be only a small proportion of the cost of the increased expenditure by the Federal Government was negligible.

Many people would think it would be a much fairer and more equitable method of handling this problem. But we will admit this much. We think Mr. Abbott could make out a case for the collection of sales taxes if the government, for instance, it is possible to argue that if a large proportion of the taxes collected throughout Canada are spent in a community, enhancing the value and consequently increasing the income of its residents, then that community should not be so greedy as to demand an even greater proportion of the nation's revenue through the payment of municipal taxes.

But as for Mr. Abbott's argument — sheer nonsense! In the first place, it is not true that taxes would be paid, as Mr. Abbott's words, by "exactly the same people."

In the second place, even if this was true, there is no constant relationship between the amount which a man pays as a municipal taxpayer and the amount that he pays as an income taxpayer. So that even if "exactly the same people" were taxed, they would not be taxed in the same proportion.

And, in the third place, even if exactly the same people were taxed and they were taxed in exactly the same proportions, why should municipalities refuse to pay one tax the municipal tax, and insist on the payment of the other tax, the sales tax?

Mr. Abbott's argument if there had been any validity in it, would have made an unanswerable case for either the payment of municipal taxes by the government or the non-payment of federal taxes by the municipalities.

THE PACKSACK
By GREGORY CLARK

A young lady of my acquaintance who is engaged to be married, was asking some wise counsel and advice by her mother. And I am sorry to report that it is unusual - journalistic fashion. The mother was wanting the girl about the problems of housekeeping.

"Like thousands of your generation," she said, "you have got by this far without having ever learned a thing about cooking, or preparing meals or looking after a house. You're going to get an awful eye-opener . . . "

"Mum," said the young lady, who can dive off a twenty foot platform, drive a car in California and back, debate the UN, skin a rabbit, canvass five blocks for her pet charity, tell which way is up on a Indian Jack, meet Lester Pearson or Jacques Maritain with the greatest ease of manner, and take an outboard engine apart and put it together again in short, just an average twenty year old 'of our time . . . "Mum, anybody who can read would have to be an absolute fool not to be able to cook nowadays."

And I believe she is right. One of the least noticed of the great advances in recent years is the vast increase in prepared foods of every kind, together with the enormous increase in the publication of domestic and household news and instruction. When the mothers of the new generation of twenty year olds were starting their married life they, they still had to rely, in a great many respects, on the word of mouth instruction and advice of their mothers. Grandma's cook book was still a treasured possession. I wonder how many Gradma's cook books are treasured today?

When the discussion reported above reached this point, I chipped in with a suggestion. We went into the kitchen, there and then, and the challenged Mother to look over the shelves and itemize all the things that were new since she was first married: the utensils, the cake mixes, the gadgets, the ready-made food materials.

It was astonishing. In twenty years, half the contents of the ordinary kitchen have been added by a tireless and widely publicized domestic industry.

After which victory, I invited the young lady-queen to the boathouse to overhaul my outboard engine.

Why Election is Drowsy
By HAROLD WEIR in the Vancouver Sun.)

"Muted and listless" is the phrase the New York Times applies to Canada's "drowsy election."

The significance of this judgment is increased in that it comes after the shabby heels of another recent judgment in which Canadians were described as "the most apathetic critic critic as "dull."

So there we are between two critical fires, some of our English brethren complaining that we refuse to act like Americans abroad and some of our American cousins complaining that we refuse to be Americans at home.

We should not be too much disturbed by it.

On the contrary, it's a matter for elation.

For when our friends and relatives begin to be perplexed about us it's a sure sign we've developed, at long last, that distinctive national personality whose advent our heckle patriots have been awaiting with all the anxiety of an adolescent peering at his upper lip for the first of a moustache.

It's not difficult to understand why some Englishmen find us dull. We are all basically British although stirred in a semblance of American haberdashery and converse in a semblance of American speech.

But we don't toss our money around like Americans, nor does think in terms of money like many Americans. Nor do we try to tell Europe how to run its affairs, as they try.

To the British it's like going to a zoo and looking a peacock that won't spread his tail feathers or a lion that won't roar.

It's disappointing and bewildering. It's downright unpublished and bewildering, we call them dull.

It's not difficult to understand, either, why even the ordinarily astute New York Times refers to our election as "drowsy."

While a fair amount of acid was drinkked from the lips of both of the candidates, there has been little of that weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth which the Bible describes as the principal pastimes of the damned, or hell, but which might also apply to the behavior pattern of an American election.

We have even foregone, up to the present, that breast-beating and anguished groaning wherewith recent British political campaigners have announced their fears that a victory for the opposing party would be a victory for Stalin and his fork-tailed angles.

The trouble with us Canadians is not listlessness nor drowsiness, but the sheer inability to believe that the devil is actually at the head of any major political party in this country.

English Labourites may play a brutal to Churchill's stripped tousled Tories and Tories may find a cloven hoof in Bevan's wool socks; American Democrats may smell sulphur in the suave presence of Adlai Stevenson or American Democrats may see Eisenhower as Lucifer.

We unhappy Canadians can't find the devil in the simplest lineaments or the noggin of any of our larger political leaders.

There are thousands of honest Canadians who view vigorously opposed to the Liberals or the Conservatives or the CCF or Social Credit. But very few Canadians are prepared to believe the story that any of these will blow their neighbor up.

If our failure to fight this election with stakes and faggots makes us dull,let us be dull.

When Hitler tried to bring out the thumbscrews, verbal or otherwise, makes us bored, let us be listless.

Sometimes being dull and listless is just another way of being civilized.

Solution Neat Blames Heat

These separate incidents are not world-shaking. Nor do they seem to have any far-reaching significance. But the connection is there. The temperatures recorded in all of these places are remarkably alike.

It's hot.

With a Girn On His Face
(Windsor Star)

An oldster of our acquaintance complained frequently that almost every time he picked up a newspaper he saw the picture of a certain politician. He didn't like the politician, he didn't like the face. The politician, it seemed, never appeared without the "girn."

We listened tolerantly, thinking the old chap merely had a "girn" on and was a bit mixed up in his pronunciation. But then we read over some letters of his, of some years, Emily Bronte's wonderful novel of love and hate, Wuthering Heights, and there we noted the word "girn."

The celebrated author was quite correct in his use of "girn." It is a variant of "grin", but not with the same meaning. It can mean snarl, snirk, whine or to show the teeth. And the politician to whose picture he took such exception always was showing his teeth. An old English and Scottish term, it can be applied with equal force to a 1953 Canadian election campaign.

Many politicians goes around with an almost perpetual "girn" on his face."

You Can Give Dog Ulcers
(Providence, R. I., Bulletin)

Do you know you can give your dog ulcers? Well, you can, especially if it is a wire haired terrier, like Mike, the pet of Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Glenn Bolton, a veterinarian of Albuquerque, N.M., says so after what appears to have been a long and psychosomatic study of this oldest of lower and higher animal relationships. Unless you count that of men and fleas, which probably is older but not nearly so pleasant.

Nervous people make nervous dogs. So, say, do people in the isolation complex. If you're the kind of person, say who jumps up and runs to the door the minute the doorbell rings, how can you babily be the kind of dog which jumps up and runs there, too "with a bark harsh enough to drive off a timber wolf?

But if you are one of the calmer ones who says, "Well, now, who can that be?" and then slowly takes off his spectacles, lays them aside, drops the newspaper in his lap, and moseys to the door, why then you dog will in all likelihood be going to sleep on your feet, and rise up with a friendly wag when you and your friend enter the room.

We'd like to hear more about this, by Dr. Glenn Bolton and why, by addition to getting ulcers, dogs get to look like their masters. And why, more alarmingly, they get to looking like their mistresses. Want to see aunt Sarah? Look at her bulldog sitting there on the step."

Personal Health Talks

SORE MOUTH AND THE GRAY SICKNESS

Dr. Brady

Both chlorosis (the green sickness), formerly prevalent among girls in their teens, and hypo chromic anemia (the gray sickness) are now prevalent in women around forty. Both show that physicians still note color index, meaning that the weakness or reduction of the hemoglobin of color (the coloring matter) in the blood is proportionately greater than the reduction of lowering in the number of red corpuscles.

Chlorosis, the green sickness, is so rare today that many physicians have never seen a case. Hypochromic anemia, the gray sickness, is a familiar experience in physician's practice, although a few decades ago when the green sickness was common we never heard of the gray sickness at all.

In Dolter's Practice published at the end of the nineteenth century by Medical teacher and G.P. the essential cause of the disease (chlorosis) we know nothing . . . comprising the ill-fed overworked girls of large towns who are confined all day in close, badly ventilated rooms . . . lack of proper exercise and of fresh air . . . and of improper food . . . Newly arrived Irish girls were very prone to the disease in Montreal . . . The corset and chlorosis!" . . .

When Dr. Osler wrote that, he and the other medical authorities had no inkling of the part played by nutritional deficiency in causing disease—aside from the vague notion that "improper food" had something to do with it.

We know that it is necessary to increase the daily intake of iron by excercise or cure hypochromic anemia—iron deficiency anemia, the gray sickness. Daily to take means the amount of iron assimilated, not the amount that may be present in the food or medicine one takes.

A healthy person actually assimilates less than one-half grain of iron daily. There is approximately one-half grain of iron in 5 ounces of oatmeal, or the yolks of six eggs, or 6 ounces of stewed prunes, or 6 ounces of lettuce, or 5 ounces of wheat, or 8 ounces of beet.

Most of the iron in food or medicine is not assimilated. For normal assimilation of iron several factors are essential or at least favorable, notably traces of copper, an adequate amount of calcium, and certain vitamins of the B complex.

Many women with the gray sickness complain of sore tongue and cracks at the corners of the mouth. Some of them have a "lump in the throat." They have swallowing difficult, especially swallowing meat and green vegetables. Sometimes the tongue and are likely to try to worry along on a tea-and-toast diet—which makes "em grow grayer and grayer.

TODAY'S TALK
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

STEADFASTNESS

There is something admirable in nearly every human being born into this world. Something that stand out above all others. There is one, however, that is a commanding force in the world's progress. It name it as steadfastness.

There is something to be said about a steadfast person, one with an ideal, courage, and purpose. Such a one is dependable, honored, and respected. I once read of a man whom they called "steadfast". Many thousands, I am sure, have secretly adopted that as their name, if only in the hope that hearts are deeply proud, for steadfastness is a feeder for many a cherished trait.

What a recommendation for any one to be steadfast and true. No written testimonial can compare with that whispered in the ear of one's eyes, words, and deeds. I am reminded of a thought of Emerson's: "What you are speaks so loudly that I cannot hear what you say." The steadfast man does stand out above all the others. There is one, however, that is a commanding force in the world's progress. Unwavering as he defends his principles.

John Buchan (Lord Tweedsmuir) named one of his most interesting books "Steadfast." Here he pictured himself during a most interesting and useful life. He could well have named Mr. Steadfast. It is amazing how much he accomplished in a number of years. Author, statesman, traveler, soldier, adventurer, and much more. He was always welcomed among the great.

Every great friend carries about with him the steadfast virtues. There is no question as to where he stands and thinks. He is always the same. People search him out. He is so rare in this troubled and fear filled world. What a steadfastness of life and you will be a merited success—regardless of station or material ownership.

Strength for the Day

IMPROVING OUR MINDS

Benjamin West, the great portrait painter, was passionately devoted to art from childhood. He was so fond of it that he made his paint brushes from hair taken from his cat's tail and his paint from the juice squeezed out of the blue flag. One day as a youth rigged up his fishing boat with a paddle wheel that could be turned with a crank. A friend who saw it remarked that she was still just a youngster and turned the old boy tales into gay stories that she and her sisters enacted in their barn. Mozart was giving concerts before kings and queens before he was ten.

Not, of course, were precocious children. Their lives were characterized by a very definite promise of greatness. Yet one of the most astounding things is the discovery that seemingly ordinary children, both children and older people have a vast quantity of natural resources that are rarely utilized. Take children on radio and TV programs whose answers to involved questions are startling. Or read about unusual children, but the most unusual factor in their lives is that they have come either from homes of great intellectual interest or else from those where attempt has been made to acquaint them with vast areas of knowledge into which children seldom enter.

Both adults and children can improve in anything and become skilful in a wide variety of arts if they will set themselves diligently to the task.

Assistance Given Cheese Producers by Liberal Govt. Stressed by F. S. Follwell

Only in the Province of Ontario is there a surplus of cheese and for that very reason, the matter should be a problem for the provincial government and not the federal concern, Frank S. Follwell, Liberal candidate for the riding of Hastings South said Monday evening.

Mr. Follwell was speaking at a public meeting sponsored by the Hungerford Liberal Association in Stirling. He said that even though it was the feeling that it was a provincial problem, the federal government last year established a floor price of 36 cents per pound. He pointed out that the Ontario government had added another six cents to make up the 30-cent price for cheese.

Supported Cheese Market

"This year," the candidate stated, "the provincial government did not renew the six-cent subsidy, thus leaving the basic 34 cents or the federal government. I have seen your marketing boards in Ontario many times, I have spoken with them in my office. What did the federal government do?" Mr. Follwell asked. "When your marketing boards came and asked us for a 29 cent floor price on cheese, James Gardiner, agricultural minister, agreed the government would buy up last year's 8,500,000 pounds of surplus cheese at 30 cents and still pay the 34 cents on the board. They did more than that. The government agreed to buy up any surplus at the end of September this year for 30 cents." "Your provincial government let you down, despite all the good they claim to do for agriculture," commented the speaker.

Commenting on the Conservatives' promise to cut taxes, the Liberal candidate declared this to be impossible without burdening the next generation with debt. He told the meeting that the Liberal government has always paid as it went along and would continue with this policy if it went back into office this election.

Making reference to the American government, Mr. Follwell said, "Last November the people of the United States changed their Congress and Senate, but only by a slim majority. The Republicans, the Conservative Republican government promised to balance the country's budget and cut taxes. Now they admit it cannot be done. Eisenhower could not balance the budget, nor could he cut taxes and he admits he cannot. If Eisenhower is not able to do these things, how could Drew possibly attempt it. Drew is no Eisenhower."

Mr. Follwell touched upon the armed service question, stating the meeting not to allow anyone to slander the men who fought and died on the battlefields. He said these men certainly deserve a few of the comforts.

Must Make Request

The Liberal candidate said his party was prepared to build homes, rental homes and homes for sale wherever they might be needed. But, he noted the individual municipalities must make the request to the province, which in turn will forward the request to the federal government. Then the federal government will build homes.

Listing a few figures, Mr. Follwell pointed out the government pays $1,195,000 in family allowances each year to families in South Hastings. He also said that 2,079 old age pensioners in Hastings South receive $1,455,000 from the federal treasury each year, and 230 persons between the ages of 65 and 70 receive old age assistance in South Hastings which amounts to another $55,500 per year.

Mr. Follwell announced at the meeting that Prime Minister St. Laurent would be in Belleville this Friday. He said Mr. St. Laurent would be at the C.N.R. Recreation Field at 2.30 p.m. that day. Mr. Follwell urged that as many persons as possible come to the city and hear the prime minister speak.

Robert Temple, speaking on behalf of Mr. Follwell, criticized Progressive Conservative promises to cut taxes. Saying he could not see how such a thing was possible, Mr. Temple pointed out that cutting at the rate of half a billion dollars would amount to 12 and one-half percent of the four billion dollar budget.

The speaker noted that if Mr. Drew goes through with his proposal to cut taxes, it would appear as if the cutting must be taken from the 18 per cent of public funds allotted to public services. Drew has already admitted the remainder, which includes the 46 per cent for national defence, is necessary. According to Mr. Temple, the 12½ per cent would have to come from the public services funds, which would represent a 75 per cent cut in public services. In the speaker's opinion, this would mean an eventual return to a depression such as was experienced in the '30's.

Says Conservatives Prejudiced

"It may be a co-incidence," the speaker stated, "but any time we have had a Tory government in power, we have had trouble. The Conservatives could not run the country because they are biased and prejudiced by their own interests. Remember, the Liberals brought in old age pensions and family allowances.

Mr. Temple urged the meeting to remember that Mr. Follwell was mayor of the city of Belleville for three years. During this time, the city had its greatest period of expansion since its incorporation. Allowing the growth was mostly concerned with industry, he declared, the centres of concentrated population are the areas wherein the good will of the farmer are sold.

Mr. R. Rush, president of the Hungerford Liberal Association acted as master of ceremonies. He urged that party members do their personal utmost and get out the vote in an effort to return Mr. Follwell to the House of Commons.

Stretch Drive For Aug. 10 Vote Gets Underway

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The big political guns will boom over Ontario and Quebec this week and next as Canada's two major political leaders stress each the ridings that likely will decide the winner of the federal election Monday, Aug. 10 Monday marked the start of the home stretch in the exhausting coast - to - coast campaigning by Prime Minister St. Laurent and George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader. Both revisit Ontario ridings this week.

This is the crucial in-fighting of the six-week campaign, where every speech and every handshake will count. In the 1949 vote, the Liberals got 66 of Quebec's 73 seats; the Progressive Conservatives 2. In Ontario the Liberals the city and near the prime minister later speak.

Robert Temple, speaking on behalf of Mr. Follwell, criticized Progressive Conservative promises to cut taxes. Howe Sees Cut In Defence Costs Possible in 1954

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Korean truce may eventually lead to a reduction in Canada's defence expenditures, Trade Minister C. D. Howe said Monday.

The only immediate saving, Mr. Howe said at a press conference, will be a "slowing of expenditures for ammunition." It might be possible to reduce defence expenditures by 1954 when the budget is brought down in the spring.

The minister, here for a series of campaign speeches in support of Liberal candidates in the Aug. 10 federal election, said the Korean truce is only an agreement to stop fighting.

Can't Withdraw Troops

"We hope they can work out an agreement to end the war but in the meantime I doubt very much if we can take one out of Korea although I hope that before the year is out we can bring some home."

Mr. Howe said he expected to see a "downward trend" in defence expenditures but that there would be "no termination" of existing contracts.

If international tension continued to ease, it should be possible to reduce the strength of Canada's armed forces "certainly within three or four years," but he warned:

"We don't understand what is going on behind the Iron Curtain. No one does."

Tests on Monkeys Helped Britan To Survive Bombs

LONDON (Reuters)—Shock and blast tests made on monkeys and guinea pigs in the early stages of the Second World War helped Britain weather Hitler's London and come up fighting, according to an official medical history published last week.

The government-published volume tells how research biologists assisted in designing the all trenches and air raid shelters that kept casualties low.

The experiments were carried out when scientists had little knowledge of the effects of blast and "ground shock" on humans, and the effectiveness of underground shelters was relatively untested. Animals were used to study the effects of atomic bombing in recent Nevada and Pacific tests.

The book, titled Medical Research, is the latest in the government series on medical history in the Second World War.

At the start of the war, the book says, fears of the effects of bombing on a civilian population led to official casualty estimates running as high as 100,000 a week. Rumors circulated about the deadly results of "blast" and the danger of ground shock—sudden movement of the earth as a result of explosions.

Tests Necessary

It was necessary to "test the theories" of these forces before the government could devise any "scientific foundation for a civil defence policy," the book says.

A research team was put to work on the problem in a temporary "rat laboratory" at Oxford University, later at the unit was Dr. Solly Zuckerman, anatomy professor at the University of Birmingham.

Fears concerning ground shock were based on possible injury to root bones and the base of the skull. If standing persons were thrown into the air suddenly by a near explosion, they might receive also injury to the head if persons resting in an underground shelter were suddenly jarred downward.

Monkeys Survived

But monkeys, subjected to shocks equal to a blast caused by a 500-pound bomb exploding in the earth only 25 feet away, survived without injury.

Meanwhile, mice, guinea pigs and rabbits were undergoing blast tests and revealing an amazing toughness. From their experiments the scientists calculated humans would be able to withstand sudden air pressures of more than 50 pounds a square inch, or about 30 times the normal atmospheric level.

Pasteurize Milk if in Doubt About Source

Getting back to nature is all very well during this green and pleasant time of year, observes the Health League of Canada's com- mittee on pasteurization of milk; but it can be far it from safe drinking raw, unpasteurized milk.

Such untreated milk has been the culprit in thousands of cases of typhoid and paratyphoid fevers, bovine tuberculosis, dys- entery, undulant fever, septic sore throat, diphtheria, and scar- let fever. It can carry disease and possible death into your family this summer if you take the risk of using raw milk.

Much milk obtained where Canada spends their vacations may not be pasteurized; so if you're not sure of it, here is what to do:—

Use a double boiler that will hold about twice the amount of milk you wish to heat. Put en- ough cold water in the bottom pot to touch the top one. Pour the cold, raw milk into the top pot and cover it. Bring the water in the bottom pot to a boil and keep it boiling for eight minutes, then cool the milk as rapidly as possible, bottle, and place it in cold storage (about 45 degrees Fahrenheit is best). Never put the warm milk into unsterilized bottles or the whole effort will be wasted.

When a double boiler is used for home pasteurization there is no change in the flavor of the milk—one of the objections sometimes heard to the process.

ACTORS BAR REDS

HOLLYWOOD — Members of the Communist party have been barred from membership in the Screen Actors Guild by an over- whelming vote of the guild mem- bership. Such ambition requires a singleness of purpose that leaves no room for all the other feminine duties—and joys.

Desire for Home Usually Cuts Short Women's Career Ambitions

NEW YORK (AP)—What holds women back?

This is the subject of research by members of the National Fed- eration of Business and Profes- sional Women's Clubs, as voiced recently by their president, Helen G. Irwin of Des Moines, Iowa.

And the answer, after all these generations of suffragettes and equal rights crusaders, is just the same as it always has been:

What holds women back is— women.

It is a basic fact of human na- ture that few women consider a career more important than hus- band, children and a home. They have careers, yes, because of eco- nomic necessity for the most part. But in a pinch, faced with a choice between complete dedica- tion to office or home, the home usually wins in a walk.

Job Secondary

There are more working women today than ever before. For in- stance, approximately one-third of the United States working force are women. Many of them are highly successful, too, the execu- tive vice-president of a large mid- dle-west banking house is a wo- man, and the editor of a top-class job in business or industry secondary to her main job as a successful human being is the multiple role of wife, mother and homemaker.

That's why most women don't go all out to be president of the com- pany or boss of the shop, even when they spend eight hours a day helping earn the family income. Such ambition requires a singleness of purpose that leaves no room for all the other feminine duties—and joys.

Of course, a few women have made the choice in favor of per- sonal ambition, have shut the door on family responsibilities and do- voted their efforts to reaching the top of their chosen careers. But most of them find it's rather lonely at the top.

Save Cases

With men, it's different. A man can devote all his energies toward getting ahead in his business, can come home too tired for conversa- tion or social activity, and still be considered a devoted husband and father. His concentration on busi- ness, everybody realizes, is a mark of his devotion. He is working to provide security for his wife and children and they shine in the re- flected light of his success.

But a woman who thinks only of her job, who outshines her husband in the business world, who has no time to give to her children's problems, is considered selfish and unnatural. She usually winds up treading the road to success alone.

There are some cases where husband and wife have been able to follow separate careers in com- plete amity, dividing family re- sponsibilities fairly, denying their children nothing of affection or care. But these are few and far between.

Getting Your Just Desserts

By Mary Moore

Seven hundred and thirty desserts per family per year—that's what does it—that's what boosts the recipient book number into mild little housewives like you and me.

Now some women take out all of their frustrations in making desserts rich, sensational, impressive, full of cream and butter and sugar. Some take out their frustrations in keeping their homes so clean that their husbands and children are afraid to walk in the front door. Some women wash the kitchen curtains every month. Some women buy rabbit and expensive hats that look like inverted saucepans or pagodas.

All any of them is trying to do is remain sane in this world that is moving too fast, too noisily.

I know a little trick to put more distance between you and the mental institution instead of making desserts, serve fruits "au naturel" and provide a plate of crisp dainty crackers and some rare cheese.

That cuts out all of this making dessert decision for three hundred and sixty-five times, for you could do that every day for lunch.

Then you have only the other three hundred and sixty-five dinner decisions to make.

Things are getting better every day.

I know you will serve the plentiful fruits in season because you can't help yourself. But you have a strong urge to give you desserts that can be done without too much fuss. There will not be a kitchenful or dirty dishes when you are finished.

Custard Rice Pudding

This is a winner. (Pete calls it a cock-eyed knock-out (that's good!) and is lukewarm.) The dry milk users will like it too. But those who don't keep dry milk on hand just leave it out. It is included to make the dish more nourishing.

Wash 1-3 cup raw long grain rice in a sieve, turn it into top of double boiler and add 2 cups milk, and cook over boiling water for 1 hour, stirring occasionally with a fork. Just before the rice is cooked, separate the yolks from the whites of 2 eggs and beat yolks slightly. When rice is done stir into it 2 tablespoons butter, then very slowly (so they will not curdle) add in the egg yolks. Mix together 2-4 cup brown sugar and 1-4 cup dry skim milk powder and stir into the rice mixture with 1-3 teaspoon vanilla. Let this cook. Beat 2 egg whites until stiff, then fold them into the cooled rice. Pour into medium-sized buttered baking dish and stand it in larger pan containing 1 inch of hot water. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for about 30 minutes. Serve warm with rich cream.

Coffee Jelly

Make extra coffee at breakfast time and see that 2 measuring cups of it stay left over even if you have to cut yourself off with only 2 cups. Soak 2 tablespoons gelatin in 1-2 cup cold water for 5 minutes, then stir into it 1 cup boiling water until dissolved, then add 2 cups clear black coffee and 1-3 cup sugar, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Turn into a mold—preferably a ring mold—and chill until set. You can either serve it with the centre filled with whipped cream or sliced bananas. Pete likes mine ice cream with it—but you know that guy.

Fruit Fools

No, that's is not I—it's a dessert. Don't you know what a "fool" is? It's gently cooked fresh fruit such as gooseberries, black currants, raspberries, sweetened and forced through a sieve. You chill it. You then measure it and measure an equal quantity (or less) of heavy cream and whip that and fold it into the pureed fruit. Pile lightly in stemmed glasses, chill again and serve. Very simple, light and good.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Wants To Devote Her Life To A Career

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My parents insist on my going to college and then studying nursing. I definitely do not want to do that kind of work.

For three years now, I have been interested in astronomy and it is the one thing I want to do for a career. I would love years of hard work, and that I wouldn't mind a bit, but I think it would be worth it.

When my sister was still in high school, she said at different times that she was going to be a ballet dancer, an astronomer, a movie star, an ice skater and an artist. As soon as she graduated, she got married, and now never went to college, so she got nowhere. I think if you are going to have a successful career you have to devote your whole life to it. Please tell me what you think.

C. S.

Dear C. S.:

What I certainly don't think is that you ought to take up any kind of work in which you are not interested, and that it would not be very wise for your parents to try to force you into nursing if you are definitely against it. If you are interested in astronomy, and would like to study that with a view to making it your profession, then in my opinion that is the thing for you to do. Of course you must realize, though, that there are not too many openings for astronomers, and that it would be a lot more difficult for you to earn a living that way than if you entered a field like nursing, where the demand is far greater than the supply.

Whatever you do, however, if your parents are willing to give you a college education you would be very foolish to turn down the opportunity. Whatever career you may eventually decide on, the more educational background you have the better.

And one more thing. I wouldn't exactly say that your sister "got nowhere" just because she married early! Don't make up your mind too relentlessly that you want to devote your whole life to your own choice of career, for there can be no more worthwhile career than marriage itself. On that point, however, you will undoubtedly change your mind anyhow, when the right man comes along.

If You Can't Stop Quarrelling, Stop Going Together

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 16, and my boy is 20. We have gone together for three months, and it seems as though we just can't get along. Every day we have an argument, even over the simplest things, and sometimes is so sarcastic and mean that he even makes me cry.

For example, the other day my girl friend and I were talking about what she got her boy friend for his birthday. Then as my boy friend came up to us and wanted to know what we were talking about. My boy friend got mad because I couldn't tell him just then, and we had an argument and said terrible things to each other.

Can you please give me some advice?

D.T.D.

Dear D.T.D.

Don't you think it's pretty foolish to waste time on a boy with whom you quarrel all the time? What fun is there in that? Or do you enjoy squabbling and being probably making up very dramatically?

I can't see anything in a friendship that makes one so unhappy, and if I were you I would find somebody who wouldn't keep you emotionally upset all the time. Better still, don't stick to one boy friend but try to get out with anyone who asks you.

MEADOW LAKE, Sask. (CP)—Shirley, one of the quadruplets born to Mrs. Joe Bear of the Meadow Lake Indian reserve, died Thursday night in hospital at this town 200 miles northwest of Saskatoon. Another of the babies born July 19 to the 19-year-old woman died just after birth. The remaining two girls are reported doing well.

FRIENDLY UNITY

BROADSTAIRS, England (CP)—Organizers of a campfire at this Kent town, to be attended by scouts of several countries, are seeking a Russian of any age to complete the picture. Business man S. R. Avery says the gathering should be like a session of the United Nations, "but much more friendly."

LIGHTNING FIRES PLANT

KITCHENER (CP) — Lightning set fire to the Zettel Manufacturing Company machine shop Sunday night. Loss was estimated at $4,000. Firemen confined the fire to the office and an adjoining section of the plant.

BOOST TOBACCO ACREAGE

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. BEECHMAN

Wants To Wear White, Should Wear Covered White

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

Will you please settle a "friendly argument" between my girl friend and I? We have noticed in the case of the wedding pictures appearing in the papers that quite a few of the grooms dressed in summer white dinner jackets and black formals trousers and the brides in white and, therefore, the groom should wear a white coat. I have always thought that a black tie is correct with a summer dinner jacket, and that a white tie is worn only with formal evening attire—"tails," which of us is right about this?

S.F.

You are absolutely right about this. With a summer white dinner jacket—just as with a black dinner jacket—a black bow the should be worn. It is entirely incorrect to wear a white bow tie, which, as you say, is correct only with formal evening attire—"tails."

The man who knows what's what in correct attire knows: (1) that he should not wear a white tie with a summer white dinner jacket; and (3) that he should not wear a dinner jacket ("tuxedo"), even a summer white dinner jacket, before 6 o'clock in the evening, at the very earliest. (And 'tis well that some grooms, as shown by the published wedding pictures, do all out to make both flagrant mistakes—wearing at their day-time weddings the white dinner jackets correct for evening only, and the incorrect white tie.)

It's too bad that the "summer bridegroom," who plans to wear white doesn't choose correct white summer day-time attire—the socially-acceptable suit, in fine or Palm Beach cloth or other cool lightweight material.

Announcement Notes Better In This Case

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I am expecting my baby about the last of September. I would like to send birth-announcements to my out-of-town relatives and friends. My husband and I are legally separated, I have applied for a divorce and, as a matter of fact, the divorce may come through before the baby is born. Would it be proper for me to send the usual printed birth-announcement cards? Or what would you advise?

Lefta M.

My advice is definitely that you discard the idea of sending the usual printed birth-announcements as these carry the "Parents" line to be filled in and, since you would want to use your name only, this would mean awkward complications.

In your not-easy situation I strongly advise you to write friendly little notes of announcement. If you find it inconvenient to write them all, have a relative or friend copy the form you outline.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMESON

Colors In Dress

Love of beautiful colors and an understanding of their value to the individual is a good looks quality that is beyond price. Some colors can make even an attractive woman appear nondescript and dowdy. They are usually the cold greys, the rusty browns and patterned fabrics that are dull and unflattering. Let her cast off these dismal draperies, select rich, flattering colors and she becomes fully alive. Drab souls can, by a change of dress and personality, suddenly find new doors opening and their horizons widened. We realize the possibilities of gay tones when we see how a bit of wild rose tint on the cheeks, a deeper red on the lips can boost a woman's morale. The rouge pad and the lipstick are staunch beauty allies.

When selecting clothes, one must consider the effect of the color on the eyes and the complexion—also the figure.

Pure bright colors are likely to call attention to any complexion defects that may be present. Such colors are more effective in accessories—belt, gloves, scarf, hat—used in little touches on a frock.

Only the very rare and beautiful look their best in dead white and what is often called blue-white. Creamy tones are far kinder to the average complexion. Keep that in mind when buying blouses or neckwear.

Certain colors will make a sallow complexion even more noticeable. They include beige and tan, brown and all green except deep grey. Orange, henna and mustard are out of the question. The best bets are black, soft greens and navy blue. Navy blue and black are slenderizing, are friend of the poor dear who has allowed herself to accumulate more fat cells than the laws of good appearance allow.

Color is becoming only when it enlivens the complexion, giving it more character; when it brings out the charm and sparkle of the eyes and harmonizes with the color of the hair. The woman with flair has no trouble in knowing what she should wear. She has found out by trial and error.

Redheads seem to have a yen for brown which is anything but friendly. Blues and greens are fantastic beauty aids to the lassie with flaming thatches. And black, of course, because it accents the skin of the redhead and emphasizes her Titian locks.

For examples:

Dear Cousin Beatrice,

I do want you and Joe to know at once that my baby arrived on (date), and that we are both well and flourishing. He's a fine, sturdy boy—Paul Kenneth Marsh—and he and I hope you'll be able to come to see us very soon.

Dearest love to you both, from my new son and me.

Affectionately,

Leila

Engineer Al Adams of the CNR, Bloomfield ball outfit thinks through some heavy going against Frankford in the CNR Park last night and after the smoke cleared neck-and-neck for two innings was unscathed from the rolling stock and steamed into the station under a full head of steam to win his own game.

It was one of the better tilts of the season, with both Adams and Jill Hamlin sharing around honors in a tight battle. The Bloomfield right-hander let the Diesels off the seventh to pull out in front but the railroaders roared back with Corbette throwing the boner to even the count in the ninth.

From then on it was even-stephen until the twelfth when Al cracked out a two-bagger, galloped to third on a put-out and scored with the winner when Rankin cut loose with a wild pitch. The teams clash in Frankford in a reserve night in the second game of their OSAA playdowns semi-finals.

• • •

There will be enough softballs flying around the countryside this week and next to satisfy the believe someone had dropped a million bomb in Roy Blank's Sports Centre sleek room.

All six teams of the league swing into action with plenty at stake.

Tonight at the Meadow Field, the "Ole Checker" will mother his orchards from the Northern Electric and have these fighters their softball wings against the Temple-Bissell Schools in the first of a best-of-three series for the "Ace" trophy, emblem of championship. The teams meet again Thursday and Saturday, if necessary.

Meanwhile down at Ox Point this evening the Glen Ray Juniors open their city championship series against the Point Anne squad in what should be the classic of the season. Thursday night the Ox Pointers will be here in the second tilt.

Tomorrow night the CNR Diesels trek to Frankford in the second game of their series with the third tussle back here Friday evening.

Twilight opener between Herle Mens's shining lights from Northern Electric, in fact this entire series may be just a dress rehearsal for the main performance next week when the keen meets the Rebecals in a four-of-seven series for the right to represent the city in the OASA Intermediate "AA" softball playdowns.

The two Bobs figure they are as good if not better than the "Checkers" while Herbert, the Ole Plymouth Rock, figures the armistice will be signed about the end of the fourth game.

Anyway rivalry is keen and with the chips down, tonight's bout should be a good one. Starts at six-thirty at the Alemite Field.

Back Again

Don the Jonathan and Timetown Gentlemen rang the welkin at least with their cries of complaint against the decision handed down here last Friday night against Fred Aikins, the downunder lacrosse star. Sandy Singh the Sikh from the Himalayas, the Marse Frank Tunney who brings them over from Ireland, and Jim Tervake had to promise them a rematch before they left the joint apart.

And that's the way it is, come Friday. Nanjo the Nazio and his ferocious freddies clash (or even when he's allegedly unconscious) with Jack Le Tuff the handsome duo, and strike me pink, if the Sak and the Nipponese don't swarm to put the curse of St. Patrick on the villainous duo.

Lost you ferret. Donny the Johnny cashed the Nazie so hard when their forgotten clashed in mid-ring last Friday evening that both settled down like sleeping kittens while the referee disconcerted five) on his fingers and tentalized it by ten.

Then enter Ferocious Fredie with the climax, Sam Godder, the Man in White, out arguing the referee while he and the wheezy chased the snakes out of Ireland. Sam the Marse was weighing his fingers like a Kilkenny housewife at Fair while he beat the enemy draggles of the crayier, when the Orrible H'anstrylan, Terrible Terry, Jr. flopped his lacers palsy on the prostrate form of Don Jonny. Jonny came to late and, egad if the arbiter didn't award the fall and bout to the Nipponese. The fallacy enabled a rear that rocked the Kilkenny shack at Ox Point, but twas all ever, kiddies.

Highlight of Monday's play was the spirited three-wicket stand of Middlecot "twins," Bill Edrich and Denis Compton. They scored 77 valuable runs for England after an early Australian success.

In the third over of the day, Ray Lindwall knocked back Tom Graveney's off stump with his first ball, without adding to the Saints' score of 62 for one. But Edrich and Compton batted steadily on a nasty pitch to wipe out the screams on the first innings.

Milwaukee Slugger Hits Pair To Boost Season Total to 32; Brewers 'Collar' Giants 14-0

By BEN PELEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Brooklyn Dodgers play close to .500 ball on their 13-game western road trip opening today in Chicago, the home office will be sorely tempted to start having World Series tickets printed.

The Dodgers begin their third western swing with a seven-game bulge over Milwaukee Braves and the deep-rooted conviction that the only serious challenger between them and the pennant is found here New York. They can't forget it was the Giants who caught them and beat them in a pennant playoff in 1951.

The Giants went west with high hopes, too, but they got off to a dreadful start Monday night in Milwaukee, where the proven-for-dead Braves buried them 13-0.

Can Recover

The Giants, however, can still recover from that start. They've played good ball in the west this season, winning 14 out of 21 games. After the Braves dropped three of their four games in Brooklyn during the weekend, the Giants' chances figured they were finished. But against New York Monday night Chuck Grimm's fists failed to show the home folks it was all a mistake.

They clubbed Moe New York pitchers for 14 hits and made it count with 10 runs. Sal Maglie failed to register his 12th victory of the season and his 12th consecutive shutout.

Eddie Mathews hammered two more runs, the first with the bases loaded during an eight-run uprising in the fourth inning. Mathews' second grand slam of the season and his eighth work left him with 32 homers in 95 games, one homer behind Babe Ruth's pace in 1927, the year he hit his all-time record of 60.

Sport in Brief

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—Adios Betty, owned by Hugh Grant of Brentwood, L.I., Monday night set a world record for two-year-old pacing fillies in the Adbedale Stakes at Roosevelt Raceway. Adios Betty, driven by Del Miller paced the mile in 2:04.3, breaking the old mark of 2:04.4 set by Miss Bobby Hanover in 1951.

Lisette Hanover was second to Adios Betty and Valerie Volomite third.

LACHUTE, Que. (CP) — Stan Horne of Montreal Jalesmere won the Quebec open golf championship Monday, defeated Murray Tucker, Toronto Rosedale, in an 18-hole playoff forced after a one-under-par 71, three strokes better than Tucker. Both carded 144 in the tournament here last Friday, forcing the playoff.

MILWAUKEE (CP) — Two Milwaukee Braves teammates got into a brief fight Saturday night in a Brooklyn grill but peace was restored quickly, Braves manager Charlie Grimm said Sunday night.

Grimm said Sunday night the fight erupted when Bickford and shortstop Johnny Logan were the two involved.

"Their tempers boiled over about something and a bit of a fight started," Grimm said when asked about a report in a New York newspaper, "but they shook hands and everything is all right."

TORONTO (CP)—The senior Ontario Rugby Football Union schedule opens Aug. 28 at Brantford when Kitchener - Waterloo plays there in a night game, league headquarters announced Monday.

The 24-game schedule includes 10 night clashes with Toronto Balmy Beach playing its first two home games at Varsity Stadium instead of Maple Leaf Stadium.

Day games start at 2:30 p.m. and night fixtures at 8:15 p.m.

FLIN FLON, Man. (CP)—Bobby Kirk of Winnipeg, former player with New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, has been named coach of Flin Flon Bombers of the Saskatchewan Junior League. He takes over from Alex Westmindster Royals of the Western Hockey League. Kirk last season managed the rink at Kapuskasing, Ont.

'OleDiz', Simmons Inducted Into Hall of Fame

By JACK HAND

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Dizzy Dean and Al Simmons, two of baseball's former greats, were inducted formally into the Hall of Fame Monday when their plaques were dedicated by George Trautman, president of the National Association of Minor Leagues, in ceremonies held in front of the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum.

They were the 63rd and 64th to be so honored.

Dean, colorful ace of the St. Louis Cardinal Gas House Gang in the early 1930s, beamed good-will as he acknowledged the honors.

"It's the greatest honor I ever received," he said in his Texas-Arkansas drawl. "I want to thank baseball Lord for giving me a good right arm, a strong back and a weak mind."

Looking at other ball of fame men sitting on the platform—Ty Cobb, Connie Mack, Cy Young, Ed Walsh and Rogers Hornsby—he said:

"There's the kind of ball players I'd like to have had behind me all my days."

Simmons, at 245 about 45 pounds over the playing weight, likewise spoke about "the greatest honor ever paid me" and then turned the praise on his old boss, Mr. Mack.

"I played nine years under Mr. Mack (no former player ever calls him Connie) and I owe my baseball career and his guidance. After I left the played with seven clubs in 21 years. I was just another ball player."

Red Sox Back Into Top Slot; Panthers Lose

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

First place in any league is a pretty good spot to be in and it usually doesn't make much difference to teams just how they get there.

Monday night Brantford Red Sox moved into the lead in the Senior Intercounty League standings. The Sox were idle while Kitchener Panthers dropped a 3-2 10-inning thriller to Oshawa Merchants, the latter's fourth win in a row and end. At the same time, Galt Terriers held their fifth-place in the league with a 12-4 route of the hapless St. Thomas Elgins.

Highlighted Eddie Steel was the Galt hero, setting a league record with three circuit smashes which accounted for five of the Terriers' 12 runs. It was 10, 11 and 12 of the season for Steel.

Ray Butler went the route for the winners, yielding eight hits in the nine innings. Walxy Beggs started for St. Thomas and Jack Caffrey came on in the fifth. Beggs being charged with the loss.

At Oshawa, the Panthers tallied singles in the second and third for a 2-0 lead which the Merchants smothered in the sixth and stacked the issue and force extra innings.

Butchie Lawing scored the winning run after getting on base with a single, stealing third and scoring on Fran Dyson's single.

Bill Harraha went the route for Oshawa with Cy Bricker and Bert Allan, the loser, sharing Kitchener mound duties.

Savoie Whips Febela Chavez

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Rugged Armand Savoie of Montreal boosted his lightweight stock Monday night with a knockout over Febela Chavez of Hollywood, Calif., in 2:25 of the eighth round. Savoie weighed 134½; Chavez 133½.

An durable Canadian started Chavez' downfall in the seventh with a one-handed barrage that had the lighter-punching Californian reeling. He opened up again in the eighth and a lightning-like left hook draped Chavez against the lower rope. Referee Eddie Wolfe counted him out. It was scheduled for 10 rounds.

An examination after the fight disclosed that the Canadian suffered a broken left rib.

If Exhibition Game Is Criterion Chisox Will Need Fleet of 'Trucks'

By JACK HAND

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—The good people of Cooperstown went home from Doubleday field rocking baseball fans Monday night is the team that's going to beat out the Yankees?" They had a point, too, for Chicago White Sox staged a weird exhibition of sleep walking Monday on their visit to baseball's birthplace.

It was only an exhibition game, of course, and chances are the Sox will all make like Hornsby and Cobb and Mathewson they play the Red Sox at Fenway Park.

Paul Richards, the manager, talked about his ball club as he squirmed on the bench while Cincinnati scored four runs in the first inning. Every time he looked up a ball was dropping in front of an outfielder or rolling into the wrong crowd for a ground rules double.

Under the circumstances, it was hard to keep your mind on any pennant race.

"Things never work out the way you think in the spring," he said. "I figured on four pitchers, Lou Kretlow, Tommy Byrne, Don Johnson and Saul Rogovin, and they all let me down something terrible."

Then there was Vern Stephens. We gave up a pretty good shortstop (Hector Lopez) to get him. I thought he would fill the bill but he didn't come close. It was a good thing we came up with Bob Nieman.

"Otherwise, things have held together pretty good."

Richards never admits defeat. When the Yanks had won 18 in a row and the Sox White Sox were 13 games behind he refused to concede. He's that kind of a guy. Play it to the final out every day.

"Our pitching has been in and out. Billy Pierce, Sandy Consuegra, Virgil Trucks and Mike Fornieles. I'm going to have to start Harry Dorish in Boston.

"Trucks is our big guy, won eight straight since we got him. He throwers as hard as ever. I used to catch him when I was with Detroit. When he's right, he's as good as he ever was. If I had a couple more like him and Pierce—"

Tigers Claw Terriers 16-6

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tigers, the most improved team in the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior loop, moved into a fourth-place tie with Fergus Thistles, crushing Orillia Terriers 16-6 Monday night.

The Tribbles never trailed, and their goalie, Bud Smith, was brilliant. Tigers led by quarter scores of 4-2, 11-3, and 15-4. Al Doyle led the parade with four goals. Jack Dorney and Doug Davidson got three apiece and Jack Sibbald got two.

Stu Scott got three of Orillia's counters.

Diesels Edge Frankford 7-6 In 12 Innings

Al Adams, Diesels hurler, decided to take matters in his own hands against Frankford at the CNR Park last night, and after eleven innings of play stepped out and won his own game 7-6.

The game was the first of the OABA Intermediate "A" playdowns semi-finals. The winners meet Tyndal Stone for the right to represent the city. The second game of this series is slated for Frankford tomorrow night with the third here Friday.

The game was one of the better ball games here with Adams and Bill Rankin of Frankford hooking up in a neat hurling duel. There was plenty of stuff with Adams giving up fourteen and Rankin nine, but base running and work on the part of both teams held the score down until the seventh.

Meade Shaw homes a pair in the first with Frankford getting a single in the second. Both teams battled ineffectively until the ninth when Diesels pushed over a single. In the ninth Frankford smacked out three singles and with a walk fired home a run to tie up the 4-3 lead.

The village crew added two more in the top of the ninth on singles by Cosgrove, Cullen and "Hopper" Adams and it looked to be in the bag for the Men of Rankin.

Diesel hopes rose in their half of the innings when Vern Gorey singled sharply to right center. Empey grounded out and Doug Orser forced another single to left centre. Corbett lashed out a line drive that got by the Frankford centre-fielder and the first base man rounded the horn scoring two in front of Orser in the race.

Frankford went scoreless in the next three innings although they threatened with two hits in each of the eleventh and twelfth. The Diesels went down rather easily in the bottom of the twelfth when Adams, first man up, singled out a hit that went for a double.

Wardaugh went out and Hunter stepped up to the plate. Adams had reached third on the potent one-two punch. Hunter uncorked a wild pitch to Hunter, the Diesel pitcher raced home with the winning run.

Several fine fielding plays bettered the game with Doug Sword topping the lot with a back-to-the-fence Dodd Gold stab of a left foul-line blooper.

Clout sparkplugged the Frankford attack with three triples, Cullen, Cosgrove, Adams and Murphy each hit a trey.

Glen Young paced the Diesels offensive with a double and single. Vern Gorey and Doug Orser each had two singles, Corbett had a homer and Hunter and Adams hit doubles.

The score:

Diesels 300 001 003 001—7 9 3
Rankin and Murphy; Adams and Young.

Sport From Britain

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — A group of "shorties" has combined this summer to punch holes in the old athletic adage that a good big man—or woman—can beat a little one every time.

A contributor to the cause has been Canada's Marlene Stewart, the five-foot-two-inch Toronto golf powerhouse from Fonthill, Ont., who became the first Canadian ever to win the British Women's Open Amateur Golf Championship.

Her low-cool concentration and flawless game marked her down for comparison with short-statured Jim Gordon.

Hogan arrived on the scene a little late and made the pair-wise Scots realize that everything that's been said about the big-bearded little Texan is true, as he took one of their toughest courses to pieces and won the British Golf Championship in his first attempt.

Trend Established

The trend has been established in other fields, too.

Lindsay Hassett, a five-foot, five-inch Australian who leads the invading test cricket team, is more than getting by. Fellow Australian Ken Rosewall and Lew Hoad won the men's doubles at Wimbledon's tennis circus. Rosewall, five feet, six inches, and his blond running mate, an inch or two taller, gave promise of being back next year in a much bigger way competitively.

Across the courts, Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly was winning the women's singles again. The California basher, five feet, four inches in her tennis socks, wasn't fazed by her taller opposition.

Stan Matthews, who won the Football Association Cup for Blackpool this year almost single-handed gave a tip on what was to develop later in the summer.

Not that soccer is a big man's game. Although size is an advantage in most ways, there still have been many lacking height including the late, great Alex James, the little fool said to be the best of them all.

Little Star's Game

The summer has been kind, too, to Sir Gordon Richards, who, at four feet, nine inches, seems the smallest of the lot. Big men are rare in Sir Gordon's sphere. In fact no big man has ever made a name for himself as a jockey for obvious reasons.

Sir Gordon was knighted this year for his contributions to the sport of kings, continued at an age when most men, big and little, have retired. Sir Gordon also won the Derby for the first time, after years of trying.

Surveying the situation, John Hall remarked in the Daily Mail that the situation may dampen the enthusiasm of government-employed scientists who have just reported that the average Briton is growing taller.

Said Hall: "There is ample evidence that in Britain the worship of inches has coincided with the country's decline in sporting supremacy."

The sportsmen and women who come and conquer, she said, actually "are the little 'uns."

Aussies, Mexicans Dominate Canadian Tennis Finals

The week-long Canadian tennis championships at Toronto Tennis Club ended as predicted with top-seeded Mervyn Rose of Australia, left, and Melita Ramirez of Mexico, right, winning coveted singles crowns. The petite school teacher, in a repeat performance from last year, made a clean sweep of matches, winning ladies' doubles and mixed. She beat out Mrs. Thelma Long of Australia, 6-1, 6-3, in singles final. A southpaw, who is ranked sixth in the world, 23-year-old Rose swung past his second seeded Davis Cup teammate, Rex Hartwig, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2, in final and then took the sturdy blond into his company to sweep the doubles from country-man Geoff Worthington and Tony Vincent of New York, 7-5, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2. — Central Press Canadian Photos.

Earl Walls Ranked Sixth Among Heavies

NEW YORK (CP)—Earl Walls of Edmonton today was ranked sixth among the heavyweight contenders for champion Rocky Marciano's crown by Ring Magazine. Walls rocketed to contention after his knockout victory last week over Rex Layne of Lewiston, Utah.

Two other Canadians were listed in the lightweight division as contenders for champion Jimmy Carney's title. They were Arthur King of Toronto, ranked No. 5, and Armand Savoie of Montreal, listed as No. 10.

Senators Sell Tommy Byrne

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fourth American League club has given up on Tommy Byrne, the slender North Carolina pitcher who never lived up to expectations.

Washington Senators announced Monday the sale of Byrne to Charleston of the American Association. New York Yankees, St. Louis Browns and Chicago White Sox earlier had parried company with Byrne.

'Ulawin' Takes Thorncliffe Race

TORONTO (CP) — Harvey Fleet, a restaurateur from London, Ont., who has been driving harness horses for 30 years, resisted an impulse two weeks ago to retire his eight-year-old mare Ulawin. Monday Fleet drove her to her first victory in 13 starts this year at Thorncliffe Raceway in a photo finish with Bob Sanford's Jean Volo B., another London entrant.

In the day's feature, an elimination race in which the first four finishers in the fifth and sixth races qualified for the ninth, Monday Morning, owned by H. Hooper of Smiths Falls, won by a head over Wolf Maverie, owned and driven by Allan Dean of Essex.

Bisons Gain As Royals, Wings Lose

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Buffalo Bisons increased their International League lead Monday night without playing a game.

The Herd gained a half-game on second place Rochester Royals and Wings and Montreal Royals, who split a double-header, remained in the third spot, scheduled contests. The latter clubs now are a game behind the leaders, with the Red Wings in second and by one percentage point over the Royals.

The Wings fell 12-0 to the sixth-place Syracuse Chiefs in a 6-inning game at Rochester. Jack Robinson got credit for his first decision of the season, while Ellis (Cod) Deal suffered his eighth loss.

Ottawa Athletics edged Montreal 3-2 at the Canadian capital. A pinch-hit, two-run homer in the eighth by Don Hoak didn't supply enough punch for the Royals. Fred Gerken whacked a bases-empty round-tripper for the winners.

In the only other scheduled encounter, Springfield Cubs buried themselves deeper in the cellar. The tail-coders dropped a 4-3 decision to the fourth-place Baltimore Orioles. Three unearned runs in the first inning and excellent relief pitching by Tom Herrin gave the Birds the margin.

PROBE DEATH

PARRY SOUND (CP) — Provincial police are investigating the death of two persons at Seguin Falls, 25 miles west of here. The bodies, discovered last night but police released no names or details.

Marlene Stewart Canadian Hope For Golf Crown

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Leading Canadian and United States golf players are ready to battle for the Canadian women's open golf championship at the London Hunt and Country Club Aug. 13-15.

Heading the powerful American entry list is Pat Lesser of Seattle, low amateur in the U.S. open championship at Rochester. Edean Anderson of Helena, Mont., the 1952 winner, will defend her title. Other former winners include Grace DeMoss, Corvallis, Ore., and Grace Lenczyk, Newington, Conn.

Canadian hopes centre on brilliant young Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, winner of the British women's crown this year. She took the Canadian title in 1951. Ann Sharp, Lookout Point, the Ontario Open titlist; Mary Gay, Kitchener Westmount; Jean Donald, Toronto, five-time winner of the tournament, Mrs. J. R. Boyd, Victoria and Babs Davies, Vancouver, are other prominent entries.

Soccer 'Kick' Scores Few Financial Goals

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's professional soccer players won some minor wage concessions Monday that did little to end their grievances over pay.

An industrial disputes tribunal authorized that the maximum weekly salary for top-flight players be raised from $39.20 to $42 a week when late June, July and August.

The players' union, which represents some 3,000 professionals, one of them national idols, had asked abolition of the maximum or alternatively a flat rate of $2,800 a year.

The tribunal softened the blow by making the minimum salary rise from $28 to $33.60 a week. But the players' union said disappointment and many of the 119 professional league clubs will go on paying the minimums of $21 a week in the close season and $15.60 in the summer.

Reds Whip Sox In Weird Game

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Cincinnati Reds bombed inept Chicago White Sox pitching for 19 runs in the sixth inning Monday on the way to a 16-6 victory in a weird exhibition game at Doubleday Field in the shadow of the Hall of Fame.

The 7,264 who watched the loosely-played contest saw 27 hits rattle around the place where baseball was invented.

Willard Marshall hit a three-run homer for the Reds in the big sixth-inning attack on Bob Keegan and Saul Rogovin.

Monte Irvin National League Top Slugger

NEW YORK (AP) — The surging Boston Red Sox, who have won 17 out of their last 21 games, have three players listed among the six leading batters in the American League.

George Kell, Billy Goodman and Tom Umphlett have contributed to the sudden Sox rally which has lifted the club into third place, 7½ games behind the front running New York Yankees. Kell is the league's leading hitter with a .342 average, Goodman is third with .323 and Umphlett is sixth with .308.

EMIGRANTS HONORED

STOCKHOLM (CP) — A monument has been dedicated on the shore of Lake Fryken in Varmland, commemorating the thousands of men and women from the province who through the years have emigrated to the United States or Finland.

The good cards were running my way, as they sometimes do, when I was dealing them to the pack, as is customary when Lady Luck has her arms around you. That makes you feel invincible. Meantime, opponents were getting rumbunctious in their wild efforts to put a crimp in our style. This was the situation when it came the deal shown here:

NORTH
♥A K J
♦9 5 4 3 2
♣A Q 5

WEST
♠K Q J 10
♥9 7 6
♦7
♣K J

EAST
♠9 8 7 6 5
♥10 9 8
♦Q J 10 9
♣7 10 9 8 7

SOUTH
♠3 4 2
♥Q 5 4 3 2
♣6 5 4 3

The bidding went like this:

North	East	South	West
1 D	Pass	1 S	4 S
Dbl.	Pass	5 D	5 S
6 H	Pass	Pass	Pass
6 H	Pass	Pass	Pass

In answer to four no-trump, five diamonds is the signal for five aces and kings. When the kings missing, north was willing to stop at small slam in hearts, if opponents permitted.

North knew he could defeat any of the hands coming from west. The soundest action was to double six spades when there was so much danger that a grand slam would probably fail.

But north and east were not vulnerable; north and south were. A slam of seven would pay more than west could lose. It seemed a shame to sit back and take anything less.

Although north would have liked to stop at six, he decided to let south have a try at a grand slam of five hearts. He was crowding the luck a bit too much, perhaps. But he did it.

With south as declarer in hearts, west made the obvious spade ruff-and-sluff lead. When dummy hand was spread, south did not like the look of a grand slam. The black suits bothered him.

However, he made it. You can see how, maybe.

Ernie Jones Wins District Bowling Title

The championship competitions for rinks, doubles, singles and junior events of District 15 of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association were held on the playing greens of the Trenton Lawn Bowling Club.

The district competition had entries from the Belleville, Kingston, Madoc, Trenton and Campbellford clubs with Ernie Jones of Belleville winning out. In the first round he was drawn against the Campbellford entrant while the Kingston entrant played Madoc with Trenton drawing the bye. In the second round Ernie drew the bye and Horace Ovenshew, of Trenton, defeated the Kingston player and in the final round it was a thrilling struggle lasting all night before Ernie repeated Horace by a score of 21-20. He will represent this district in the zone playdowns two weeks from now.

The doubles competition had entries from Kingston, Belleville, Trenton, Madoc, Campbellford, Colborne and Brighton. In the first round, Gordon Edwards and Mac McLean representing the Belleville club defeated the Madoc entry, Kingston defeated Campbellford, Trenton defeated Colborne and Brighton drew the bye. In the second round the defending champions from Kingston, Bill Dunnett and Dick Kersey, defeated the Belleville duo while Brighton defeated Trenton and in the final round Duncan and Edney defeated the Brighton team to prove the only repeating district champions.

The junior doubles competition for youths under 25 had entries from Madoc, Kingston and Belleville. The Belleville team of Doug and Bill Duncan defeated the Belleville entry of Colin Parker and Bruce Dodds by a narrow margin in the first round and then went on to defeat the Madoc team handily in the final.

In the rinks competition entries representing the Kingston, Belleville, Trenton, Madoc and Campbellford clubs were present with Archie Meyers' rink from Campbellford entering the eventual winners. In the first round they defeated the Madoc entry while Belleville defeated Trenton and Kingston drew the bye. They then defeated the Kingston team in the second round and in the final round defeated the Belleville team by the narrow margin of 21-20. The team from Belleville included Jim Hanna, Jerry Hyde, Gordon Watkin and Austin Watkin as skip.

The draw for these events was handled by R. C. Argue of Belleville in the unavoidable absence of the district chairman, J. Kay

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY, JULY 23, 1952

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Splendid Mercury, Mars and Uranus rays for keen mental activities. Vigorous activities including military, naval, air force interests.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Your Venus position stresses need for charity, extra kindliness toward others. Day beneficial for all matters requiring mental alertness.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — No "ifs" or "buts" about your making at least some headway. At least try. Activities requiring mental agility, new and clever ideas favored.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Fine outlook, especially if you don't heed petty annoyances. Be broad-minded and you can make friends, co-operation, added reward.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — A similar day to Cancer. Much attainment yours if you aren't selfish or domineering. Seek to add cheer, be of good cheer and benefits will come your way.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — The mental and creative in artistic professions, also military and government matters, highly sponsored. It's a good day, enjoy it.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Similar tendencies to Taurus. Day favorable for intelligent management of home, business, all worth-while interests.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Mars and Uranus in conjunction suggest anger for a brief, progressive day, especially in matters for which you have training, talent.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Not wholly encouraging for financial undertakings or risky ventures, but is benefic period for sound business and work interests.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Saturn's position advises extra vigilance in dangerous work, handling machinery, tools, etc. But day has some fine influences that can prove profitable.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — A clearer road for you now. But do examine carefully (not quickly) what are your specific duties so as to get started early.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Some restrictions mostly in water sports, travel joy, sea, handling oils, chemicals, etc. Day is fine for other interests, work.

YOU BORN TODAY: Bright, engaging personality, somewhat dominating (perhaps too aggressive) at times. You have unusual ability for selling, promoting. But do realize that one must know how to take orders as well as give them. Fine home and often brilliant people in Leo, the Royal Sign. Live up to your promising attributes.

Frost Confers With Union Heads Over Violence

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost expressed concern Monday over recent clashes in the trucking and gold mining strikes and called AFL and CIO union leaders into conference, requesting their co-operation in respect for the law.

The private meetings were held separately after the AFL group declined to gather with the heads of the rival labor organization. However, both meetings were reported to have been amicable with threats of violence condemned asked.

The premier asked co-operation of both parties in avoiding conflict. He told them he wanted labor to understand its rights, but at the same time not to disregard the law.

Baldness Sign Of Virility

LONDON (Reuters)—The British medical profession today offered some consolation to men who are losing their hair—there is evidence that baldness and virility go hand in hand.

The magazine Family Doctor, published by the British Medical Association, stepped into a current London newspaper controversy and over what makes men bald and what they should do about it.

It made these points:

1. There is no cure for ordinary baldness.

2. There is little hope there ever will be a cure.

3. There is reason to believe that bald men are more likely to be virile than those who keep their hair.

The magazine article told of research carried out in the anatomy department at the Starr medical centre in New York where thickthighed men known to be lacking in male sex hormones immediately develop first signs of baldness after getting gland treatments.

Toronto's Plumbers Reject Settlement

TORONTO (CP)—A 2,000-member meeting of the Plumbers and Steamfitters Local 46 (AFL-TLC) Monday rejected a conciliation board wage recommendation and left its negotiating committee to seek a better offer from employers. The executive has been empowered to call a strike, which would tie up a large part of metropolitan Toronto's building program, if a better offer is not forthcoming.

The conciliation report recommended a seven-cent increase over the present $2.15 hourly rate. The union originally sought 35 cents but pared its demands to 18 cents during the board's hearings.

Little Gibraltar Is Abandoned Under Armistice

By BILL ROSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SEOUL (CP) — Post-armistice censorship relaxations today permit the disclosure that Canadian troops will have to abandon Little Gibraltar in the withdrawal to create a 2½-mile buffer zone under the truce agreement.

At one time or another the three Canadian regiments which have served in Korea have been connected with Little Gibraltar, a hill position which Canadian forces have defended strongly. The withdrawal must be made within three days.

Hold Part of Line

The easing of censorship disclosed the fact that Canadian forces were holding part of the Kowang battle line. The 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry, held Little Gibraltar, and, since July 10, Canadian battalion held lower hills southeastward. The Royal 22nd Regiment was in reserve.

A famous Hook position, long the Commonwealth division's south anchor and with which the Canadians have been associated, was also lost to the demilitarized zone. It now is held by American troops.

The armistice Monday fell on the 1,111th day of the war and the eve of the Commonwealth division's second anniversary.

Heavy Losses

The Canadian forces devoted today—first of the three they have to complete evacuating their old positions—to removing ammunition. During the next 72 hours they must get everything they want to keep out of the area and, that includes everything likely to be useful in building a new semi-permanent headquarters in new areas. However, mindful that the armistice may be only a pause in the hostilities, they will keep top priority today to ammunition.

Traffic Offences, LCA Charges Dominate Court

BANCROFT. (Special) — A heavy court docket consisting mainly of traffic offences and LCA charges was before Magistrate R. C. Jackson in magistrate's court on Second last week.

Convicted on a charge of having illegal possession of liquor, James Griesenbrietzky, L'Amable, was fined $150 and costs Griesenbrietzky was also fined $10 and costs for driving without a license.

Wilfred Bowers of Bancroft, charged with the theft of machinery, was given two years suspended sentence, ordered to make restitution and was fined $45 and costs.

A Bancroft mechanic, Earl Bentley convicted on a charge of false pretences received a 15 day term.

Charged with assault occasioning bodily harm, Myrtle Bartley of Bancroft was given one year's suspended sentence and ordered to pay costs.

Hubert Mountney of Birds Creek was convicted of careless driving when involved in an accident on Highway 62 on July 11, and was fined $25 and costs.

Failure to remain at the scene of an accident cost Joseph Culleus of Oshawa, $25 and costs.

Four persons were charged with having liquor at a place other than their residence. John Hart, of Marmora; Milton Barnett of St. Catharines, Gladys Johnson of Peterborough were each fined $10 and costs while Ben Whiteley of St. Catharines paid $15 and costs. Gladys Johnson was further charged with being intoxicated and fined an additional $10 and costs.

Speeding charges resulted in fines of $15 and costs against Claude Westlake of Stirling, and William Murphy, of Stoenburg. For driving without licences Emily Vallier of Tweed and Herman Boomhour of Coe Hill were each fined, $10 and costs.

Failure to share the road cost Gideon Jessup of Marmora a fine of $10 and cost whilst Herman Boomhour paid $5 and cost for a similar offence.

Fines of $10 and costs were levied on Reginald Mackey and Bertha Haase, both of Bancroft, when convicted of charges of careless driving. For driving a vehicle without brakes Adrian Bailey of Cumbermere was fined $10 and costs.

Campaign Gets Warmer

Entering the final weeks of the federal election campaign, the campaigning and the weather both are getting warmer. Hon. George Drew, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party runs into hot 90-degree weather at Charlottetown, P.E.I. RAWDON

Samuel McMullen Accepts Principalship St. Catharines H. S.

RAWDON. — Rawdon friends of Mr. Samuel McMullen, formerly of 5th concession, Rawdon, will be interested in the news that in September he plans to take over the principalship of the new Queen Mary Junior High School on Carleton Street, St. Catharines.

The school is just being completed and will be officially opened by Premier Frost in October. The school is one of the most modern in the province and no doubt there will be many visitors during this term.

Samuel has been the summer months at Toronto studying for his Master of Education degree. He is a former student at King George High School, Stirling, in 1912.

Missing Plane Found in Bush Near Sudbury

SUDBURY (CP) — RCAF parrescue and ground search parties were set to converge early today on the Adobe lake area, 35 miles northeast of here, where the wreckage of an RCAF Mustang fighter, missing since July 18, was sighted Monday.

The wreckage was spotted by FO. Alan Weekes of Edson, Alta., while on routine search patrol in a Beechcraft Expediter from the North Bay RCAF base. He was pilot in the plane piloted by FO. Roger Smith of Montreal.

The wreckage, a pinpoint in the dense wilderness, was kept under surveillance by search planes while a hydro commission helicopter was flown in. But the helicopter couldn't land at the crash scene because of the tall trees.

It set down an Adobe lake, about a mile from the crash site, but the bush was judged too dense to cut through before dark. The ground search party was to head toward the wreckage after being landed on the lake while the pararescue group landed out at the crash scene, weather permitting.

RCAF officials at North Bay, centre of the search, said there was no sign of life at the crash site.

The Mustang, piloted by FO. J. L. Suttle of Saskatoon, was one of nine aircraft from No. 403 reserve squadron, returning to their home base at Group headquarters participating in a defensive exercise in Eastern Canada. It disappeared on a low military altitude leaving North Bay for the Lakehead on the second leg of the flight.

Ottawa Reports Deficit in June First in 4 Years

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government went into the red by $13,300,000 in June as expenditures outpaced an increased flow of revenues, the finance department reported yesterday.

First monthly deficit in three months and the first June deficit in four years, it cut the surplus in the first quarter of the 1958-54 fiscal year to $161,000,000, down from $362,675,000 in the similar 1957-58 period.

Finance Minister Abbott said in a statement that the $161,000,000 surplus may melt into a deficit before the year is over. Even with big surpluses at the beginning of the last fiscal year, the government showed six one-cell surplus of only $96,000,000 at final accounting.

Surplus Not Sure

"The surplus at the end of June cannot be taken as giving any indication of the result for the fiscal year as a whole," he said.

While revenues are always large in the early months of the fiscal year, expenditures are always heavier in the latter part of the year and increases in expenditures are accumulated in earlier months a deficit for the year as a whole is inevitable."

Revenues during June rose $371,332,000, up $42,065,000 from $329,267,000 last year. But corporation profits tumbled to $287,161,000, a decline of $70,000,000 from $357,161,000.

Big outlays in pending were recorded for the air force and federal payments to provinces under federal-provincial tax agreements.

FIND MISSING BOY

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—In the search party was about to start Monday on a hunt for seven-year-old Murrey Playford, missing from his home here since Sunday, he was found in a playground within the city limits.

BOOKSHOP OWNER DIES

LINDSAY (CP)—Charles B. Perkins, one-time linotype operator and owner of a bookshop here, died Friday from a heart attack. He was born at Pennsylvania and later became city editor with Lindsay paper. At various times he served for 49 newspapers in North America.

Mounting Crimes of Violence Overwork Britain's Police

LONDON (Reuters) — Clubbing, shooting, ruthlessly efficient gangs and mounting violence are giving Britain's overworked police enough time in the nation's biggest crime organization.

Reporting crimes of violence are the worst since organized crime began to flourish one of the few the world to allow its policemen to carry guns.

The inspectors of constabulary in a report say there were a record 4,178 murders in 1951. The latest year, for the first nine months showed little improvement.

Police believe young, ruthless criminals, organized by the master brains of the underworld, are behind the robbery, hijacking and murder. Many are young in police records, which makes the task harder.

Police Bodyguard

The underworld has never been better organized. There are widespread rumors that "cold logic" methods will net more convictions are making secret schools for would-be criminals and taking a big share of the dividends of their training.

Every type of crime is on the rise. There were 5,323 cases of criminal and malicious wounding in 1951, compared with 4,193 in 1948. Rape and offence against girls ranged from 6,795 incidents in 1948 to 9,514 three years later. Robbery with violence, the terror of old ladies being clubbed in their doorstep, Several judges, headed by lord chief justice Goddard, want the government to consider sentencing a ban on flogging to smash crimes of violence.

Homebreaking is still one of the most popular branches of crime. One gang, known as the "ladder gang," becomes it always enters lonely mansions by means of ladders, got away with $420,000 in a year.

Another undetected gang took a mail truck in a London street and escaped with about $700,000. Car theft, too, is spreading. In the borough of Westminster, every third or fourth house is the precinct of Soho harbors prostitutes, according to Dr. Joan Carritt, a Westminster councillor.

Incredibly Sordid

Fashionable Mayfair, London's Park Lane district, "is incredibly sordid," says Rev. Howard Marshall, a local priest who is campaigning to stamp out vice.

Lower Road street—"The most expensive mile in the world"—after dusk is lined at 10-yard intervals by streetwalkers. "In 16 years abroad in the Far and Middle East, I never saw anything so shameless, blatant and sordid," says the priest.

Most police stations are understaffed, even though wages and conditions have rapidly improved and there is a constant recruitment campaign. London alone is nearly 4,000 men short.

No one has been able to pin down with any certainty the exact causes of the increase. Sir Harold Maxwell Fyfe, home secretary, blames the wave of broken and unsatisfactory homes, lack of parental control, 25 glorification of violence and the decline of religious influence.

Military Meeting Draws U.S. Top Brass

Brother and Sister Re-United After Separation of 42 Years

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto woman and her brother, who spent their childhood in an English orphanage without knowing they were related, met in England during the Coronation for the first time since they learned of their relationship.

Mrs. Lily Styles, 56, who has 14 grandchildren, and Frederick Davies, 58-year-old musician, discovered they were brother and sister when Fred wrote to Mrs. Styles during the First World War.

They had been looked after as an orphanage by Mrs. Old Chelsea Guardians, but because they entered at different times the authorities overlooked the relationship.

Fred wrote to the Chelsea Guardians asking about a soldier named Davies who had been killed at the front. He thought he might have been related to him. The Guardians said he wasn't, but he had a sister who emigrated to Canada in 1911.

Mr. Davies and Mrs. Styles wrote to each other for 37 years. The correspondence ended with a meeting at his Surrey home.

Fred played a bassoon in the orphanage band, grew up to be a King's Trumpeter and finally a double-bass player in London's music halls.

During their meeting, they recalled orphanage outings and teachers and Fred took Mrs. Styles on trips to Brighton and Eastbourne and to Madame Tussaud's waxworks in London.

St. Kitts Fire Sweeps Plant

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—An explosion in a varnish vat at the Sterling Electric Limited plant Monday caused a fire which gutted the building. Loss was estimated at $250,000.

Flames leaped 30 feet in the air when the fire broke through the gabled roof of the one-storey cement block building and dense smoke covered a large area. Firemen kept the flames from spreading to nearby houses and a lumber yard.

About 12 employees in the plant at the time of the explosion were driven out by the heat. None was injured.

Truce Will Make Small Difference To Defence Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—The shooting has stopped in Korea but officials here said Monday the truce isn't likely to change the pattern of economic life in Canada or the strength of Canada's defences.

"The only difference between today and yesterday is that the shooting has stopped," one official said. "The danger remains and the need of maintaining our strength and equipment is as great now as before the truce."

The 25th infantry brigade in Korea will remain at its present strength of about 7,000.

The truce will mean no quick trip home for the men. The only prospect of a homecoming in sight is one that has been scheduled for some time. This is the rotation of the 3rd battalion of the Princess Patricia's. They will be replaced this fall by the 2nd Highland battalion now training at Wainwright, Alta.

Some minor cut-backs in production can be expected in ammunition and possibly medical supplies. But production of other industries is fixed, clothe and equip an army will be as necessary now as before the truce.

Nearly 45 per cent of Canada's steel output comes from Quebec quarries while Ontario produces 36 per cent.

We know one bellicose dog who won't welcome the latest thing in aluminum—an electric dog-prod. Next time Towser rushes into battle, you can nonchalantly produce this red-hot aluminum rod and apply it to the handiest part of the dog's anatomy. The resulting shock is quite harmless, but they say a few "treatments" cure the pugnacity of even the toughest tyke.

Speaking of electricity, Canadians can take pride that the largest stranded electrical cable ever made for an overhead transmission line has been delivered by Alcan's Shawinigan Falls plant to the West Coast, to carry power to our new smelter now a-building at Kitimat, Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Canada, Mexico Reach Accord On Air Service

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier announced Monday night that Canada has concluded a bilateral air agreement with Mexico which provides for the opening of Mexican and Canadian air services between Eastern and Western Canada and Mexico City.

The agreement provides for exchange of routes to be operated by Canadian airlines from Vancouver to Mexico City and onward to Lima, Peru, and Sao Paulo, Brazil and from Montreal and Toronto to Mexico City, possibly via Tampa, Fla., and Monterrey, Mexico.

Mr. Chevrier said in a statement that the route from Vancouver will be operated by Canadian Pacific Airlines and the route from Toronto or Montreal by Trans-Canada Airlines.

The agreement also authorizes operation of a Mexican airline from Mexico to Vancouver and onward to points in the north Pacific. The Mexican airline also is authorized to operate from Mexico to Toronto and Montreal.

Mr. Chevrier said it is hoped both Canadian services will be in operation by the end of 1953.

Annual surplus of births over deaths per thousand population in the United States rose from a low of five in 1936 to nearly 16 in 1947.

Canadian Troops To Man Outposts During Armistice

IN KOREA (Reuters)—Canadian troops in a few days will take over defence of the whole sector now held by the Commonwealth division, the Canadian brigade commander, Brig. Jean Allard, said Monday.

During the armistice, they will man a series of outposts along the sector, while other Commonwealth units reorganize and train, he said.

After the truce was signed Allard thanked his men for their "magnificient" performance during the war. But he warned them that their new job will require the strongest discipline and morale vigilance than ever before.

"There must be no chance of peace being broken by our side," he stressed.

No Celebrations

Most Commonwealth units held no celebrations to mark the end of the fighting. Canadians and their comrades-in-arms were relieved but somewhat subdued.

"This was the only war we had," said WO. J. R. Griffiths of Kingston, Ont. "Now they've gone and kissed it up." Then he added serenely: "But I guess it's a good thing."

"It is hard to say why the truce was put off for so long," said Gnr. H. A. Anderson of Fort Arthur. "I don't suppose it will make much difference to us anyway."

Self Help Group Enters Candidate

PORT ERIE (CP)—Henry Speakman, 74-year-old retired architect and builder, was nominated Monday as a federal election candidate under the banner of the Central Service League of Self Help. He seeks election in the new constituency of Niagara Falls and faces Liberal, Progressive Conservative and CCF opposition.

Father of 12 children, Mr. Speakman said Monday night he plans to campaign chiefly by radio. He said he is anxious to avoid being considered an independent candidate.

He declined to say how many persons belong to his organization, but said its members believe in revision of fiscal policy to use government resources to create wealth for the country. He said he favors an all-party coalition.

2 Truck Drivers Killed in Crash

TORONTO (CP)—The drivers of two gravel trucks were killed Monday when their vehicles collided on a highway northeast of Toronto.

Police said Ab Gilbraith, 21, of suburban Newtonbrook was burned to death when the cab of his truck burst into flames. The other victim, Henry Leask, 35, of Uxbridge, was tossed from his truck and died before help arrived.

Scores Arrested For Taking Food But Later Released

Hungry East German Folk Defy Reds to Obtain Gifts

BERLIN (AP) — Communist police arrested scores of East Germans who accepted gifts of Western food today but they failed to check the hungry throngs surging through the Iron Curtain.

Those arrested were released a short time later. Their food was not confiscated. In many cases identity cards—vital in the East zone—were taken away.

The biggest crowds yet jammed West Berlin's food relief centers on the third day of the big American-financed relief program which has put the spotlight on food shortages in the restive Soviet occupation zone.

The Communists also harassed but did not halt the movement of food to West Berlin by truck. Other food arrived by plane.

Officials estimated 138,000 food packages were given away today in addition to the 250,000 already handed out in the first two days.

First Truck Arrives

The first truckload of American food crossed the Soviet zone and finally reached West Berlin after Communist border guards delayed it at both ends of the isolated city's highway link to the West.

The truck, bringing 30 tons of food from the U.S. freighter American Investigator, entered the Russian sector of West Berlin 20 minutes after German truck drivers had reported communist police were unloading it and apparently confiscating the contents.

The truck had been halted first for 2½ hours—at 8 a.m. EDT—at border 100 miles west of Berlin. After a thorough check by the communist police it was permitted to pass.

His second delay for checking occurred at Babelsberg, just outside the western sector, where all vehicles coming through the Soviet zone are examined before they are permitted into West Berlin.

The food was the first delivery of a 6,000,000 shock being sent by the United States to replenish West Berlin's emergency food stocks now nearly depleted by distributions to hungry East Germans.

Abandoned Names

The Soviet zone radio began broadcasting lengthy reports on confessions of East German food recipients. It charged they were being recruited for future sabotage by western espionage experts.

The theme of the radio name calling was clear—to warn East Germans they risk arrest as traitors against the state if they go calling to the West for aid.

But the lure of the hungry continued on a massive scale. Long lines again formed on the 46 West Berlin food distribution points before dawn, in preparation for the 9 a.m. opening.

"It is a revolt against communism in big and in startling as the June 17 riots," one West Berlin official commented.

Red Strategy Fails

Western police said a Communist attempt to incite West Berlin jobless to riot against the giveaway food program for eastern country was doomed to failure.

Some Red agents scattered leaflets late Tuesday in front of West Berlin labor offices urging them to instructions for the West Berlin unemployed to show up for free food today at points which have been supplying the easterners.

Police said the relief program was so well known in West Berlin that few, if any, of the easterners could be tricked into vainly going to the food distribution points.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: A disturbance is moving rapidly eastward across Southern Ontario today. Scattered rain showers and thunderstorms which began during the night will continue until late this afternoon. Skies will be sunny Thursday. Little change in temperatures is expected but the air will be less humid than today.

Brown Paint Made Her Sick, Asks $75,000

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The brown paint on their neighbors' garage made Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Robinson "so sick" that they asked superior court for $75,000 balm Tuesday.

Robinson, a dentist, and his wife, Alpha, sued Norman and Amy Fox and claimed Mrs. Robinson's health has been impaired by "the offensive brown color" of the garage.

Taft Reported Slightly Better; Family Gathers

NEW YORK (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft was reported "somewhat improved" today.

New York Hospital issued a bulletin in mid-morning saying the Ohio Republican had a restful night and was comfortable.

He has been in the hospital since early this month suffering from an unspecified hip ailment.

Tuesday, the hospital said Taft's condition had taken a turn for the worse.

The morning's bulletin read:

"Senator Taft had a more restful night. This morning at 9.30 he requested breakfast and ate it with good appetite. He is having no pain and his condition is somewhat improved."

Taft's family was gathering here after the previous reports that his condition had deteriorated.

Top-Level Talks With Reds Still British Desire

By PHIL CLARKE

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's top deputies told Parliament today Britain still wants high-level four-power talks with Russia. They denied this conflicts with United States administration views.

Addressing the House of Commons, on behalf of the ailing Churchill, acting prime minister Richard A. Butler said "we have achieved unity of aim and policy on behalf of three Western governments supported by the NATO governments and Western Germany."

He said Britain, France and the United States had framed the Soviet government to a foreign ministers' conference on German unity and an Austrian treaty and a reply is being awaited.

Butler may also be said, "the possibility of high-level conference is not excluded and would be welcomed by the British government."

New York Police Hunt Poodle Said Containing Typhus Germs

NEW YORK (AP)—Police made a search of all First and Second avenue buses Tuesday night after a woman reported Argentine parcel containing two laboratory uniforms contaminated with disease germs.

A team of 60 officers with 20 radio cars made the search without finding the package. Radio and television stations carried warnings that any passenger finding such a package should be careful. The woman said she got rid of the package contained typhus germs. Exposure to these could cause serious and prolonged fever. Typhus is highly contagious.

Greenwich Village commissioner of the city health department said the matter was "extremely serious."

The official, Dr. Ralph S. Muckenfuss, said it is highly unlikely that research on typhus is being conducted in the city. He said the uniforms probably belonged to his agency's typhoid laboratory.

Muckenfuss said typhoid probably could not be spread by the uniforms. He said typhoid is a filterable disease, which can be contracted only when a person swallows a germ.

SHARP INCREASE SHOWN IN JUNE'S EXPORT FIGURES

New Monthly High Reported by Bureau

OTTAWA (CP)—A sharp 9.3 per cent increase in the value of domestic exports in June as compared with the same month in 1952, was reported today by the bureau of statistics. The total rose to a new monthly high of $411,830,000, a gain of $35,100,000 as compared with $376,700,000 in June of 1952. Total export trade for the month stood at $418,016,000, as compared with $380,738,000 in June of 1952.

For the first half of the year, the value of exports—domestic and foreign—totalled $2,038,000,000, a drop of less than five per cent as compared with $2,127,750,000 in the first six months of 1952.

In the halfyear period exports increased to the United States and a number of foreign countries. Losses were down to the United Kingdom, Latin America and European countries.

Wheat Leads Gain

Among commodities exported in June, the largest gain was in wheat exports up about $25,600,000 over June of 1952. Moderate increases were recorded for other grains, aluminum, copper, nickel, fertilizers, zinc, copper, nickel, fertilizers, and ships and vessels. Major drops were made in export values of farm and other machinery, zinc, newsprint paper, wood and aircraft parts.

Domestic exports to the United States in June rose to $214,588,000 from $191,482,000 a year ago, but were below this year's May value of $220,255,000. They represented 52 per cent of Canada's total exports in June.

200 Commissions To Probe Conduct Of German Reds

BERLIN (CP)—A red-widening in the purge of rebellious-minded communist party in East Germany was reported today by the West Berlin press.

The Socialist newspaper Telegraf said special party control commissions have been set up to investigate the conduct of all party members during the June rebellion.

Another West Berlin paper, Der Tag, reported that 30 high officials in the secret police have been arrested since that group's chief Wilhelm Zaisser, committed suicide to avoid arrest.

U.S. Centres Invited

The communist press published for the first time an address last December 15 by East German Premier Otto Grotewohl in which he backhandedly revealed the great opposition to the party that hundreds were killed and thousands arrested.

Denying the majority of the East Germans rose against the party government, Grotewohl insisted "this is increased," a statement that was taken by some Western observers to mean that 10,000 would secret police and the 125,000-man communist "People's Army" are going to be enlarged.

French Fear Two Vietminh Battalions Have Fled Trap

SAIGON, Indo-China (Reuters)—French troops today feared that two Vietminh battalions, encircled northwest of the port of Hue, may have slipped through their trap.

It was reported here that the 10,000 French troops taking part in "Operation Camargue" had failed to round up the Vietminh unit until only a six-square-mile pocket remained unoccupied.

The operation, in which air, land and sea forces combined, was planned specifically to wipe out two battalions which had previously eluded the French.

The French command tonight thought the Communist rebels might have slipped through the closing ring in one or more small units. But the French were still ready for a mass breakout attempt in the Vietminh area concentrated in the remaining unoccupied pocket.

Earlier in the operation, the guerrilla fighters had put up desperate fighting in the village of Vancaing French, who had to fight their way from house to house as the encircling troops squeezed in on the centre of the target area, the resistance fell off.

The French started the attack on the rich rice-growing area, 25 miles northwest of the eastern coast port of Hue Tuesday. Tanks, artillery and bombers teamed with infantry.

Need Women in Commons To Clean House Says Drew

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

With election campaign time running only political leaders may be running out of fresh things to say, but there are still plenty of audiences.

Campaign talk Tuesday was largely a call-over of previous attacks and counter-attacks.

Both Prime Minister St. Laurent and George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, were speaking through Ontario. While their leader, M. J. Coldwell was stumping Saskatchewan, CCF also spread the top spokesmen into the campaign for Ontario's 85 seats. Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan and C. H. Millard, one of Canada's leading socialists.

At Niagara Falls, Mr. Drew said recent action by the United States government in reducing its military appropriations support in Western Europe "alone can be cut by $500,000,000 a year.

He told of the existence of more than 300 that the U.S. government cut its air force budget by $5,000,000,000 by reducing inefficiency and added: "I suspect that President Eisenhower knows as much about military matters as Prime Minister St. Laurent."

Mr. Drew reiterated the Progressive Conservative charge that there is room for substantial economies in the national defence department and inefficiency in its administration.

Need Women In House

Speaking on behalf of the women Progressive Conservative candidates date in Niagara Falls riding, Mr. Drew said: "I am glad to encourage women to take part in politics. There was one reason why the Conservative party nominated women candidates would win seats: that is why I am going to the whole of Canada that needs a housecleaning as well as the House of Commons at this time."

Later, before a Hamilton audience, Mr. Drew outlined another Progressive Conservative government policy in connection with the U.S. hi-trade relations.

He said it is strange the government "should be putting up tariff barriers against Canadian farm products and then in some cases" does nothing" about American farms dumping textiles in Canada. The U.S. "is subsidizing agricultural products only when it is convenient to them."

Coldwell Hits Tax Laws

Mr. Coldwell, speaking in Calgary, attacked the sales tax and "discriminatory" Liberal taxation laws and plugged again for a national health plan. He said Canada's generous Conservative leader George Drew's promise of a $500,000 tax cut "as dishonest as when William Aberhart founder of the Social Credit party promised to give everyone in this province $25 a month and compared to Ontario."

French Report Threat To Vietminh Supplies

QUEBEC (CP)—A $50,000 damages suit based on an election advertisement was filed today in Quebec Superior court against four top Quebec Liberals by Frederic Dorion, chief Progressive Conservative party candidate in Quebec district and a candidate in Charlevoix riding.

Named as defendants were Liberal Lapointe, Maurice Bourget, Liberal organizer in Quebec district, Senator Leonard Tremblay, and Auguste Maltais, Liberal candidate in Charlevoix. All four were members in the last House of Commons.

The action is returnable in six days, which means the defendants are expected to appear either personally or through counsel so that the statement of claim be filed for a hearing of the suit.

Advertisement's Claims

The advertisement, in Quebec district newspapers Saturday, read in part:

"How to reduce taxes in the manner (sekon l'esprit) of Mr. Drew? 1. Cut the family allowance $300,000,000. 2. Cut old age and retirement pensions $317,000,000."

ALLIES CHARGED WITH INFRACTIONS OF TRUCE TERMS

Communists Allege Eight Minor Violations

By SAM SUMMERLIN

MUNSAN (AP)—The communists today charged the Allies with eight violations of the Korean armistice—allegations promptly labelled by the Allies as minor and lacking substance.

The Reds made the charges at today's second meeting of the joint Korean armistice commission. They accused aircraft flew over the demilitarized buffer zone, and that four artillery rounds and one burst of machine-gun bullets landed after the cease-fire became effective.

U.S. Maj.-Gen. Blackshear M. Bryan, Allied delegate spokesman, disclosed after today's one-hour, 20-minute meeting that the charges were lodged by his communist counterpart, North Korean Lt.-Gen. Lee Sang Cho. The evidence recessed until 11 a.m. Thursday (9 p.m. EDT today).

Nothing Serious

"We were accused this morning," Bryan said. "There were allegations, broad and general, and nothing serious. None has been substantiated."

He added that he had "asked for additional information on which to base further action."

Bryan disclosed also that he had scheduled a huge exchange of war prisoners to begin Sunday, repatriation of sick and wounded Tuesday, but that the Reds could not advance the date.

To Exchange 25,000

More than 86,000 prisoners are to be exchanged through Panmunjom in Operation Big Switch. About 25,000 North Koreans and Chinese refusing to return to Red control will be brought to camps within the buffer zone and the fate decided later.

Bryan said the joint truce observer teams which will police the 2½-mile wide buffer zone across Korea's scarred waist "probably will start work Thursday morning."

Armies of each side are withdrawing 2½ miles from the front to create the buffer zone. Each army will police its own territory, the force did away with the individual pay book accounting system and started a new sheet system.

"All that did was up the amount of each man's pay cheque. At the end of the day they would make up a half dozen or so extra cheques.

"These were made out in the names of fictitious officers, commanders or air commodores. The officer in charge would sign these additional cheques in the course of signing several thousand others."

One transport command official termed the case a "most peculiar affair" and said that might not have been spotted but for a twinge of conscience of one of the airmen.

He said the air force has a "pretty reliable service" and apparently one of the men involved went to his chaplain when his conscience got the better of him.

Report Theft Being Probed

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says today in a newspaper story that the RCAF and suburban North York police are carrying out independent investigations of the theft of air force materials from an RCAF warehouse under construction at Downsview, North York.

The story says the theft occurred July 8. No charges have been laid, but police open the gate of Heaven for them."

He said indirect taxes on essential purchases will be responsible for more than $1,200,000,000, or one third, of this year's total budget requirements. It was through these taxes, he added, that lower income groups bore the greatest tax burden.

He said the CCF had favored raising income tax deductions to $2,000 a year for single persons and $3,000 for married persons, but this had been opposed in Parliament by the Progressive Conservatives. Yet Monday night "the promising leader of the Conservatives" had thrown this "into the pickings" with other promises.

He called Social Credit a "very dangerous" freak of Canadian politics, containing the seeds of anti-Semitism ideas of Hitler and Mussolini.

St. Laurent on Tour

Mr. St. Laurent swept through southwestern Ontario centres.

At St. Thomas, he said the Progressive Conservatives had been "trying to reduce defence spending by 10 per cent or $250,000,000 a year, but such a cut would be a disaster. It is the Liberals who were working with her in a defence effort against Communist aggression.

He spoke again of his hope that the day would not be "far distant" when Canada could reduce defence expenditures and allot more money for welfare and to help her friends abroad.

He told a park gathering of 700: "We are not going to stop building up our strength until we have some assurance that the North Atlantic alliance and we are not going to reduce our armaments or stop building up their strength until we have something definite to replace them."

Besides his St. Thomas speech, the prime minister made a Windsor side that to 200 persons at Norwich, addressed some 600 at Tillsonburg and 200 at Aylmer. In the evening he attended a reception in Cardinal for 200 of the Stratford Shakespearian festival.

Saskatchewan Record

At Brantford, Mr. Douglas accused the Liberals of bringing up a promise made 34 years ago to introduce a national health insurance scheme. He outlined Saskatchewan's health insurance plan.

"We have more hospital beds in proportion to population than any other province in Canada. We have now paid the hospital bills of well over 100,000 people. The plan costs only $18 a year for an adult, $2 for a child, with a maximum of $32 for a family—and all hospital costs are paid. We have done that in a small province, not a rich province. We are a poor relation

School of Military Intelligence Being Opened at Camp Borden

By ED SIMON

CAMP BORDEN (CP) — The youngest corps in the Canadian Army swung into being this week.

The Canadian Intelligence Corps, barely 10 years old but proud of an ancestry that carries back to the 1700's, which records the Army, gathered its clans and celebrated a kind of coming of age.

The occasion is the official opening here of the Canadian School of Military Intelligence, which offers the first specialized intelligence training ever undertaken in Canada in peacetime. The opening is being preceded by Exercise large-scale reserve army training scheme that demonstrates the role of Army intelligence in modern warfare.

The ancestry of the corps is acknowledged in its green and silver insignia, a star mounted on a staff, a spear and the motto, "Action from knowledge." The motto originally belonged to the Canadian Corps of Guides, a unit attached to the corps of the First World War, which was the first intelligence service of the Canadian Army.

Intelligence personnel depreciate the cloak-and-dagger atmosphere that has been attributed to their job. Brig. H. H. (Tim) Noble, who heads the Intelligence school, describes his work as teaching men how to obtain the maximum of information about the enemy and learning how to evaluate it.

The information may come from military patrols, reconnoitring aircraft, helpful or unwilling civilian informants or captured enemy prisoners.

RCAF Announces $4,500 Taken; May be $20,000

Accounting Dept. Clerks Added Fictitious Names

MONTREAL (CP)—Five airmen employed in the accounting department of the RCAF station at Lachine have been taken into custody for misappropriating $4,500.

This official announcement came Tuesday night from RCAF headquarters in Ottawa, but reports here had the amount involved as high as $20,000.

Air force officials here had little to say. Wing Cmdr. E. R. Johnston, officer commanding the station at Lachine, although admitting an irregularity, said he did not wish to make any comment at this stage.

Air Commodore A. C. Ripley, commanding officer of the air transport command, said a board of inquiry has been appointed, but would not name the members.

Payroll Padded

Officials would not say how long the payroll padding system had been going on.

The official statement said:

"A routine audit at the RCAF station at Lachine has brought to light irregularity in the financial accounting system.

"Five airmen have been placed in custody pending completion of an investigation ordered by air force authorities.

"Investigation to date shows that approximately $4,500 has been misappropriated, a large part of which has been recovered. Names of the personnel involved will not be released until charges have been laid."

Mean-ville, the Gazette says in a front-page story that an anonymous caller who said he worked in the accounting office of the Lachine station disclosed what was going on.

Says $20,000 Taken

The informant, who claimed at least $20,000 had been embezzled, said the system worked this way:

Each of the five airmen found a loophole in the apparently foolproof air force accounting system.

Then the force did away with the individual pay book accounting system and started a new sheet system.

"All they did was up the amount of each man's pay cheque. At the end of the day they would make up a half dozen or so extra cheques.

"These were made out in the names of fictitious officers, commanders or air commodores. The officer in charge would sign these additional cheques in the course of signing several thousand others."

One transport command official termed the case a "most peculiar affair" and said that might not have been spotted but for a twinge of conscience of one of the airmen.

He said the air force has a "pretty reliable service" and apparently one of the men involved went to his chaplain when his conscience got the better of him.

Aching Back Seen Result Of TV Slump

LOS ANGELES (AP)—That aching back may be caused by television slump.

Dr. N. H. Lidenberg of St. Paul, Minn., told the National Chiropractic Association convention Tuesday:

"Long hours sitting and watching television frequently bring compression of the important nerve branches because of the relaxed, sagging, overlong body slump. No harmful effects will result, however, if you sit tall."

Highway Safety Drive Launched By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower set in motion Tuesday a campaign to increase safety on U.S. highways and save thousands of lives and $1,250,000,000 a year.

The campaign got under way in the White House meeting to which the President had invited 40 business and civic leaders, including men from the industrial, insurance, transportation and newspaper fields.

The President told the group he was tired of the killing on the highways of late on a holiday when as many persons as were killed in Korea. He said that in addition to cost in human loss and miseries, the financial loss runs to $8,500,000,000 to $9,000,000,000.

Manitoba Polio Total Now 323

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba's poliomyelitis total Tuesday climbed to 323 cases when health officials reported 22 new cases and took one off the list as "wrongly diagnosed." There have been six deaths.

Dr. Brock Chisholm, the leader of the epidemic is imminent. Seats of their hopes is the unusually-early arrival of the first frosts. Usually when polio starts early it can be expected to run its course before the drop starts early in August.

Dr. M. R. Elliott, deputy minister of health, said the new cases are mild enough to be treated completely at home. This would help to ease the "very acute" shortage of nurses.

Present-Day Election Pretty Tame Affair Says Oldtimer

Oldtimers of the city, especially those who followed closely the politics of their day are muttering in their beards this old-time elec- tion. Like the horse-and-buggy, sur- veys, taffy-pulls, strawberry so- cials, chicken dinners, steamboat excursions, and sulphur-and- mo- lasses are things of the past.

Gone are the days, they moan, when elections meant hot argu- ments, torch-light parades, wagers, and sometimes fist-fights.

"Even the women got into the spirit of the thing in one veteran of the old-time hustings told this reporter. "Quacks, feelin's got so high some of those gals wouldn't speak to one another for years after- ward."

More laurels got stuck and more babies kissed in one day than over the hull of Canada in this elec- tion," he sadly remarked.

"And everybody got into it," he went on. "Grizzled grandpappies and grandmaws, the fire of the party lightin' in their eyes were just as 'hot under the collar' over their candidate as were the younger fry. They attended meetin's all over the district. They talked, acted and ate politics and when it was all over, they throwed one of the durndest victory parties you ever saw."

Tame Affairs

"There jest ain't no life to these modern elections," he said. "You walk up and down the street and what do you hear. Some- thing about the price of eggs or what's the matter with the Yan- kees. Barber shops and pool-rooms? All you hear these elections are is the click of the balls and the snip of the shears. Time was that all operations would cease, and the boys would get into an argument that fairly stirred." Sometimes they had to pull 'em apart to prevent a regular slugging bee."

Neither the newspapers and radio have something to do with it, but not much, in my opinion, he exclaimed. "Look at the young folks of today. Where are they in the election? No siree. They're more interested in hot-rods or whatever they're called these pepped up lalopies, television, or going through them dizzy wild-lindy motions they call dancin' in some place where you can't hear your self think for some canned band rasin' hob which they call music. "You don't see many young folks at the election meetin's these days. In fact," he added, "you don't see many at all, west Lakes.

Recalls By-election

Gnarled fingers rubbed a two- day greyish stubble.

"You don't have to go so far back to recall election high-jinks" the old fellow said.

"I recall the Hastings East by- election of 1936 when two doc- tors contested the provincial seat. They were Dr. Boyce of Deser- onto and Dr. Harold Welsh, of Roslin."

"There was more durned fun around these parts than you could shake a stick at. In fact the eyes of politicos Ontario were centered on this neck of the woods. Mitch Hepburn, premier of Ontario, headed the Liberal forces while the horse-racing Earle Rowe top- ped the Tory brigade."

"Newspaper fellas from all the metropolitan dailies as well as the provincial dailies were there here. There were more durned cabinet ministers here than there were in Ottawa. Every Orange Hall in the riding was packed every afternoon and evening there was a speech making no matter which side they were on."

"It was freezin' cold weather and on one night, I recollect Mitch Hepburn pull Earl Rowe's car out of the ditch. It seems to me one afternoon Mitch spoke at a farmers' meetin' and for lack of a platform jumped up on a manure spreader. He apologized for the "podium" and some durned Tory yelled out, "It's all right, Mitch, that's the biggest load it ever carried."

Pumped Up Gas Lasiers

"At a small community in the northern part of the riding anoth- er speaker was askin,' who put the hydro in the back ritfield. Jest as he said it, the caretaker of the hall ambled on the stage mounted a stepladder and started to pump up the Coleman lamp." "Yes sirree, there was lots of fun and fireworks in that election," the oldtimer said.

"Talkin' about interest," he went on, "I remember an old farmer who lived near Tweed. He hadn't had his old model Ford out for five years, it still carried a 1931 license. Well, sir, he was going to hear a certain speaker or hum- bug, he got the old Jalopy propped up and sneaked into town. He was about a dark street and parked the car in front of a house hoping nobody would notice the license."

"Know what?" laughed the old- timer, "of all the houses in the village he picked out, he had to choose that of the chief o' police".

"The night of the election, the hall burned pretty well, and so did it seemed. As you know the Tor- ies won the fight, and brother they sure know it up. They had torchlight processions, bands and everything. Even Mitch Hepburn made a bunch of 'em get a yearlin' bull from a barn and lead the critter, all dressed up with ribbons and flow- ers, something about Marshall's bull."

"A member of a certain village band was found blowin' his horn on a neighbor's verandah about two in the mornin'. He was asked to stop but the old fellow said 'Stop me eye. That durned Grit that lives there has been blowing his horn off to me for the past six weeks and now it's my turn."

"Yes, sir. That was an election. Members of the opposite parties would go around the ridin' tear- ing down posters put up by the opposition but on one occasion they met up and there was a regular tussle. Arms and legs and eyes resulted from the fracas."

"Yep," the old man sighed, "them were the days. Lot differ- ent to these times. Wouldn't sur- prise me a durned bit if some people would come out and went to know why Laurier was not running. I remember in the 1936 by-election some of the old- timers came out of the woods and wanted to know why Gus Porter was not in the field. He had been dead for years."

"By the way," he asked, "what does the election come on this year?"

Trenton Wood Flames Destroy Third of Crop

TRENTON (Special) — John Be- dal, York Road farmer lying two and a half miles west of Trenton lost 150 bushels of wheat yesterday when a fierce fire raged through one third of his rich cropland in re- ducing everything in its path to ashes.

Part of the crop had been bar- vested while part was still standing awaiting the combine. Flames fan- ned by a strong west wind burned over a third of the 10 acre field. The remainder was saved by Tren- ton firemen and neighboring farm- ers.

A truck was being used to haul away the straw in bales and it is believed a spark from the exhaust ignited the tinder dry wheat straw.

DISCUSS BUS SITE

The town planning board has dis- cussed a suitable location for a new bus station. Certain details have to be ironed out before final plans are completed but official an- nouncement is expected within the next few days.

VISITORS YACHTS

Trenton harbor since it was re- built has been the favorite stopping off place for many U.S. pleasure boats. And by the number of yachts seeking shelter from the night on Monday the interest has not waned.

A total of 11 sail and power boats stopped over to take on fuel, fresh food and water supplies.

Committee Fears New Highway Will Add to City's Traffic Problem

The proposed new four lane high-way to be built north of the city with a cloverleaf connecting it with No. 14 highway will lead to added traffic congestion along North Front street, in the opinion of members of the local planning committee.

And just as an effort to forestall any further traffic headaches, the committee has recommended that a traffic eigineer from the Ontario Department of Highways meet with the local planning committee in an effort to work out some solution to the problem.

Alderman Keegan as chairman of the traffic committee pointed out that already North Front Street is carrying about all the traffic it can during peak periods. He says that with completion of the new highway there would in all likelihood be added congestion along this feeder artery connecting with No. 14 highway to Picton.

At a special meeting of the committee held Tuesday night it was recommended that a highway engineer attend a meeting of the planning board to discuss the anticipated increased traffic problems.

Many Cheese Factories Holding Out for 28 Cents Per Pound

With buyers' bids at 27½ cents or for the balance of the season. He said that if buyers now paid for cheese, this cheese would cost them more than 30c next October 31st with carrying and other charges added.

At the same time this cheese would be in competition to that which would be held by the marketing board for which farmers are to be guaranteed 30c per lb. less carrying charges.

Producers' vice-president Hector Arnod of Campbellford wanted to know why a better price could be paid on Western Ontario cheese exchanges.

This was answered by Mr. Cook who said it was possibly because buyers in that area were closer to their source.

An inference that cheese handlers were taking advantage of the lower cheese prices to spread margin of profit was made by Mr. Arnold who asked if cheese was selling for any less in the stores.

Mr. Cook replied that their price to store was down three cents but Mr Arnold observed the store price had not dropped correspondingly.

W. O. Coon, cheese producers' president, said he had nothing further to add to the discussion. He said he would like to see more competition in bidding as in that way buyers were able to get their pick of factories.

He advised that farmers need not look too strong at the 30-cent end price and expect to get that price for all cheese after November 1st. From that 30c end price for cheese held by the marketing board at October 31st would have to come carrying charges.

A total of 6,092 cheese was offered including 2,345 white, 2,381 colored and 497 specials.

Appointed Coroner For Hastings County

TRENTON (Special) — It was announced yesterday that Dr. J. V. Byrne has been appointed coroner for Hastings County. He fills the vacancy left by the late Dr. E. A. McQuade. He is also chairman of the Trenton Separate School Board.

Born at Perth, Dr. Byrne was educated there and graduated from Queen's University at Kingston.

Construction of Flood Control Retaining Wall Recommended

Members of the local planning committee will recommend to city council that a flood control retaining wall in the Moira River from the Upper Bridge to the C.P.R. railway bridge be considered at the same time as the proposed dam, along with building of the flood control retaining wall would spatially lessen the danger of spring floods in the city.

Attending Tuesday night's meeting were Alderman Keegan, Alderman Smith and Charles Mott, city engineer, all members of the Moira River Authority, and O. H. Scott and F. A. Beetyy, special members on the planning committee.

EIVA ACTIVE

CATANIA, Sicily (Reuters)—Mount Etna, Europe's biggest active volcano, today belched black smoke and scattered a light shower of ashes over nearby Catania. The activity, the first for nine months, sent geologists hurrying to the 10,000-foot volcano. But they reassured frightened locals that there was no danger of a full-scale eruption.

Would Increase Flow

This, it is believed, would serve to increase the flow of the current and to some extent prevent the lodging of frazil ice, the formation of which is responsible in the river. No estimate of the cost of such a project was made in the report, but the report did show how the retaining wall would increase the width of the river at the mouth and how the wall could be utilized to advantage should a vehicular traffic bridge be constructed north of the C.P.R. railway bridge.

If the retaining wall could be built as a flood control project, it is expected that the city would be called upon to bear but 25 per cent of the cost, the balance of the money being provided by the provincial and federal governments through their conservation authority grants.

Cost of the proposed flood control dam above College street would be approximately $220,000 It was estimated by the engineering company making the report. The city's share on this cost would be $50,000 the balance to be paid by the government.

New Type of Dam

The flood control dam would be of a new type and would serve to hold back ice during the spring break-up period, allowing the water to escape at the base of the dam. A model of the proposed dam is built at Toronto University where river flow and ice jams would be tested in model form.

City planning committee chairman Alderman Arthur Keegan is confident that construction of the proposed dam, along with building of the flood control retaining wall would spatially lessen the danger of spring floods in the city.

Attending Tuesday night's meeting were Alderman Keegan, Alderman Smith and Charles Mott, city engineer, all members of the Moira River Authority, and O. H. Scott and F. A. Beetyy, special members on the planning committee.

PEACE — THE KEY TO PROSPERITY

Some business circles in the United States — and almost certainly in Canada, too — are uneasy about prospects for prosperity, now that the Korean truce has been signed.

The most obvious answer to their fears is the reply that the cessation of fighting does not mean the end of the necessity for the United States and Canada to build up their defences against any possible aggression.

But the sounder, more comprehensive argument is that advanced by Charles E. Silgin, president of the U. S. National Association of Manufacturers, who says that the American economy is a peacetime economy, not one based on war. That is equally true of Canada's economy. Peace should be good for it, should enhance, rather than lessen, our prosperity. True, readjustments in manufacturing plant would be necessary, if all defence contracts were to be terminated, but that should be just a pause preparatory to turning to the task of producing goods for our peacetime needs or the needs of the world.

The termination of the threat of war would make it possible for the industries of this continent to increase greatly the material wealth of the world. For instance, during the Korean war the United States alone had 40,000 trucks used up in battle. Think what these trucks could have done to improve the lot of the people of the nation. The cost of fifteen billion dollars was required to pay for these trucks, 800 tanks, more than 1,125,000 tons of artillery ammunition, more than 1,800,000,000 rounds of small grenades, more than 2,000,000 shells for naval guns and hundreds of thousands of tons of bombs.

And then, of course, there was the cost which cannot be figured in money, the 29,000 killed on the battlefield, part of a 140,000 casualty total.

It was a costly war. Defence preparations are costly, too. But the most really important peace it will be taking the first step toward the elimination of that hunger and poverty which still plagues so many millions of its inhabitants.

BEST TIME OF YEAR IN GARDENS

This is the season of the year beloved of all gardeners. Now, at long last, the fruits of toil are ready for the plucking — or the digging. Probably the most satisfying way to view a garden is from a chair on the lawn of the home from vacation in the late evening and, after having hushed the baby, hustled the older children off to bed and pacified your wife with the assurance that yes you do like chicken a la kettle at the cottage a hundred and fifty miles away, to wend your way out the back door into the garden gloom.

Good harvens! What is this giant weed? No weed at all, you discover, but corn shooting skyward with every hot day, waiting patiently through every warm night for the first rays of another day's growth-provoking sun. And the tomatoes, look how plump they are! They must be getting ripe.

But, alas, the picture which meets the eye in the morning light is never quite so attractive as the one the imagination painted on the first moment of home-coming. Not even the best camera picture could match that dream. Of course, that is probably where the dream came from — memories of the pictures which greeted the gardener when he sat in the arm chair in the dark winter last winter and spring, making out a list of all the things he wanted to grow in the coming months.

It was the gardener's imagination just as flamboyant in the years before seed catalogues? Oh, yes, there were seeds before there were seed catalogues, difficult though we may find it to conceive of such a situation. But the Toronto Star says that in 1676 the Burpee people in Philadelphia issued their very first catalogue — but offered no seeds.

"That catalogue," the Times explains, "featured 'high class land and water fowls'. Leghorns, turkeys, geese, ducks, and fancy pigeons. The next year, 1877, also no seeds were offered for sale — just bred cattle and pigs, however, had been added to the catalogue, followed in 1878 by pure bred sheep. During 1879 the seed catalogue had sixteen pages and was decorated with large woodcuts.

"At last, in 1879, the company added farm and garden seeds; the catalogue still had chicken pages, but the woodcuts were smaller, allowing room for farm advertising and virtues of a new addition, 'farm, sporting and dogs.' The catalogue, which had temporarily called its 'Farm Annual,' a name it retained for thirty years, was printed by the Wm. F. Fell Company, a firm that is still doing the composition on the catalogue today.

"The name was moved from the back to the front of the catalogue in 1880, and the publication increased in size to forty pages. In the first twenty-five years the company had issued 25 seeds. Behind these came the livestock listings, after which appeared potatoes, small fruits and plants. All the flower seeds were grouped together on page 2 and sold for a hundred for three dollars and a half. Any person who took orders for three hundred collections at twenty-five cents each sent the company sixty dollars and he could not only received a profit of fifteen dollars but also was given a sewing machine. By 1884 the catalogue had increased to 120 pages and for the first time the shiny, catalogue-red tomato smote the eye of the beholder, as lithographed color plates were introduced, one bearing the image of the tomato and the other displaying dahlias. The livestock offerings had dwindled to two pages."

About the only change between the 1884 version of the seed catalogue and those issued today seems to be the complete elimination of livestock offerings.

THE LONESOME SEASON

This is the lonely time of year
When by myself I have to stay,
Once more vacation time is here,
At summer children play.
Self-pitying at home I sit,
And that I shouldn't do, I know,
But here's the dismal truth of it:
Now Grandpa has nowhere to go.

They left, their faces wreathed with grins,
But I had something in my eyes.
"We'll be away 'til school begins!"
They shouted as they said goodbye.

I isn't fun to stay alone
With only books upon a shelf,
And though it's wrong, I have to own
I'm feeling sorry for myself.
When school begins! Oh haste the day
When grains of mind again I'll sow!
Now, when they'll be back with me to play,
And I will have somewhere to go!

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

It is unwise to generalize, but it eyed all the risks and dangers that is hard to write a column like The Packsack without generalizing. A short while ago, this column carried a lament over the kind of life the British put on their jams. They seem to exist other than some of the finest and the best tops to get off jam I ever saw. I went to two before the end of this episode. The Packsack generalized about paint. The publishers got a communication from an association devoted to protecting the interests and the good name of the national paint industry. Along with better canne pamphlets that cow- ed in ordinary circumstances. Well, Jan Packsack's ordinary man for what he is, and to perfect things that will serve him in his life's work. The man that will improve. Any improvement will have to be in what he is supplied with.

surround the use of paint except under ideal conditions. One of the pamphlets went into the whole question of dampness and moisture. The exterior of paint in such gruesome details that I doubt if I will ever try to paint my verandah again. There were illustrations of paint jobs that looked like leprosy, just like my verandah. Research workers who prepared the pamphlet said I could get an instrument that would measure the moisture content of the surface I was planning to paint, which would tell me avoid the leprosy. There goes science sticking its lean pointed nose where it used to be a domestic art. If the paint industry wants something to do, why not get busy and invent a paint we can put on damp surfaces with perfect results. But no: they want me to get a machine and go around my verandah and hoodle knees taking its moisture content.

The first function of science is to serve the ordinary man for what

Teaches 239 Languages

(By Dorl Morgan in John O'Londen's Weekly)

You can read. You are therefore in a minority in the world's population. For 1,200,000,000 people (which is about two-thirds of the human race) are illiterate.

No man has realized this more truthfully than Dr. Frank Laubach, an American nondenominational missionary whose unique gifts have enabled him to teach reading in 239 languages in the last 20 years. In the last 24 years. Read those figures again. Remember they are two big to be absorbed at once.

Back in 1929 the world was suffering a depression. Frank Laubach was sharing this depression, but for a different reason. He had been a missionary in the Philippine Islands for the previous 16 years. Now he had no common words which between them had them all. Slowly a method itself up. Out from this chart he found he could teach the Moros to read.

Within a year he could write: "Never have I seen such a delightful give us time to eat." Soon there was a native Sunday-school, native church, a printing press and, incredible though it may seem, a literature for the Moros. Soon the Moros knew no bounds.

Then came a period of moment when human failure gives a divine opportunity. The financial slump reached the world. It hit the Philippines hard. Laubach's paid teachers. But a fierce eyed Moro said to him, and Laubach recorded: "Everybody who learns has got to teach. Each one teach one."

Out of that four words have formed a world encircling slogan.

The astonishing thing about the methods is that they are so easy. Laubach claims that it can be done in 15 minutes. This speed is impossible, but it gives some idea of the enthusiasm and confidence. It consists of 10 to 15 lessons memorized and associated with pictures. The moment these are learned the student is reported to teach them to another illiterate. Lesson two consists in learning to write what is he has learned to read in lesson one.

To go more fully into the technique of the actual reading is impossible in the space available. Let's look behind the actual techniques to the preparation which produces it.

The essence of the method consists not only in the visual association of pictures and words but also in the importance and urgency of the idea expressed by that picture. It is this that has enabled Laubach to close the gap between the experts and the people they want to help.

Take, for example, the agricultural expert. They know that only the best potatoes can produce the best crops. But the ample dwellers who constantly lives on the borderline of starvation could not see the point in saving the poorer potatoes and leaving the better ones for planting. The potatoes get smaller every year.

Laubach's first lesson is so designed that it conveys the "secret" of how to get the best out of your potatoes. The single dwelling which for long had fallen on deaf ears have a new and compelling idea presented to it in print. For the newly literate is almost hypnotized by the wonder of his own ability to read.

Each of the hundred or so lessons which go to make up the Laubach courses contains some such "secret." It may suggest that cow dung is "more valuable" when used as a fertilizer than as a fuel. It may tell how to make the village a safe place for a baby to live or a baby or secure a balanced diet.

But it is not all practical science. Very often a superman is created out of a typical farmer. In his literacy he discovers the secrets one by one and show how they have been used to benefit by them. With the result, to quote an old Clcopo speaking Filipino, "the light of his new cloth even if it fails to please, I'll just have to get a new piece to wear."

But that very remark shows why Laubach has been called "the most dangerous man in the world."

For if one African needs a new cloth, and Southern Africa has one Indian learns that something more than a knowledge of the three R's is needed for a healthy body, so do millions of others. Learning to read is a toxin in slumbering millions that you will suffer no pain whatever. After the two and half painless sittings you will feel no dread about future visits to the dentist's office.

Don't ask me what anesthetic the dentist should use or whether so-and-so is safe—that is the dentist's business. If I am the patient I don't care what anesthetic the dentist may choose to give me or to inject. Why should you care? If you haven't that much confidence in the professional ability of the dentist, then by all means engage a better dentist to take care of you or your family.

If you don't know a first class dentist, ask your family doctor to recommend one.

At any rate, as it seems to me, it is up to the dentists themselves to make all dental treatment painless and so dispel morbid fear of dentistry which keeps people away from the dentists by the thousands. People who are in the greatest need of dentistry and who would derive the greatest benefits from it, in the way of good looks, good digestion and good health. And with all the technical advances now available to the dentist there will no excuse not make all treatment painless is a —well, my advice is shelve it and find one who is up to date.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TALK IS SO FLUID

Talk is so fluid, but it is much more. It is full of personality, poetry, drama, and character. Words become beautiful and often stirring and inspiring, but it is because we are reminded of something by the person expressing the think and act out something of the author, but in talk all of these are in a mass. Thought is sculptured right before us in a manner that cold type can never approach.

How few great writers are good talkers, and what a multitude of good talkers never become great writers. The fact seems to be that one who can talk entertainingly and instructively and at the same time can put much of all that is put into words that live and become deathly endeared.

Talk often flows as the river, singing a song on the way, with great writing has often a thing of anguish and struggle to so form the thoughts as to make the words full of meaning, as well as ripe in construction. Lafcadio Hearn is one of the world's great masters in literature, yet he has confessed he spent days in the perfection of a single line that gave him satisfaction. And as a talker it took a rare person to keep up with the mind so that the spoken words would be heard.

How often we are disappointed in the talk of an author whose books we have come to hold in admiration. An Irishman once stated that John Ruskin, the great nineteenth century lecturer of long ago, "talked mid his coat-tails!" He drew great crowds to hear him because he was a great orator and made his words full of meaning, strength and depth of heart feeling.

The actual voice is full of color and its music lingers, like the remembered strains of a violin. To-day, though much talking had been gone from me for over forty years, I can still recall the melody, voice and the words that she spoke in such beautiful fashion. Her words are not forgotten, for she must have body— flesh and blood!

Great Grandma Had Easier Life

(Edmonton Journal)

Life is growing more hazardous all the time, and every day some new peril arises.

The latest example comes from Buffalo, New York, where a city council is using a mechanical dog that makes eyelash curlers. She claims that they make a defective curler, with the result that when she went to buy a new curler instead of curling, they came out.

This is hardly unexpected. It must require extremely delicate calculation to design a machine that will exert just enough force to give the eyelash lashes the desired spiral, and yet not too much. Somebody's father ought to have invented it to slip sometime, and then there would be certainly hell over the ties.

Great-grandmother never knew what dangers she escaped living in bustle in so age before beauty aids.

Real Estate Hazard Ended

(Edmonton Journal)

The county of Bedford in England has taken a progressive step by protecting visitors from the ghosts of its departed. This is something which no other county has ever been haunted. It has ever done.

The advantages of such a list to tourists seeking the picturesque are, of course, obvious. It will be even handier for ordinary buyers and tenants.

Bedford, it is well known, are one of the greatest hazards to house-hunting peace of mind in England. Many an unfortunate has purchased a pleasant-looking property apparently with a clear title and with everything in order, only to find that he has to share it with the shade of Sir Marmaduke Nightsmirch, who by what liquidated by a previous occupant in 1450. If Sir Marmaduke is the more objective type who insists on dragging it away with through the ceiling at two a.m., or playing a ghostly bagpipe on the back stairs, the association of estate agents can only be sympathized.

The worst of it is that even the most conscientious will not disclose the presence of these pests in advance, nor can they be eliminated with DDT.

With a register of ghosts available, however, the arrival in Bedfordshire can find out in advance whether a dream house is haunted. Thus forewarned, the purchaser should be able to get a big discount because of the Headless Lady.

One Snowball His Year's Rent

(London Express Service)

By an ancient agreement covering a big chunk of Scotland, he is required to give the monarch a snowball on Midsummer Day each year. Actually, it's not so tough. There is always snow on the tops of the hills.

The Duke of Wellington, whose estate was bought by the nation for his predecessor, the "iron Duke," in Hampshire, England, is required to present a miniature tricolor every anniversary of Waterloo.

Reds Curious About Queen

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

It is significant that the Soviet Government has requested from Great Britain a copy of the movie of the recent Queen's coronation ceremonies. Just where the significance lies may be disputed. Those bemused Communists who put faith in the Soviet's latest campaign of sweet reasonableness may imagine, if they think about it, that they want to fellow shift workers viewing the movies (with no cuts and with accurate Russian sub-titles) during the usual two-hour suspension from work.

It is more likely that if the British public sees the film at all, it will be in a distorted, mangled version, with appropriate propaganda commentary by Russian experts on the decadent Car-like English aristocracy and its power over the oppressed workers by American capitalists.

Of course, there is the possibility that Malenkov and his colleagues are just curious. Gromyko's report may have whetted their desire to see for themselves. Few have been out of touch with the religious ceremony will provide an unusual experience for them. As for spoonfeeding their children on a huge crowd, that will be a disturbing novelty indeed.

LET'S HAVE DONE WITH FEAR OF THE DENTIST

Dr. Brady

Most persons who had any kind of treatment by dentists back in the old days dreaded the visit to the dentist, and not without reason, for it generally hurt.

A good many poor geeks still dread a visit to the dentist with equally good reason, for there are a good many old timers still in practice who have not learned and probably never will learn the art of local anesthesia.

In order to judge whether your dentist is worthy of your confidence you must have an I.Q. a cut above the average, particularly a certain knowledge of the principles of asepsis, surgical cleanliness, sterilization of instruments and the like. If the dentist passes your casual inspection in these departments, it is more likely that he or she will have the skill required for the use of local anesthesia in routine practice.

I mean to say that a dentist worth employing at all can and will, if you wish, anesthetize the field before beginning work so date.

NOT DEFEAT BUT DELAY

Contradictory? Not at all. No one is indispensable, because the mighty God who made all things has someone to put into our place just as soon as we become unwanted or useless as we die. Many of us may have had the feeling that our work should not cease until projects we were around to manage were finished. Many a business man was not only going well—secretly we were afraid of the fact that it was going a lot better than when he was boxing it. Don't get an idea that you are indispensable.

The Lord has a big stick ready to whack the knuckles of anybody who tries to be obsessed with that idea.

Yet there is a way in which you and I are indispensable. God may have to remove us and put somebody in to clean up the mess, but the work of Christ is to finish the work we neglected. The Lord's plans are not upset by our delays; we only delay them. We are meant to do our work well and at a certain time in a certain divinely appointed way. It is then done everything is done and God will see that it gets done. But we may impede the divine plan by our indolence and folly.

First Prisoners Leave Koje On Way Home

A shipload of 1,300 left at 4:45 p. m. for Inchon. There they will board trains for holding areas in the Yongdungpo area.

They will be available for the first day of the exchange on Aug. 5.

Some in one trailer van refused to get out and go aboard one of the LSTs (landing ship tanks) carrying the PoWs to the Seminole, a U. S. Navy cargo ship.

Quick use of non-toxic irritants pulled them out of the van, the PoW command said.

Union, Mine Representatives To Attend Parley

TORONTO (CP) — Union and company representatives will sit down with a government conciliator here today to talk over the wage dispute that closed down Broulan Reef gold mines, near Timmins, nearly three weeks ago.

Leonda Fine, the Ontario government's chief conciliator, said officials from Broulan and the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) will meet in his office at 2 p.m.

It is the first time the government has brought the two parties together since more than 350 Broulan workers quit July 11 for higher wages and shorter hours.

The wage walkout spread to Hollinger and Preston East Dome gold mines shortly after the Broulan men quit. More than 750 miners now are on strike.

The government's action came after bloody clashes broke out Friday between 50 union members and 20 workers at Broulan. At least 14 miners have been charged for their part in the violence and provincial police say more charges will be laid.

Mr. Fine said he does not know who the labor and management representatives will be.

British Steamer Stopped, Boarded Off Chinese Port

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Sailors from an unidentified warship boarded the British steamer Admiral Hardy after firing on her off the Chinese mainland port of Foochow today, British naval officials said.

The 1,929-ton steamer flashed a signal for help. But she did not say whether the shells had hit her.

Foochow is about 30 miles north-east of here.

The Admiral Hardy has been running the Chinese Nationalist blockade of Communist China for several years. Last year she was intercepted and detained for four days at Matsu Island, 30 miles off Fukien.

U.S. Proposing British Quit Suez Within 18 Months

CAIRO (AP)—The United States has proposed that Britain get out of the disputed Suez canal zone within 18 months, leaving behind a maximum 4,000 technicians to maintain the base for no more than five years, the Egyptian Army weekly newspaper Al Tahrir said today.

These suggestions were part of a five-point proposal sent to Egypt by President Eisenhower last week as a basis for solving the British-Egyptian dispute over the vital canal area, the newspaper said.

Other points, Al Tahrir reported, included a promise of U. S. military and economic aid to Egypt and an Egyptian pledge that the zone would be maintained for use by the United States and its allies in case of war or a threat of war.

Under the proposal, the newspaper added, the seven-country Arab League would be empowered to decide when a state of war or threat of war existed. Britain had been reported demanding this right previously.

Al Tahrir said the Egyptian government had replied to the U. S. but the newspaper gave no details of the Egyptian answer.

Release Remains Of Three Hunters Slain in Gaspe

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GASPE, Que. (CP) — Relatives plan today to bring the remains of three mysteriously-slain American bear hunters home to Pennsylvania for burial.

The relatives will leave behind them the hunters' belongings—a truck, guns, hunting equipment and a few ragged pieces of clothing.

Police decided not to release the hunters' belongings after a coroner's jury ruled that two of the men, 17-year-old Richard Lindsey of Hollidaysburg, Pa., and 20-year old Fred Claar of East Freedom, but in Pa., were "murdered by gunshot wounds at the hands of a person or persons unknown."

The jury found that the leader of the party, Richard Lindsey's 45-year-old father, Eugene H. Lindsey, died of "unknown causes."

The three men left Gaspe June 9 on a bear-culling expedition. They were last reported seen alive June 10 by prospector Wilbert Coffin who helped them secure a spare part for their truck.

Tuesday, Captain J. A. Matte, head of the provincial police team who led the search for the hunters, announced that searchers had found a brown wallet, identified by papers in it as belonging to Eugene Lindsey.

Capt. Matte said there was no money in the wallet, although Lindsey was reported to have been carrying some $700 when he went into the bush.

He said the wallet was found, tipped open along the fold, on the banks of a small stream not far from where Lindsey's body was discovered two weeks ago.

Police Tuesday night said both, the new find had been found since the wallet was discovered Monday. The searchers now are being withdrawn from the rugged bush area they said.

The provincial police team is understood to be looking for two unknown Americans who stopped for Wilbert Coffin said in evidence at the inquest Monday night were the hunting party when he last saw them.

Moderate Decline Worst in Store For Steel Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—The Iron Age, national metal-working magazine, says today nothing worse than a moderate decline is in prospect for the steel industry before the end of the year.

It adds that even a moderate decline is not a certainty.

A check by The Iron Age indicates that carryovers from the third to the fourth quarter will be much larger than expected. Carryovers are orders which could not be delivered at the specified time.

The magazine says some steel consumers are annoyed by persistent reports that the steel market is beginning to decline or is due to decline shortly. Manufacturers who are unable to place orders for all the tonnage they want are disappointed by fourth quarter "quotas" which are smaller than they expected, The Iron Age adds.

Women of The Moose

On Thursday evening, the Women of the Moose, Belleville Chapter 435, held its last meeting of the month with Senior Regent Ruth Mintz, presiding. There was a fine attendance of members.

Five new candidates were balloted on and found favorable and will join the defending circle at the first meeting in August which is also Alumnae chairman night.

Recorder Nellie Scrymgeour read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were approved. Five "thank-you" cards were read including one from Francis Coleman, and Brother Wesley Pindle. The Senior Regent read a lovely "thank-you" letter received from the past Deputy Grand Regent, Mrs. Alice McKelvie, of Kitchener, Ontario, chapter, expressing her sincere thanks for the fine time she had had at the Belleville chapter. She also tendered best wishes to the new officers in their new year and hoped the year would be most successful.

Plans Bazaar

The bazaar was planned for early November with each chairman looking after a booth. A kiddies' carnival is also to be held at the home of Mary Van Dusen in August with Mary acting as convener. A bake sale will be held on the market, convened by Marg Mallette.

The pro tem chairman for Moosehear, Luella Downes, is to hold a rummage sale during the latter part of August. A collection of used toys will be taken for the city firemen to paint and repair and donate to the children at Christmas time.

Actor Praises Mother-in-Law, Famous British Stage Star

LONDON (CP) — British actor Robert Morley says his mother-in-law is the sort of person who drives 20 miles to buy the right kind of Gruyere cheese.

The mother-in-law so defined is Gladys Cooper, for 40 years one of the most beautiful actresses on the British stage. Miss Cooper, now 63, is still appearing regularly in the west end as the star of Noel Coward's Relative Values.

As far back as the First World War, Miss Cooper had a special place as an actress. A London columnist says men who were boys when she was a girl "will never forget the incomparable pyrale on the glossy postcards, the mother of all pin-ups."

Her stage triumphs included The Letter, The Last, of Mrs. Cheyney and The Indifferent Shepherd.

Morley's tribute to Miss Cooper came at a London luncheon marking publication of a book about the actress called "Gladys Cooper," Morley, star of stage and screen, said in his speech:

"Proposing Miss Cooper's health is rather like proposing the wealth of the Aga Khan. She has a wonderful ability to master health. I have never known her to complain about anything except a slight headache. She never sits down and hardly eats at all, and that is why she keeps so well."

LONDON (AP)—Norman Hartnell, dressmaker to the Queen, will have none of the new short skirt decreed by Paris.

Hartnell was totally unimpressed by the announcement of French fashion dictator Christian Dior that henceforth a proper hem should be as much as 16 inches from the floor.

"The hem stays where it is," said Hartnell. "Calf length is the most graceful for a woman's skirt—anything shorter is ugly."

Christian Dior Shows Wavering Waistline, Lopped Off Skirts

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS. (AP) — Christian Dior Tuesday threw a bombshell into the middle of the Paris fashion openings by drastically shortening skirts to barely below the knee.

At the same time he made radical changes in the waistline, as he boldly announced the beginning of a new cycle in feminine dress.

Whether women will again follow the lead of the man who has already revolutionized fashions once with the New Look remains to be seen, but the newest Dior clothes bear so little resemblance to those women are currently wearing that old wardrobes will have to be thrown out if the new style succeeds.

Lopping off your skirts won't be enough. There's a whole new cut that drapes the waistline loosely between the top of the hips and the bottom of the bust.

The designer's own name for his 1953 creation is the "Line Flare". His two new silhouettes he calls "Eiffel Tower" and "Cupola". One is slightly slim, the other bell-skirted.

It is fashion season which began quietly with few changes in last season's length 13 or 13 inches from the floor on creations, Dior's opening came like a thunderclap.

For the first time in many seasons, the legs come into their own, and a lady is permitted to show her calves. The new length looks to be about 16 or 17 inches from the floor. To tall women, fat women and bow-legged women, it's a catastrophe.

Dr. George Carver "The Man Who Talked With Flowers", the author Glen Clarke.

Mrs. A. Empey gave a reading on Stewardship for July. Mrs. M. A. Jackson read a poem "Beautiful Sunday", and Mrs. Ernie Moore read a humorous story, "It Take Nerve to Shop". The singing of "Swing Low Sweet Chariot", concluded an enjoyable program.

Mrs. Fleming assisted by Mrs. W. Parks, Mrs. Embury and Mrs. A. Parks served afternoon tea.

Good Eating Habits Will Help the Aging

Aging people are the products of the life they have lived, points out Margaret E. Smith, Ph.B., M.Sc., director of nutrition for the Health League of Canada. If a sound state of health has been maintained for the first 60 years, people have little reason to be anxious about the next 40 years.

"Health is the sum total of what a person has been eating daily throughout his life," notes Miss Smith. "Psychiatrics, the study of children, and geriatrics, the study of the aging, really have a great deal in common. The care of both young and old should strive for mental and emotional balance with optimal nutrition to protect them against disease."

Moderation should be the rule because an excess of food as well as a deficiency is injurious.

It has been found by careful study that the same amount of food given in smaller amounts and oftener—five or six times per day—is productive of better health in the aged.

Excessive condiments and spices such as peppers, mustard, horseradish, hot sauces, etc., are not advisable for the aging because they tend to irritate the intestinal tract and contribute to vascular and renal irritation.

Aging people need a certain amount of bulky food as well as do younger persons.

Older people are frequently lacking in calcium and iron, so milk, cheese, cottage cheese, whole grain bread, and eggs, together with green and yellow vegetables, fruits and berries, are important in the diet.

Aging people, as well as others, need to keep the water supply in the body constant. Human bodies are about 70 per cent water, and they lose water at the rate of about 4 1-2 pints a day, so it is necessary to replenish this supply constantly. Some authorities recommend drinking from six to eight glasses of water daily in addition to milk, tea or coffee.

BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Than Her Husband, They'd Remained Single, Together

letter recently printed here from a corporal in the air force, ked to do with the question of the ple who is older than her boy friend.

Three days before the corporal ment into service, he suddenly de- ded to marry a girl whose name who was 28 to his 21. Apparently this was done more or less on an impulse, since he said that he was "undecided up until the last minute ute whether to get married or not."

Later, stationed at a base far away from his bride, he began to worry over their age difference, and what he described as "short more" was what people were going to think and say. He was afraid that when he got home and took up civilian life again, he would "feel mean" introducing his wife to his friends.

My advice to him was that he should not worry about this while he is in service because, after he has got home and had liberty for a while, his fiends would accept the situation in a perfectly normal way.

Now, I am glad to say, this ad- vice of mine has been backed up by a letter from a wife who has been married nearly 30 years to a man seven years younger than her- self. She says that she is "not writing the letter for publication," but with the hope that I might forward to the corporal, whose letter she read in this column. She does, however, file corporal's let- ter came from Korea, where he obviously enjoys his home town newspaper, and since he gave me no address by which to reach him, I'm sure she will not mind "if I make to pass on to him my what she has to say. Bedder, I think the story of her experience will be of interest to many others besides the corporal, and not only to any who may be in a similar situation, but to all who want to build a happy marriage.

Abandoned

Here is what she writes: -

"There is exactly the same dif- ference in the ages of my husband and myself as in the case of the corporal and his wife, that is, seven years, and in our 18 years of marriage everything has worked out beautifully.

"It happened that at 21 my hus- band was far more mature and realistic than many men of that age. We had known each other two weeks before our marriage, and were very much in love.

"Our marriage has been un- usually happy and very satisfac- tory, much of this being due to our ardent temperaments. Neither of us is jealous, and both are broadminded. My husband has a marvelous disposition. He is kind, generous and sympathetic, never critical, and definitely an extrovert.

"As for myself, I have always believed that each partner in any marriage should retain a sem- blance of individuality and should not expect to monopolize or dis- tribute the leisure time of the other. For instance, my husband loves fishing, but I don't like it at all. I thrive on poetry and music, in which he has only a passing interest. We do have mutual hob- bies which we enjoy, but if he wants to spend a weekend fishing or hunting with men friends, it is quite all right with me, and I have enough interests to keep from ever being lonely or bored.

"I think it is foolish of the cou- ple to anticipate embarrassing moments because his wife is older than he is. My husband has a say- ing: 'Your friends understand, and they do not understand, that's why I have your friends.' It is more impor- tant that two people should be com- patible than to be mated according to age.

This is a letter which carries a stimulating message to every man and woman, whether young or old- er, and whether already married or expecting to be married at some time in the future. If the philoso- phy it sets down were made the rule of every household, much petty friction would be avoided and harmony and happiness would the prevailing atmosphere.

Special- Purpose Menu

By Mary Moore

This is the situation. Friends or relatives that you love are arriving from out of town—or are full of them. They are welcome. So are their children, but you do hope they won't be allowed to race through the house in their bare feet.

You have to manage on your regular weekly household allow- ance but yet you want the meals to look as if John is earning at least $10,000 per year.

You have to be a magician to do it, but let's take a crack at it.

Dinner for Week-end Guests

Baked Picnic Roll with Apricot Glaze
Pilaf (rice)
Garlic Bread
Platter Salad
Glazed Raspberry Pie Iced Coffee

Directions

Baked Picnic Roll

(With Apricot Glaze)

If Picnic roll weighs 5 lbs. bake in 300 minutes to the pound at 325 deg. Fahr. in uncovered roaster then spread on glaze and bake 30 minutes longer at 300 deg. Fahr. If Picnic roll will weigh 8 lbs. bake at 325 minutes to the pound at 325 deg. Fahr. but spread glaze on at end of 3 hours. If roll has string on it, remove the string that winds around meat, but not the string that runs through meat before spreading on glaze.

Apricot Glaze (1 1-4 cups)

Soak 1-4 lb. dried apricots over- night, then cook gently for 15 minutes or until soft, and press through sieve. The water on the apricots should just cover them and be the liquid they were soak- ed in. Add 1-4 cup sugar (4 tablespoons). Mix well. Spread on roll (or ham or boiled or baked bacon roll) and return to oven to finish as directed above.

Note—This glaze will keep for two weeks in covered jar in re- frigerator and is excellent as a glaze for baked fruit tarts of any kind. The picnic roll could be baked up to the glaze stage, and if you want to serve the ham hot, bake it the day be- fore the company arrives, spread glaze on ham before dinner time and reheat oven and bake again for 1-2 hour.

Pilaf

Melt 2 tablespoons butter un- til just a little darker than gold- en then add 1-2 cup washed and dried long grain rice and panfry until golden, stirring constantly, for about 5 minutes. Add 1 tea- spoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon each paprika and curry powder and 1 cup of clear meat stock or boiling water or thin tomato juice. Cover and cook as slowly as possible for 30 minutes or until rice soaks up all liquid and grains are separ- ate and tender.

Note—Curry may be omitted. A few chopped cooked or canned peppers or mushrooms may be added to the pan when you are quieting the rice if desired.

Platter Salad

You need lettuce or endive, to- matoes, cucumbers or green pep- pers and some radishes or pick- kins for this. Arrange lettuce or endive in a border around outside edge of medium-sized platter. Just inside this make a generous ring of thick sliced ripe tomatoes. In the centre arrange slices of un- peeled cucumber which has been scored with a fork, or rings of green pepper. Have parsley in the very centre radish roses or tiny gherkins. Pass French Dress- ing.

Garlic Bread

Slice a French stick 1 inch thick, but do not cut through bot- tom crust. Pound 1 clove of gar- lic until it is mushy then work it into 1-4 lb. butter. This should be quite soft. Spread on both sides of bread. Fifteen minutes before serving time, heat in oven of 375 deg. Fahr. This makes a lot of crumbs, but the guests en- joy breaking off the tasty chunks of butter-soaked garlic- flavored bread.

Fashion Flashes

• • •

Easy to wear dresses, despite their simplicity, are most effec- tive for town use. One in black silk shantung is tuck-stitched from shoulder yoke to hem. Neck is scooped out, brief sleeves in- dented. Nice background for sparkling accents.

• • •

Looking around at evening gala events, we notice plenty of prints, but always in small, discreet de- signs, the fabrics ranging from cotton to silk cotton. Palest la- vender chiffon is used in a V-neck- length sheath dress, the print in a small pink floral design. The position is subtly draped and swathed with one diagonal should- der covering.

• • •

Beach belles are taking up big suit- cases with well-cut sun and fun clothes that are striking without being silly. For instance, how about an outfit made up of long slacks and a matching waterproof surplice halter in black linen to cover-up? Or a brilliantly striped blazer jacket in polished cotton!

• • •

• • •

The fill-in dickey is doing yeo- man service this year, making a two-timer out of many dresses. A paper-weight taffeta dress, ideal for daytime wear, has a dickey fill-in of white handkerchief linen with black velvet string tie ends to become a perfect late after- noonner minus the fill-in.

The schipperke, a small tailless dog, was originally used on Belgian barges as a guard and vermin killer.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. BEECKMAN

They Were Married Near His Camp

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. I was married last March near a camp in Virginia. My hus- band is in the Army, was sta- tioned there, and still is stationed there. My mother did not know of the marriage at that time. She is now willing to welcome it in our local newspaper. But she says she has neither the desire nor the money to give us a reception. However, my mother-in-law would like to give a reception for us when my husband comes home on his next leave, which might be quite soon. I know it is not proper for the mother-in-law to give the reception immediately following the ceremony — that is, the wed- ding reception — but would it be proper for her to give it at this late date?

2. Should the announcement of the marriage my parents are to send to the newspaper include the announcement that there will be a reception given for my hus- band's parents? And should this reception be referred to as a "wedding reception"?

(Reader.)

1. Right you are that it isn't good form or good taste for the groom's parents to give the actual "wedding reception" — the re- ception given directly after the ceremony has been performed. But it is entirely proper, hospi- table and gracious for them to give a reception in honor of the bride, or of the couple, after the marriage at some time that is convenient for all concerned. And of course your parents and some of your close relatives and inti- mate friends should be invited.

2. No, the newspaper announce- ment of your marriage should not include the announcement of this reception to be given by your husband's parents. Their recep- tion in your honor should be call- ed just that — not a "wedding reception", for it isn't.

Table for Three' in a Restaurant

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. When a married couple and a woman guest enter a restaurant, what is the correct seating pro- cedure?

2. Is it proper to wear gloves with street or spectator-sport at- tire when no hat is worn?

(R. C.)

1. The man, or the host, should be on the alert to plan the seating so that their woman guest, to be honored, is seated at his right — just as would be correct if the woman guest were dining with the couple in their home. Except that in the case of home-dining the wife would plan and indicate the place: "Dorothy, will you please sit there, at John's right?"

2. The answer to this question depends, I think, on whether or not you're a gloves-wearing en- thusiast! Today, for summer- wearing, there are such attractive bright-white "shorties", light- weight and so-comfortable, that most women feel — and certainly look — better-groomed wearing gloves. They keep the hands feel- ing fresher too. A well-dressed woman wears gloves on the street of city or town — even if she doesn't wear a hat. She may, but usually doesn't wear gloves when she wears spectator- sport attire, since this generally means country wear.

Caught by RCMP at Hamilton Escaped Prisoner of War Relieved Evasion Is Ended

HAMILTON (CP) — A former German merchant seaman plans to seek a lawful haven in Canada now that his past has caught up with him.

The life he lived here for seven years as "an exemplary citizen" ended Tuesday for middle-aged Franz Jenisch, who escaped from an internment camp following the end of the Second World War.

He was arrested by RCMP acting on a tip of his fellow workers at a farm implements plant who noticed he bore a remarkable resemblance to a picture in a newspaper series of escaped prisoners still at large.

To Jenisch, who went under the name of Jack William Krach and wondered from day to day when he would be caught, the end was one of relief that his worries in one regard were over.

He said he knew all along he would be caught sooner or later and "now I'm glad it's over—I'm relieved."

The RCMP constables who surprised Jenisch as he worked at his toolmaker's job said they were pleased when they told him why they had come.

Sgt. Duncan McDonald said the RCMP has no reason of its own to detain Jenisch but he was being held in jail here to be turned over to army authorities in whose custody he was when he escaped from a PoW camp at Cookrville, 15 miles west of Toronto, July 12, 1946.

Jenisch was interviewed by immigration department officials who heard his request that he be allowed to apply for legal entry to this country.

Speaking perfect English Jenisch said Tuesday night in a police cell interview that he plans to marry and is "going to try really hard" to become a Canadian citizen. He would go to South America, probably Argentina, if authorities would not allow him to remain.

He said he escaped because he didn't want to go back to Germany and because a request he made once before to be allowed to remain in Canada didn't stir any action in Ottawa.

"I don't want to go back to Europe ever," he said. "Europe means war, and communism, and hunger for me."

The ship on which he was the engineer surrendered to Dutch East Indies authorities in the Indian ocean when war broke out. The crew was interned. In the Dutch East Indies for eigh months and was moved to Canada when the Netherlands surrendered to Germany.

William Ireland, a neighbor of Jenisch, said that in speaking of the possible deportation of the former merchant seaman: "They'd be very foolish to put him out of the country—he's a fine man."

Children Drown As Raft Upsets

SARNIA (CP) — Two children were drowned Tuesday in the treacherous waters of the St. Clair river when their small raft upset.

The children, both residents of the Sarnia Indian reserve, are: Fred James, 7, and Arlina Rogers, 8. The raft upset about 100 feet off shore after it had drifted down river.

In the last two years about 98 per cent of all crude oil produced in Canada came from Alberta fields.

RAWDON

RAWDON— On Sunday, several members of the Irwin family attended the morning service at Aurora. Flowers were placed in loving memory of "The Irwins" who are laid to rest in the adjoining cemetery. This Sunday was chosen as it was nearest to the death of the late Mrs. W. S. Irwin, mother of Mrs. A. E. Baker, of Stirling.

Rev. W. S. Irwin and Rev. A. E. Baker each had a part in the church service.

Following the service in the church the Irwin family visited the adjoining cemetery and placed memorial flowers.

A special centennial civic service for Stirling, Rawdon and Sidney will be held at St. Paul's United Church on Sunday, August 2nd, at 11 a.m. The guest speaker will be Mr. John Naylor, mayor of Oshawa. Just recently Mr. Naylor said these words "I feel that God has called me, as He has called others to minister to the needs of the people. The peace of the Master is what we need in our lives and in the world.'

River Valley Women's Institute will convene for their regular meeting on Thursday, August 6, at 2 p.m., at the school house. This is "Children's Day", and each member is asked to bring 15 cents in lieu of prizes. The public school teachers who are members will provide program and arrange sports.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart and Tommy, Toronto, are holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. John Mulherne and Margaret.

See Unification of Korea Deal with Reds Eliminated As Dulles Shapes Policy

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States State Secretary Dulles has virtually eliminated the possibility of making a deal with the Reds for unification of Korea.

Instead he appeared to be shaping a policy similar to that of the West towards Germany—sticking to principles, counting on the attraction exerted by the free world on communist—satellites, and constantly keeping open the possibility of unification.

As applied to the Korean situation, such a policy contemplates failure of the forthcoming political conference to achieve Korean unification. Thus it sharpens the problem of what to do about South Korean President Syngman Rhee's threat to resume fighting for unity if it is not accomplished by agreement 90 days after the conference opens.

To Fly Is ovea

Dulles will fly to Korea, leaving here Sunday. One of his principal tasks well may be to try to persuade Rhee against resuming the war, whatever happens in the political meeting.

Meeting reporters for the first time since the armistice, Dulles said Tuesday:

"As far as I personally am concerned, I think I have made it clear I would not be prepared on behalf of the United States to try to buy the unity of Korea at the price of a concession which would involve bringing communist China into the United Nations and, above all, into the security council."

If the issue arose, he said, the United States would use its influence with other countries to swing a vote against UN admission of the Peiping regime.

Under questioning he declined to say that the United States would, if necessary, veto Red Chinese membership, but he did say that the United States has the right to veto if it wants to use it.

Despite Dulles' assertion, most UN legal experts doubt that a U.S. veto alone could keep Red China out of the UN. The question is not one of admitting a new member—which is subject to veto in the security council—but of which Chinese regime is entitled to China's membership.

There is no veto in any UN body but the security council. A two-thirds vote of the 60 UN members would seat the communist Chinese in the general assembly. And most UN legal sources have contended in the past that "representation" in the security council is a procedural matter, which is not subject to the veto.

Privately-Owned Planes on Visit

OTTAWA (CP)—An air armada of 53 privately-owned aircraft carrying 150 flying enthusiasts from Montana, Oregon and California landed here Tuesday on a two-week holiday tour of Canada and the United States.

There wasn't a professional pilot in the lot. The planes ranged from single-engine craft to 18-passenger size and their occupants ranged from children travelling with their parents to 70-year-old Will Peters of Portland, Ore., who learned to fly after he was 60.

POLICE BULLETS END STORY OF BERSERK WRITER

Court Martial Will be Staged Over Grounding

OTTAWA (CP)—Three Canadian naval officers are being flown home from Korea to face a court martial arising out of the grounding of the destroyer Huron off the east coast of North Korea July 12.

Naval headquarters here announced Tuesday the three are Cmdr. R. C. Chenoweth of Montreal, the Huron's commanding officer, Lt.-Cmdr. T. J. C. Thomas of Dartmouth, N.S., and Lieut. G. H Emerson of Bathurst, NB.

The navy described the court martial as a "routine procedure following incidents of this nature."

The Huron tore aground on an Allied-held island in thick fog while on patrol off North Korea's east coast. She was refloated without aid at high tide and made base at Sasebo, Japan, under her own power.

Only Serious Accident

It was the only serious accident to any Canadian destroyer in more than three years of action in Korean waters, excluding the Communist shore battery hit on the Iroquois, which killed three men and wounded three others. Eight Canadian destroyers have served in Korea.

The Huron, holed below the waterline, will be in dry dock another two months, the navy said.

The navy said it does not yet know when the three officers will arrive in Canada or the exact nature of the charges against them. The court martial will be held at HMCS Stadacona, the navy's Halifax shore base.

Date of the court martial will be fixed after the officers, witnesses and evidence taken at a court of inquiry in Japan arrive in Canada. Four other officers and six ratings are also being flown home as witnesses.

SUPERTEST Power-thrust

Hamilton Strike Called by UEW

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—The United Electrical Workers called a strike at the North American Cyanamid Company Tuesday night just as the night shift was scheduled to report for work.

The strike was called just one day after the seven-day cooling off period which followed conciliation proceedings that failed to bring company and union together. The union was certified as bargaining agent for the firm Jan. 27. A contract has not yet been signed.

Company officials said a majority report of the conciliation board recommended pay increases that would cost the company four cents an hour. The firm agreed to all terms of the recommendation except union security. The union refused to accept a contract without this clause.

Pickets were thrown around the main gates as some 730 members of the bargaining unit launched the strike.

FIRE DESTROYS BARNS

Similar Names On Ballots May Confuse Voters

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Some of Canada's voters will have to look twice or three times to make sure they're marking their ballots for the man of their choice in the Aug. 10 Dominion election.

For example, Grenville-Dundas in Ontario, is choosing between two Casselmans, each with the initials A. C. Arthur C. is a Liberal, seeking to unseat Ara C., Progressive Conservative and sitting member.

Two Robichauds are running in Gloucester, N.B., with Albany M., the sitting member, a Progressive Conservative and H. J. a Liberal. A third man is in that race, Alphonse Landry, CCF.

Two Kennedys

In Essex East in Ontario, where Health Minister Paul Martin is seeking re-election, two of his three opponents are J. A. Kennedy, Progressive Conservative, and M. J. Kennedy, Labor-Progressive.

Among the candidates in Montreal Papineau are Adrien Meunier and Armand Meunier, each running as an Independent Liberal.

In Beauce, Que., Raoul Poulin, Independent, is opposed in his bid for re-election by Louis Poulin, a Liberal.

The voters in Berthier-Maskinonge-Delanaudiere in Quebec face as tough an identification problem as any. Joseph Langlois, seeking re-election as a Liberal, is opposed by Joseph E. Langlois, Progressive Conservative, and Joseph Langlois, Independent. A fourth in the field is Adrian Arcand, Nationalist.

Regina Is Marking 50th Anniversary

REGINA (CP)—Regina, capital of Saskatchewan and home of the RCMP, this week celebrates its 50th anniversary as a city.

Celebrations held in conjunction with the annual exhibition mark the half-century of progress to which it has grown from a raw frontier town to a green oasis, famous for its tree-lined streets and many parks.

Each night at the current exhibition, a special show portrays some of the main events in the city's history, the granting of a charter, the famous 1912 cyclone, the influx of immigrants after the First World War and the depression of the 1930s.

News from thick gumbo of the Prairie, Regina has grown from a town of 2,000 population in 1903 to more than 71,000. In the same period, estimated value of buildings has climbed from less than $1,000,000 to $200,000,000.

Canadians' Stake in Their Country's Business Greater Then Ever Before

Despite American investment in Canada, increased by $1,500,000,000 since 1949, the share of Canadian business owned by foreigners is less today than before the war.

A survey published by this month's Bank of Montreal business review points out that most of the cash for Canada's new factories, mines and oil-fields has come in recent years from Canadians themselves.

Canada, the review explains, has used foreign capital to speed its progress. "Without the benefit of outside capital, particularly in the early periods of this country's development, the expansion of production, employment and income would have proceeded much less rapidly than has, in fact, been the case."

Debt Partly Paid Off

As a result, by 1939 Canada was the world's largest debtor country. Since then the debt has been partly paid off, for although foreigners have rushed to invest money in Canada, Canadians have invested some $6,000,000,000 in other countries.

Today, the review says, "Canadian capital invested in Canadian-controlled companies operating in the U.S. has risen to a greater extent percentage-wise than the corresponding investment by Americans in Canada."

Canada's overseas investments haven't received much publicity because they are usually only a small fraction of the total amount of money invested in those countries.

Britain's contribution to the building of Canada's railways is "legendary," the review says. Even today some 30 per cent of the total capital of Canadian railways is owned by investors in the United Kingdom.

The first great wave of American capital came during the twenties, when American money was used to open up pulp and paper mills, expand ore, hydroelectric and insurance facilities.

New Wave of Investment

Canada now is in the middle of the second great wave of American investment, the review says. Since 1949, nearly $1,000,000,000 has been invested here by U.S. companies or U.S. citizens.

About 37 per cent of this new capital has gone into petroleum, while a further 37 per cent has gone into mining enterprises, "largely in the iron-ore fields of Ontario and Quebec-Labrador."

In consequence, mining and petroleum developments are the only industrial divisions in which the share of foreign capital today is higher than it was in 1939. In manufacturing, railways and utilities, Canadians own a greater share of the business than they did before the war.

Chicago Mother Beats to Death Her Son, Aged 3

CHICAGO (AP)—Police said a 26-year-old mother related early today she tied her three-year old son to a water pipe, then beat him to death with a chair, breaking his arms, legs and nose.

The child's body was found Tuesday night by police who went to the family's apartment to investigate a neighbor's complaint that the baby boy, Nora Veronica Burnesky, was trying to conceal an injured child.

Police said the woman related she beat the boy, Peter Jr., because he was disobedient.

Mrs. Burowsky and her 35-year-old husband, Peter Sr., have three other small children. Police said they found this note from Mrs. Burowsky to her husband in the kitchen of the apartment:

"Pete: Well, the bum got up again this a.m. same thing. I got him in a closet. You can feed him supper if you want to, and then tie him up again.

The woman was held without charge.

Truck Burns Cars Damaged

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—A new truck burned and two cars were heavily damaged in an accident on the Queen Elizabeth Way one mile east of the Welland Canal late Tuesday.

Cars driven by Sidney Kerr and Arnold Condie, both of Mattawa, were returning from the Jehovah's Witnesses rally in New York. They had pulled onto the shoulder of the road and stopped to exchange some baggage when a Whyte Packing Company truck from Stratford, driven by Carl Doerr, crashed into the Condie car and drove it ahead into the other one.

The truck, after going about 30 yards, caught fire and was destroyed. Doerr managed to get out without injury and none of the 10 persons in the two cars was injured.

"I don't know what happened," Doerr said. "I just had no control over the truck."

Chinese Offer Congratulations To the Canadians

By BILL ROSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SEOUL (CP) — Chinese communist soldiers sat on their hillsides Tuesday drinking cooling draughts while Canadians hauled ammunition out of their positions preparatory to evacuating them Thursday evening.

The sweltering Canadians, accustoming themselves to the armistice, exchanged shouted wisecracks with the communists. Some Reds ventured into no-man's-land but none entered Canadian territory.

Maj.-Gen. Michael West, Commonwealth division edcmander, has ordered troops not to fraternize with the enemy but the Chinese launched an ardent courtship of the Canadians.

Record Hay Crop Harvested In Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—A record hay crop in many parts of the province has guaranteed Ontario cattle no shortage of pasture this fall.

The weekly farm report of the Ontario department of agriculture notes that some farmers have run out of storage space for hay. Under such conditions it seems likely a fair amount will be left for pasture.

In some sections of the province, farmers report trouble curing hay because the crop was so heavy.

The lush pastures have already had an effect on milk production which usually drops at this time of year. In many parts there has been no appreciable reduction.

Harvesting has been going on in most sections of the province. But the tobacco growing areas still need rain.

PASS CUSTOMS BILL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives Tuesday night passed and sent to the White House a bill to simplify customs procedure after accepting Senate amendments eliminating controversial features. Stricken from the bill was a new method for determining the value of imported products, and a new way to convert foreign currency to dollars.

Food Poisoning Hits Canadians Serving in Korea

By BILL ROSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SEOUL (CP)—Canadian brigade headquarters said Tuesday that 87 members of the Royal 22nd Regiment suffered food poisoning just before the Korean cease-fire became effective.

All but eight—five Van Doos and three Koreans serving with the regiment—were back on duty today.

The army said the outbreak, attributed to contaminated ham served at evening meal Monday, was the first occurrence of gastroenteritis in the brigade.

Actually, the 29th field squadron of engineers had a case of poisoning last week when sappers drank insufficiently chlorinated water. Only one man was still in hospital.

CPR Hotelmen Will Work Less

OTTAWA (CP)—Some 2,000 employees of six major Canadian Pacific Railway hotels across Canada will get a shorter work week with same take-home pay under a new working agreement announced here Tuesday night by the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and Other Transport Workers (CCL).

The CBRE said the contract, signed Tuesday at Montreal, is for two years with a clause which would allow for wage adjustments after one year. The contract also provides for the immediate cut-off of union dues.

Working hours are reduced from 44 to 40 hours for employees of the Empress Hotel, Victoria; the Banff Springs Hotel, Banff, Alta.; the Palliser, Calgary; the Saskatchewan, Regina; and the Royal Alexandra, Winnipeg.

The sixth CPR hotel covered by the contract is the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec, where the work week is reduced from 48 to 44 hours.

The CBRE said negotiations will follow for six Canadian National Railways hotels:

The Scarborough, Saskatoon; the Prince Edward, Brandon, Man.; the Fort Garry, Winnipeg; the Prince Arthur, Port Arthur; the Charlottetown, Charlottetown; and Jasper Park Lodge, Jasper, Alta.

Cripple Is Rescued From Detroit River

AMHERSTBURG (CP) — Terry Lucas, 30, a cripple, was rescued from the Detroit River Tuesday after he crawled from a car, made his way across the highway on his hands and knees and entered the water.

Doctors and fire department officials revived Lucas 30 minutes after he was pulled from the water by an unidentified man.

Fifteen Nations Had 50,000 Men In Korean War

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—UN ground forces sent to Korea, other than those of the United States and South Korea, were somewhere between 40,000 and 50,000 men, according to the best available information here.

These came from 15 of 60 member countries, approximately half of them from the British Commonwealth. No exact figures were available on the size of the United States' and South Korean forces except in terms of divisions.

The United States contributed six infantry and one marine division —plus an undisclosed number of supporting troops — and South Korea had 18 ready combat divisions at the time of the armistice.

Official Figures

In addition to the ground forces, many of the same 15 countries also contributed either air or naval assistance or both. A 16th country —South Africa—provided a fighter squadron, but no ground or naval forces.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U.S. delegate, recently told the House of Representatives foreign affairs committee that 10 of every 100 men in the forward zone in Korea came from UN countries other than the United States. He did not give any figures, however.

Commonwealth Leads

The largest fighting unit, in addition to U.S. and South Korean forces, was the oversized British Commonwealth division which numbered approximately 20,000 men. Britain supplied about 10,000 of these, with the others coming from Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

Next to Britain, Canada had the largest force in Korea with approximately 8,000 men at all times. Australia had a total of 5,500 men in Korea, about half of them ground forces. New Zealand supplied a ground force of about 2,000.

The other countries with ground forces: Belgium, one battalion; Colombia, one battalion; Ethiopia, 1,069 men; France, one battalion; Luxembourg, one infantry company; Greece, one battalion; Netherlands, one battalion; Philippines, 1,700 men; Thailand, 4,000 men and Turkey, 5,086 men.

Record for Rainfall Broken in Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—Records fell faster than the rain Monday night as Winnipeg absorbed another drubbing from the weather.

A record 3.66 inches of 7.56 inches set this month up as the wettest July and the third wettest month in the city's history. July rainfall to date of 7.59 inches trails only the 10.26 inches in June 1901, and the 9.42 inches in August, 1876.

The year 1953 now is slightly more than seven inches away from an all-time, all-year precipitation record of 29.70 set in 1876.

Niagara Power Development to Be Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Further Senate hearings on a bill to authorize private U.S. development of new power plants at Niagara Falls will be delayed until next year.

Senator Edward Martin, (Rep.-Pa.) chairman of the Senate public works committee, said Tuesday the nearness of Congress' adjournment made it "inadvisable" to hold hearings until a later date.

The committee last week heard Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York testify in opposition to a House-approved bill to give five New York private utilities the right to apply to the power commission for a license to construct the estimated $400,000,000 development.

Dewey argued for state development of the resources which, engineers estimate, will virtually triple the present annual production at the falls.

Two cups will provide nearly of a person's daily requirement of vitamin D.

Urges Frost Use His 'Control' To Settle Strike

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Mayor Arthur J. Reaume Tuesday urged the provincial government to use its "control over the trucking industry" in an attempt to settle the strike of some 1,500 employees of Western Ontario trucking firms who have not received a satisfactory wage."

The mayor said in a letter to Premier Frost that the province has control over truck owners through its granting of public commercial vehicle licences.

Because the government grants the licences it "has some control" over the industry and, although "I know that it is sometimes difficult for the government to dictate policy," it could indicate what it thinks might be a fair wage.

Niagara Power Is Cut By Debris in Canal

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Frogmen carrying out an underwater inspection of the canal supplying water to the No. 1 Sir Adam Beck generating station at nearby Queenston have found rocks boulders, and various bits of junk in the canal bed.

Hydro engineers estimate the water blockage caused by the debris has cut off 48,000 horsepower from the plant, bringing about a substantial power loss there.

WAREHOUSES BURN

MADRID (Reuters)—Three huge explosives warehouses burned down Tuesday in a spectacular blaze which brought every fireman in Madrid. There were no reports of casualties.

Prince Edward Island, with only four members, is the single province where the exodus has not already begun. All the members for the last House are running again. By provinces, here are the numbers of members indicated -as not being again:

Newfoundland, two; Nova Scotia, four; New Brunswick, two; Quebec, none; Ontario, seven; Manitoba, one; Saskatchewan, three; Alberta, one; British Columbia, two. In addition, there are three ridings where, because of redistribution, two members of the last Commons are opposing each other. One is another of those will not return. Nova Scotia has had three withdrawals and one member redistributed out of a seat. Percy Black, three - term Progressive Conservative, retired in Cumberland. Liberal W.F. Carroll of Inverness-Richmond, who has had a long career as Commons member, another of the last House is sure to be defeated here in Melville. Sask., and the new Ontario ridings of Huron and Glengarry-Prescott.

In Melville, Agriculture Minister James Gardiner is being opposed by Progressive Wright, CCF, who lost his own Melfort constituency under redistribution.

Two Liberals are running in Glengarry-Prescott: Raymond Brunet, Liberal from Prescott, and W. J. Major, member for Glengarry.

Attends Choral Workshop

Mrs. Muriel S. Baker, A.R.C.T., is attending the Fred Waring choral workshop at Delaware, Water Gap, Pennsylvania, U.S. She is taking a special course in choral techniques and this will be of great benefit to her as she has trained several groups of choral singers since she and her husband, Rev. A. E. Baker, came to Stirling.

The Waring workshop has been in existence seven years and they now have a permanent home where students can live in during their course of study. No doubt Mrs. Baker will gather up a number of new ideas during her course.

The farmers have been busy all week baling hay and several are now cutting the grain. The old machinery (mowers and binders) are being replaced by more modern and up-to-date equipment, tractors, balers, combines and such, all do the work so much faster that a great portion of the harvest will be completed by the end of July.

Allied and Red Soldiers Labor to Wreck Bunkers

SEOUL (AP)—The withdrawal of two mighty armies from the Korean demilitarized zone continued smoothly today as the Thursday night deadline approached.

Enemies in the days ago, Allied and Communist troops worked within shooting distance of each other, salvaging material and wrecking fortifications that took months to build.

Although Allied troops were warned by the 8th Army against fraternization with the Reds, there were reports of friendly contacts all along the war-shattered front.

Under terms of the armistice signed Monday, both sides are to have pulled back 1¼ miles each from the fence line by 10 p. m. Thursday (9 a. m. EDT)—three days after the cease-fire.

"It took us two years to build this line," one American officer remarked. "Now we've got to tear down in 72 hours millions of dollars of fortifications."

Salvage Equipment

Allied forces were under orders to salvage all possible equipment from the intricate system of fortifications strung across the 150-mile line.

One of the toughest tasks was to remove 12-inch beams used in bunkers. All efforts were extended to salvage the lumber, scarce in this country.

The Reds' job of pulling back was less complicated.

The Reds had dug a system of defences mostly underground. Allied officers explained the Communists only have to cave in the dirt at the entrances to make them useless.

In some places, the Allies had to wreck bunkers by caving them in after material was salvaged.

Search for Bodies

Communist and Allied work parties searched the buffer strip for bodies and graves. In some cases they assisted each other in locating them. Before the search is ended, it was certain that some names on the list of missing would be removed.

The Communists did not overlook the propaganda opportunity.

Final Casualty List for Korean War is Issued

OTTAWA (CP)—What may be the last Canadian casualty list of the Korean war—battle casualties at least—was issued by the army here Tuesday.

It contained the names of three men wounded in action, one of whom may be the last Canadian casualty of three years of bloody fighting on the Asian peninsula.

Bill Boss, Canadian Press correspondent with Canadian forces in Korea, said in a dispatch from Seoul that Hickerson was wounded outside his Sherman tank by a shell fragment at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, 17½ hours before the armistice was signed and 29½ hours before the cease-fire.

The other two names on he army's 260th casualty list of the Korean war—the first list was issued March 2, 1951—were those of Pte. Gordon Arthur Messenger of Egmondville, Ont., and Pte. Ivan Ehlenerg Lunn of Windsor, N.S. Both are members of the Royal Canadian Regiment.

1,502 Casualties

These three brought the total army casualties to 1,502, including 291 dead, 1,072 wounded, 36 missing, 95 injured and 18 captured. This does not include two prisoners-of-war released by the Communists.

In addition, the navy has reported three killed in action, three wounded and two lost overboard. The RCAF has reported one officer missing in action.

The latest list:

Messenger, Gordon Arthur, Pte., RCR; Mrs. Margaret Messenger (mother), PO. Egmondville, Ont.

HONG KONG (AP)—A pro-Nationalist newspaper today said 30 Christian clergymen in the Communist China city of Sarawi were arrested Monday on charges of guiding a plane which dropped anti-Red leaflets over the city. The newspaper Wah Kiu Yat Po said the clergymen were tried and beaten, then released.

Union Boss Says Truckers 'Will Hold Out'

TORONTO (CP)—James Hoffa of Detroit, vice-president of the International Teamsters Union (AFL), said Tuesday the union is prepared to hold out as long as necessary to win its demands.

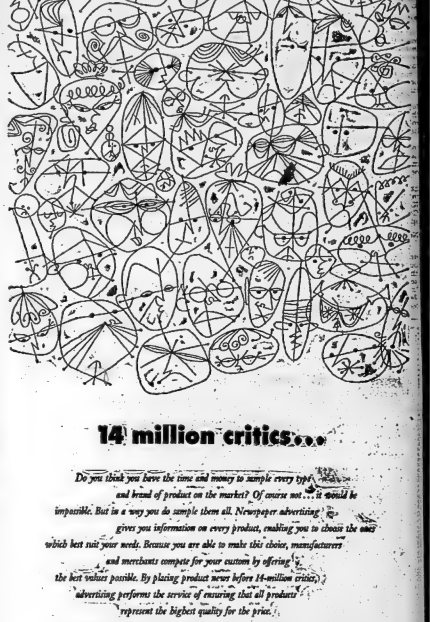
Mr. Hoffa outlined in a telephone interview from Detroit the terms on which the striking locals in Windsor and Hamilton would end their walkout against trucking operators in southwestern Ontario. The terms differ widely from the "final" offer of the operators.

Where the operators had offered seven cents retroactive to Jan. 1, 1953, the union proposals for city drivers are for 22 cents, of which 15 cents is retroactive to Jan. 1. The operators had offered an additional three cents on Oct. 1 and another three cents on Jan. 1, 1954 for a two-year agreement.

For highway drivers the union wants an increase equivalent to 20 cents an hour.

Meanwhile, a move by Neil MacDonald, ousted business agent of the Montreal local of the teamsters union, to form a new union among Quebec and Ontario transport drivers, was criticized by two Toronto union leaders.

The union officials are Thomas Lees, secretary-treasurer of the Toronto joint council of the teamsters, and A. F. MacArthur, who himself was summarily dismissed by the international organization as Eastern Canadian representative of the teamsters.



Mr. MacArthur said Mr. MacDonald's action appeared to be an effort to advance personal interests.

NO MORE POSTERS

The Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years

TCP, a Shell-discovered additive, now blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, raises power up to 15% by putting an end to sparkplug misfiring due to combustion deposits. Increases spark-plug life up to 150%*

A new day in fuel for the Canadian motorist is here—a day which, for the first time, allows him to get the full power built into his engine.

Prior to Shell's discovery of TCP, the natural by-products of fuel combustion accumulating on spark plugs and in combustion chambers caused spark plugs to misfire and the fuel mixture to pre-ignite—especially when accelerating, hill climbing or touring on the open highway.

To overcome this power-wasting, fuel-wasting condition—prevalent in the majority of cars—Shell Research discovered and developed a gasoline additive, TCP. Blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, TCP prevents deposits from causing misfiring of the spark plugs and; at the same time, controls pre-ignition. For the average motorist, this means a power boost of up to 15%, an increase in spark plug life of up to 150%, plus an increase in miles per gallon! These facts have been established by over a million miles of standard model road testing.

Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP is the most significant motor fuel advance since the introduction of tetraethyl lead in 1922.

New and old engines benefit

If you have a new car, particularly one with a high-compression engine, Shell Premium with TCP is essential if you want it to keep on delivering its original power for the normal life of spark plugs. But high-compression or not, Shell Premium with TCP keeps your engine working like new.

Owners of older cars also benefit. Even if your car has gone 30,000 miles or more, your engine can get back much of its original power by the use of Shell Premium with TCP.

Shell Premium with TCP acts fast

So rapidly does Shell Premium with TCP counteract the deposits on spark plugs and in combustion chambers, you'll feel your engine's had a tune up before you've finished the second tankful. You'll enjoy that new car pep again!

NOW IN CANADA

But only at your Shell Dealer's

TCP was originally developed by Shell Research for aviation fuels and until now has been largely restricted to military aircraft.

Today, Shell Premium with TCP is available in this area, but only from your Shell Dealer.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Canyon, Sports Editor

Point Anne's potent power will be announced shortly. The appearance of the Ace and his three cards in the final for any four-man softball team in the district, Oshawa reports have it, will their dazzling displays have captured the imagination of softball fans wherever they have played.

Primarily their triumph are based on the pitching magic of Holden, but the brilliant fielding skill of Fritz Cartwright and Pete Lee Shemane thirld baseman are having telling effect with the general public. "A" championship and the powerful Ox Yates aggregation, by the way, are expected to reach the "Consent Village" in the semi-final bracket for a thrilling series for the city league title. Both clubs have already played the round robin once or the other twice.

Win or lose, the series will not affect the playing potential of either team. While the city champions and the honor glory and cash prize that go with it are the big things to tell the grandchildren about in years to come, there is plenty rich to pay for both squads.

The Glens are "in" as far as city representation in the OASA tournament are concerned. Their 7-6 Pulsifer victory, reversal, here series with either the CNR Diesels or Peterboro Legion in the play-offs for eastern Ontario honors. All the latter have to do is win one game in the Bloomfield on Wednesday night and the Ox Pulsifers should stand them in good stead for the league-wide series. It matters not which team wins the league honors, the Glens have proved CNR Park here tomorrow night in the second game of the finals series.

Hard-Balled!

Herby (the Vole Checker) Hines and his Northern Electric mates have been the short-circuit of last night at the Alemite Field when they were hard-balled and pulled out a 16-7 last minute win over the Belleville team after leading by seven in the beginning. In the first and the seventh, the Electric Belleville birds were ready to roost, but they came through with a five run offensive in the seventh to tie the count and hold a triple-pointer in the ninth to win the game by the next. The teams go at it again Thursday night and the Belleville five must take this one-or-none.

Ace-in-the-Holden

Arrangements are now under way to select a team of softball all-stars which will meet the famous Ace Holden and his Rockets four-man softball team which plays at the CNR Park here on Saturday, August 8. We are looking forward to a great game. Bill Devine, Don Lee and President Cy Barriage of the Toledo Softball League will select the players to oppose the Ace, and the line-up thus

Both Teams Are in Position To Kill Tribe, Red Sox Hopes; Dodgers Retain 7-Game Lead

By Ben Pelegian
Associated Press Sports Writer

Could it be that New York and Chicago are going to settle down and make it a simple two-team race for the American League pennant?

Today and Thursday should tell the story. The Yankees have a chance to wipe out the first hope of fourth-place Cleveland. The White Sox are in a position to do the same for Boston.

Neither series is the kind on which you'd want to risk the farm. By jewels although both the Yankees and the White Sox looked good in winning Tuesday night. New York whipped Cleveland Indians 4-2. Chicago took the measure of Boston by the same count with Sam Mele banging home three runs for the Sox.

The Yankees hadn't looked like champions since they captured a doubleheader in Chicago a week ago Sunday and the White Sox previously had been out of their last nine games.

Second Place? Is widening now. New York leads Chicago by 5½ games and has an 8 1/2 game bulge over Boston and nine over Cleveland.

Blank Giants

Brooklyn maintained its seven-game lead over the Milwaukee Braves in National League by swamping Chicago 13-3. Two-run homers by Gil Hodges and Duke Snider, the latter's 26th, helped the Dodgers to their eighth straight victory. Third-place Philadelphia slipped nine games behind by losing 5-4 to Cincinnati, and St. Louis pulled into a fourth-place tie with the Giants with a 6-4 triumph over Pittsburgh.

In the other American League game Tuesday night Washington nipped Boston 8-5 and Philadelphia downed Detroit 5-4 on Mike Garcia's two-run homer in the eighth.

The largest New York crowd in seven years—37,485—turned out to watch the Yankees break their losing streak. Vic Raschi and Gil McDougald hit home runs and the other two Yankee tallies scored on a double by Irv Noren and a single by Phil Rizzuto in the sixth. Cleveland got its two in the seventh on a walk, a double by Al Rosen and a single by Luke Easter.

Boston Red Sox also drew their largest crowd — 35,395 — to watch them lose for the third time in 13 games. Mele's circuit clout against Hector (Skinny) Brown who had won 10 this year and seven in a row, Ted Williams' double and Sammy White's single accounted for all of the Chicago runs. Billy Hoeft was the loser.

The Cubs gave the game away to Brooklyn in Chicago as a pair of Dodger pitchers who rarely have earned runs in the second inning, Russ Meyer and Carl Erskine, went on four hits. Duke Snider, Gil Hodges and Carl Furillo hit home runs off Meyer. Dodgers. It was Hodges' 34th homer of the season and he also got a double and two singles, driving in three runs.

Al Worthington and Virgil Wilhelm held Milwaukee to three hits but the Braves didn't need any of Pittsburgh's four runs against the Giants. Three walks, two sacrifices and a long fly got the runs home. Bob Buhl, who scored one of the runs, won his ninth against six. He blanked Pittsburgh with a pair of singles.

Ray Jablonski drove in half of the Cardinals' runs against Philadelphia with a pair of singles.

Cincinnati scored its five runs in the first four innings against the Phillies and Harry Perkowski weathered a four-run uprising in the eighth to post his ninth victory against five. Perkowski drove in three runs on a double and a single.

Aussies Win Fed Event

SCARBOROUGH, England (AP) Australians Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, last year's Wimbledon doubles champions, won the international doubles final of the professional tennis tournament Tuesday. They defeated the British team of Fred Perry and Bill Moss 6-1, 6-2.

Bisons Defeat Fluttering Leafs To Retain Lead

By The Canadian Press

The rampaging Buffalo Bisons retained their lead in the International League Tuesday night, downing Toronto Maple Leafs 6-4 at Toronto.

In other games, the second-place Rochester Red Wings beat Syracuse Chiefs 6-3 to snap the Tribe's four-game winning streak, Baltimore Orioles defeated Springfield Cubs 4-2 and Montreal Royals shaded Ottawa Athletics 7-0.

At Toronto, smart base running by the Bisons proved fatal to the Leafs' sloppy fielding, gave the Buffalo team the edge. Earl Harris chalked up his fourth victory.

Jack Wallaesa gave the Bisons a 2-0 first-inning lead as he belted his 22nd homer of the year after Harvey Zernia was safe on an error.

At Rochester, outfielder Allie Clark belted a fifth-inning, three-run homer to spark the Red Wings' victory. George Crowe got credit for his seventh win, but needed nearly four innings of scoreless relief aid from Bob Hogue.

At Springfield, the Orioles saved the game with a three-run rally in the eighth. Two hits, an error and a base on balls in the eighth won the game for the Birds.

In the Canadian capital lefty Ed Roebuck pitched a masterful one hitter as the Royals exploded for a 7-0 win.

The Athletics could bunch no more than two hits in any one inning as Jackie Rocker fanned 10 batters in command. It was his ninth win against as many losses.

Point Anne Trims Glen Roy Juniors In 1st Game City Softball Finals

By Peter Uffen

Scoring four runs including two homers in the sixth inning, Point Anne defeated Glen Roy 4-1 in the first game of their best of five series for the City-District League championship at Ox Point last night. The second game is scheduled for the CNR Recreation field Thursday, July 30th, at 6.30.

Spotting the Juniors one run in the fifth, they went on to win it on two circuit blasts by Dougie Hall and Jack Elliott and a pair of free tickets.

Starting the rally for the Ox Pointers, Bob Strachan led off with a walk. Doug Hull struck to the plate and promptly blew the ball into deep left field for the first four bagger. Gilmour grounded out and Mallory popped out. Johnny Green came up and drew the second walk of the inning. When Jack Elliott came to the plate he put the game on ice with second homer, scoring Green.

Go All The Way

Both pitchers went all the way for the teams with Hunter teaming up with Green for the Ox Pointers' mound honor and Peter Green doing the work for the Glens. Hunter got the nod after he had not pass one ball. Radnor struck out one and walked two. Both pitchers gave up six hits.

The Glens threatened when Hal Batchelor had singled. Goyer hit the ball to Gilmour who picked up the ball and fired to Mallory at second. Mallory touched the bag and relayed the throw to first to get the second man.

In the fifth, Buchanan singled and Hunter came up to try his luck. He bunted and Radnor came from nowhere to catch the ball. Buchanan had started for second and before he could turn around and get back Radnor threw to Goyer at first to catch him flat-footed.

Barclay robbed Hull of a second hit when he ran a country mile to make a shoestring catch.

The defensive play was very much the only bar event being recorded, both to Point Anne.

Score by innings:	R	H	E

Point Anne	000 004 00—	4	6 2

Handsome Awards Will Mark Corbin Gold Trophy Tourney

By GEO. H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Handsome in the dull sheen of its golden beauty, the successor to the Corbin Gold Trophy, emblematic of the championship of the Ontario Lawn Bowling Men's Rinks, out-does its distinguished predecessor in symmetry of design and craftsmanship.

The first Corbin Trophy has been retired after ten years of representation of men's rinks supervising the tournaments sponsored by the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club.

The new trophy which will be awarded for the first time following the eleventh annual Men's Rinks Tournament being held here on Civic Holiday, August 3, has been donated by the Corbin Lock Company for annual competition.

Not that the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club needed any added incentive for bowlers from all parts of the province, some from Quebec and others from the United States to compete in their annual tourney. It was felt that the former trophy had outlived its usefulness, served its purpose and was ready for honorable retirement.

Second for prize purposes but as handsome and attractive in its own right as a competitive prize is the beautiful Lord Calvert Challenge Trophy donated by the Calvert Distillers, Calvert House, Toronto. It displays a "Victory Figure" on a gold pedestal flanked by two bowlers. The Lord Calvert Challenge Trophy is easily one of the most attractive baubles of its kind in sports competition, and is another evidence of the keen interest in wholesome recreation taken by the Distilling Company.

Third prize is the new Belleville Trophy donated by the Association of Belleville Hotel Proprietors which is being offered for competition for the first time this season. Fourth prize is the beautiful Pellar Trophy donated by the Pellar Brewing Company, an organization whose efforts to promote and further sport in Ontario is well-known.

Twelve other handsome prizes and a "special" round out the trophy list, all of which are on display and can be seen in the windows of the Belleville Public Utilities Office, Front Street.

Incidentally in addition to the four main prizes mentioned, sets of four prizes will be donated to members of the winning rinks.

General Chairman of the tournament H. Cliff Argue said today that practically all arrangements for the 11th Annual Tournament are completed. Sixty-four rinks totalling 264 players will be here on Civic Holiday to vie for the championship and the valuable "pots o' gold" at the end of the tournament rainbow. It is expected that the tourney will attract some 600 people to the city on that day.

Last year the weatherman spoiled the day's activities when a deluging rain prevented play. Chairman Argue and his committeemen are keeping their fingers crossed and hoping that perfect bowling weather will greet the visiting keglers and their ladies.

That the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club and its officials enjoy a well-deserved popularity among bowlers and their association is evidenced in the fact that year after year the entry list of 64 rinks necessary for the Corbin Gold Trophy Tournament is filled weeks before the closing date, and usually a long waiting list is on hand.

The Belleville club is noted province-wide for its hospitality and organization ability in conducting tournaments and its efforts are well paid in the response of out-of-town bowling clubs as evidenced in their entries in the annual tournament.

Chairman Argue today paid tribute to the many firms and businesses of the city which co-operated so fully with his club in promoting the tournament through their generosity in donating prizes and awards.

Players Price War Should Stop Says Grid Boss

VANCOUVER (CP)—John Payne executive vice-president of Wimpey Homes here, thinks U.S. and Canadian pro football may be pricing itself out of business.

Payne, here on a visit, said that a "price war" for players between the two leagues must be halted by a working agreement before the leagues spend themselves out of existence.

He said the Bombers, of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, have no financial worries. So far, the team has sold 12,300 season tickets for its new 35,000-seat stadium.

"To operate a team in pro football the management should figure on a $1200,000 budget," Payne said. Payne nominated Annis Stukas, of Vancouver Lions, who'll play in the WIFU in 1954, and Frank Clair of Toronto Argos as the best football coaches in Canada.

"Stukas can get more out of Canadian players than any man in the game. Clair, on the other hand, would be tops in the technical end of the game."

Toronto to Construct Huge Stadium Bait for Olympics, Major Baseball

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian National Exhibition Stadium, a sports white elephant since it was built a few years ago, may be used as bait to lure the summer Olympic Games and major league baseball into the city. Plans are under way to make it the biggest sports arena in the country.

The seating for a permanent 60,000-seat $2,000,000 stadium—still in the blueprint stage—was disclosed Tuesday by Allan Lamport, the city's sports-minded mayor. He, and a few business men and sports officials, have hopes that in the near future Toronto will be host to the world's Olympic athletes and will also get a major-league baseball franchise.

The stadium, on the shores of Lake Ontario, would be completed in time for the 1954 football season in late August and the cost would be shared by the city, CNE and the Toronto harbor commission. Now seating, beyond the present 24,000-capacity, would be constructed with steep-pitched, uncovered cement stands.

In his announcement, the mayor said the scheme calls for the razing of Maple Leaf Stadium, home of the city's International League entry, and the Leafs moving over to the new layout. He figured also the new bowl should "clinch" the Grey Cup as an annual fixture for this city.

But a tremendous face-lifting would have to be accomplished to make the stadium suitable for any sport. The field—now east-west—would have to be made north-south to accommodate baseball and the present 24,000-capacity grandstand would have to be moved.

The stadium now is used for flock car racing and track and field events.

The announcement caught sports officials by surprise.

Jack Kent Cooke, owner of the Leaf ball club, declined to comment on the proposal to tear down the site of his team's home games and move to the new bowl. He has been working for a major-league franchise for months but declined to say whether he had made a bid.

Harry Maclaren, secretary of the Canadian Rugby Union, also had no comment to make on the idea that the new bowl would make Toronto a sure thing for the annual Grey Cup game. "That is up to the CRU," he said.

Hockey Referee 'Boots 'Em Home'

TORONTO (CP)—Jack Mehlbacher, the National Hockey League referee who currently is leading the drivers at Thorncliffe Raceway, predicts a track record for his trotter, Vandusen, in today's $1,500 preview of the $4,000 Maple Leaf Trot, top event for trotters in the 34-day meeting.

Vandusen, a black gelding who has been waging a tight run with a bay mare, Dolly Todd, for trotting honors through the first 30 days, came with 3-5 of a second of equalling the 2.06 3-5 mile trotting record held by M. C. Rose, by hooing out Dolly Todd last Saturday.

Vandusen and Dolly Todd have divided eight features this season, each winning four.

Petes Share Lacrosse Lead

MIMICO (CP) — Peterborough Trailermen moved into a first-place tie with St. Catharines Tuesday night with a 23-16 Ontario Lacrosse Association Senior League victory over Mimico Mountaineers.

Russ Slater scored eight times for the winners and Ross Fowlesz tallied four. Pete Bradkin notched six for the Mountaineers.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Marine Corps Tuesday ordered Ted Williams back to Fenway Park, and baseball's most celebrated citizen set out for Boston to resume his twice-interrupted career.

"I'm anxious to get back in the line," Williams told a press conference. "I can already hear those guys with the bazoos in left field—and that's going to be music."

The 34-year-old Boston Red Sox outfielder looked in fine physical condition as he received his release.

The former Capt. Williams said he will confer with Joe Cronin, general manager of the Red Sox. "After all," he said, "I don't even know if they want me or not."

Panthers Drub St. Thomas 17-13; Terriers Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The fight for leadership in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League remained jumbled today after two of the top teams traded places in the run for the pennant. However, it was those same Brantford Red Sox who backed into first place Monday night that held on to top spot by standing idly by.

Kitchener Panthers drubbed the cellar-dwelling St. Thomas Elgins 17-13 Tuesday night to vacate second place for Waterloo Tigers who dropped a 5-3 decision to Guelph Maple Leafs, sliding out of a tie for first at the same time.

At the sunset imez, Galt Terriers handed London Majors a 3-1 defeat, a win which cut the margin between the two teams to two games as the club fights for the fourth and final playoff spot, held by the Majors.

Jeep Jeanup hurled four-hit ball for Galt as Johnny Bustian supplied the power at the plate with three-for-four and hammered home the Terriers' initial pair of runs. The final Galt tally came off Andy Turowski's homer.

Guelph spotted Waterloo a 3-0 second-inning lead, but righthander Leo Fauth grew meaner as the game progressed and scattered eight hits for the victory. Fauth took the lead in the sixth on George D'Addario's two-run double and George Carruth's single.

Big Alex Kvasnak was the hero for Kitchener as he belted big one up in St. Thomas, driving in five runs with a homer and two doubles in five trips to the plate.

Mel Duncan got credit for the win, his ninth of the season, but he needed help from Dick Welker. Panther manager Don Gallinger kept alternating the two between right field and the pitcher's mound from the sixth on.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Confidence in your bridge game helps you do more things right. It makes you take stock of all possibilities. It gives you courage to attempt acts that the fearful might overlook or avoid.

South was declarer at seven hearts in this deal:

♣6 5 4 2

Declarer was surprised to find himself in a grand slam when all he did was make one response in hearts. He was shoved into it by his north partner after west had tried to ameliorate slifts on diamonds.

Opening lead from west was spade king. When dummy hand is down the prospects do not look so good. Besides the clubs to worry about there are a couple of south spades to nurse into safety.

The general expectancy is to find trumps divided three-two and diamonds four-two. If so, south can get three slifts on dummy's diamonds, the king and two on the long diamonds after trumps are out.

These are not enough. Even if the clubs finesse works, another south loser must be saved. So, the most expected plan of operation is to ruff a spade before all north trumps are out of the way.

Dummy took the first trick with spade ace and cashed two top trumps. South got in with his diamond king and dummy ruffed a spade. South ruffed a diamond and cashed heart queen, shifting a dummy club.

This left dummy with the ace and queen of clubs, the king and three diamonds. East kept two diamonds and four clubs. South still had a trump, a spade, and his original four small clubs.

A club lead from south immediately exposed the west king as no longer a menace. Dummy won this with the ace and returned a small diamond that south ruffed with his last trump.

The contract was now known to be sewed up. A club to the queen entered dummy. Diamond king picked up the east queen. On the last two dummy diamonds south cast his last clubs. Cool, calm, collected.

United States industrial output rose 95 per cent between 1937-1951 while that of the rest of the world rose 62 per cent.

The scene is from "Battle Circus", M.G.M.'s stirring love story taking place behind the front lines in Korea, continuing today and Thursday at the Belle Theatre. This Guy Walls Not So Dumb

EDMONTON (CP)—The Edmonton Journal said Tuesday in a dispatch from sports editor Hap Pawson at Salt Lake City that the rematch between Canadian heavyweight champion Earl Walls of Edmonton and Rex Layne will be postponed.

Walls was married at Windsor, Ont., July 24. Both he and his bride had refused to postpone the date to allow Walls to rest before Layne in Salt Lake City Aug. 17 as scheduled, Pawson said.

Walls flattened Layne in 63 seconds of the first round in their fight here July 3.

JONES MAULS DUNN

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Harold (Baby Face) Jones, Detroit lightweight, mauled his way to a 15-round decision over George Dunn of Hartford and Edmonton Tuesday night at Bulkeley Stadium. Dunn weighed 135¼ and Jones 138½. Referee Max Muravnick gave Dunn only one round, the third, tabbed six for Jones and called three even.

ABANDONS CHARTER

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian Airways Ltd., of Montreal, which once operated the largest air service in Canada but applied for leave to surrender its charter, it was announced Friday in the Canada Gazette. The company, whose assets were bought in 194 by Canadian Pacific Airlines, is expected to pass out of existence.

The charter would have given it the right to operate between Winnipeg and Moncton, who died in 1939. A pioneer in Canadian aviation development, he held interests in a wide variety of companies and was at one time Chancellor of Queen's University, Kingston.

Scarlet fever may attack individuals of all ages, but it is generally confined to children between two and 15.

Cayuga Saved From Scrap-Yard

TORONTO (CP) — The cruise ship Cayuga, last of Canada Steamship Lines' Great Lakes passenger vessels, was saved from the scrapyard Tuesday when the announcement she had been bought from the CSL by the Cayuga Steamships Company Ltd.

Another $25,000 will have to be raised to complete the $100,000 purchase price and still another $40,000 for working capital, the company estimated. However, plans call for the vessel to be back on its old Toronto-Queenston run by 1954.

Peak post-war production year for Canadian refrigerators was 1948, when 54,943 were manufactured.

Handing Out Food Round-the-Clock To East Germans

200,000 Were Given Parcels In West Berlin Wednesday

BY DAN DE LUCE

BERLIN (AP)—The West hurriedly boosted its gigantic food relief program to a round-the-clock operation today in the stampede of hungry East Germans to collect mercy parcels hit record proportions.

Defying communist police terror and threats of reprisals, a procession of needy coming through the Iron Curtain became a day and night flood.

Wednesday night for the first time, food relief stations worked all through the night and still could not handle the crowds.

Some 200,000 parcels were distributed Wednesday to top the previous day's mark by 23 per cent.

Authorities estimated the distribution today will hit 250,000. This will mean more than 700,000 Easterners receiving food since the Russians Monday morning.

Double Relief Centres

To cope with the throngs, West Berlin established double the number of relief stations. This raised the total to 68, counting the number with which the program started.

The food is taken from West Berlin's anti-blockade reserves. It is being replaced by a $15,000,000 U.S. gift shipment ordered by President Eisenhower's orders to give relief to the needy despite Moscow's refusal.

A baby airlift is helping deliver the food. Supplies arrive from the port of Hamburg.

The distribution procedure was changed to give priority to residents of the Russian occupation zone outside Berlin. Many of them travelled hundreds of miles. East Germans, once they get here come across town, had to wait.

Furnace Book Aid

In some homes which stood all night were farmers who said they couldn't feed themselves in the Russian zone because of high quota demands of the communists, crop collectors.

The farmers and many workers jeered at the communist scare stories and defied the police to try to take away their gifts. Wednesday the Red police arranged scores of East Germans and took away the bulky cards of many who had at least received and picked up were later released.

Senate Refuses To Slash Amount Of Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Senate in early today voted $4,745,-218,882 in foreign aid funds to climax a 15½-hour, ordeal-packed session in which all efforts to slash the total were rejected. But the bill faced a new fight with the House of Representatives.

The Senate requirements must work out a compromise settlement with those of the House, which voted $5 more than $1,600,000,000 from President Eisenhower's request for cash funds to help the free world combat communism.

A House-Senate conference committee will be named today to seek a compromise.

It Was Marked

By a thumping 69-19 margin, after beating off six attempts to cut it down, the Senate stamped approval on a big money bill containing more than 200,000 more than voted by the House.

On final Senate passage, 37 Democrats outnumbered 31 Republicans who shouted approval along with Independent Wayne Morse of Oregon.

Opposition was a lone Democrat, Olin Johnston (S.C.) and nine Republicans.

While $500,000,000 more than voted by the House the $4,745,218,-882 total was $1,600,000,000 less than requested by Eisenhower and some $2,000,000,000 below what former President Truman asked last January.

CF-100 Crashes Near North Bay; Pilot Is Safe

NORTH BAY (CP)—An RCAF CF-100 plane crashed today at Restoule Lake, about 25 miles southwest of North Bay. The pilot identified pilot parachuted to safety.

A ground party of provincial police and RCAF personnel was proceeding to the scene of the crash. Officials said the pilot apparently had engine trouble and was trying to make it back to the RCAF station here when the plane crashed.

EVANGELISTS IN BLUE

BRISTOL, Eng. (CP)—Twelve members of Bristol police force are asking colleagues to join their "flying squad" of evangelists. The policemen are "taking the gospel to the people" in their spare time on the assumption that lack of Christianity is the root cause of crime.

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: A high pressure area is over the Great Lakes today resulting in pleasant, warm, sunny weather in all of the provinces. A weak disturbance in Iowa this morning is rapidly moving eastward and is expected to bring local showers or thunderstorms to southwestern Ontario Friday. Warm and humid weather is forecast for northern and central regions Friday.

BRITAIN WANTS RED CHINA IN UN WHEN TIME RIGHT

Marquis of Salisbury Says Time Is Not Yet

LONDON (AP)—The Marquess of Salisbury, acting foreign secretary, said today Britain believes Communist China should receive United Nations membership "when the time is right."

He added that it would be "improper and impossible" for him to say now, three days after the armistice in Korea, that the time had arrived.

Lord Salisbury made the statement in the House of Lords, in answer to questions.

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles said Tuesday that the United States will not buy Korean unity at the price of Red China's membership in the UN. He added that the U.S. has the right to veto any move to seat the Chinese communists.

"I think the U.S. government is quite entitled to take any position they like but the purpose of foreign policy, diplomacy and negotiation between countries is to ease off things instead of to try and get into the policy that one wants."

Will Not Freeze

He indicated that Britain would try to persuade its allies to follow the same policy but added it would not freeze itself to the predicted actions by the U. S. government.

Labor peer Lord Silkin asked about Dulles' statement that the United States reserved the right to "unleash neutralized" if the Korean peace conference failed to reach agreement within 90 days.

The acting foreign secretary replied:

Violence Flares In Strike at Niagara Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Violence flared here Wednesday in the strike of 750 employees of the North American Cyanamid Company when a small car tried to run the picket line from the inside.

The 300 pickets, marching in pouring rain, stopped the vehicle and hurled rocks almost burning it over. Picket captains kept the strikers from upsetting the auto while the driver, who said he was on duty since the plant closed at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday night, drove off.

The driver, unidentified by police or employees, escaped uninjured.

The plant came under a night following a seven-day cooling off period before further negotiations proceedings between the company and officials of the United Electrical Workers Union (Ind.). It affected some 750 of 1,100 persons employed at the chemical plant.

Company officials said a majority of the employees wanted the plant would cost the company four cents an hour. The firm agreed to all terms of the recommendations except union security, but the union has not given a settlement in keeping with Egyptian sovereignty.

Naguib Willing To Talk of Suez With Churchill

CAIRO, Egypt (Reuters)—President Mohamed Naguib said early today he is willing to talk over with Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill to discuss the Anglo-Egyptian dispute over the Suez Canal zone.

He told reporters: "It does not matter where the meeting is held—in London or elsewhere—provided we reach a settlement in keeping with Egyptian sovereignty."

Bush Fire Fighters Find Water Gets Best Results in Controlling Flames

TORONTO (CP) — Fighters of bush fires, after trying scores of different chemicals to control the flames, have reverted to the old stuff. They've come back to water.

A heavy rain is still the best antidote, and Ontario fire officers of the Ontario department of lands and forests have found they can slow down the progress of blazes in tinder-dry areas by pouring on the water themselves.

They don't do it by cloud-seeding with dry ice or silver iodide crystals into moisture-laden atmosphere to induce rain in the manner experimented with during recent years. This method, they claim, is unpredictable and not certain.

Instead this year they're sending planes loaded with specially-made paper containers into the bush to land on lakes or rivers near the scene of the blaze.

The plane unloads firefighters who will head across country to the fire with extinguishers. Then the aircraft's crew fill the paper containers with water, load them on board and fly over the fire area.

The containers, each with a load of 3½ gallons of water, are dumped in the path of the flames. The bags break open on the fire's trees or brush, spilling the water on the ground and soaking the already-burned sections.

This is perhaps the department's most spectacular method of fighting forest fires. Pumps and miles of hose are also flown and moved by tractor into lakes to spray water on nearby outbreaks.

Officials say the department now is in a position to transfer men and equipment by air anywhere in the province to meet forest fire threats anywhere.

U.S. Nears Production Stage Of Hydrogen Bomb Materials

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States announced today it is approaching "mass production" of materials for hydrogen bombs, and said that in the first half of 1953 development of atomic weapons has "substantially advanced."

It said more fissionable material, the stuff which produces the explosive power of bombs, was produced than in any previous half-year.

The government announced also that it is working toward development of a super-speed atomic-powered submarine even before tests have been run on two A-subs now nearing completion and which already are faster than ordinary underseas craft.

Good Progress Made

The atomic energy commission, which runs the U.S. atomic program, said in its 7th semi-annual report to Congress that last spring's weapons tests in Nevada disclosed such vigorous explosions that it will not be necessary to hold full-scale tests before the full, original-ally planned.

Those tests, the commission said, indicated "several very profitable avenues to new and improved weapons" and "have given us the opportunity of substantially greater destructive weapons capability for the United States."

The AEC also told Congress that:

1. Both Soviet Russia and Britain's production and exploration for uranium are on the increase, and are up during the first six months of 1953.

2. Production of fissionable materials for bombs and other uses is "considerably exceeded" that of any previous period—and at the lowest costs in AEC's history "despite increases in wages and material prices."

3. New facilities entered the production stream. These included a new plant at Fernald, Ohio for processing uranium ores; portions of new plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky., for separating bomb-useful uranium from natural uranium, and new engineering facilities for the plant at Savannah River, S.C., where materials for either A-bombs or H-bombs may be made.

4. The AEC is investigating new methods of uranium exploration, among them the examination of growing plants which might pick up traces of the ore's presence of the metal. It is also investigating the possibilities of low - grade sources of uranium, including phosphates and shales.

Two Atomic Pirates

The report said construction of a plant in the field of military application of atomic energy will be completed this summer at Idaho Falls, near Arco, Idaho. Portions of this plant already are in operation.

The commission said one of the two atomic power plants being developed by private industry has already generated "substantial amounts of power" in tests.

"Design work . . . is under way or developing an advanced turbine power plant for a submarine of significantly higher speed than that now powering the nuclear submarine," the commission said. Unofficial estimates have been that the new nuclear submarine might attain a speed of 30 knots.

Taxes, Trade, Health, Labor Topics of Election Speeches

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

Electors got another earful Wednesday from Canada's political leaders on taxes, trade and health, plus a new card on labor.

Both Prime Minister St. Laurent and George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, are charging about Canada's unemployed for the basketful of $5 seats, CCF leader M. J. Coldwell campaigns British Columbia and also made a recorded free-time political broadcast from Montreal network.

At St. Catharines, Mr. St. Laurent said the Liberals have made positive promise of reduced taxes and increased social benefits is an "insult to the intelligence of the Canadian people."

He added that the Conservative party is living in the 19th century. Political promises of that kind might have been believed then. The Conservatives are indeed a "museum piece of a political party."

The prime minister said the Progressive Conservatives had promised to reduce taxes by $500,000,000 in the next year, but they could not take programs which would cost about $500,000,000 a year unless programs were to be carried out.

a Progressive Conservative government, instead of Mr. St. Laurent, might have to increase income tax exemptions by $1,000, custom taxes 15 per cent and the sales tax five per cent.

United Income

"It is an insult to the intelligence of the Canadian people to promise reductions in taxes unless programs are completely negated by other promises which, if carried out, would mean an amount two or three times the amount of the proposed tax relief."

The St. Catharines speech concluded 60 minutes of broadcasting by the prime minister Wednesday through seven southwestern Ontario constituency broadcasting seven more centres, including Brantford.

At Simcoe, Mr. Drew told an audience of about 500 that a government formed by him would tell the United States it must abide by international trade agreements to which Canada wouldn't. As at Hamilton the previous night, Mr. Drew said U.S. trade barriers against Canadian goods, mainly farm products, are "unbelievable."

Earlier, at Brantford, Mr. Drew said that if his party is elected, his first step after taking office would be to go to Britain to try "to establish reasonable rates of sterling markets—an "urgent necessity." The Liberal government has had its chance, he declared, but steps to repair Canada's Commonwealth trade have been "firmly and firmly refused to do so.

Dealing with the Liberal argument that he couldn't cut taxes, Mr. Drew said: "A child of 10 who couldn't work out the arithmetic on that would not be allowed to pass an examination. We can do it by stopping waste, extravagance and inefficiency."

At another point, he said the arrest of five RCAF personnel at Lachine, Que., in a payroll swindle showed a "continuing breakdown" in administration of the defence department.

"When they can get fictitious wing commanders and air cojunctions does on parade, you know things really are loose. They have gone from heroes to air commodores."

Will Not Cut Arms

Mr. Drew at Simcoe branded as "political nonsense" Liberal contentions that the Progressive Conservatives would reduce defence. "We have been urging the improvement of defence through greater efficiency, greater economy and inefficiency," he said.

Mr. Coldwell is touring Courtland, Woodstock and Sarnia today.

At Kimberley, Mr. Coldwell said the CCF government would introduce a national labor code establishing 40-hour week as the norm and minimum wages. This code would also lay down a minimum age for employment and provide for paid holidays and for equal pay for equal work for equal work.

The CCF leader said the Liberal government had failed to provide an effective national labor code. The Industrial Relations Disputes and Disputes Investigation Act was "inadequate" and the federal jurisdiction did not embrace country-wide concerns such as the packing-house industry and steel. In an emergency, the federal government should "get together" with provincial governments, being unable to act together uniformly, where necessary.

CCF labor legislation would include a government board to report industries under Parliamentary jurisdiction. Conciliation procedure would be streamlined and company unions outlawed.

Health Measures

In his radio broadcast, Mr. Coldwell said there is "no legitimate reason" why agreements for $600-a-day treatment for cancer victims, and $500-a-day for polio victims, cannot be made.

Health Minister Martin had estimated cost of such a plan at $600,000,000 a year. That was less than the $673,000,000 spent for health by individuals and both federal and provincial governments.

Mr. Coldwell's national health insurance program would not be a new cost to the nation at all. Rather, it would be a "redistribution" of present expenditures for health services, "spreading them co-operatively, together instead of individually, the expense of health services."

Mr. Coldwell speaks today at Sarnia.

At High River, Alta., Trade Minister Howe renewed attacks on the 1930s. Liberal government "has surmounted every phase of trouble and depression, from unemployment and rehabilitation and now further defence problems."

SPOON UNCLAIMED

UNBEATEN ARMIES GIVE UP GROUND BOUGHT IN BLOOD

Allied and Communist Soldiers Quit Front

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SEOUL (AP)—Two undefeated armies Allied and Red — walked away from the Korean front today, leaving in silence a narrow strip across Korea that only days ago roared in war.

Under armistice terms all troops had to be out of the 2½-mile-wide belt by 10 p. m. tonight (9 a. m. EDT). United Nations command said most of the Allied front was evacuated seven hours before the deadline.

Allied soldiers started leaving their battle line shortly after the truce was signed Monday morning. The guns fell silent Monday night.

Quit Famous Hills

Columns of soldiers walked down from hills they had fought and bled—from battlegrounds halfway between the present and history: Pork Chop Hill and the White Horse mountain . . . Old Baldy . . . Bunker Hill . . . Bunker Hill . . . The Hook . . . and the outposts—Vegas, Harry, Berlin and East Berlin . . .

Going to the hills they crept through waving Red grass as they walk. When they came down they walked upright, with no shells to fear.

South Korean troops pulled back in an orderly withdrawal from the two-thirds of the front they held.

Destroy Fortifications

Almost all fortifications were destroyed. Bunkers were filled in and trenches filled. Timbers were salvaged where possible.

Across no-man's-land, front line officers reported the Chinese and North Koreans were systematically razing pack mules to get their equipment out.

At the southern edge of the demilitarized zone, Allied soldiers struck tents and set up new roadblocks to prevent anyone from entering. The area will be policed by members of the military armistice commission at Panmunjom. Allied officers said they would keep all along the border saying, "south of here you're getting into the Reds' area." The signs are in English and Korean.

Chinese Leave Wine

The Chinese brought little packages containing wine and handkerchiefs, but left their rice bowls. The Reds left four pounds of their precious rice.

Panmunjom, far to the north, UN forces were leaving islands off coasts of Korea.

Says Reds Begin Production Of Atom Bombers

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — A trade publication, American Aviation, said today that the Soviet Union is beginning to mass-produce jet bombers that can carry the A-bomb.

The TUG-75, which is capable of carrying the A-bomb, will be the important targets in the United States.

It said the Soviet strategic air command's initial plan is to build 400 of these six-engined bombers, and added they have a speed of more than 500 mph and can fly for 8,500 miles without refueling.

After Ten Months on Ferry Boat Man Without Country Gets Ashore

HONG KONG (AP) — Michael Patrick O'Brien finally made it ashore today.

After 10 months and 12 days, the 37-year-old Irishman without a country today left the six-foot brig of the Portuguese Macao-Hong Kong ferry that has been his travelled at least 12,500 miles, the equivalent of more than half-way around the world, sailing between the two ports.

But the ex-bartender and marine engineer has been ashore before, yet Police took him in custody and refused to reveal their plans for O'Brien.

His friends said they were trying to get him cleared for an unmanned South American country where his Russian wife and child are reported to have gone from Shanghai.

As yet there has been no explanation as to how O'Brien finally left the ferry.

He was boarded the Lee Hong in Macao Sept. 18, 1952, after leaving Canton and Hong Kong, 40 miles away, authorities refused to accept him. He had no travel papers and would not let him debark. Macao also said he was unwanted.

Ever since, the ferry boat O'Brien says he's an American. He claims he has been set adrift and refused to permit him to get a passport when he went to China 25 years ago.

The U.S. state department denies he's a citizen. And the U.S. justice department has said he was deported by the United States as a result of assault, robbery and burglary convictions. The justice department said his true name is Steve Ragan.

Several Ragans in the U.S. have said that brother had nothing came of their actions.

Say Red Planes Move into Korea From Manchuria

Armistice Commission's Meet Goes Quite Smoothly

BY SAM SUMMERLIN

MUNSAN (AP) — Allied radar tracked large numbers of Communist warplanes southward from Manchuria to North Korean bases after the cease-fire ended Monday night, it was reported today as Reds complained of two more United Nations truce violations.

U.S. Air Force officers said the Red planes, presumably MiG jets, were spotted by a big Allied radar station on Cheju island, one of two island Communist lines off North Korea. The story was delayed for 24 hours by censors.

An officer said the Communist planes began taking off at dawn apparently from Manchurian bases safe from Allied attack, and were still landing at North Korean fields after the 10 p.m. deadline when all guns and armaments shipments into Korea were to have stopped.

Allied planes have bombed North Korean air bases continually, but an air force officer said "apparently we didn't leave the fields non-operational."

Meeting in the joint military armistice commission picked Saturday as the tentative date for the first full-dress meeting of Swedish, Swiss, Polish and Czech officers with Allied and Red chiefs of men and arms into and out of Korea.

Red Cross workers from six nations convened at Panmunjom to help the five-man United Nations team on the joint military armistice commission Wednesday and Thursday. The Chinese, who invited Allied soldiers to cross the line Tuesday, changed their tactics today and sent leaflets warning that soldiers venturing into their territory will be shot.

The war.

UN officials said all will be in readiness when the exchange of prisoners begins. Red Cross workers will visit prisoner stockades in both North and South Korea to help register the lists sent to Panmunjom.

The first 2,400 of some 74,000 prisoners held by the UN landed at Inchon from three ships Thursday. They boarded a train for the Munsan area where they will be held.

UN officials said they were in readiness when the exchange of prisoners began. Red Cross workers will visit prisoner stockades in both North and South Korea to help register the lists sent to Panmunjom.

Under terms of the armistice, no additional weapons or armaments could be brought into the cease-fire went into effect Monday night, aside from replacements. But air force officers said the flights continued after the deadline.

Fly to Bases

The officers said the planes presumably were MiG jets flying to bases in North Korea from Manchuria. There they have been assembled and prepared for combat, the officers said. Allied aerial attacking during

Loses Argument On Right to Stop Autos on Road

DIANO MARINA, Italy (Reuters)—Pietro Terrizano, 39-year-old painter, used to flag down trains and automobiles because his motto was: "Since man created machines, he's got a right to stop them."

For years, Pietro used to stand on the tracks or in the middle of the road in the pose of a people's tribune, raise his arm in the Roman salute and shout "ave" hail to oncoming trains and cars. Then he would explain his philosophy as they braked to a halt.

Tuesday night he tried to do it once too many. But a approaching car on the highway did not stop in time. Pietro died in hospital here soon afterward.

Offence to Cross To Chinese Lines Canadians Told

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP)—Brig. Jean Allard, commander of Canada's 25th infantry brigade, warned today that it is an offence to cross the no man's land to the Chinese lines and say Canadians caught doing so will be court-martialled.

Many instances were reported Tuesday of members of Communist units crossing the line, and none involving Canadians have been reported.

The Chinese, who invited Allied soldiers to cross on Tuesday, changed their tactics today and sent leaflets warning that soldiers venturing into their territory will be shot.

There were no incidents, but some of the Canadians had new insignia on their new uniforms, apparently in an attempt to make it appear they had been in action. Most North Korean prisoners appeared neat and clean.

Mrs. Saimi Pelola, 19, of Lapoe, Ont., was in the attic of Sam Pelola's abandoned farm home when lightning struck the chimney. She ran downstairs into the attic and her clothes set on fire.

Provincial police said Mrs. Pelola had returned to the house to look for baby clothes that had been packed away before her mother moved.

Shinwell Asks For Reductions In Arms Spending

LONDON (Reuters) — Emanuel Shinwell, former Labor defence minister, Wednesday called for cuts in Britain's defence spending.

He said it is "quite obvious" that international tension has been relaxed, even apart from the Korean truce, and claimed that the situation does not warrant the current high defence expenditure.

Opening a House of Commons debate on defence, Shinwell said Britain's £1,600,000,000-a-year defence program is straining her resources of money and manpower and weakening her capacity to produce civilian goods.

In reply, Conservative Harry Crookshank, leader of the House, said the government does not intend to "fall into the error of relaxing too soon.

3,500 Canadians Trained in Battle In Korean Waters

OTTAWA (CP)—More than 3,500 officers and men of the Royal Canadian Navy gained battle experience in Korean waters when eight destroyers Canada placed on duty at various times in the Far East and one, the navy said Wednesday.

Now all the three destroyers now in the Far East are on standby duty following the signing of the armistice. The other vessel, the Huron, is being repaired in a Japanese yard after a fire raising aground on July 12.

The navy said today said the vessels are still under United Nations orders "and will continue on duty until the war zone no longer remains." The future activities of the ships "rests on the outcome of the political conference called for in the armistice terms."

The navy said Canadian destroyers today rounded out a full three years of duty in the Korean theatre as members of the United Nations naval forces. The eight re-called so that their crews were usually three on duty.

More than 900 officers and men remain on duty as members of the ships' companies of the destroyers Iroquois, Athabaskan and Huron. The Athabaskan was among the three original destroyers which sailed from Canada July 1, 1950, 10 days after the outbreak of the Korean war.

The destroyers which served in Korean waters received some notable records," they navy said, the most spectacular being their success as "train-busters." They destroyed 9½ Communist trains.

The destroyers covered landings and withdrawals, bombarded Communist shore positions and troops, screened aircraft carriers, "destroyed enemy junks" and aided and protected UN-held North Korean islands. Their duties often took them into hazardous, poorly-charted waters within range of enemy shore batteries.

Official Voices Belief Churchill Nearing End of Political Career

LONDON (AP) — A high government leader said today that Prime Minister Churchill is nearing the end of his political career.

Churchill, 78, became exhausted from the burden of his duties a month ago and has been resting since under doctors' orders.

The same informant strongly hinted that Sir Winston Eden, now recuperating from three operations, will fill some post other than that of foreign secretary when he returns to duty this fall.

Almost none, the source said.

"The government has a lot of work it wants to get finished," he explained.

be "in a very important post."

The immediate guess was that Eden will deputy prime minister, will relieve Churchill of some of the details of the latter's duties, that someone else will be named foreign secretary.

According to the informant, there is a cabinet reshuffle in the wind with the government grounded on a few younger Conservatives in the House of Commons.

What are the prospects of a general election this fall?

"The government has a lot of work it wants to get finished," he added.

Year Sentences For Car Theft

One year sentences in the common jail were handed out by Magistrate T. Y. Wills in county magistrate's court to Celles Lalonde, 18, and Raymond Parker, 19, both of Montreal, who pleaded guilty last week to theft of an auto stolen by D. Vivian of Shannonville.

The youths took the car and during a chase by police turned it over on a turn near Odessa causing about $1,200 damage.

"These two youths took a car and damaged it to the extent of about $1,200 and they needed a sharp jolt to give them respect for other people's property," Magistrate T. Y. Wills observed as he pronounced sentence.

CHARGED WITH THEFT

Two members of the RCAF at Trenton were arrested by city police last night charged with theft of gasoline from a truck parked on the Bridge service station at the corner of Coleman and Moira streets. Police spotted the men near the truck and arrested them after a short chase. The two men, Donald H. Bunton and James Button, were remanded for court appearance Friday.

WINDOW BROKEN DURING SCUFFLE

A large plate glass window at the Queen's Hotel was broken last night during a scuffle between two men which sent one man to hospital for treatment for a cut on the arm. Police said that William Calhoun and Chris Zantos had gotten into a scuffle with result that Zantos was knocked through the window. Zantos went to hospital where he was treated by a nurse for a gash in his arm.

Will Not Allow Firm To Prosecute Union

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario labor relations board Wednesday declined to give permission to the Savage Shoe Company at Preston to prosecute the United Packinghouse Workers (CIO-CCL) for engaging in an illegal strike although it found the union had violated labor legislation in calling the strike.

Employees of two of the company's three plants now are in their ninth week of strike for a wage increase and union security.

In the unanimous judgment, signed by chairman J. Finkelman, the board found that the company had carried on negotiations with the union on behalf of employees of one plant, with the understanding that an agreement, if reached, would also apply to the other plant.

Air-to-Air Firing Range Established

TRENTON (CP)—A new air-to-air firing range has been established by the RCAF on Lake Ontario near here.

The range is 50 miles long and 18 miles wide, extending from Gold Point, five miles east of Oshawa, to Collier's shoal, about two miles east of Colborne. It will take the place of the old Conscon range directly off Trenton.

Operations are expected to begin in early August and take place between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. The inner boundary is marked by orange buoys and commercial fishermen have been warned of the exercises.

Construction of Ice Control Dam Near College Street Approved by City Council

City council at a special meeting held this morning gave its approval to construction of the proposed College Street ice control dam, with the cost to the city being estimated at approximately $56,000. Balance of the cost would be paid by the provincial and federal governments.

Col. Roscoe Vanderwater, as secretary of the Moira River Authority said he had been instructed to have a survey made to determine the approximate cost of the proposed dam. Approval of the benefiting municipality (in this case the city of Belleville) and the two government departments was necessary before tenders for the work could be called.

Object of the dam, according to Alderman Bruce Smith, would be to hold back ice during the spring break-up period and thus prevent any serious floods in the downtown section of the city.

At the same time city council approved in principle with the construction of a flood control retaining wall on the east bank of the Moira from the Upper Bridge to a point below the C.P.R. bridge. This will allow preparation of plans with the view of placing the matter before the federal and provincial governments with the request for financial assistance.

Cost of the work would be in the neighborhood of approximately $250,000 according to an estimate by City Engineer Charles Mott.

Alderman Keegan as chairman of the city planning committee, noted that this would be a long term project, but it was necessary that plans be made now.

Construction of the retaining wall would provide grading space for about 400 cars. The parking space could be metered and the fees used to defray the cost of construction.

Truckers' Union Heads Will Meet To Review Strike

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Union leaders of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (AFL) will meet in Hamilton Friday to review the strike of southwestern Ontario transport drivers.

Pat Delaney, business agent for local 879, which includes membership of about 1,200 drivers in London and Hamilton, said representatives from London, Windsor, Chatham and Hamilton will attend to discuss the union's position.

James Hoffa of Detroit, international vice president, who recently announced the union would back Ida Long as necessary to obtain its demands, will also be at the meeting.

As the strike neared the end of its second week still deadlocked, railway freight offices and express agents throughout western Ontario report a backlog business.

JAILED FOR EMBEZZLING

BROCKVILLE (CP) — James Howard Clarke, 28, was sentenced Wednesday to 18 months in jail for embezzlement of $1,600 from the Grand Central Hotel here last December. He was sentenced to a concurrent three months when he pleaded guilty to theft of $150 from the Red Lion Inn at Callander. Clarke was arrested in Cobourg July 15.

Liberal Switches Accuses Howe Of Being Dictator

TORONTO (CP)—Eric R. Marsden, Liberal candidate in York South constituency in the 1949 Dominion election, said today he is switching to the Progressive Conservative party and will support its candidate, Alan Cockeram, in the Aug. 10 election.

Mr. Marsden said he is making his switch "because I feel there is a dictator in Canada running the Liberal party—C. D. Howe."

In 1949 York South was won by J. W. Noseworthy, CCF, with 15,297 votes. Mr. Cockerum polled 14,273 and Mr. Marsden 11,926. In this election, candidates are Mr. Noseworthy, Mr. Cockerum, Alfred Brown, Liberal, and Norman Penner, Labor-Progressive.

Two Handsome Sumatra Tigers In Calgary Zoo

The handsome gold-and-black striped animals came from Rotterdam zoo in Holland and are valued at about $5,000. Both were born in captivity. The male is 22 months old, the female 18 months.

Their diet? Instructions from F. Siewertzs van Reesma, curator of the Rotterdam Zoo, call for a daily meal of about 17 pounds of fresh horse or cow meat, complete with bones.

Once a week they are supposed to lunch on a whole animal such as a goat, hide and all. The hair, attendants say, is necessary for the tigers' digestive systems.

A. M. van Ostrand, president of the Zoological Society here, is enthusiastic about the tigers. However, somewhat annoyed was Rex II, lion king of the Calgary zoo. His mate had just had three young cubs. He was fully prepared to do battle with the tigers when they were put in an adjacent cage.

Unveils Monument To Col. John G. Simcoe

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE (CP) Premier Frost Wednesday unveiled a monument to Upper Canada's first governor and his wife.

More than 500 persons watched as the premier pulled the rope to reveal a bas relief monument in Queenston limestone to Col. John Graves Simcoe and his wife, Elizabeth Posthuma Gwillim.

The 12-foot statue stands in the courtyard of Navy Hall where almost 161 years ago the first governor called the first Parliament together.

BRITAIN

"I have already indicated to the U. S. government that in a situation of that kind where the U. S. were proposing to walk out I hope they would take us into consultation first."

More Definite Stand

Today's government statement on Red China appeared to be more definite than the position outlined in debate Wednesday. Labor members had indicated they would press for the government to say categorically whether or not it would support admission of China to the UN.

Wednesday Acting Prime Minister R. A. Butler said the government view was that the future status of Communist China in world affairs should be decided during or after the political conference to follow the Korean armistice.

Despite Labor heckling he refused to go further. He said Britain is going to next month's meeting of the United Nations general assembly "well-prepared to take a line on this particular subject" but declined to say what "the line" would be.

Dislike Dulles' Stand

Sharp Dulles' stand said in the House about U. S. State Secretary Dulles, who has announced his opposition to admitting Red China to the UN. Similar dissatisfaction appeared today in British newspaper editorials.

The Yorkshire Post (Conservative) said the "stubborn fist" of Dulles' statement "will also disappoint those who believe that the (Korean) truce would lead to an early agreement on the Chinese entry into the United Nations."

"Some people feel that it is realistic to refuse recognition to Pelping government, and American intransigence on this point is a grave obstacle to progress toward a general settlement in Asia," the Post added.

The mass circulation Daily Mirror urged President Eisenhower to make a statement on the China question, and declared: "Can American policy really be as bad as this, or is it another case of indigestion after a fast-footed Mr. Dulles?"

The Laborite Daily Herald prepsed strongly for China's admission to the UN. Dulles' statement, it said, was a chill reception, but Manchester Guardian (Lib.) and The Times of London (Independent Conservative).

A BETTER FISH GAFF

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

My grandson, who is less than a year old, sits in his play pen industriously and even enthusiastically chucking all his toys out through the bars and then out side. In this, he is obviously expressing the spirit of the age. In my fancy, I had one toy at a time, and remember I spent most of my time guarding it and hiding it from other children. Doubtless I took it to bed with me and clung to the thrifty, acquisitive era. This grandson of mine has a cosyful of toys. For 25 cents, you can get a cellophane grab bag containing twenty tiny plastic toys, cars, jeeps, tanks, trucks. In the five and ten, you can find a marvellous array of cheap toys such as painted rings which fit on a peg, blocks that mesh into each other, a ball that breaks into segments. Even the poorest child can own a slew of these bright modern toys. And what do they do with them? Chuck 'em away, chuck 'em around, chuck 'em out of reach. In latest infancy, they are learning the way of the world, which is to get rid of things as fast as you can.

If I were of a suspicious nature, and possibly I am, I would suspect this trend in multiple toys to be a socialist plot. Its purpose is to break down the passive instinct in childhood.

My grandson's mother is a wily young woman. And when my grandson has thrown all his possessions out of the pen and is left with his first yells on discovering his poverty, his mother comes quietly, hits him out of the pen and with him are spendthrift all his chucked-out toys. And what does he do? He promptly, industriously and enthusiastically puts them one by one all back into the play pen. And when he finds he has thus saved, recovered and re-possessed his lost goods, and is about to holler in dismay that there is nothing else within reach to possess, his mother and his toys appear in the play pen. Thus the routine continues.

From my elder vantage point, I recommended long ago for this sagacious plan by which the instinct for saving and storing away was being encouraged. "No," she said, "it is just easier to pick up every twenty minutes than to keep picking up twenty toys."

Thus my grandson will grow up, I suppose, into an average man who loves to chuck things around, and loves to re-amass things in order to chuck 'em away again.

Film Stars in India

(By Robert Trumbull in The New York Times)

No longer are the highest-paid movie stars in the world to be found in Hollywood. They are in Bombay, Calcutta and Madras, where the second largest film industry in the world grinds out a footage surpassed only by that of the California studios. Except for a few Indian films which reach foreign audiences, this industry is virtually confined to that country.

The Indian stars belong to the old chest-heaving, eye-rolling, nose-flaring school of acting long considered passe in the West, and the scenarios, generally speaking, are stamped out of a pattern that goes back to David Wark Griffith. But their hackneyed triangle plots and heavy cliff-hangers pull 900,000,000 paid admissions a year through Indian box offices, and the top stars among the dozen or so who dominate the industry make as much as $300,000 a year in rupees. The more they "emote" on screen, the more the millions love them.

Balmy figures are even more impressive than they sound when it is tax free. The producers who had long been convinced by the local public that he can't lose, Raj Kapoor, a young actor whose cast doesn't include at least one or two big names, is writing and directing a modest figure into the star's contract for his next picture. They're worth it—the bulk of it—under the table.

Kapoor, who is said like Dulip Kumar, the Clark Gable of India, customarily works for a time for different studios, rushing from location to location in his own custom-built sports car.

One location male star recently contracted with rival producers for 45 full "shooting shifts" on several pictures in the course of a year. In words, he did six weeks' work in four.

Exhausted stars have been known to disappear in the middle of shooting a half a dozen pictures for a holiday on the continent. Operations don't have to shut down if they are sufficiently refreshed to come back to work. There are other hazards, as exemplified by the plight of a director whose star tragedienne, working concurrently on another hit

Git Along Little Yogis!

(Edmonton Journal)

The traditional color and glamour of the East seems to be fading away these days under the impact of Western ideas, and Western ideas of law and order. The latest example comes from India where a new and unfriendly attitude to yogis seems to be in the making.

Since time immemorial, these wandering holy men have been one of the most picturesque features of Indian life. They have practised their austerities, pounding mystic doctrines, or sometimes merely pounding their charming snakes, lying on beds of nails or performing supposedly miraculous tricks—or in some cases they just sat and contemplated. Some of them, it must be admitted, were undoubtedly impostors and scoundrels, but they greatly respected by the people. No government, until recently, ever tried to discourage or interfering with them.

Now comes the news that the government of Madras has thrown a wet blanket over yogi life. He was a visitor from Pakistan who claimed the power to heal the sick, dumbness, stammering, tuberculosis and asthma. It not clear whether he was arrested as an alien, or a fraud, or because he is alleged to have cast spells on the prime minister of the province. At all events, there is no doubt that the Indian inability to fly through the bars may diminish his fighting spirit.

This looks like the beginning of hard times for yogis. Any day now we may read of one being fined for lying on a bed of nails without a license.

Fear Mankind To Lose Legs

(Saint John Telegraph-Journal)

The anthropologists, who always have something to worry about in the future, tell us that human legs are now worried about legs. They think that in 50,000 years or so legs of mankind will be reduced to useless stubs simply because people lost both the desire and the need to use them. They say that the changing the subject up is that some inventors are trying to promote a moving platform which, if it ever came about would reduce the pedestrian to the status of a parcel.

About the most required of legs even now is for getting in and out of automobiles, and to progress in the future by standing still in the conveyor would certainly hasten the kind of immobility the anthropologists are thinking about.

But this makes us realize, as we should have long before, that the ancient recreation of walking has gone out of vogue. It is a pity.

Walking is a very natural and purest kind. It permits not only exercise of the muscles and sinews, but it is also conducive to meditation, an occupation many of us are inclined to disregard. The pastime of striding across the fields, decked in tweeds and heavy boots, with a cane in hand and a dog at the heel, has a pastoral British complexion about.

PREVENTION OF RHEUMATIC FEVER

Dr. Brady

Some diseases — smallpox and diphtheria are, for example, can be prevented by vaccination or inoculation. Among the diseases caused by one of the several varieties of the streptococcus, scarlet fever appears to be relatively preventable, by a series of inoculations. As the streptococcus is involved in the cause of rheumatic fever the question arises as to the preventability of this disease.

To date no one has succeeded in perfecting a substance which by inoculation can prevent this disease. However, factors other than the streptococcus are involved in rheumatic fever—heredity, nutrition and allergy—for example.

Further, while the streptococcus is present in profusion in the stage of the "cold" or "sore throat" which precedes rheumatic fever it is often impossible to find the germ during the stage of acute rheumatic symptoms. Also, unlike other streptococcal diseases, rheumatic fever is resistant to the action of the sulfa and antibiotic drugs.

In young persons, acute tonsilitis or "sore throat" may actually cause rheumatic fever to appear or progress. The rheumatic symptoms usually appear from three to five weeks after the nose or throat symptoms have subsided. With the idea of preventing the actual development of rheumatic fever, would it be practical to treat all "colds" or sore throats with the sulfa or antibiotic drugs at the onset? I judge the answer is no, for public interest because many persons suffering such common disorders, appear at doctors' offices suggesting or demanding "penicillin" or "something on that order."

A controlled study has shown that rheumatic fever following streptococcic infection of the tonsils is less apt to occur if the patient is given adequate penicillin treatment in the tonsillitis. Other studies have suggested that recurrences of rheumatic fever in previous victims can be decreased by adequate penicillin treatment of nose and throat infections.

However, many disorders of the nose and throat are caused by virus infections, against which, penicillin, for, example, is ineffective. Thus, if the original infection is due to the streptococcus and not to a virus, it would seem logical to employ penicillin as a preventive as well as a therapeutic basis. The distinction—indeed the entire matter—is one that can be determined only by study right on the scene. Despite the implicit confidence the general public has in the beneficial powers of the antibiotic drugs, their administration should always call for direct consideration by the physician.

A person who knows himself with penicillin or other antibiotic drug runs the risk of generating a true allergy which will diminish which may prove highly resistant to the action of the drug when it is subsequently needed. He may also "sensitize" himself—making him more liable to develop a highly toxic to him.

The problem has many things to consider in the prescribing of drugs. Because this or that drug is presumed to be good for what ails you is no reason to use the drug without a full comprehension of all the possibilities. The prevention of rheumatic fever is distinctly a matter for the individual physician to consider.

THE EDUCATED HEART

There are an overwhelming number of people in this world who have educated minds, but it is a smaller number who have learned to adapt knowledge and use the marvelous resources of the mind. Still fewer is the number of people who have educated hearts!

We have noble impulses, but their warmth dies all too soon. The greatest life ever recorded is that of Jesus. His was an educated heart. As companions He chose simple folk—fishermen and people like them. He taught the simple life of service to one's fellow men. He cared nothing for wealth. Nothing is recorded of His home life after reaching manhood. His ministry covered only about three years, yet the influence from what He said and did has spread over all the civilized world. His Sermon on the Mount is the most beautiful and most moving and a happy life ever uttered. If people lived by the Golden Rule alone what a worldliness is an art too little practised!

Within the heart initiated the flame of hope, justice, kindliness, and sympathetic understanding grows. You have heard the phrase "Great Heart". That is a far more important possession than a great mind, or anything material. All happiness is born in the heart. The heart that is heavy and cold is educated toward selfishness, the heart that does not appreciate for all things spiritual become, it is the secret of a happy and genuine success. Nothing else matters in-deed without it.

If the educated heart knows what to do in emergencies. It recognizes the best of other hearts, and does likewise. It is a real fellowman. The Good Samaritan had an educated heart, and proved it by his act of impartial love for an unfortunate brother man. Jesus had both in among thieves. Lincoln had such a heart. He could not bear to have a poor shot because he felt asleep exhausted from the hard war. Abraham Lincoln is an art too little practised!

RELIGION AND DECADENCE

Visitors to India have always been fascinated by the religious fakirs to be found in the market places. One of the most dreadful things is to see a fakir who has held his arm in one position until it completely withered and dried and locked in the socket. This is supposed to be pleasing for him and some great spiritual blessing. The fakirs are often much admired by the people and are heroes who have achieved an astounding triumph.

When religion is wholesome it lifts the whole plane of one's existence from drudgery to delight, but when religion is perverted or inverted, or when it has fallen to decadence, it becomes the most corrupting of all influences. The atheist loves to point to decadent forms of religion and declare that is what the world will bring upon us if we listen to his specious pleadings.

Our real tragedy is the flight of Jesus of Nazareth stands up amid the affairs of human life absolutely free from an eternal significance. He came that man might have life and have it more abundantly. We are only playing with life until we take Him at His word and discover His followers in sincerity and in truth.

Our true religion can slip into decadence as revolting as that of the Indian fakir. Spiritual wholeness is real and power as purchased only at the cost of continuous vigilance.

FRANKFORD

9th-Inning Homer Gives Frankford Win Over Diesels

FRANKFORD (Special)—In a wide-open free-hitting softball game played here last night, Frankford squared their OSA playdown semi-finals with the CNR Diesels, defeating the city team by a 13-10 score. Diesels won the first game of the best-of-three series 7-6 on their home diamond Monday night.

The teams meet in the CNR Park, Belleville on Friday night for the third and deciding game. The winners will meet Point Ame to decide the right to represent the league in the OASA intermediate "A" playdowns.

Twenty-eight hits were scattered over the landscape by the teams, sixteen blasting off the Diesels bludgeons. Twenty-three runs crossed the plate and six errors were committed. Diesels bobbled four times, all in the second innings when the villagers poked over six runs.

Both teams exploded into run splurges, the Frankford team getting the above-mentioned half-dozen in the second, and Diesels attempting a comeback with a seventh-innings seven-run outburst. At that they came within a run of tying the score but the village crew erupted with a three-run salute in the ninth after Diesels had tied it up with a single in their half of the innings.

Batting averages were swollen considerably. A. Empey hit a homer, double and single for the Diesels with brother Ross getting a triple and three singles. Clint Young scored a triple, double and two singles with Jackie Wardhaugh blasting a double and two losers. Vern Coyer hit a three-run homer in the eighth and Alex Rowbotham contributed a double.

Gilmour smashed out a three-run homer in the ninth that won the game for the village crew, with "Red" Calkin good for two doubles and a single. Cosgrove, Cook, Adams all hit doubles.

Bill Rankin went the route for the winners yielding sixteen hits, striking out two and walking three. Jackie Wardhaugh started for the Diesels and lasted until the second. Empey relieved him, and he, too, got the gate in the same innings after the homesters rammed over six runs. Al Adams took over and finished the game.

Diesels scored single runs in the fourth and seventh, and in that inning Frankford added a pair to make the score 8-2. Diesels exploded with seven runs in the top of the seventh to take a one-run lead but it was shortlived as the villagers roared back with a pair. Diesels tied it up with one in the ninth and Gilmour became the village hero when he blasted a four-bagger with two mates aboard to end the story.

The score:

Diesels	000	100	172	—10	16	4
Frankford	020	060	00x	223—13	19	2

Wardhaugh (2) Empey (2); Adams and Young; Rankin and Murphy.

TO MOVE RCAF UNIT

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF's No. 4 transport training unit, which trains aircrews for long-distance and trans-oceanic flights, will be moved Sept. 1 from Dorval, from its present base at Dorval airport, near Montreal, the air force announced Wednesday.

Elusive Vietminh Troops Escape Trap by French

SAIGON, Indo-China (Reuters)—Two elusive Vietminh battalions operating in the east coast area of Hoe have escaped their French pursuers again, military observers said today.

The French high command had launched "Operation Camargue" in their attempt to wipe out the 2,000 Communist rebels northwest of Hue. Ten thousand French troops encircled the area and converged on the centre.

But as the squeeze was put on, the Communists just melted away, infiltrating through the French lines or literally going underground in a network of secret hideouts.

The French high command announced that the operation had ended with only some 600 Vietminh casualties, 200 killed and 400 prisoners.

No French casualties have been announced, but usually reliable sources estimate them at about 100 killed and wounded.

2 YEARS FOR ROBBERY

BRANTFORD (CP)—Fred Carey 23, Brantford, pleaded guilty Wednesday to robbery with violence and was sentenced to three years in penitentiary. Evidence was that James Noyce, Burford, was struck in the eye and robbed of $100 on May 26. Carey had $6 in his possession when arrested two days later.

Six Reds Seized By FBI Agents At Philadelphia

By TOM BRADSHAW

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Six right-hand men were scooped up in a federal bureau of investigation dragnet early today on charges they conspired "to advocate the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence."

FBI agents swooped down on the homes of four and the summer cottage of another. The sixth was nabbed, agents said, as he emerged from a Communist cell meeting.

Hours later, the six were held on a total of $175,000 bail and led away to jail cells, manacled two-by-two.

Bail was set in the office of U.S. Commissioner Henry P. Carr at dawn.

Bail is $50,000

Joseph Kuzma, 41, identified by the FBI as a Communist party trade union secretary in eastern Pennsylvania and Delaware, was seized, the FBI agents said, as he walked away from a Communist party meeting in northern Philadelphia. He was held on $20,000 bail for a further hearing Aug. 4.

Kuzma, identified by the FBI as a native of Brooklyn, N.Y., told Carr he couldn't remember his hoehe address in Philadelphia and would require "a telephone book to recall it."

Held for a further hearing on the same date on $25,000 bail each were:

David Dubinsky, also known as David Davis, 46; Sherman Likowitz, 29; Walter Lowenfels, 56; Thomas Richard, 31, and Benjamin Weiss, 39, all of Philadelphia.

Long-Time Member

Kuzma was described by the FBI as "associated with the Communist party since the middle 1930s;" Labovitz as "a one-time Communist party organizer;" Lowenfels as "Communist party candidate for Pennsylvania Representative in 1940 and former managing editor of the Pennsylvania edition of The Worker;" Nehried as "organizer of the Communist party in eastern Pennsylvania and Delaware;" Weiss as "treasurer of the Communist party in eastern Pennsylvania and Delaware for a number of years," and Dubinsky - Davis as "one-time member of the national committee of the communist party."

The six were charged specifically under the Smith Act with conspiring to overthrow the government. Their arrests brought to 87 the number of Communist party officials seized under the act since 1948, the U.S. Justice department said.

FBI director J. Edgar Hoover said the six either held or have held ranking positions in the Communist party in eastern Pennsylvania or in the national operations of the party.

6 MONTHS FOR ASSAULT

GUELPH (CP)—Albert Bowman, 18, of RR 7, Guelph, was sentenced Wednesday to six months in the Ontario Reformatory for assaulting his mother. The youth's father, Cecil Bowman, testified that Albert got into an argument with his mother and sister. He backed his mother up against a wall and was trying to choke her when the father intervened.

Alleged Thieves Caught at Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Two alleged burglars were captured early today, one after being shot in the heel and the other after falling 20 feet through a skylight.

Charged with shopbreaking and having burglars' tools in their possession were Charles Willans, 36, no fixed address, and James H. Dunn, 34, of Toronto.

Police said the capture came after two men were surprised on the roof of the Rowe packing plant. Willans was hit in the heel by a bullet fired by Constable Earl Snider after he failed to heed an order to halt.

Police added that Dunn, in his efforts to dodge bullets, fell through a skylight into the building.

Weddings

MURPHY—HOGAN

On Thursday morning, July 23, at 10:00 a.m., a very pretty wedding took place at the "Hogan Manor", Millbridge, Ontario, when Miss Annie and Mr. Leo Hogan, aunt and uncle of the bride, when Miss Loretta Anne Hogan, daughter of Mrs. James Hogan and the late James Hogan, and Mr. John J. Murphy, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Murphy, were united in marriage by the Reverend G. Scanlan, of Marmora, Ontario.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Peter Hogan, was radiant in her wedding gown of white nylon over taffeta with shoulder length veil held by a small white satin hat. Her corsage was of pink carnations and she carried a pearl rosary.

Mr. John Murphy, cousin of the bridegroom, was groomsman.

The altar was decorated with white Shasta daisies and carnations.

Following the reception 35 guests enjoyed a buffet dinner, the bride's table, being decorated with flowers and the beautiful wedding cake. Toasts were given by the Reverend Father Scanlan, John Murphy, Thomas P. Hogan, uncle of Windsor, uncle of the bride and Mr. Michael Hogan, cousin of the bridegroom.

During the afternoon and evening, Mr. T. P. Hogan, Mrs. W. Toal, of Peterborough, and Mrs. William Noonan, of Millbridge, entertained the guests with their beautiful voices in songs suitable to the occasion. Mr. John Murphy of Murphy's Corners, generously supplied orchestra and piano accordion music for dancing. Mr. James O'Neill of Millbridge, was the grand old age of 96, danced with the bride.

The newlyweds left by motor for Quebec, intending to visit the famous Shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre and points in the United States.

For travelling the bride chose a pretty navy blue nylon gown, shortie coat, and white accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, upon their return, will take up residence in Millbridge, Ontario.

Out-of-town guests were from Deseronto, Belleville, Madoc, Peterborough, Marmora, Windsor, Queensboro and Murphy's Corners.

DENT—MASTIN

Tall standards of multi-colored gladioli, Regal lilies, tiny bells and ferns adorned the altar, in the Shannonville United Church, for the marriage of Elizabeth Lily May Mastin, Reg.N., eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mastin, Belleville, R.R. 6, to Lawrence Russel Dent, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dent, Belleville, R.R. 6, on Saturday, July 11, at 4:00 p.m. Rev. L. W. Scott, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Harry Sine, church pianist, provided the wedding music, and the soloist, Miss Joan Shindell, sang before the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer", and during the signing of the register, "Because".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in her bridal gown of beautiful ballerina length Chantilly lace with matching train. A pearled Peter Pan collar set off the fitted bodice, buttoned at the front with satin buttons to below the waist. The sleeves were long, ending in V points over the wrist. A pearl studded tiara held in place her floor length veil of tulle illusion. She carried a bouquet of red roses with white stephenotis knotted in white satin streamers.

Miss Marina Mastin, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, gowned in yellow brocaded taffeta bodice and jacket with net skirt. She wore a floral headdress with matching mitts, and carried a bouquet of mauve ornations.

Misses Roselyn McAlister, cousin of the bride, and Beverly Mastin, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids. Both were gowns in mauve fashioned similarly to that of the maid of honor. They wore floral headdresses with matching mitts, and carried bouquets of yellow carnations.

Wee Catherine Sedore, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, demure in her floor length gown of green taffeta. She carried a basquette of mixed summer flowers.

Mr. Maurice Dent, brother of the bridegroom, performed the duties of groomsman, while Messrs. Donald Jackson and Laverne Mastin, the latter a cousin of the bride, acted as ushers.

The reception was held in the church parlors with the ladies of the church serving about 80 guests. The parlor was decorated with pink and white streamers, wedding bells and daffodil bouquet. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake surrounded by a fluff of pink tulle, crystal candelabra with white candles. The bride's mother, gowned in mauve sheer and lace, with white accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations, received, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was attired in navy crepe with white and navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The happy couple left mid showers of confetti on their honeymoon to the United States and other points. The bride chose a tangerine linen suit with white accessories and a corsage of white feathered carnations.

Dior's Live Line Means New Wardrobe for Milady

Ladies' hemlines, according to fashion impresario Christian Dior, are due for another shift — this time upward. Dior, who has dictated major fashion trends for over a decade, was the originator of the New Look. He calls his new trend the Live Line. Fashions through the years, as shown here, suggest that Mr. Dior's shifting of the hemline is nothing new. It's been shifting since 1890, for better or for worse, depending on when milady bought her last dress.

Girl Learns to Fly to Banish Lonesomeness on Isolated Lake

LONESOME LAKE, B.C. (CP)— Much of the lonesomeness has been taken away from Lonesome Lake.

Gertrude (Trudy) Edwards, 24, one of three persons living beside the isolated lake, 300 air miles northwest of Vancouver, has solved the transportation problem by buying her own aircraft and learning to fly.

The plane means that Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Edwards and their daughter no longer will have to trek 20 miles over rugged mountain trails to Atlanta every time they want their mail and groceries. Atlanta is a village of six persons 40 miles over the mountains from Bella Coola.

When Trudy decided to ease the isolation at Lonesome Lake, where her father is migratory bird warden, it took her five days to reach Vancouver to begin her flying lessons.

She started a whirlwind flying course in July then bought a two-seat single-engined aircraft equipped with floats. After being checked out on floatflying she left Vancouver for home.

"The trip home, normally took five days by boat and walking," said Trudy with a happy grin. "It's 2½ hours."

Cup-Saucer Shower Given Recent Bride

Mrs. Myrtle Williams and Mrs. Frank Bateman, Coleman Street, Bellleville, were joint hostesses at a recent cup and saucer shower in honor of Mrs. Fred Wannamaker (Patsy Sallans).

The guests were entertained on the lawn, where prettily decorated tables were set. Mrs. Wm. Baird put on a "Bride" contest.

The bride, assisted by her bridesmaid, Miss Phyllis Downs, unwrapped the many lovely gifts and thanked her friends, after which delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Redner and Carole Sallans.

Fashion experts say that Dior's new Live Line, with hems three or four inches shorter than what is now accepted, will make every dress in ladies' wardrobes out of fashion. Hipped waistline and rounded hips are other features of Dior's Live Line. — Central Press Canadian Photos.

Library Uses Game in Geography To Arouse Children's Interest

CALGARY (CP)—The children's department of the Calgary Public Library has started a game to stimulate reading, particularly in the summer months.

A huge pink drawing, about 15 feet high, of important places in the world has been put up on one of the walls. Throughout the chart, black lines showing routes are marked off and stops indicated with cut-outs of national costumes.

For example, a painted picture of a Highland lassie represents Edinburgh.

Starting in Alaska, the route darts down to Australia, New Zealand, across to Canada and then over the Atlantic to Paris.

Each child taking a book out of the library is given a paper airplane with his name printed on it. The airplane is pinned on the chart at the route's starting point when the child returns the book. When he gets another one, the airplane flies to the next country.

Names of the first 10 children to complete the world route will be posted on an honor list.

Dorothy Rogers, head of the department, says the game has aroused the children's enthusiasm and interest. The library decides what books are proper.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Smoking A Girl Won't Make Her Love You

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 21 years old and in love with a girl, 18, whom I have known since we were children. We went together for the last year I was home before going into service.

During the two years I was away, I wrote to her often, but got hardly any letters from her, so finally I got mad and wrote and told her I was through.

Now, I've been home for a couple of months, and have never called her or gone to see her. A few times when I ran into her on the street, she said hello, I ignored her. A friend of hers told me she was very mad about that, so maybe she really does care something about me after all. Do you think that is possible, and that I should try and go back with her again?

Joe S.

Dear Joe:

I hardly think it's possible that this girl could care about you very much and still have behaved so indifferently when you were away. Certainly the fact that she was mad when you didn't reply to her greeting wouldn't necessarily indicate a deep interest, but rather that she didn't like your discourtesy.

My opinion is that if you keep on brooding about her and wondering you'll just be wasting your time. After all, the girl is very young still, and she probably wants to look around awhile before picking a permanent boy friend, which is perfectly normal.

My advice would be that you get yourself another girl and let this one go; also that you mind your manners when you meet her on the street or anywhere else. To snub a girl certainly isn't the quickest way to her heart, whether as if you treat her politely, and at the same time let her see that you have no trouble finding girls who enjoy going out with you, she's likely to take you more seriously.

Don't Make This Friendship More Important Than It Is

Dear Miss Fairfax:

For a little over a year, I went with a boy who went into service last January. In June, he went overseas, but before he went we had a little fight.

He still wants me to go with him as a friend, though, but my problem is that I am now going with another boy.

Should I write and tell the first boy that I am going with someone else, and for him not to write me any more, or wait until he comes home and tell him then?

S.

Dear S.:

It doesn't sound to me as if the relationship between you and this boy is so serious that you need make a special point of telling him anything. If he is a friend of yours, why shouldn't he write to you and you write to him, no matter whether you are going with someone else or not? It seems to me that when a boy is overseas, his friends ought to be thoughtful enough to write him nice letters with the news of home, and I think it would be silly and inconsiderate to shut off all correspondence with him just because you don't feel sentimental about him any more.

A Share-The-Work Party

By Mary Moore

You don't have to own a ranch and a cattle brand to have a Bar Rose Salad.

But you do have to have generous and loving friends.

A profound decision was made by our family. We are addicted to large parties and every head (female that is) of each household particularly offers to "bring something" when these parties are in the planning stage. Like a silly ninny I usually turn down these generous offers—often because I have new dishes I want to serve to my beloved guinea pigs. But they've stopped me. I only agreed to stop if the pact was reciprocal, and they promised to let us bring something to their parties. So much for the profound decision.

After this idea took hold it blossomed to full flower when other invited guests offered to "bring something" and since they were fetching along a carload they appropriated the salad and dessert.

And what a handsome salad it turned out to be—worthy of its imposing name, Bar Rose Salad.

Worthy of its' creators too. The comedienne of the crowd is also the salad tosser, court jester, general pet and life of the party. Just to watch her assemble this salad is entertainment worthy of a television show. Even the cabbage is added with a flilip, and when it comes to the dressing Madame Pompadour could not have done it with more or a flourish. Her dietitian hubby and mentor who generously feeds her these food ideas, stands beaming in the background while the Rose part of the team gets the applause. A precious set-up.

On the home territory a choice boiled roast beef was accorded with new potatoes nestling around it in the pan from two batches were a-boiling—as a matter of fact we were all either roasting or boiling for the temperature was pushing 90 degrees.

So the lovely salad was a godsend to the hostess.

Bar Rose Salad

To serve the eleven who were on hand for this party one and one-half cabbages were used, but for an average-sized party one cabbage ought to be enough. Chop it finely on a board with a sharp knife (or use a chopping bowl if you have one and the curved knife to go with it). But don't grind or shred the cabbage. Now come the intriguing ingredients: chopped onion (one or two); ginger "a certain amount" (don't you love it when you meet up with "certain amounts" cooks? I'd say to add 1 tablespoon very finely chopped candied or preserved ginger.); about 1-2 cup salted skinless peanuts, 1-3 or 1-4 cup raisins, and one 15-oz. can well-drained crushed pineapple. Salt and commercial mayonnaise were added at the last minute for they both make salad made of cabbage watery. Be sparing with them even if you do add them at the last minute, for a bowl of watery dressing in the bottom of the bowl is an abomination.

Of course the Bar Rose Salad was perfect for the tosser tipped off any excess liquid before she proudly and personally bore the bowl to the table.

Try the share-the-work party plan. Your guests glow with good cheer, for who doesn't want to be wanted and need to be needed?

Question:

Kindly send me the recipe for the fancy angel food cake dessert with jellied fruit filling.—Jessie M. A.

Answer:

Angel Food Delight.

Angel Food Cake

(10-inch tube pan.)

Measure 1 cup sifted cake flour and sift it three times with 7-8 cup granulated sugar. Measure onto large platter or into large bowl 1 1-2 cups egg whites (about 12 eggs) and 1 1-4 teaspoons cream of tartar, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 1-2 teaspoons vanilla and 1-2 teaspoon almond flavoring. Beat with flat wire whip until quite foamy, then begin adding 2 tablespoons at a time, 3-4 cup granulated sugar (this is in addition to the first 7-8 cup). Continue beating until mixture holds in peaks, but not dried. Fold this meringue gradually the flour-sugar mixture, folding it in gently, not whipping. Pour batter into ungreased tube pan and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 35 to 45 minutes.

Please see next column for the "delight" part of this dessert.

Do not apply shellac on a ruby or stamp day, as it will absorb water and spot the property. Also never rub shellac with pumice stone and water. Mix the powder with light mineral oil.

GOOD MANNERS

The Bride's Divorced Mother Should Know Correct Name-Form

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My daughter is to be married about Thanksgiving time, perhaps the Saturday before. And this will be her birthday. I expect my divorce (which is now pending) to be granted next month. If it is granted, what form of name should I use on the formal wedding invitations? My husband ("ex"soon, I hope) is unwilling to take any part in the wedding.

R.H.

I'm so glad you asked about the correct form for your name on these so-important wedding invitations. For it is such a shame to see the name of the bride's divorced mother incorrectly engraved, i.e: your maiden surname preffixed to your married surname. In other words, you use your maiden surname in the place of your ex-husband's first name. For example, if your maiden name was Rosemary Graham and that you married and divorced Thomas Hill. Then your correct name after your divorce will be Mrs. Graham Hill, for some reason, you think it is important to indicate your first name, use the initial for it: Mrs. R. Graham Hill. The really correct form is:

Mrs. Graham Hill,

requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of her daughter Margaret

Nicknames Must Not Be Used On Formal Wedding Invitations

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We are to be married late in October, with a large, formal church wedding and reception. I'm planning the form for the engraved invitations for both ceremony and reception, but there seems to be conventional form you gave in your column some time ago. But—one question, please, Mrs. Beeckman. My given name is Margaret. My fiance's given name is John. But I've always been called "Peggy" and no one, relative or friend, ever calls me anything but "Peggy". Likewise no one ever calls my fiance anything but "Jack". We've both decided that we would like to use these names— "Peggy" and "Jack"—on our formal wedding invitations. Don't you agree that, under the circumstances, this would be the sensible thing to do?

Peggy

No, Ma'am! This would be absolutely act-of-order and is the worst possible form. Formal wedding invitations must follow the traditional form. They must be correct. And this means no nicknames! No "Peggy", no "Jack". Margaret it must be, John it must be.

Grass Rinse and Expresses Thanks for Beds

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When the wedding toast is proposed "To the Bride and Groom", are both supposed to rise and thank the guests?

Frances

No. When the guests have taken their seats after the drinking of the toast to the bride and groom, the groom rises (the bride remains seated) and expresses the thanks of his bride and himself.

Beauty

Relaxation Erases Fatigue Lines

The honorable gentlemen of the medical profession tell us that the majority of individuals who come to their offices for relief from their ills are suffering from tension. It seems that life is spinning a bit too fast for most of us. What about you? Are the days too short for all the things you want to do? Do go to bed tired and limp as a rag, then get up in the morning with no sense of refreshment? That's bad. If that is the way it is with you, so it is with millions of other women. And if you expect cosmetics to help, you are heading on a losing hope. They cannot camouflage the evidence of fatigue.

Glimpse the passing throngs on the streets. Few women look radiant, buoyant, on their toes. Eyes look tired, shoulders are drooping. Many are suffering from nervous knots that never seem to untangle themselves. Don't think we are exaggerating. Listen to what doctors have to say about ending nervous exhaustion, a common ailment:

Take care of yourself. Seek security. Strive and pray for peace of mind, which means more in building happiness than mere possessions. Many wage-earning wives are working for luxuries such as television sets, fur coats. It is senseless.

When you feel as if you were made of steel springs about to snap, stop, stop pause and consider. If you are a homebody you can take time off to compose yourself, quiet down.

Lie down in a darkened room on your back. Make your body feel heavy, Stretch your fingers and relax them. Then your arms and your legs. Go limp. Do a complete slump. Close your eyes and the doors of your mind. Forget your duties temporarily. It can be done.

Take long, deep, measured breaths and say to yourself "I am resting, resting, resting." If you can fall asleep, that is fine and dandy. A half hour nap after his chores will invigorate so that you'll tackle your chores with renewed strength.

There is an old saying: "Eight hours of work, eight hours of sleep, eight hours of play." It's right if one can manage to get in that play, but that's almost impossible for the woman who runs a home and a job. So she must sneak rests and a best she can and when she can.

Take long, deep, measured breaths and say to yourself: "I am resting, resting, resting."

Russian Soldier Given Political Asylum in West

BERLIN (AP)—A Soviet soldier deserted from the Russian war memorial in the Berlin Tiergarten today and asked political asylum in the West.

The 20-year-old private hid in bushes for two hours while other guards from the memorial looked for him with bayonets at the ready.

Then he crept out of the Tiergarten to where a German-American movie company was shooting a Soviet escape scene on the bank of a nearby canal.

British authorities took custody of the soldier from West Berlin police and announced tonight that he will be recognized as a political refugee. They refused to disclose his name.

Film director Victor Vicas, Russian-born himself, asked the young private why he had fled. The youth replied:

Disobeyed Order

"I was under orders at the war memorial not to let Germans or other visitors come close to it at night. But last night I let a German couple do so.

"One of our officers said me. For what you just did, you can be shot tomorrow."

"I slipped out into the darkness as soon as possible.

"Seventy-five per cent of the Russian soldiers would desert to the West, if they were not frightened that they would go hungry and have to beg for a living afterward.

"I applied for leave a few months ago, because my mother was dying of hunger on our farm in the Urals. But the leave was refused."

Problem Drinkers Rehabilitated

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—An industrial executive declared here today that loss of production, lowering of workers morale and a high accident rate among problem drinkers were primary reasons for his company instituting an alcoholism treatment program.

Henry A. Mielcarek, personnel director for Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co. among the pioneers of alcoholism programs in industry detailed his company's plan at the industrial institute of the Yale centre of alcohol studies now in session here.

"Surveys show that heavy and continually heavier drinking do not begin to show seriously for as many as 10 years," said Mielcarek. "By this time the employer may have developed highly specialized skills and to lose such a worker is a definite loss to the company.

"We prefer to rehabilitate the men with an alcoholic problem rather than fire him and hire a new untrained man who unknowingly may be a potential alcoholic," he added.

David H. Meharg of the medical division of E. I. Dupont de Nemours and Company said the Dupont program, in association with alcoholics anonymous, is rehabilitating about 65 per cent of their problem drinkers.

Bowl for Olympics?

Toronto's Mayor Allan Lamport says plans are under way for a 60,000-seat, $2,000,000 civic stadium at the Canadian National Exhibition to back the city's bid for the 1960 summer Olympic games. The new bowl would incorporate the existing 24,000-seat CNE grandstand by completing the oval with uncovered concrete stands. The proposed new stadium also would support the city's bid for a major league baseball franchise, the mayor said. He also said the new bowl should "cinch" the Grey Cup classic as a fixture for Toronto. — (CP Photo.)

Rhee Feels Certain U.S. Will Reopen Fighting in Korea If Reds Block Unification

NEW YORK (AP)—The Times quotes South Korean President Syngman Rhee today as saying it is "inconceivable" that the U.S. will bid for peace in Korea even if the Communists refuse to agree to the unification of his country.

Rhee, the story says, warned the United States not to attempt to persuade him to make concessions to Communists as he said the U.S. had forced Chiang Kai-shek to do in China after the Second World War."

In a dispatch from Seoul, James Reston of The Times reports on an interview with Rhee at his camouflaged villa on a hillside above the South Korean capital.

Reston quotes Rhee as saying he was pleased that U.S. State Secretary Dulles is coming to Seoul next week because Rhee "had some things to say to him"—not about technicalities but about the principle of "fighting the Communists or dying."

No Peaceful Solution

Rhee is described as fierce in his condemnation of those "foolish enough to believe" there is any way to settle the Korean question by "peaceful means."

Reston's dispatch also says:

Rhee discussed in advance any possibility of reaching an agreement with the Communists on unification of Korea. He referred to the "armistice document" as "that infamous document," and said he tolerates it only because he has faith that President Eisenhower will in turn support a renewal of the fight if the political conference following the truce fails.

The Korean president added that he hoped that the Soviet Union will be present at the conference because "it is the overlord of all aggression," so why not have it there?

Says Promise Broken

Rhee said the time had arrived to "talk out" about Korea's position. He accused assistant secretary of state Walter S. Robertson of having broken an agreement not to discuss pre-truce conversations. Rhee also insisted he was "not going to remain silent in the face of attempts to bedcod the true meaning of the truce.

The Korean president "made it clear that in his mind the truce was a temporary expedient designed to achieve one end only, one objective, agreement by the Communists that all Korea should be governed by his regime."

He scoffed at suggestions that the United States is not committed to renew the fighting if the political conference does not attain this agreement within 90 days.

Evening Mass Granted Farmers

BRANTFORD, (CP) — Evening Mass will be celebrated at St. Anthony Daniel Church of nearby Scotland for the next nine Sundays so that farmers can get an early-morning start on harvesting.

Rev. T. J. Gallagher, pastor at the Roman Catholic church, said the privilege was granted in a papal encyclical last January. He emphasized, however, that extending of the privilege to farmers did not constitute approbation of all servile work on the Sabbath.

RCAF Reports Theft of Wire Worth $10,000

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF said Wednesday that $10,000 worth of copper wire was stolen July 8 from a warehouse being built at Downsview air base near Toronto and that police are taking action to recover the wire.

The air force statement said that a watchman employed by the Hardy Construction Company reported a loaded half-ton truck owned by another company (Consstock Construction Co.) had left the building on the night of July 8.

An investigation by a private detective agency, hired by the second company, "pointed to the responsibility of two civilians and no RCAF personnel were implicated" the RCAF said.

The copper wire was stored in a building under construction "due to a pressing need for storage space" and both the Hardy company and RCAF had civilian night watchmen on guard.

"Action is being followed up to recover the copper wire," the RCAF statement said.

Woman Ordered to Pay Alimony to Ex-Spouse

LONDON (Reuters)—A woman today was ordered to pay £1,500-a-year alimony to her disabled ex-husband, a former football player who divorced her three years ago for her misconduct with a golf coach.

The woman is Mrs. Gabrielle Style Keiller, 44, whose personal fortune, including an investment in Texas cattle, amounts to £450,000 and providing her with an income of about £11,000 a year.

The ex-husband is Charles R. Style, 31, former brewery manager and football player who now is an invalid.

The golf coach is Alexander Keiller, 56, who once lived in the same apartment block as the Styles and who married Mrs. Style after her divorce.

Hunt Survivors Of Big US Plane Lost Off Siberia

TOKYO (AP)—The U.S. Far East Air Force today continued an air and sea search for survivors of a B50 bomber which crashed off the coast of Russian Siberia. Early today one crew member, the co-pilot of the huge plane, was plucked from the sea.

A B50 normally carries a crew of 10 but the air force said no other survivors have been sighted.

The co-pilot was picked up by a U.S. Navy ship, 60 miles off the Siberian shelf, southeast of Vladivostok.

Rescuers said he was taken from a boat dropped Wednesday night by an air force rescue plane.

Details of the crash were not released.

Men in Korea Prepare to Vote

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP) — Signs appeared throughout the Commonwealth division area today urging Canadian soldiers to vote next week in Canada's general election.

The Korean armistice has greatly simplified the problems of conducting the soldier vote Aug. 3 by permitting the consolidation of units in tiny areas. Originally it was planned to take the vote at night in forward areas to avoid movements by daylight in sight of the Chinese, less than 1,000 yards away.

Scrutineers Arrive

Coincidentally with the appearance of the road signs, the first party of scrutineers arrived from the Canadian infantry brigade area.

In the party were William Archer of Toronto and E.A.T. Paquet of Ville St. Laurent, Que., representing the Progressive Conservative party; John McIntosh of Dimsdale, Alta., Social Credit representative, and Dr. Stuart Jamieson of Vancouver, nagged by the CCF.

The scrutineers arrived from Kure, Japan, where they spent the last two days mailing election pamphlets to every soldier in the Far East, working from nominal rolls supplied by No. 2 Canadian Administration Unit there.

Liberal scrutineers, still busy sorting their material, will arrive here shortly.

Buys Minority Interest

KITCHENER, (CP)—The Kitchener-Waterloo Record reports that the Southam Company Limited has bought a minority interest in the News Record Limited, which owns the newspaper. The stock was sold by Senator W. D. Euler and members of his family.

"The Southam Company publishes daily newspapers in Ottawa, Hamilton, Winnipeg, Medicine Hat, Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver and has a minority interest in the London Free Press.

Spring Planting Lower for Grains Except Barley

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian farmers this spring planted reduced acreages of all but one of the principal grain crops, the bureau of statistics reports.

Wheat, oats, flaxseed and mixed grains were all given smaller areas than in 1952, the bureau said in its preliminary estimate of crop and summerfallow acreages. Only barley among the principal crops showed an increase.

Last fall's plantings of winter wheat and fall rye showed "substantial increase" over 1953, however, and increases in fall rye offset the decline in spring seeding of that crop.

Spring Wheat Cut

Spring wheat acreage is estimated at 24,780,600 acres—two per cent less than the 25,345,000 acres planted in 1952. Winter wheat plantings, mostly in Ontario, increased by 27 per cent to 732,000 acres from 650,000 in 1952.

Oats plantings are estimated at 9,630,000 acres, 11 per cent less than the 11,062,400 in 1952.

Barley acreage has increased five per cent to 8,911,100 from 8,477,400.

Rye Plantings Up

Total rye plantings are up 16 per cent to 1,483,400 acres from 1,257,300, with fall rye increased by 1,001,200 acres from 757,700 and spring rye decreased to 482,200 acres from 499,600.

Mixed grain acreage is estimated at 1,445,400, eight per cent less than 1,570,100 in 1952.

Flaxseed, at 1,038,000 acres, is 16 per cent less than the 1,206,500 acres in 1952. Ontario's flaxseed decrease is 45 per cent.

Sugar beet plantings are down eight per cent to 85,370 from 92,677 acres, with a 37-per-cent decrease in Ontario to 23,000 from 31,633 acres.

Russia Plans to Pay Costs of Occupation

VIENNA, Austria (CP)—Russia has told Austria that starting next month the Soviet Union will pay its own occupation costs, the Austrian foreign office announced today.

At present Austria pays occupation costs in the Russian, French and British zones. The U.S. pays its own.

Pearson Warns No Quick Solution Is Likely at U.N.

SHEDIAC, N.B. (CP)—The world is entering a new chapter in international relations as a result of the Korean truce, External Affairs Minister Pearson said at a Liberal rally Wednesday night.

He warned that Canadians should not expect problems facing the United Nations to be settled within a few weeks. One problem was who would take part in the political conference on Korea's future. Another concerned admission of Red China to the UN.

"Only yesterday," said Mr. Pearson, UN general assembly president, "I read in the papers that Mr. Dulles (state secretary) said the United States would use the veto if necessary to bar the Peiping regime.

"Well, there are other members of the UN who would feel different about this drastic action, especially if we can bring about at this political conference an honorable peace.

Challenge Right To Try Indians In Murder Case

DUNCAN, B.C. (CP) — Defence counsel for two Indians charged with the murder three years ago of Chew Deh, 63, Wednesday made a 139-year-old treaty to question the right of a police court magistrate to try the pair.

Thomas Hurley, counsel for Cecil Christopher Sampson, 20, and his wife, Edna, 26, said a preliminary hearing "may lead to an international incident."

Later magistrate G. E. Tisdall ruled the hearing should continue.

International Citizens

Mr. Hurley said a treaty signed in 1794 between Britain and the United States made the descendants of aborigines international citizens and they still reserve their right to go north or south of the 49th parallel.

The Sampsons were picked up in California and brought back to Canada two weeks ago.

The preliminary hearing could lead to an "international incident" because the defendants were brought to Canada for trial. The U.S. secretary of state may intervene, said Mr. Hurley.

Dr. J. J. Twain testified he was called to attend Chew whom he found lying in a pool of blood in his cabin. The elderly Chinese was taken to hospital where he died July 1, 1950.

Charge Manslaughter In Highway Accident

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Donald Simmons, 32, Wednesday was charged with manslaughter in connection with a highway accident Tuesday night which claimed the life of Thelma Green, 32.

Mrs. Lloyd Wallace suffered lacerations but Simmons and two other passengers, Larry Eaton, 5, and Gary Eaton, 6, escaped injury.

Police said the car apparently travelled 168 feet on the shoulder of the wrong side of the road before it left the highway at a sharp curve.

Police said that although the charge was laid against Simmons it had not been "definitely established" that he was driving the car at the time of the accident.

Move 11 Eskimo Families To Two Islands in Far North Where Game Is Plentiful

OTTAWA (CP) — The resources department is undertaking a project of Eskimo resettlement which may be the forerunner of larger population movements.

Eleven Eskimo families numbering some 70 individuals will be moved from northern Quebec and Baffin Island 900 miles northwest to point on Ellesmere and Cornwallis Islands where game is plentiful, a resources department official said Wednesday.

The families will be established with goods and equipment at Craig Harbor on Cornwallis Island and at Resolute Bay and Cape Hercshel on Ellesmere and if they are successful in feeding for themselves other families may be moved north from the game-depleted southern Arctic.

Most of Canada's 8,600 Eskimos live in the southern Islands of Canada's Arctic archipelago and on the mainland far north of the tree-line. They move from place to place hunting seal, walrus and polar bear and of late years the game populations of the southern areas has been depleted.

The seven families will be picked up this week by a transport department supply ship which will transfer them to the Icebreaker d'Iberville for the journey north.

Rescue Five Persons After Plane Crashes

MANILA (AP)—A U.S. amphibious plane with 15 men aboard crashed at sea off Luzon Island today and five survivors were picked up, the U.S. Navy said. Planes and ships continued searching the area, about 60 miles off the west coast.

The plane was based on Cavite Island. Two of the five survivors were reported seriously injured. They were picked up by a U.S. Coast Guard plane from Sangley.

Power Situation Grave, Says Report Urges Contract be Made with HEPC

CAMPBELLFORD. — A joint meeting of the Public Utilities Commission and the Town Council was held in the Council Chamber last night for the purpose of considering the report of H. G. Peeling to the Public Utilities Commission. Mr. Peeling is an old Campbellford boy who has had a very electrical experience throughout Canada and the United States. He was introduced by A. J. Meyers, chairman of the Commission Board. Present were Mayor Locke, Reeve Nicholas, Deputy Reeve Maybee, Councillors Macmillan, Free, Rutherford and Burgess, Commissioners Meyers, Newman and McGregor.

Mr. Peeling stated that the power situation is grave and he had investigated all angles. He had come to the conclusion that "we must solidify our position by entering into a contract with the Hydro so that in case of emergency, or increased demand, we would be able to take care of the needs of the people for power." He went over point by point his report, then invited questions, urging members to co-operate in an attempt to solve the problem.

Were Fortunate

It was pointed out that Hydro, while we were selling power to them under contract, and since that time, has been more than fair. Today we have no "firm" power to offer Hydro and the contract expired October 31, 1952." Mr. Newman suggested that we have been fortunate in that we did not have a dry year in 1953 or we could not supply the power to equal the demand.

A discussion arose re the advisability of offering our plant for sale to the Hydro Electric Power Commission, or Ontario, and sign a contract for our entire needs. The interest from the bonds received in payment could be used to purchase power. The matter was pursued considerably but no conclusion could be reached as it was not certain that the H.E.P.C. wished to purchase our plant, nor how much they would offer for it. Mr. Peeling stated that he had not been asked to investigate this possibility, so could give no opinion, but suggested that a contract could be come first and negotiations for sale, if desirable, could come later. He said that the question of selling the plant is a bigger one than getting power from Hydro.

Objections to a Hydro contract were raised by Comm. Newman, who said that it is unfair that when we require only 10 per cent of our power from Hydro, they set rates, dispense with free power, cut discounts, and run our policies entirely. Mr. Peeling explained that it would be very difficult to circumvent the Hydro Act, and suggested it would be impossible to do so from outside the Hydro family.

Never Been Misled

Councillor MacMillan said that "we should operate our plant more efficiently and we would be able to save enough money to buy Hydro power." Councillor Maybee said "we have been misled, as when industry wanted to come, we have assured them of ample power. Commissioner Meyers said they had been assured of favorable rates in Toronto. Comm. Newman suggested that a contract should be seen and studied.

It was finally moved that the joint meeting recommend, (1) that Mr. Peeling's report to the Public Utilities Commission dated July 28, 1953, be accepted and (2) that a committee comprising two council members named by the Mayor, and two from the Commission ask Hon. W. A. Goodfellow to arrange a meeting with Chairman Robert Saunders of the H.E.P.C. of Ontario, at the earliest convenience for the purpose of negotiating a settlement of the power situation.

Following the joint meeting, council went into session and passed the above resolutions. Councillor Free and Deputy-Reeve Maybee were named to the delegation.

Ont. Industrial Expansion Dwarfs Other Provinces'

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's industrial barometer has been climbing during the last five years at a pace unequalled in 30 years, the economics and research branch of the provincial department of labor said Wednesday.

The five-year record of plant expansion has dwarfed all other provinces and has created 30 per cent of all new jobs opened in Canada since 1946. And the department estimates at least 9,000 more jobs will be available this year as the result of carryovers in industrial construction from 1953.

A survey by the Labor Gazette discloses that 68 per cent of the total employment increase of 44,500 in the last five years was accounted for by three industries: Transportation equipment, iron and steel, and electrical apparatus. There was also a rapid expansion in the chemical and non-metallic mineral products industries.

The chemical industry expanded with 98 new plants since 1946, most of them being built in and about Sarnia. However, the largest one, a spun salts production unit, is near Copper Cliff, Sudbury. It will employ more than 100 workers.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

WELCOME GENTLEMEN:

On Monday, August 3, Civic Holiday, should you take a stroll near the Fair Grounds you will see a throng of men intent on hitting a little white ball upon a big white mark. It will be the Eleventh Annual Corbin Gold Trophy Tournament held under the auspices of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club.

Had you lived in the days of the Romans, you would have wrapped your toga around you, strolled through the gardens and watched your fellow Heros rolling round pebbles at a large object.

The actual origin of this popular summer sport is shrouded in mystery. Sports historians conclude it was a game of antiquity to become a game of consequence in early Egypt and later in Greece and Rome. Even the Greeks didn't have a name for it.

However there does exist sculptured vases, plaques, etc., to indicate that lawn bowls was played at least 2,500 or 4,000 years ago and that it found favor among royalty and the aristocracy of the times but was indulged in mainly by the oldsters among the rulers.

When the Caesars ruled Rome the game was known as "bocce" by which the sport is still known to Italians.

There is conclusive proof that the sport was indulged in in Europe as early as the 13th century. The English called it "bowles" later "bowling" and then "lawn bowling" to distinguish it from the game where balls are cast at pins.

Bowls was so well established in England in 1299 that a group of players formed the Southampton Town Bowling Club in that year. This pioneer club still is in very active existence and matches are played on the greens laid out over 600 years ago.

"Bowls", as a sport in England, has been praised more and condemned more perhaps than any game ever played. It was praised by those who were fascinated by it and condemned by those who regarded it as a "vicious form of gambling." Things came to such a pass in the 14th century that King Richard the Second, probably between marriages, issued an edict in 1511 in which he declared that "the game of bowls is an evil because, the alleys are operated to connivance with sinister or dissolute places and bowling has ceased to be a sport and rather a form of vicious gambling." Then he heaped the head of another profligate, figuring a head high was better than a pair of queens.

The ban was actually not lifted until 1845, although Henry's successors did not make any serious effort to crush the sport. The chief reason was every English monarch was a bowler with royal estates equipped with greens.

The Scots adopted the game in the 16th century and took to it with as much enthusiasm it was for a long time the national sport. To the Scots goes the credit for improving many of the rules and standardizing play. This was done gradually through nearly three centuries and, in 1846-49 the Scots, headed by W. W. Mitchell, one of the greatest bowls authorities that ever lived, framed the laws which, almost in toto, prevail today.

There is confusion in some places regarding lawn bowling and bowling with pins. The records state that they are not related games.

Monday, August 3, Civic Holiday, is the big day of the year for the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club. And especially 1953 for it was the inauguration of the beautiful new Corbin Gold Trophy, handsome successor to the one which was donated by the Corbin Lock Company ten years ago, and is now "retired."

Sportsmen of the city, and the citizenry as a whole, extend a cordial welcome to the visiting bowlers and their ladies and friends. The city is yours, gentlemen. We trust you will enjoy your stay here, and to those who are here on the first visit, you will find the hospitality of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club par excellence. That has been proven in ten years of tournament play.

Barons, Bisons Swap Players

CLEVELAND (CP)—Two Cadieux made switches Wednesday with the Americas Hockey League. Cleveland Barons announced they have traded right winger Steve Wochy of Weston, Ont., to Buffalo Bisons for Don Ashbee, a 22-year-old left winger from Fort William.

Wochy, 20, played for Detroit, Indianapolis, Omaha and Philadelphia before coming to Cleveland. He led the AHL two years ago with 37 goals and was second last year, again with 37.

Ashbee played for Syracuse Warriors last winter.

Gain Full Game Over Braves To Extend Margin to Eight; Champs Scalp Indians 7-3

By KEN PHLEGAR

More and more Brooklyn Dodgers current western trip is beginning to look like the triumphant tour of a reigning monarch.

It is still theoretically a pennant race in the National League, but a glance at the standings today shows its more theory than race. The Dodgers lead by eight games over second-place Milwaukee with 57 left to play for each club.

The Dodgers could still blow it, but it wouldn't be easy.

Brooklyn shaded Chicago 6-5 Wednesday and gained a full game over the Braves who bowed 3-2 to the Giants in Milwaukee. The Phillies fell apart in Cincinnati, losing 13-4. St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 5-2.

Score 5 in Ninth

New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox widened their lead over their first division cohorts in the American League. The Yankees turned back Cleveland for the second straight time 7-3 and the White Sox exploded for eight runs in the ninth inning to whip the Red Sox 8-3. The league leads New York by 5½ games but Boston has dropped 9½ behind and Cleveland 10.

In second division battles in the American League Washington trounced Detroit 13-5 with Mickey Vernon blasting a three-run homer run and two singles and Philadelphia made it two in a row over Baltimore 5-3.

The Dodgers used their entire base artillery in Chicago to score five runs in the fourth inning and added what proved to be the winning run in the fifth when Gil Hodges walked with two outs, scored on a double by Roy Campanella. The 11 hit attack included five extra base blows with Duke Snider's 20th home run topping the list. The Cubs chased Russ Meyer with four runs in the seventh.

The Giants broke a string of 22 scoreless innings against Milwaukee before their 20th home run off Whitey Lockman led off with a triple and Al Dark brought him home with a single. Dark later scored on Monte Irvin's single. A double by Bobby Thomson and a single by Wes Westrum in the second produced the run the Giants needed to win.

Cincinnati drove Robin Roberts to the Phils to the shower for the second time this season and the assortment of throwers who followed the ace to the mound could do little to silence the Redlegs' bats. Ted Kluszewski and Hobie Landrith honored for Cincinnati.

The St. Louis battle against Johnny Lindell and two Pirate relief men included four doubles, a triple by Enos Slaughter and Solly Hemus 11th home run with a man aboard. Harvey Haddix scattered seven hits in winning his 12th game against four losses.

Maury McDermott fanned the White Sox at Boston for eight innings on two hits but they pounded him out of the box in the ninth with an all-out attack.

The Yankees spotted Cleveland three early runs, caught up by the end of five and then won the game with four in the sixth. Billy Martin drove in a pair with his 10th home run. Bob Lemon failed in his effort to be the first pitcher to beat the Yankees three times this season.

Bisons Forge Slowly Ahead In International

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Buffalo Bisons aren't on easy street yet, but they are getting there gradually.

Wednesday night, the International Baseball League leaders defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 4-2 while Rochester Red Wings fell 5-3 to Syracuse Chiefs and Montreal Royals dropped a 5-4 decision to Ottawa Athletics.

This combination put the Herd 2½ games ahead of the Wings and the Royals—the biggest lead the club has had since taking over the top spot from Montreal. Rochester is in second place, two percentage points over the Royals.

The Bisons' Paul Foytack turned in a masterful three-hit performance to stop the Leafs at Toronto for his eighth win of the campaign and fourth over the Leafs. Eddie Kazak and Emil Restaino whacked homers for Buffalo.

Righthander Lynn Lovenguth tossed five-hitter to tame the Wings at Rochester, although one of the hits off the Syracuse hurler was Lou Ortiz' ninth round-tripper of the year.

Third baseman Wally Rogers batted in four runs at the Canadian capital to spark the A's victory. Higbee homs two in the first and tripled across two more in the fifth.

At Springfield, the Cubs came up with a 4-3 decision over Baltimore Orioles in snap 7 seven-game losing streak. Big Jim Brosnan went all the way on the mound for the tail-enders.

Tigers Nip Petes In Surprise Win

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tigers moved into third place in the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior circuit Wednesday night, two points ahead of Perms, when they scored a surprise 13-11 victory over the league-leading Peterborough Timbermen.

The Timbermen outscored the Tigers 9-4 in the first half of the game but the strain of playing two games on successive nights took its toll in the second half. Hamilton outscored the Timbermen 6-1 in the last half to force overtime play.

The top Hamilton scorer was Jack Sibbald with three. Two-goal men were McLean, Dorney and Doyle.

Slater and Mason were the best for Peterborough, each scoring three goals. Ashbee, tallied twice for the timbermen with Smith, Hildebrand and O'Hearn getting singles.

The Saxons are said to have derived their name from the sexs, a short thrusting sword.

Top Three Teams 'Piggy-Back' in Intercounty Loop

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Senior Intercounty Baseball League continues to be a statistician's nightmare. The three top teams again exchanged places Wednesday night, a feat they have accomplished with monotonous regularity for the last five weeks.

Brantford Red Sox and St. Catharines Athletics tumbled out of their first-place tie to remain at Loggerheads for the runner-up position as Waterloo Tigers moved into the league leadership.

Oshawa Merchants sent the Pirates reeling 19-1, while Waterloo moved to the top with a 6-4 decision over the Red Sox. At the same time, Guelph Maple Leafs clicked for their fifth victory in six games to drop Galt Terriers 13-3.

Oshawa scored twice in the first inning at Kitchener and were never headed. Kitchener scored its lone run in the fourth.

Bud Rippelmeyer limited the Panthers to three hits over the nine innings, walking five and fanning three. Dick Walker, the Kitchener starter, was charged with the loss. He gave way to Cy Rickford in the fourth.

Butch Lawing was Oshawa's big man at the plate, driving in five runs with three hits, one of them a third-inning homer with one aboard.

Waterloo came up with four runs in the eighth inning to stab Brantford after the Red Sox had taken a 4-3 lead in the fifth. Lee Grillo fell walked two Tigers who came home when Harry Musselman slammed a double down the centre, crossing the plate as a throw from the outfield got away from catcher Jim Clifford.

Tommy McGrattan of the Tigers was the victor on the pitching, hitting five for five.

Guelph came up its game early and was leading 6-1 by the end of the third. Jim Gray and Gene Hall were on base in the hitfilled three for five.

Leafs continued to play smart fielding ball, going errorless while Terriers committed four miscues with all of Guelph's runs being unearned.

A scheduled game at St. Thomas between the Elgins and London Majors was rained out. It will be played tonight.

Sport in Brief

CHICAGO (AP) — Tam O'Shanter par was slaughtered Wednesday in a hot qualifying round of littleknown pros and top practicing pros up by exempted big shots as they polished up for the $50,000 All-American golf meet.

The field for today's start of the 72-hole medal grind will number about 150 in men's pro division, half of them being qualifiers in trial tests Wednesday and Tuesday.

Those exempted, based mainly on last year's tournament records, included Lloyd Mangrum, who starred in the game, as well as 20 foreign champions and former champions being paid by promoter George Bay. Ben Hogan did not enter.

Practice rounds reported Indru tied 66 by Pete Cooper, perennial contender from White Plains, N.Y.; 67 by Australian Norman von Nida and Peter Thomson and 68 by Lew Worsham, former U.S. Open champion.

But while the more prominent pros were having a frolic over the 6,900-yard, par 36-36—72 course, were the lesser lights in qualifying sessions.

PICTON (CP)—More than 100 entries have been received for Canada's premier power boating event, the competition has been held here annually since 1937.

Art Hatch of Hamilton, winner of last year's Gold Cup for the 225 cubic inch hydroplanes, will defend his title. Entries have also been received from Kenmore, N.Y., Brockville, Ottawa, Smiths Falls, Que., Cornwall, Syracuse, Gananoque and Wexford.

DAVOS, Switzerland (AP)—The International Skating Federation announced Wednesday that the 1954 world speed skating championships will be held at Sapporo, Japan, Jan. 16-17.

The world figure skating championships will be held in Oslo, Norway, Feb. 14-20. European speed skating championships will be held in Davos, Feb. 6-7 and European figure skating championships in Bolzano, Italy, Jan. 28-31.

LONDON (AP)—Len Hutton, one of the world's greatest batsmen, will captain a strong England cricket team on the winter tour of the West Indies.

Hutton, England's skipper against the Australians this summer, will be the first paid player to captain an official England touring team. All the other captains have been amateurs.

The Marylebone cricket club, governing body of English cricket, made the announcement Wednesday.

Cricket Extension Test

LONDON (Reuters)—The English cricket board of control has asked the Australian board to agree to an extension of the fifth and final Test match between the two countries to six days, it was announced Wednesday.

It starts here Aug. 15 after the first four matches ended in draws. The English request would give some extra days of play and would make a decisive victory for one team more likely.

In county cricket Wednesday, Surrey made a good start in a return match against the Australian visitors, scoring 262 for the loss of five first innings wickets. The reigning country champions beaten by an innings in their first encounter with the visitors, were greatly helped by a second wicket stand of 128 by David Fletcher and Peter May. Fletcher scored 76 runs.

Final scores in Wednesday's first class matches:

Surrey 262 for five vs Australian Tourists.

Middlesex 161 for three vs Hampshire (match restricted play).

Lancashire 265, Worcestershire 106 for no wicket.

Essex 262 for six declared, Somerset 82 for one.

Gloucestershire 301, Nottinghamshire eight for no wicket.

Leicestershire 287, Warwickshire 12 for one.

LEWES, England (CP) — Remains of a 300-year-old bar were found by workmen repairing a house near Lewes Castle. They also found a Delft punchbowl, beer mugs stamped William III, a number of wine sacks and jugs.

RECORD CROP

SYDNEY (CP)—Australian wool production this year is expected to reach a record level of 1,175,000,000 pounds, or more than a quarter of the world total. This would be an increase of 125,000,000 pounds in the Australian yield over last year.

'Dolly Todd' Double Winner

TORONTO (CP)—The struggle between Jack Mashbesher's Vanguard from Hagersville and Bob Landers' Dolly Todd from Orangeville took two outright at Thorncliffe Raceway again Wednesday in the $1,500 preview of the $4,000 Maple Leaf trot.

This time the people's betting choice, Vandusen, lost both heats to the fast-breaking Dolly Todd, who paid $6.60 for each heat.

In the first heat Landers took Dolly Todd to the front, as usual, but in order to stave off Vanguard's typical driving finish he set a pace so slow that his mare had as much left as Mashbesher's gelding for the stretch run.

In the second heat Dolly went to the front again and once more, held her margin. Vandusen was second in both heats.

Old Golf Feud May be Renewed

MONTREAL (CP) — There's a chance that C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville of London, Ont., and the late Jerome Travers, the final of the United States amateur golf championship back in 1932 will meet again.

As part of the added attractions in connection with the $25,000 Labatt Open at the Montreal Summerlea course Aug. 20-23, tournament officials have announced an exhibition match and report Somerville has accepted.

Johnny Goodman is the man Somerville defeated. Sandy thereby becoming the only Canadian to win the U.S. amateur. Goodman added officials from Los Angeles that he would like to play and put on the Montreal if business matters permit.

One out of every three persons living on United States farms in 1949 had a non-farming job.

Sports Roundup

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Ted Williams is back and the stories out of Boston are "might" be able to do some pinch hitting in about 18 days. You wouldn't want to bet, mister, would you?

A couple more days like Wednesday when Chicago scored eight runs against Boston in the ninth inning, and Ted Lepcio will have to take his batting practice between the hours of 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. in Williams' room.

Williams' return naturally recalls the dramatic comeback of Hank Greenberg in 1945. Hank, a captain in the U.S. army air force, was away for four years before he returned to Detroit Tigers. He hit a home run in his first game, played 78 and wound up with a .311 average.

That final damp day at Sportsman's Park in St. Louis never will be forgotten by those who were there. Washington already had finished its season with an 87-67 record. Detroit, rained out Saturday, went into a final Sunday doubleheader at St. Louis with an 87-65 record. If Detroit won both or split, they were in. If they lost two, there would be a playoff Monday.

In baseball, nothing is impossible. The Red Sox trail the Yanks by 9½ in the league race and are beginning to run out on them. Still they have a chance to play a series with New York, nine with Cleveland and seven with Chicago.

The Yanks don't see the Red Sox again until Sept. 7 when Williams is due to be back in the lineup as the regular left fielder. And five of the eight September games with the Yanks are at Yenway park.

They say Ted will get about $50,000 for the balance of the year. That comes out to about $1,000 a game, the rest of the league ought to chip in to help the Sox pay the freight, but Williams' return will be the greatest attendance tonic the league could have.

TACKLE HIMALAYAN PEAK

BOMBAY (CP)— A seven-man, French-led mountain climbing expedition will attempt to conquer the 28,000-foot Himalayan peak of Nun Kun. Two attempts by British teams before the Second World War to scale the peak, located northeast of Kashmir were unsuccessful.

DON JONATHAN

There'll be no "flang-overs" in tomorrow night's melee between Nanjo the Banjo, Fred Atkins and Timmy Geohagen and Don Jonathan at Memorial Arena. The Geohagen-Jonathan team nearly ripped the rafters out of Morse Frank Tunney's office in their demands for a rematch, and the youngsters got it. There'll be fun, fury and fireworks when the four meet Friday. Ilio DiPaolo meets Dangerous Dan O'Connor with Don Lewin tangling with Al Costello in the other bouts.

Peewee Softball

Boyce's defeated Blaind's by a score of 14-11 in a scheduled peewee softball league game at Firemen's Park last night.

MacDonald went all the way for the winners giving up 16 hits, whiffing five and walking two. He helped his own cause with a double and two singles.

Hull and Donovan shared the mound duties for Blaind's giving up 20 hits altogether and one and walking four between them.

Blaind hit four singles for the winners with Stoneberg getting two doubles and a single. Green had a double and two singles and Moore hit a homer.

Norm Tri hit three singles and a triple for Blaind's with McGuire having three singles. Boyce's pulled a doubleup double play in the final innings.

Bantam Baseball

Behind the two hit pitching of Glen Bennett, the Drive-In Theatre sent Schwab's bantam baseballers down to their third straight defeat by a score of 6-0.

Bennett went all the way on the hill for the Drive-In, getting four on strikes and walking but one. St. Louis did the hurling for Schwab's, fanning eight and passing one.

Wannamaker was best at the plate for the winners slamming out a triple and a single. Donato, Beeby, and Cook were the other hitters for the Drive-In, each getting singles.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

BY SAM GORDON

The Kibitzer

One good lesson in leads will do a bridge player more good than years of experience. The reason is that each lead has a conventional meaning; that partner expects to fit his play to the signal.

In a session on leads a player should be taught to lead fourth best from a suit of four or more cards; not to lead away from an ace or a king against a suit contract; to apply the rule of 11.

When a small card is led, subtract the number on it from 11. It will tell you how many higher cards in that suit are held in the three hands outside of declarer; and thus what declarer holds.

The hearts in the four hands of a deal are shown here:

NORTH
♥ Q 6 3

WEST ♥J 9 8 5 | EAST ♥K 10 7

SOUTH
♥A 4 2

South is declarer at four spades. The lead from west is the five of hearts. Subtract this number five from 11. The answer is six. What does this tell you?

It tells you there are exactly six hearts higher than the five in the three hands outside of west. That is, a total of six hearts higher than the five will be in north and east and south.

You are east, as the partner of the leader in west. Take a look at the dummy hand and you will see there, two hearts that are higher than a five. Your own hand has three higher.

Only six hearts higher than a five are in the hands outside of west. You see five of them in the north dummy and your own hand. So, declarer in south can have no more than one heart higher than a five.

The one south heart higher than the five will be the ace. How do you know this? West should not lead away from an ace or a king. If dummy plays the six you know your play in east is your seven.

You know your seven will force the south ace. Therefore, it is safe for you to save your ten and king for a later round. If this has any appeal to you, neither have you to a bridge partner.

Belleville Rink Wins Bowling Gold Trophy

Two Belleville rinks won top honors at the lawn bowling tournament held in Victoria yesterday sponsored by the Trenton Lawn Bowling Club.

Ab Wennacott's rink won the handsome Benedict-Proctor Gold Trophy when it finished first in the three-games-high. Other members of the rink were Wilfred Price, vice; Harold Parker and Garn Dobbs.

The rink skipped by Austin Watkin won the honors in the two-games-high tourney. Other rink members were vice, Gerry Hyde, Fred Harper and Bill Nicholls.

Some eighteen rinks from the district took part in the tournament. The greens were in excellent condition according to the Belleville bowlers.

SMOKE IN THE LOGES

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The last of the short subjects comedians today predicted a return to the brief comedies that used to be on every movie program.

The sole remaining practitioners of a noble craft—silly one-reel and two-reel comedies—are the Three Stooges. They still are playing the field that gave stardom to Charlie Chaplin, Harold Lloyd, Buster Keaton, W. C. Fields, Fatty Arbuckle, Laurel and Hardy and other greats.

Since the deaths of Edgar Kennedy and Leon Errol, the Stooges are the only comics left in shorts series. They now are celebrating their 20th year in shorts by making some 3D subjects.

"Comedy shorts are coming back," observes Moe Howard, the guy in the middle who deals out the knocks to the other two. They've got to. The studios are going in for big productions. That's means they'll have to round out the theatre program with a news, cartoon and comedy.

"And since so many of the big pictures are dramas, that means they'll need some comedy relief to balance the bill."

The Stooges' comedy is a relief to everyone but themselves. They take a terrific beating. Although Moe generally bops his partners, he is the one who usually gets hurt in the filming. Since he plays the bully, he generally gets his just deserts in some violent manner.

"I cracked up three of my ribs in one scene," says Moe.

"Another time I nearly blinded my fork. I was nearly blinded three times—once with lampblack, once with granite dust and another time with mud."

Moe says one of the reasons their comedies have succeeded over the years: "It's the downfall of dignity. The things we do to dignify people is something awful. I feel people is something awful. I think everybody likes to laugh at a comedy.

SQUELCH RAGWEED

YARMOUTH, N.S. (CP)—Spraying of ragweed was carried out again this year by the Yarmouth county tourist committee, which years ago made Yarmouth the first town in Nova Scotia to attack ragweed as a community effort. While the golden count is low, efforts are being made to eliminate the hay-fever menace entirely.

Had Poor Appetite, Always Tired. Limbs Back Sore, Painful. Tells How She Got First Relief by Taking Syntona.

"After the good results I got by taking Syntona Herbal Compound I will recommend this medicine to anyone suffering as I did," said Mrs. Reta Lucas, 1169 York Street London, Ontario, in a recent report.

"I felt terribly rundown and had lost considerable weight. I had a poor appetite and what food I did eat caused awful gassy pains, indigestion and constipation. My back was sore and painful and I was always tired. Nothing would seem to relieve the full heavy, bloated feeling. Constipation was a daily worry to me and I suffered from nervousness and dizziness. I was nervous and irritable and had poor sleep. Reading

Increasing Toll Of Traffic Deaths Worries Britain

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's jay-walkers, who at present enjoy complete freedom to step out unchallenged amid heavy traffic, may be forced by law to obey safety rules on the roads.

Transport Minister Alan Lennox Boyd told the House of Commons he is considering the "revolutionary" change in a bid to stamp out the mounting slaughter on the road.

The government also proposes new rules for cyclists and motor-cyclists and more speeding to iron out accident black-spots, he announced.

"Even the most crusty pedestrian has got to recognize the fact that the road has become a dangerous," Lennox-Boyd told the House. "Fifty thousand accidents a year are due to pedestrians."

'Sudden' Crossings

Early last year the government completed the installation of black-and-white striped "Belisha" crossings along the highways of Britain. Traffic has to halt to let pedestrians to use these crossings.

But already the novelty is wearing off in some areas and jay-walking continues, Lennox - Boyd said.

Jay-walkers in Britain can cross against traffic lights or a police-man's signal without breaking the law, though they are normally charged for "careless" or "dangerous" conservation.

The minister estimated road accidents cost Britain £150,000,000 ($420,000,000) a year. In the first six months of this year road accidents totalled 163,000, including 3,216 killed, an increase of 1,000 over the corresponding period last year.

Made Causes

He gave main causes of accidents as pedestrians stepping into the path of traffic on the road without proper care; careless crossing at road junctions; drivers turning to the right—Britain drives on the left side of the road—recklessness; and overtaking.

Speed is not the cause of accidents, he said, because 90 per cent of them occur in towns where the 30-miles-an-hour limit is enforced.

STARTS LONG SWIM

BERGEN, Norway (AP) — A polar bear bound for a German zoo broke out of a cage on a Bergen pier and dived into the swim home, roughly about 1,500 miles. The bear was taken captive in the Spitsbergen area. Harbor police went out in a launch, roped the animal and towed it back to port.

JUDGE HELPFUL

LONDON (CP)—A lawyer spelling in court stumbled twice over the pronunciation of Machynlleth, a Montgomeryshire town. "It's pronounced Mac-in-leth," the judge helpfully. But his suggestion that the lawyer "say it three times after me" was declined.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Sunny weather with few humidity days expected today and most of day throughout Ontario. Indications are that Sunday will be somewhat cooler with light northeasterly winds and afternoon thunderstorms possible. Low 50 in the Windsor area to 70 in northern regions.

There is a threat of showers or thunderstorms late Saturday for western regions, as warm humid air returns aloft. The border line of the cool air mass that lies south of the Great Lakes but has begun to roll back toward Lake Ontario on the west side of Lake Michigan.

SENATOR TAFT DIES ON FRIDAY AT NEW YORK

Death Is Said Result Of Malignant Tumors

NEW YORK (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft, the Senate Republican leader, died today in New York hospital.

"Senator Taft's life came to an end quietly and without pain at 11:30 a.m., EDT July 1, 1953," a hospital bulletin said.

The bulletin said "his death was the result of wide-spread highly malignant, rapidly growing tumors."

This was the first official word on the nature of his ailment.

Taft's death reduces the Republican membership in the Senate to 47, one less than that of the Democrats. The line-up now is 47 Democrats, 48 Republicans and one Independent.

Taft's four sons were at his side when he died. His wife, Martha, an invalid, was at the family home in Washington. She was knocked down Tuesday in a wheelchair for a visit to her husband, but friends said she was too ill to make another visit.

Taft, 63, was the son of former President William Howard Taft and a candidate against Dwight Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination last year. He entered the hospital July 4 for treatment of what was described as a hip ailment.

Increase Target For Food Parcels To Three Million

By RICHARD RASSCHENK

BERLIN (AP)—West Berlin officials announced today they had stepped their target to 3,000,000 free food parcels for Communist China. The move came as Western food stations braced for a week-end influx of refugees expected to boost the first week's distribution past the million mark.

The mob-like rush of the hungry increased despite an East German Communist police announcement that they are confiscating the "unjustified identity cards" of applicants for the Western food. Without the cards the refugees are exposed to jail sentences as criminals.

Communist police also toured factories, offices and homes in the Russian-controlled zone forcing the people to sign pledges they would "not go to Berlin for the American packages." Many signed but others were expected to come anyway.

As the food program moved into its fifth day, approximately 650,000 parcels had been handed out and West Berlin officials indicated that even the expanded target of 3,000,000 might not prove enough.

Twitching of Diviners' Pendulums Brings Gold Fever to French Port

LA ROCHELLE, France (Reuters) — An old seaport is suffering from a gold-fever.

When the salvage workers struck wood, local inhabitants joined in the digging with the promise of a reward for the finder of gold.

Local records say the schooner La Lumineuse was paid out on a maiden voyage from the United States in 1821. The records also say she was pillaged of a quantity of gold and jewels.

But the theft folk preferred to believe the board was untouched and down the years the amount of gold grew from 100 pounds to "several dozen tons."

"It is the ship's captain's word," told of the "electric currents," of the diviners' rods to believe in diving," she said, "but when I tried the pendulum myself, it almost fell out of my hands."

Professional diviners also felt the "irresistible call" and said there must be about 36 tons of metal under the sand. "The theory was that part of the cargo was melted and the shoreline had moved out several hundred yards.

U.S. Bomber Was Shot Down By Red Planes Off Siberia

TOKYO (AP)—A U.S. airman rescued from the sea a few miles off Siberia said his B29 bomber was shot down by Russian fighters, Gen. O. P. Weyland, Far East air force commander, said tonight.

Moscow said Thursday two Soviet fighters exchanged shots with a B29 over Vladivostok.

Capt. John E. Roche, Washington, D.C., told Weyland the bomber was shot down nearly after 6:15 a.m. about 40 miles off the Russian coast.

The air force said the plane was on a navigational training mission Weyland said the crew parachuted, reviewed the rescued co-pilot.

Roche was picked from the water by a navy destroyer, the Picking, after having been in the water 12 hours in a boat dropped by a search plane.

Headquarters said Roche was in good physical condition and had only bruises on his head and face suffered when he bailed out of the bomber.

16 Airmen Lost

The plane carried 16 other crew members. The search for more survivors was abandoned today.

Moscow charged Thursday that a B-29 flew over the Siberian coast near the big port of Vladivostok Wednesday and opened fire as two Soviet fighters rose to intercept it.

In a strongly-worded note delivered to the U.S. embassy, Moscow said the fighters returned the fire and the bomber disappeared in the direction of the sea.

The note demanded that the U.S. government see to it that Russia's frontier is not violated and that the "guilty fliers" be punished.

U.S. state department officials in Washington declined to comment.

The B-29 was on temporary duty with the Far East Air Forces and had been operating from Japan.

The B-29 normally carries a crew of 10.

Roche was picked up from a small regene boat dropped Thursday night by a U.S. Air Force SA-16 Albatross. It had be was about 40 miles south of Mys (cape) Povorotny, Siberia, 30 miles east of Vladivostok, Vladivostok, some 600 miles northwest of Tokyo, probably the biggest naval base in the Far East.

Drew Demands St. Laurent Repudiate Letter to Forces

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

Voters got a mixed bag of election advice today from political leaders, a "dishonest" campaign letter, trade and forest resources.

Hon. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, demanded Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent immediately repudiate a "dishonest" election letter which he said was sent to Conservatives in the name of Prime Minister Duncan K. McDavish of Ottawa, president of the National Liberal Federation.

Speaking at Sarnia, Ont., Mr. Drew quoted the letter as saying that Progressive Conservatives think the government has been extravagant in providing "lavishness and luxury" for the unemployed.

He said the letter had references to Progressive Conservative policies against "the people's independence spending and said Liberal candidates in Ontario were urged to share in Canada's high standard of living.

Mr. Drew termed the letter "one of the most dishonest communications in the history of any political party" and he wants the prime minister to say he knew nothing about it and to message all troops telling them the Liberal party repudiates it.

"If the prime minister doesn't, there are not advocating a reduction in national standards, we are opposed to is the reckless and very dangerous misuse of funds."

Earlier at Fredericton, Que., Mr. Drew said Canada under a Progressive Conservative government "no action would not "hang on to the coattails of Uncle Sam or anyone else."

Advocates Firm Talk

A Progressive Conservative government would talk "frankly and firmly" to the United States about Canada's interest in securing Canadian goods and also take action to maintain a reasonable wealth market for Canadian farm produce.

Mrs. St. Laurent, also campaigning in Ontario, told a Brantford audience Liberal policies are the "magic formula" for solving the pound-dollar problem, "it is going right down to the root with courage and endeavor."

He referred to Mr. Drew's promise that if he became prime minister he would immediately fly to Britain to try to untie the sterling-dollar inconvertibility knot and back more Canadian exports of goods.

"He said he would go over and talk about the markets," Mr. St. Laurent said. "Well, we were over talking about markets last December. And we talked about markets again in London and in Washington in June. The dollar-pound barrier was set up by the United Kingdom government. And they are trying to do their best to remove it. I think they are better business just as well as Mr. Drew does."

Convertibility was "just as apt to be done by Rab Butler (Britain's chancellor of the exchequer) as through good will on his part and on the part of officials of Canada and the United States as anything. Mr. Drew does after Aug. 18," the prime minister said.

Speaks 3 Times

The prime minister spoke in eight communities during the fourth and last day of his south-western Ontario tour. He had a good deal about the need for Canada to continue to build up her defences against any possible Communist aggression.

Hon. Howard C. Green, CCF leader M. J. Coldwell talked about British Columbia's No. 1 industry—forest. He said the Liberal government's "spotty and shortsighted" policies had failed to develop forest resources indispensable to Canada's prosperity.

British exploitation of forest lands by private enterprise had benefited only a few people, Mr. Coldwell said. There had been excessive cutting of valuable trees and resulting floods, fires and unemployment in millions of dollars.

The CCF leader said Canada needs a national conservation policy and government ownership. Provincial governments would make sure that logging did not exceed regrowth.

Social Credit Leader Solon E. Low, Jolliffe, Ontario CCF leader, said Liberal and Progressive Conservatives have no programs at all except the policy of expediency, he and Jolliffe said.

Would Aid Sick

Low said a Social Credit government would make sure that all Canadians received adequate medical care.

Jolliffe said the CCF would provide a national contributory health insurance plan.

Mr. Drew's cabinet ministers, as well as Mr. Diefenbaker, took to the air in Ontario and Quebec broadcasts over CBC networks.

Finance Minister Abbott said the Liberal philosophy was that individual freedom is shown by government intervention only in the day-to-day administration. An attempt was made to minimize regimentation.

Transport Minister Chevrier said that Liberal policies had enabled Canada "struggled out of world depression, developed a measure of strength for a global war . . . (and) moved into peacetime prosperity" and had created jobs.

International Problems

L. B. Pearson, external affairs minister, said: "In the years before us, we are certain to have to face serious, dangerous international problems, on which the greatest issue of all, peace and war, may be decided. That issue still hangs in the balance."

Prince Edward Island Premier J. Pickrergill contended that the big price paid for the Far East should be the "paramount" reason for re-electing the Liberals in Ottawa.

At Winnipeg, Stanley Knowles, CCF national health spokesperson in Centre in the last Commons, said no one can measure the loss in human lives and production in Canada because the country lacks a national health insurance plan.

At London, Ont., Tim Buck, leader of the Labor-Progressive (Communist) party said that in Canada there is a "vicious gang of bankers that is rapidly transferring to U.S. capitalists 'the valuable natural resources of this country.'"

Today, Mr. St. Laurent is scheduled to call at eight towns along Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence River between Kingston and Cornwall. Mr. Drew speaks at Chatham and Windsor, and Mr. Coldwell at Penticton, B.C.

HITS AT BRITISH 'BLOOD TRAFFIC' WITH RED CHINA

Senator Mundt Angry At British Trade Plan

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Karl Mundt (Rep. S. D.) today denounced what he termed new "blood traffic" by British traders with Red China, and called again for a complete halt to foreign aid to Britain.

Mundt pointed to an announcement from London Wednesday that Britain had authorized immediate export to China of nearly $10,000,000 worth of non - strategic goods. The announcement came from an unofficial British trade group, which made clear its government want to ship the Reds an equal value of goods on the normal trade straight-list for peace purposes. The British board of trade declined comment on the announcement.

Mundt said he plans to call the London announcement to the attention of the U. S. state department and the British security agency.

McCarthy Gives Support

Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.), another bitter critic of British trade with Russia's puppet Reds, backed up Mundt's declaration. McCarthy waged a futile battle to prevent the British and 16 other U. S. allies from shipping goods to Red China for hard money and we are putting up billions of dollars in aid and are cutting down the possibility of any peace with Red China.

The London announcement, was made by the British Council for the Promotion of International Trade, a private group which says its aim is "to assist in the trade with Iron Curtain countries.

Could Have Changed Vote

Mundt said he believes the announcement, if it had come to Senate attention in time, would have swung enough votes to write McCarthy's penalty amendment into the foreign aid bill.

State Secretary Dulles told Mundt Thursday that the British campaign over the issue of Allied trade with the Reds, that the U. S. had threatened to withhold aid from countries which traded with the Communists.

Dulles said then that U. S. policy, while beneficial to the free world, Reds altogether, acknowledged the right of free world countries to trade with Red China for strategic goods. The theory, Dulles said, is that the Reds will be forced into controllable trade of this sort than to attempt to block it and run the risk of opening up wide, uncontrollable trade channels.

60-Mile Walk Wins Tomcat Taffy 'Puss'n Boots' Medal in England

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—"Taffy" is a gallant cat, a medal.

Owned by Mr. and Mrs. Larry Joyce of London, "Taffy" has been chosen as the outstanding example of feline intelligence, devotion and loyalty.

He will become "Taffy" walked 60 miles.

In October, 1951, the tomcat hiked from Mr. Joyce's in London after an unscheduled truck ride to a fair. It took the cat seven days, 17 pounds of flesh and a few layers of paw tissue to make the return journey home.

The story of this escapade caught the eyes of the Puss'n Boots bronze award selection committee which decided the medal and citation for valor belonged to "Taffy."

In making its selection the committee said that "news stories of this kind further an interest in the intelligence and loyalty of cats and stimulate an appreciation of their true worth as companions of man."

MORRISBURG (CP) — Possibly 20 persons were drowned today after a Colonial Coach Lines express bus from Montreal plunged into the Williamsburg canal two miles west of here. The big bus struck a panel truck parked on the highway and both vehicles toppled into the canal.

Officials of the bus company said there were 37 passengers on the vehicle when it left Kingston, Ont., not including the bus driver. Seventeen of them survived the tragedy and many are en route to Montreal by bus.

The bus driver, Lorne Cheeseborough of Kingston, also survived and is unconscious in hospital at Cornwall. The driver of the truck, Max Boodman of Toronto also was taken to hospital but was not seriously injured.

REMOVE 10 BODIES

Ten bodies were removed from the submerged bus and taken to the Keck Funeral House in Morrisburg. The bus was pulled from the canal with a cable and winch about 10:30 a.m. with at least 10 bodies still in it.

The bodies were left in the bus which was towed to Morrisburg.

Five of the dead have been identified. They are:

Weston Dock, Fredericton, N.B.; Robert C. Bird, Hamilton, Ont.; Joseph McCadden, Glace Bay, N.S.; Gustave Roy, Montreal; Edvina Timermanis, Duparquet, Que.

Another three of the dead were described by police as "unidentified women."

When the bus plunged into the canal, the passengers struggled through windows and doors to save themselves.

Most of the 10 bodies taken to the Keck Funeral Home were recovered by a transport department diver. Some of the bodies were found on the bottom of the canal.

Accident at 5 a.m.

The accident occurred about 5 a.m. EDT, on No. 2 highway where the highway, the canal and the Part yields cut off a point. When the panel truck both plunged into the Hapide Plat canal, which is the St. Lawrence seaway channel, the Williamsburg canal. In the dim light shortly after dawn rescuers could see the bus lights burning under water.

The two vehicles plummetted down a 30-foot embankment and the bus fell 60 feet into the canal. It immediately known if there were anyone aboard the panel truck, still in the canal.

The accident snarled highway traffic for hours as shipping was brought to a standstill.

Parked Across Road

A spokesman for Colonial Coach Lines in Montreal said the bus left Toronto at two-heading from Toronto to Montreal. The driver of the second bus was flagged down by a motorist who was leaving Cornwall, Ont., and warned there was trouble ahead. The bus driver parked across the road a short distance up the highway.

Mrs. Grant Beckstead who lives across the highway from the spot where the bus left the road said the noise woke her and her family.

"We didn't think it was so serious at first. There was a west wind and we didn't hear the cries for help. They heard them at the bus house," she said. My boy brother-in-law Malbon Beckstead.

"The ones who survived lined up at the bank and were taken to my brother-in-law's house where they gave them tea.

Calls for Bids On Kingston Road

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Department of highways today called for construction bids on bridge and culvert structures of the Kingston by-pass.

The plans call for an underpass of Montreal Street, a three-span bridge across the five-track Canadian National Railways right of way and an underpass of Highway 15 at the northeast end of the city. Construction of the by-pass will add another link to the four-lane expressway, Highway 401, now being built between Windsor and Montreal.

water with the lights still on; that was about half an hour after the accident. My husband went down in the water.

In Ottawa, the transport department said its canal officials were not aware of the bus accident and closed the canal to navigation. The ban on shipping will remain in effect until all bodies are accounted for.

The transport department diver, C. J. Maguire of Morrisburg, was on the scene and was taken with his diving gear and a boat. He it was pulled ashore by three wrecker trucks.

The diver then went down again in attempt to get a cable on the truck.

The bus, a Toronto-to-Montreal express, did not stop in Belleville, passed through this city at 1.05 a.m.

Parking Lot Now Available

A free municipal parking lot is now available to motorists on land south of Pinnie's Park on Coleman Street. It was announced yesterday by Alderman Robert Dale, chairman of the city traffic committee. The parking lot will accommodate approximately 75 cars, it was stated.

The parking area at the intersection of Coleman and Water streets was formerly rough and little more than a commons. Under the direction of Alderman Dunlop it has been graded and there will be gravel put on, drained, and lighted for free parking.

Car Accident Takes Life of Thurlow Baby

Sharon McCormack, year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCormack, R.R.4 Belleville, died of head injuries in Belleville hospital late Thursday afternoon after she had been thrown into the windshield of her mother's arms when the car in which they were riding crashed into a telephone pole.

The accident occurred on the hard concession of Thurlow township four miles east of the city, when the steering gear on the car driven by Mrs. Elizabeth Greatrix a neighbor of Mrs. McCormack's broke. The car swung across the road, struck a rut in the ditch and crashed into the telephone pole. Mrs. McCormack suffered shock and minor cuts while Mrs. Greatrix escaped unhurt.

Mrs. Greatrix, with Mrs. McCormack and Sharon was driving in to Belleville at the time of the accident. The mishap took place about a mile from the McCormack home.

The little girl was taken to Belleville hospital where she died about three hours after receiving her injuries.

Provincial Constable Harry McConnell investigated the accident.

Sharon Yvonne McCormack, who had "marked her first birthday eight days ago, was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. James McCormack. She was born at Belleville.

Council Not in Sympathy With Added Costs for School

Erection of a new high school by the Bay of Quinte District High School Board at a cost greater than that on which the department of education grant will be based, will not receive the whole hearted approval of Belleville city council. The high school board will receive a letter to this effect from city council.

Final assent approval to erection of the proposed school, development of the site, architect's plans and other expenses is $875,000 but the government grant is paid at the rate of so much per classroom, this accepting is $690,000.

The $690,000 would provide one Gymnasium for the new school, according to Alderman Will but Countryman high school board members feel a second gymnasium is necessary. Under a new department of education policy no government grant would be paid on the extra gymnasium, and the estimated cost of the extra room would have to be paid by the municipalities making up the area school board.

Plans call for construction of the new school along Bridge street, immediately to the west of King George public school property. The property for the school site has already been purchased.

Delegation from Frank Street Complains of 'Shack Town' Condition

Just why a certain section of Frank street should be referred to as a "shack town" causing reduced value for the property of other home owners in the district was the question asked city council yesterday by a delegation from the Frank street district.

At one of the spokesmen for the delegation, A. G. Gailey said the condition had developed within the past three years and despite a promise from city hall that no further shacks would be permitted, three more shacks had been built in the area.

"We pay heavy taxes and have a right to expect some protection," Mr. Gailey added.

Mayor Haig said the matter had been brought to his personal attention until about a month ago. Since that time reports had been received from the fire engineer, the sanitary inspector and the building inspector and the matter had been turned over to the respective committees for action.

Commercial Area

The mayor asked if there was no problem of property owners in this area under the city zoning by-law only to be told by Alderman Keegan as chairman of the planning committee that this area was a commercial one. Mr. Keegan said he would look into the matter and see if the zoning by-law could be brought in.

Frank street residents said they also would like a sanitary sewer system. It was pointed out, however, that this was an engineering matter and that due to the elevation a sewage pumping station would be necessary and as this would be an expensive project.

Alderman Thomas added that sanitary sewers were installed as local improvements and that they levied directly against the taxpayers benefited. He advised that a petition would have to be taken up for presentation to council whereupon cost estimates could be worked out.

Too Much Dust

Another spokesman for the delegation complained that Frank street was very dusty and asked what the city could do about it.

The same spokesman asserted that College street was dangerous for pedestrians and asked what could be done about widening it.

Alderman Thomas noted this road was a boundary road and anything done would have to be with the approval of Thurlow township. He said there was some consideration of requesting the suburban roads commission to take over this road.

H.D. Bateman Appointed Acting Clerk

City comptroller Harold D. Bateman received official appointment as acting clerk at a special meeting of council held yesterday to provide legal signing officer for the many documents which pass through the clerk's office.

Early this year when former city clerk Wilfred Holmes was given leave of absence prior to his retirement, Mr. Bateman was also acting clerk by recommendation of council but without the formality or appointment by by-law he was unable to sign papers as city clerk. This duty had been carried out by Deputy Clerk Gordon Lummiss who resigned his position two weeks ago.

Documents File Up

Since then a great many documents such as deeds and conveyances have been filed up awaiting signature, of the city clerk, which Mr. Lummiss' departure no one had power to sign. Mr. Bateman is presently busy on these.

Yesterday special meeting of council was held primarily for appointment by by-law of a city official to act as clerk until a permanent appointment could be made and a recommendation was tabled naming City Treasurer Denny S. Denyes as acting clerk.

Alderman Duffy as chairman of a special committee appointed to investigate the feasibility of combining the clerk's job with some other city official position, observed that naming Mr. Denyes as acting clerk claiming that it would cause confusion with Mr. Bateman's return to the city.

Assessment Carries

He tabled an amendment naming Mr. Bateman as acting clerk and this was carried. If necessary Mr. Thurston will be brought back from his holidays to sign papers.

Alderman Duffy said that his committee was considerable investigation regarding city hall staff positions and would be in position to make their report in the near future.

Firemen Quell Minor Blazes

Nuisance fires that were extinguished before any damage was caused by firemen, were turned out on four different occasions Thursday and early Friday.

Thursday night fire fighters were called to Strachan street where a barn had caught fire from burning rubbish. Later they were called to a grass fire east of the Mead Johnson plant where the blaze burned over a considerable area before it was put out. The fire trucks were called to the grass blaze.

Mr. Thurston with firemen were called to the city dump and early Friday the reels were called to Warren Bridge where a pile of boxes caught fire, presumably from a spark.

Appeals for Safe Driving During Holiday Period

With traffic on provincial highways expected to reach record high levels over the holiday week-end, Inspector A. McDougall of the Ontario Provincial Police headquarters today called for the co-operation of motorists in driving carefully and in observing all traffic regulations.

"We are doing everything we can to prevent accidents on the highways, but unless we receive the co-operation of the motorists in driving carefully we cannot hope to avoid accidents," he said.

Paying attention to driving and keeping eyes on the road are two of the first requirements for safe driving, he says.

One safety driving precaution strongly recommended by the local police inspector is to never pass another vehicle if there is any chance the car ahead may make a left hand turn.

"It might just be that the driver of the car ahead might turn left without a signal and a serious accident could be the result," Inspector McDougall pointed out.

By-Law Bans Barbed Wire Fences in City

Erection of a barbed wire fence, or for that matter any kind of a fence with barbs, will be ruled out in Belleville in the future. A by-law to this effect was passed Thursday morning during a special meeting of city council.

No reason for the passing of the by-law was given, but a rather pointed question was asked by Alderman Don Thomas as member of the local parks board.

It seems that certain persons who object to paying admission to the fair grounds for sporting and other events are making a practice of climbing over the fence. Just to put a stop to this the parks board is contemplating stringing several strands of barbed wire about the top of the fence. Just how the new by-law would affect the parks board was what the alderman wanted to know.

City solicitor, R. A. Pringle said he did not think the order would apply to the city. "After all you can't sue yourself," was the observation.

He arrived in England last January, was arrested for sleeping in the open under a coronation grandstand outside Buckingham Palace, and declared he wanted an interview with Queen Elizabeth. Davis was discharged on condition that he leave the country and then was arrested again for not doing so, and was ordered deported. The British government paid his passage, $350. — Central Press Canadian.

U.S. BOMBER

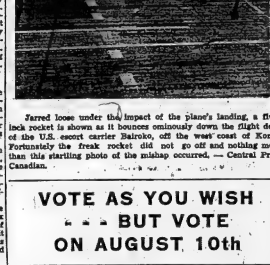
In Fourth Clash

U.S. and Soviet planes have clashed five times in the Far East in less than a year, a B-50 bomber on a weather flight from Alaska last March 15 opened fire on a Russian plane which attacked it east of Siberia's Kamchatka peninsula.

Last Oct. 8 a B-29 bomber was shot down by two Soviet fighters off northern Japan and on Feb. 15 U.S. fire fired on two Russian planes which flew over northern Japan. The U.S. Air Force said one of the Soviet aircraft was damaged.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. has information that Soviet vessels picked up a number of survivors from the U.S. B-29 plane shot down by Russian fighters off Siberia, it was disclosed today.



The state department announced it has protested to Moscow against the shooting down of the B-29 and asked "an immediate report" from Russian authorities on the condition of the survivors and plans for releasing them.

COMPULSORY VOTING NOT WANTED

The Ottawa Journal, annoyed at indifference to the recent campaign, recently published a stinging rebuke to those citizens who say they "couldn't care less" about the results of the voting to be held August 10.

This week the Journal published a letter from a woman in Victoria, B.C., who praised the editorial and then, in the final paragraph of a lengthy epistle, suggested a remedy.

"The only answer to those slackers who won't vote is compulsory voting," she asserted.

Some countries, including Australia, have such a system. It is unnecessary here.

The right to vote is a privilege. It is also a duty, but is not a duty which can be lightly discharged. Merely marking a ballot is not enough. Thought must precede action if the action is to have value. The issues must be known, the character of the candidates must be weighed.

No legislation can compel a man or woman to think about his ballot. No legislation which compels a citizen to act, without also compelling him to think, is of any value.

Most of the people who fail to cast their ballots are poor citizens. They act lazy. The majority of them, we suspect, are those that they will not make the effort necessary to get to the polling booth and fill out a pencil. There may be a few who, while not so indolent as to desire to avoid the physical effort involved in voting, are still too lazy to undertake the mental exercise which should precede the marking of the ballot, and who take no consideration of the meaning of the election. But they are not enough not to affect, for which they have not properly prepared. We have some respect for these people — more respect, in fact, than for the man or woman who votes but who never makes any effort to learn about the issues of the election before marking a ballot.

But the citizen who votes without seriously affected by legislation compelling every citizen to vote is the man or woman who makes an honest effort to weigh the contending parties and is forced to the conclusion that he or she is unable to judge between them, and therefore concludes that hence she has no right to cast a ballot. Many of this type will refuse to vote on principle, but they deserve better than to be driven to the polls and forced to violate their high principles.

Getting out the vote, urging every citizen who has an opinion on the manner in which the country should be governed to express that opinion in his only effectual manner, that marking a ballot, is one thing. Passing legislation to make it illegal not to vote is another thing entirely. It is the very antithesis of democracy. There is nothing different in principle between the totalitarian method of entering the voter only one candidate and the suggested method of compelling him or her to select from a handful of candidates. Suppose the voter violently disapproves of the principles of all the parties which have selected candidates in the riding where he resides. Should he be coerced to vote for a candidate whom he distrusts? The answer is obviously in the negative. But if voting was compulsory he would either have to vote for one else for compulsory he would either have to vote for one else for would deliberately spoil his ballot. To be forced, under penalty of the law to go to an appointed place at an appointed time in order to erroneously mark a piece of paper, or to look to what a free state the sovereign citizen fails in a country where voting is compulsory.

FORD AT FIFTY

The Ford Motor Company is fifty years old.

When Henry Ford completed his first automobile in 1903, he could not have conjured up an image of the appearance of the 1953 Fords — nor would his wildest dream have conceived those cars rolling off an assembly line.

But we doubt whether he would have been any more successful in endeavoring to imagine the publication which would mark the firm's fiftieth anniversary. A thing of the future would be this hard-covered, slick-paper 168-page book, with its magnificent photographs in black and white and in color, this was something entirely different from the Henry Ford traditional.

The man who wondered why his accounting department did not merely of one man with a large bunjap bag, into which incoming money could be placed and from which bills and wages could be paid out, would have been amazed, and possibly shocked, by this magnificent book.

We are not so sure he would not have been right. Still, the book is worth its cost if it provides additional circulation for one story about Ford, an old favorite of ours.

"One day," the book says, "his managers spoke of the need for a highly trained metallurgist. Ford pointed impatiently at a man who was sweeping the floor nearby. 'There's a metallurgist,' he said. 'Teach him the job.' The sweeper became the plant's head metal expert and a good one."

That, perhaps, was the secret of the genius that was Ford. Possibly, as he believed, he was a genius, but not in the common man. Perhaps he was just lucky when he picked that sweeper, or perhaps the man had been under-rated by his employers for weeks before an apparently sudden decision by his employer. But we like to think that what was true of the sweeper is true of many another man and woman in industry, commerce, or work, that in them lurks great possibilities, if only some new Ford will cast his eye their way and give them a shove along the path to new achievements.

Perhaps there seems to be something of the same outlook on life in the grandson of the founder, Henry Ford II. Industry, he says, should be a place "in which men and women are stimulated to develop to better jobs. Men have not learned to work at anything like their easy capacity." And if they learn this? "If we can solve the problem of human relations in industrial production," he declares, "I believe we can make as much progress toward lower costs during the next twenty-five years as we have made during the last twenty-five years."

Strength for the Day

CHILDREN OF THE WAY

Christianity is a way of life. It involves the following of certain things which are believed by ages to use. But none of these cautions is Christianity. Christianity is a way of life, a pattern of existence.

Three things characterize the Christian way of life. First of all it is a life of joy—since true Christians are always happy people. Again, the Christian life is a life of security. To be sure many Christians have had to suffer torture and death for their faith. But they had an inner security of heart which made them willing to do this, and more, for the faith to which they were committed.

Last of all, the Christian way of life confers power upon those who walk therein. Jesus said that all power had been given to Him in heaven and on earth. He gives to us what He possesses. The Christian is not human, but he is more than that—he is good to something. He sets himself to the living of such a life that he will be helpful to those round about him. He supports helpful enterprises. He arms himself with every spiritual weapon and goes forth to attack evil in its strongbold. Be he only a humble person of no station or wealth, with these things the true Christian exerts a profound influence upon every one with whom he comes in contact.

The Christian way of life—a way of gladness, a way of security, a way of power. Christians are children of the Way.

They Keep Us Walking

(By John Pfeiffer, condensed from Coronet Magazine.)

You're strolling along, minding your own business, when suddenly someone calls your name, you turn, and he tosses a 15-pound medicine ball at you. This would be one practical joke that you wouldn't laugh at. The ball would certainly knock you flat on your back, and you'd be lucky if you got away with nothing worse than a few broken fingers.

Fortunately, catastrophes of this sort are rare. But every day of your life you're handling from 10 to far more severe punishment—and the miracle is that you don't ever notice it. Every time you climb a flight of stairs or, for that matter, every time you take a walk, your feet are subjected to sledge-hammer impacts that would wreck other parts of the body. If you're a housewife, it's not unusual for you to walk twelve miles or so a day.

That means you take about 27,000 steps. Now, for an important fraction of a second during each step, your full weight, say, 120 pounds, rests on the ball of one foot. In other words, you'll have to take a daily total of 3,240,000 pounds. That's a lot for a man, you have a somewhat easier time of it. But it falls no harder because you work more, and the strain is still measured in hundreds of tons.

Even greater forces are released in running. According to one estimate, when you sprint to catch a bus, each stride places a force of excellent 700 pounds upon your weight on your ankles, arches and feet. You can imagine what tremendous stresses are involved when a sprinter pounds himself forward at the start of a 100-yard dash or a basketball player leaps for the ball in the air.

The human foot is a living shock absorber. It is also one of the most ingenious and versatile mechanisms ever devised. It is a five-in-one system — support, motor, shock absorber, and propeller as well as cushion. Furthermore, the entire work is smoothly coordinated with other parts of the body contains as many different structures as the foot does.

Nature has successfully crammed into this intricate mechanism tremendous into a space no bigger than that of a candy box. The moving and supporting parts are 28 neatly intermeshed bones — held by millions of muscle fibers, nourished by a mass of bloodvessels, co-ordinated by miles of electrical and chemical nerves. The power supply consists of 20 contractile muscles in the calf and upper leg.

Simply holding ourselves upright represents a major feat of balance and agility. We stand on gently curved arches—natural suspension bridges that can support several hundred times their own weight. You can keep your balance because the foot is constantly distributed with mathematical exactness. Each of the feet bears 50 pound for pound and places it in strategic locations.

Your heels, remaining, among others, five slender bones connected with the toes. The ball-bones ends of the bones make up the ball of your foot and carry most of the body's burden. If you weigh 144 pounds, for example, the bone attached to your big toe takes 13 pounds of the load and bones attached to your smaller toes take six pounds apiece (your heels bear the rest of your weight).

Your toes have nothing to do as long as you simply stand still. They hang in mid-air, and when you stand flat-footed, a piece of cardboard can be slipped under them, without interfering with or preserve your equilibrium the instant you start moving. Then on your heels and reach for the right. Your weight shifts toward the big toe of your left foot and the little toes of your right foot. It's amazing how the parts of the foot work together when you walk. Your arch acts as a lever, lifting your weight—much as a screwdriver lifts off the top of a paint can. The lifting is done gradually, until you are about two inches above normal height. At the same time, muscles in your toes tighten up to give you a firmer push against the ground.

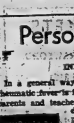
Now you're in a state of delicate balance. You're falling forward on the leg of a roller coaster. Your foot has to let you down gently or else you'll lose your balance and fall. Also, you would land on your heel, with a jarring thud if your feet didn't include special emergency devices.

• • •

The average man, walking at about three miles an hour, has a 28-inch stride, which lasts a little less than a second. Roughly two-tenths of a second his full weight is concentrated on the ball of the final forward push takes only about 0.08 seconds. The whole process involves a sequence of perfectly synchronized movements.

As the part of the body farthest from the heart, the foot requires unique problems. The biggest problem isn't sending the blood to it—gravity does the rest—but it is only when it comes back upon us that we realize how much we can disentangle the main charm from the thick of particulars."



How often I have thought of this. Often the greatest delight comes later after an experience that had held us on a journey or after an unusual sight. Too much detail clouded our view at the time. Perhaps it was a sunset or a drive through a beautiful rugged country, here in many ways. Or these recollections Stevenson commented: "All that is worthless falls away from it and sifted out of them. Nothing remains but the brightest lights and the darkest shadows."

I find a few paintings in my home that I selected only after they had been in the house awhile. Each time I discovered something new I had not noticed before, and long before a purchase I would keep sitting out the lesser things and the whole work would stand out in my mind as simple and dramatic statements. Some are alive and hopeful. But only as the years cherish, longer those do they brighten every time that they are recalled.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM

Dr. Brady

In a general way prevention of rheumatic fever is in the hands of parents and teachers. It narrows down to the principle I have reiterated everlastingly trying to inculcate in the golden rule of hygiene. If a parent, teacher or child has the C-S-I-C—or what if you are ignorant or selfish or both, may purport to be "just a cold", no one can say in the early hours of the indigestible illness whether it is communicable or not. Therefore the only safe and decent thing to do, for the sake of the health of the community, is to isolate yourself or the child at least until the nature of the trouble becomes manifest.

Isolation implies merely wearing a suitable mask when you are within cough, sneeze or conversation spray distance of other persons, or keeping the child so masked.

Of course there is no law that binds you to behave honestly, and thanks to the ignorance of most of the public you can be a contagionist, get away with murder by distributing the germs or virus of whatever you have to be coming down with among children or adults who are temporarily enough to be exposed to you. Among these germs are the germs that cause sore throat, tonsilitis and eventually, perhaps, rheumatic fever.

Since no one can say, in the early stage of an alleged "cold" whether the illness is communicable and since all of the common respiratory infections (C-S-I) are most infectious in the early stages —measles, for example, before the rash appears—common sense, own notion about it or the suggestion of your conscience that it is just a "nasty cold" is no extenuation for the crime of spreading whatever you have germs indiscriminately among acquaintances, strangers, relatives, pupils, customers, teachers, patients, dentists, barbers, conductors, cashiers, sales people, nurses or doctors. . . . For a doctor should know enough to keep beyond range of your conversational spray—seldom carrying as far as five feet—or else wear a mask when examining or treating nose and throat conditions. (A comfortable, transparent mask of the kind that physicians cough, assess or conversational (invisible) spray more reliably than any gauze or cloth mask does.

BRIGHTENED MEMORIES

There are movements in the mind that interpret for us long after we have looked upon a landscape, an experience or an interesting event. Robert Louis Stevenson brought out this idea of his books where he said: "When we look at a landscape we think we remember (indeed; but it is only when it comes back upon us during the nights that we can disentangle the main charm from the thick of particulars."

How often I have thought of this. Often the greatest delight comes later after an experience that had held us on a journey or after an unusual sight. Too much detail clouded our view at the time. THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

At a tea party yesterday, a thirty-five year old executive told me of the country's most flourishing industries remarked gratefully that the finest feature of his office was that there were no young fellows in the business.

"In fact, throughout the company," he said, "they are all young, and proud of it.

I could not help but wonder what had happened to the old men. For this company is one of the greatest at least twenty years, and has always flourished, if I am not mistaken. There should be in that firm a fair sprinkling number of men in their fifties and sixties who can give advice and counsel and forties to the drive and exuberance of a successful enterprise.

"How do you get rid of your seniors?" asked the young executive, "when you reach fifty?"

This was a dirty sort of a question; for in ten years, he himself would have to start worrying about making way for the next production and sales staff, who would be fresh out of the engineering colleges and the business administration courses at the universities.

But he was not disturbed.

"The man I succeeded," he said, "died in his office at his desk."

I was interested in this way of life. Once a man got experienced men from better known industries. Once a man made enough with us to retire on. A few we pensioned off, but not often because it is demonstrably better business to pension off men in his fifties who is slowing up than to keep him on, even in another job at the company's.

Since I was still looking, at him with bright expectancy, he looked and said:

"I am now putting a small share of my income into the purchase of a little resort hotel in Florida. On my fiftieth birthday, I am going there to live. And over, I Darn these young fellows!

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

Truckers Get Time for Tea

(Hamilton Spectator)

There is probably a more somewhere (although we're not quite sure what it is) but there is one in Britain about the speed limit for heavy trucks.

Under the present rules state there are restricted to a maximum of 20 miles an hour. They must keep a little plate saying "20" at the back, to identify them to the police if necessary. It is a restriction which has been considerably criticized, and recently it was proposed that the limit be raised to 30. The proposal was that light trucks and heavy trucks be separated, and that the brakes of trucks have been improved over the years. Even so, an hour now is just as safe as 20 was when the limit was imposed. Editorials in newspapers pointed out that a truck moving at 30 miles an hour covered a good deal more traffic creates hazards for those who have to pass it. Now the president of the Institute of Transport argues that a 30-mile limit would require the use of 15 per cent more trucks to do the same work, and some teenage with a 30-mile limit, and increases the cost of the goods produced—including exports.

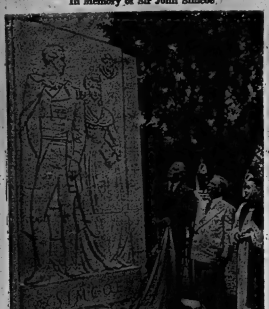
But the government turned down the amendment. It was apparently motivated principally by the considerable opposition of the drivers' unions.

What happens at present is that the trucking companies are forced to work out schedules which on a maximum speed of 20 miles an hour; the drivers barral along at 30 or more, this permits them frequent half-hour stops for tea.

Music Czar Vs. a King

(Montreal Gazette)

Does a czar outrank a king? If the czar comes from a republic, it would appear that he does. Recognized in a constitutional monarchy? Evidently it is.



Court circles here in Copenhagen say that Den./Danish Government appreciates the complaints about King Frederick, of Denmark, that Danish conductor Erik Tuxen has Czar James Caesar Petrillo and would like to talk the whole thing over.' The Danish monarch, however, is standing on considerable breach of protocol; he has allowed recordings by the Danish Radio Symphony Orchestra, which he, himself conducts, to be used for commercial radio shows in the United States without establishing his oath of fealty first as a liege man of Czar Petrillo's union. It is a new one on him.

It is doubtful if even the strongest wording of protest will result in reference to King Frederick, some of the terms meet commonly used in the United States to describe non-union men. But it is certain that the Danish people will not be music-making have been quite definite.

The Danish Foreign Office has suggested that 'Petrillo' visit Copenhagen on his way home from the International Congress of Free Trade Unions meeting in Stockholm, so they can talk the whole thing over.

Perhaps the king, Caesar and Frederick, what problem the Danish president Beryl McBurney Nero were around, he'd have to get a union secretary personally to conduct, put bow to one fiddle string.

Little Gibraltar Demilitarized Thursday Night

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP)—Little Gibraltar became demilitarized territory Thursday night.

The Red battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, sealed off the peak that cost Canadian troops 66 casualties including four dead last Oct. 23 when the 1st battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment fought off repeated Communist attacks.

Little Gibraltar and hill 159 to the southwest were abandoned as part of the 24-mile buffer zone set under the truce. The Patricias had held Little Gibraltar, or hill 355 as soldiers know it, since July 10, while hill 159 was held by the 3rd battalion of the RCR.

As they climbed down from their positions, the Canadians took up positions on the United Nations side of the demilitarized zone west of the Imjin river and gradually assumed Commonwealth division responsibility as British units withdrew. The 3rd battalion of the Royal 22nd Regiment shared the assignment.

Was Northern Anchor

B company of the Patricias, commanded by Maj. Lendell Beaman of Vancouver, had held the peak, which long had been the northern anchor of the Commonwealth division's front.

The company spent the three days before its withdrawal removing ammunition, booby traps, wire, pickets and anything else useful that was readily salvageable.

As I peeped toward the summit Thursday night, passing between soldiers loaded with weapons and personal gear and ready to march out, the stripped position suggested a hurriedly-evacuated ghost town.

The soldiers include: Capt. (Matron) B. R. Hall and Sgt. E. C. Hyers, both Kingston; Gnr. A. D. Sleeper, Parkhill; Pte. R. M. Davis, Kirkland Lake.

Last Food Poisoning Victims Recover

IN KOREA (CP)—Canadian brigade headquarters announced Thursday that the last two of 87 members of the Royal 22nd Regiment who suffered food poisoning will be discharged from hospital soon.

Headquarters announced Tuesday that the men suffered poisoning just before the Korean ceasefire became effective. The outbreak was attributed to contaminated ham served Monday.

Gordon Refuses Post as Chairman Of British Board

QUEBEC (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier said Thursday that Donald Gordon, president of Canadian National Railways, has turned down an offer to become chairman of the British transport commission.

During a press conference, Mr. Chevrier said Mr. Gordon decided Tuesday not to accept the invitation "on the grounds that his existing duties and responsibilities were such that they preclude his leaving Canada or considering any other undertaking in the forseeable future."

Mr. Chevrier said he was "highly pleased at this decision."

Dairy Produce Output Is Higher

TORONTO (CP)—Production of dairy produce in Ontario is increasing, the department of agriculture reports.

The department's report for June shows that both creamery butter and cheddar cheese production figures are above levels of a year ago with a 16.3-per-cent increase in butter production for the month to 12,030,500 pounds against 10,287,-900 last year.

Cheddar cheese output for June was 3,181,200 pounds, an increase of 14.4 per cent over last year's 8,035,360.

Total stockpile of butter at July 1 was 20,220,000 pounds, a 37.3-per-cent increase over last year's 43,933,000 pounds. Cheddar cheese stocks increased 1.7 per cent from 34,021,000 pounds over last year's 33,288,000 pounds.

Not 'Working' In Rest Period

TORONTO (CP)—An Ontario Supreme Court judge Thursday ruled in effect that an employee who takes time for coffee or tea does so at his or her own convenience and so cannot claim damages under the Workmen's Compensation Act for injuries suffered during the rest period.

Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly dismissed Mrs. Mary Lachance's claim for damages because of negligence. He found there had been no proof of negligence on the part of Murphy-Gamble Limited, a lawa department store. In the event of appeal, he assessed damages at $4,567.

Evidence was that Mrs. Lachance, returning from having a cup of tea, slipped on a waxed floor and suffered a broken right arm. She and her husband, Philip, claimed damages totalling $17,540.

Coal Industry In Nova Scotia Is Facing Crisis

By KINGSLEY BROWN, Jr.
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SYDNEY, N. S. (CP)—Nova Scotia's coal industry is facing the most critical period of its 226-year history.

Production is falling, mines are closing and markets dwindling. Its 11,000 miners are without a contract, and many are without work.

That's not healthy for an industry that raises nearly a third of Canada's coal and supports a sixth of Nova Scotia's population.

The Dominion Coal Company and its three subsidiaries, which mine 97 per cent of the province's coal, think, however, they have a remedy.

They're installing giant metallite miners that can do the work of several men and twice as fast, and big tunnels are being pushed under the sea to cut production costs.

In three years they hope to produce an industry smaller but more prosperous than the one today that is losing $4,000,000 annually.

Mechanization is Key

Harold Gordon, the company's general manager, has turned mechanization the key to the existence of an industry that supports more than 100,000 persons.

Behind this sombre picture, however, there is a puzzle. Why, observers ask, did the miners vote twice this month against signing a contract with the company, unknowing that their livelihood depended on its prosperity?

Particularly after their union executive told them that a vote for the contract was in the "best interests" of the industry. The executive's stand was in line with a coconciliation board's recommendations that the company and United Mine Workers waive their demands because of the industry's production and marketing problems.

Proposals Made To Settle Strike At Broulan Reef

TORONTO (CP)—The five main proposals advanced Thursday by the government in an attempt to bring about a settlement of the Broulan Reef gold mine strike at Timmins were made public Thursday night by C. H. Millard, Canadian director of the United Steel Workers of America (CIO-CCL).

The Queen's Park meeting brought together Broulan Reef officials and union heads under the chairmanship of Labor Minister Daley. The minister said only that another meeting was scheduled for next Thursday.

Lists Proposals

Mr. Millard in a statement said the minister made the following proposals for settlement of the wage dispute which started July 11:

1. All pickets be withdrawn from mine entrances and property.

2. The company refrain from operating the mine, except for essential maintenance.

3. This situation exist for one week, during which the department of labor assist both parties in negotiations.

4. When in the opinion of the labor minister, a workable proposal was advanced, this offer would be submitted to all employees in the bargaining unit in a vote, conducted under supervision of the department.

5. Rejection of this offer would mean cancellation of the strike vote with proposed restrictions on picketing and operations removed.

Rejected by Company

Mr. Millard said the five proposals were accepted by the union, but that Broulan Reef officials turned them all down after consulting with other company officials, not at the conference.

Although he would not comment on the proposals, Mr. Daley said the talks "are not out of the woods by a long stretch, but as long as we keep together there is hope."

REDS AGAIN

As they met, the UN command said it would move more Red prisoners north toward the exchange point at Panmunjon Sunday.

Farewell Banquet

The Red Peiping radio said Allied prisoners in the Pyoktong camp in North Korea were given a farewell banquet. It said they joined with their Red captors in shouts of "long peace!"

However, Peiping did not say when the prisoners would begin moving north.

At Panmunjom, Allied soldiers rushed preparations to receive the 12,763 Allied prisoners—including 9,313 Americans—to be repatriated. About 69,000 North Koreans and 5,000 Chinese will be turned back to the Reds.

Bryan told newspaper men after the joint commission's fourth meeting that "things went along all right today."

No Serious Snags

He acknowledged that the commission had "bit snags" but indicated none was serious.

The commission agreed that civil police will enter the buffer zone shortly to maintain order and inspect joint UN-Red observer teams. They also will keep unauthorized persons out of the zone.

Their nationality was not announced.

Bryan also told the Reds that the UN command plans to build a runway for light aircraft in the Panmunjom area.

The meeting adjourned after scheduling another meeting for Saturday.

Meet in Buffer Zone

Meanwhile, joint Allied-Red observer teams were meeting for the first time in the buffer zone. Ten teams, each with four to six officers of at least field grade rank, will police the demilitarized belt.

Three other truce groups met at Panmunjom: a joint committee to arrange the transportation of facilities for the neutral nations supervisory commission, which will oversee the armistice; a joint observer group to decide on marking the demilitarized zone; and Communist and Allied Red Cross representatives, who discussed the aid program for prisoners.

North Korean Charge

Marshal Kim Il Sung, North Korean boss, charged that the United states is scheming to remain in South Korea.

In London, Britain indicated firmly she wants to be consulted first if the United States decides to walk out of the Korean peace talks. It was learned that Secretary of State Dulles said Tuesday the United States might walk out after 90 days if it feels the Communists are deliberately stalling.

In Washington, the Senate quickly voted $200,000,000 for rebuilding battered South Korea. In addition, Senator Hubert Humphrey (De. Minn) proposed another 200 million for North Korea "—a "new ray of hope"—providing a satisfactory peace is reached.

Weddings

CRAFT—SHARPE

A very pretty wedding took place on Saturday, July 18, at 11:30 a.m., in St. Thomas' Anglican Church in Belleville, when Rev. W. Robinson united in marriage, Marilyn Sharpe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sharpe, of Frankford, and Bruce Earl Craft, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Craft, of Belleville.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a floor length gown of lace and white net with matching headdress and carried a bouquet of mums and red roses.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Frank Patrick, of Frankford, who wore a floor length gown of light blue slipper satin with matching headdress and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Mr. Frank Patrick, of Frankford, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man.

A reception was held in the Club Cedar, on Canniffon Road, where Mrs. Earl Sharpe, mother of the bride, received, wearing a street length dress of figured nylon and corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Craft, mother of the groom, assisted, wearing a street length dress of figured nylon, with a corsage of red roses.

KLNY—WALKER

Baskets of vari-colored gladioli, centred by Queen's Silver Jubilee, breath and ferns formed a lovely background at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walker, on the occasion of Thursday, on Saturday, July 18, at 2:30 p.m., for the marriage of their daughter, Phyllis Marie Walker, of Corbyville, to Gordon Wilson Klmy, of Carrington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Klmy. The Reverend W. E. Merrick, assisted by the Reverend L. L. Throop, officiated.

The wedding music consisted of the Wedding March from Wagner's "Lohengrin", and "I Love You Truly".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attractively attired in a street length dress of nylon net in ice blue, over taffeta with white picture hat. She carried a bouquet of blush pink roses, baby's breath and fern tied with white lacelon streamers and bow.

The reception was held at the bride's home, where Mrs. Walker received, wearing pale blue nylon with corsage of cream roses. Mrs. Hamilton Klmy, of Corbyville, who was gowned in French blue crepe with corsage of red roses.

For the wedding trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Rochester, and Syracuse, the bride chose a navy nylon ensemble with white accordion pleated inserts and corsage of red roses. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Elmy will reside in Belleville.

President's Wife Diverts Money To Use for Charitable Purposes

HAVANA (AP) — Some $500,000 raised to elect a president isn't much use when a dictator seizes the government and calls off the elections.

That's how Batista spent the money Mrs. Marcelo de Batista put into the charity business.

Gen. Fulgencio Batista took over as Cuba's head man in March, 1952. A few days later, newspapers reported that a delegation of contractors had delivered $500,000 to the presidential palace. They said the money had been collected as a "good will contribution" in the election once set for June, 1952.

No election. So would the president's wife like to use it for charity? She would.

Today even those who criticize the dictator regime of her husband are profuse in praise of her. She is the administration's No. 1 good will ambassador. Batista is rarely seen in public, apparently as a protection against an assassination attempt.

But she goes everywhere.

The first lady's expenditures already have gone far beyond the original $500,000. Government officials, business bosses and wealthy and poor Cubans all contribute. So far as is known, no government property is put on anybody.

Mrs. Batista's organization looks after needy. Sometimes her gifts are steel braces for a child crippled by infantile paralysis; other times the transportation expenses to bring an ill youngster to a hospital in Havana from some remote village.

Wherever disaster strikes, she is one of the first on the job. She sees personally that lovely Cubans at the presidential palace, or on trips into the country. Her aid is quick and direct.

Recently she sped into Santiago,

Elsa Schiaparelle Favors Longer Skirts

PARIS (AP)—Elsa Schiaparelli one of the top Paris fashion designers, Wednesday defied the Dior edict for short skirts and lengthened her dress to about 13 inches from the floor, even longer than last year.

Christian Dior, who startled the fashion world in 1947 with the "New Look" and long dresses, pulled another surprise Tuesday by shortening skirts by just below the knee, or about 16 inches from the floor.

Paris took Dior's innovation calmly, but one fashion writer observed that "the war of length is being fought on 39 centimeters as the Korean war was fought on the 38th parallel."

Jacques Fath has shortened his hemlines by nearly two inches to a level of 14 inches.

Jean Dessez has followed the same trend. But Jacques Heim and Schiaparelli have not ever dresses that show no more leg than those of last year.

LOSES BOTH LEGS

BARRIE (CP)—Wilfred Poole, 24-year-old farm hand of nearby Newton Robinson, is recovering in a Toronto hospital from a 20-minute struggle with a hay mower which mangled his legs so badly they had to be amputated. Poole was so badly entangled in the mower in the rollers that the machine had to be dismantled before he could be freed.

Wife Preservers

If you are out of shoe polish, try using household wax. Rub liquid or cream wax well clean and polish as well. Liquid wax is best for nylon or perforated leathers as it doesn't turn white in hard-to-polish indentations. Use cream wax on white shoes, as it won't leave a powdery residue.

Canada's 1953 commercial strawberry crop has been estimated at nearly 20,000,000 quarts, or 1,000,000 less than 1952.

New Cutlery Designs are Introduced

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

A man who has designed everything from army shelters to a fork which doesn't let gravy escape is a versatile craftsman.

Don Wallace is the man—an American industrial designer of housewares and furniture. He recently came to the attention of women editors at a press breakfast in New York City where his stainless steel flatware designs were being introduced.

This cutlery looks ultra-smooth and modern, in some respects like the Scandinavian steel flatware seen around these days. It has that deceptively simple line that

Practical Turn of Mind

Mr. Wallace, probably as a result of his army days, is of a practical turn of mind.

The neck and middle portion of the fork and spoon handles are concave on the fack and convex on the back. This provides an easy and firm rest for thumb and fingers without constricting to any one position on the handle. Crimping of the steel into an upward curve at the neck of the fork and spoon is sound engineering. It stiffens the handle at what is ordinarily a vulnerable spot.

The spoon-like bowl at the base of the fork tines makes it more easy for casseroles, stews or any dish combining solids and fluid ingredients.

This flatware is scheduled to appear on the United States market in September. Made of nickel-chrome steel, it has a soft lustrous

Comfortable Handle

Feel and balance have been carefully considered by designer Wallace. The handle of the knife rests comfortably in the hand when the blade is at its most effective cutting angle. In shape it is reminiscent of the 18th century pistol-grip knives.

Mr. Wallace feels that stainless steel tableware is no longer "second best" to be hidden when guests arrive.

In his own words "new and more skilful tooling and more powerful presses have reduced the early design limitations of stainless steel."

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Home-making is a husband's job, he says.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been married ten years and have five children. I have always tried to be a good companion to my husband, mother, and perhaps it is true that I have overdone this by neglecting my housework so that I could do things with them.

Now my husband is complaining that the house is not kept right, my children are all small and not able to give me much help, and I cant do everything alone and still be good company for my husband and children. Should I stop giving them so much attention and give more to my housekeeping? It seems to me it has to be one or the other.—Mrs. H. L.

Dear Mrs. H. L.:

I certainly don't see how a woman who has five little children to take care of can have very much time left over for meticulous housekeeping. At the same time, perhaps by little careful planning you might be able to get some measure of help from the older children. Any child above the age of six can learn to help with such things as bed making, dish washing, dusting and tidying a room, setting the table for meals, even helping with younger children. I should think you might, in many cases, combine being a companion to your children and still get a lot of work done by making a game of doing household chores together. You may have realized how much help the children really can be if you take time to teach them.

As for your husband's complaints, I don't see why he shouldn't give you a hand now and then as, for instance, washing the dishes at night and putting the children to bed. If you could somehow get him to do such things for you occasionally, it might make him understand better just how much a wife and mother must do around the house.

Home-making is a husband's job, too, and he must realize and some responsibility for it, he would probably have fewer complaints.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

A while ago I fell very much in love with a certain young man who was ardent and he fell hard until I made the mistake of telling him I loved him. I am sure he loved me, too, but, because of the failure of a former romance he is afraid to take the chance of being hurt again and so doesn't want to get involved with anyone.

Although we stopped going out together, I see him very often at different places, and he is always very friendly. There is no reason to believe that he is sorry we broke up and would like to get together again, but is too proud to come to me first.

Dear A. L.:

I am sorry, but I don't take much stock in your statement that this man is "too proud" to try and renew his friendship with you. No man who is really anxious to be friends with a girl will leave any stone unturned to make up with her if things have gone wrong between them.

Moreover, any man who is afraid of love because it soured on him once is a sissy. And that goes for a woman, too. Of course anyone who has been hurt is going to be careful for a long time not to get hurt in the same way again, but the person who tries to protect himself forever from the normal experiences of life, just because one of his experiences has been unhappy, is neurotically childish as well as a sissy.

If you take my advice, you will let any move to pick up where you left off with this man come from him.

Readers' Friday Column

By Mary Moore

Question:

(From Jessie M.A. re August Food Dessert.)

Answer:

When sugar dissolves bring to boil and cool turn it upside down on wax paper and slice entire top from cake about 1 inch down. Now remove enough of the cake centre to leave a one-inch wall all around the outside and at the centre hole, for this is to be filled and top slice of cake replaced. Now make filling. Soak 2 teaspoons gelatin in 2 tablespoons cold water then dissolve it by stirring over hot water. Now make 1 pint of fruit. This can be strawberries; raspberries, apricots, peaches, drained crushed canned pineapple, drained mandarin oranges, or drained banana. Add to the fruit 2 tablespoons sugar and the soaked and dissolved gelatin. Chill. When partially set fold in 1 cup cream which has been whipped until stiff and slightly sweetened. Fill cavity in cake with this. Replace top slice. "Ice" cake with sweetened whipped cream and decorate with pieces or slices of whichever fruit you use in the filling. Chill thoroughly.

Another mouthwatering version of filled Angel Food Cake made by mixing together 6 tablespoons sugar, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons cocoa and 1 1-3 cups whipping cream whipped stiff. Chill this 1 hour. Then whip until stiff. Into half of this fold 1-2 cup cut up toasted almonds. Use the rest part to fill cake. Replace top of cake and spread remaining chocolate whipped cream on top and sides of cake. Sprinkle with more toasted almonds. Chill 2 hours before serving. This is very popular—as you can image with one eye shut.

Question:

My mother used to make a rice pudding which I was very fond of but I do not know what amounts to use. The pudding was made of rice, milk, sugar, nutmeg and baked in open dish stirred once. Would you know any recipe like this? Also would you please send me Cherry Puff recipe. I have lost mine. . . the baked pea-meal bacon is grand.—Grace S.

Answer:

Thanks for reminding me of Cherry Puff.

Old-Fashioned Baked Rice Pudding

Combine in buttered large bake dish 4 cups whole milk, 1-3 cup sugar, 1-4 cup washed raw white long-grain rice, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 to 1-2 teaspoon nutmeg and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Bake uncovered at 225 deg. Fahr. for 2 1-2 hours, stirring frequently. Serve this pudding cools it becomes delicately creamy. It is usually served with cream. One-half cup raisins may be added 1 hour before baking time is up if desired.

Cherry Puff

Four cups stoned sour cherries (or sliced plums or peaches); 1-3 cup water; 2 1-2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 2-3 cup sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup sifted cake flour, 8 tablespoons sugar, 2 egg yolks beaten until thick and lemon-colored, 2 egg whites, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon cream of tartar. Bring to boil the cherries and water. Combine tapioca, sugar and salt and add gradually to fruit mix and boil 1 minute, stirring. Pour into buttered baking dish and keep hot. Sift flour once and measure it. Add sugar gradually to beaten yolks. Beat whites and salt until foamy. Add cream of tartar to whites and beat until stiff enough to hold up in peaks, but not dry. Fold egg yolk mixture into egg whites. Then fold in flour, a small amount at a time. Stir hot tapioca-fruit mixture pour the batter over it. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 50 minutes or until batter is baked/ Serve this warm. This is very delicate. I think when it is made with Lombard plums it is at its best.

Question:

I recently tried your recipe for dandelion wine and would like recipes for other homemade wines. Do you have a recipe for really good baked beans. Mine are always hard and tasteless.—Mrs. G. B. M.

Answer:

I have mailed you other wine recipes.

Baked Beans

Soak 2 cups washed white beans in cold water overnight. Drain. Cover with salted boiling water and simmer about 1 1-2 hours. Drain. Put in greased baking dish or bean pot with 1-4 lb. cut up salt pork with some rind on. Mix together 1-4 teaspoon each salt and dry mustard, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, then add 2 cups hot water to this dry mix. Stir this into the beans. Bury a small onion in the beans if desired. Cover and bake at 250 deg. Fahr. about 3 hours, or until beans are tender. Uncover during last 30 minutes.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. BECKCMAN

There will probably always be jokes about "keeping the waiting", but all joking aside, it just isn't kind for considered by a girl to keep her date waiting while she finishes dressing or finishes herself or finishes some chore she can easily postpone. If Bill is to arrive at eight o'clock, you should be "all ready" to greet him at eight o'clock. That's fair!

A charming way for bride to send invitations to groom's parents

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We're having such a discussion about this question—please answer it for us. When wedding invitations are sent out, should the prospective groom's parents receive one?—Katherine L.

A formal invitation to the wedding is not sent "officially" to the prospective groom's parents because, of course, the parents of the groom are informed by the bride and her parents all about the wedding plans and their part in them. Usually, however, the gracious and thoughtful bride-to-be, when she receives the engraved invitations, immediately encloses several in their envelopes and sends them in a packet or large envelope to the groom's parents with a warm-hearted and high-hearted note of devotion and "loving anticipation of seeing you on The Day!"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The parents of my dearest girl friend have given a small dinner in their home recently to announce her engagement. The announcement was supposed to be a surprise so no engagement gifts were brought. Now the parents of the fiance are giving a large cocktail party on a Sunday afternoon soon, to introduce her to their relatives and friends. Would guests be expected to bring gifts to this party in honor of the bride-to-be? (I am to be her maid of honor, and am planning to give her a shower soon.)—T. M.

Guests are not expected to bring gifts to a party of this kind given in honor of the bride-to-be, even if it is called a party to "celebrate" the engagement. As a matter of fact, today engagement presents aren't very much "done". Relatives and intimate friends sometimes do give them (but not at a buffet or cocktail party), but others make no point about giving engagement presents.

Rists to Underweights

There are girls who get so little sleep and who chase around so fast a-Tat cell can't catch up with them. They could cut bread with their sharp elbows and their collar bones are little shelves. They have neat, small ankles that don't mean a thing because there is no pleasing curve of the calves above them.

The family is always advising them to stoke up by eating more. Often they consume meals that are fairly ample, but they eat too quickly or eat when they are tired. This interferes with digestion and proper assimilation. These little cutie should have a period of complete relaxation before each meal. Release from tension creates an easier approach to flower eating. Abnormal thinness often accompanies an intense, high-strung nature.

Excessive consumption of fats, sweets and starches, food elements that build adipose tissue, is a bad for the thin as it is for the obese. A certain amount of these elements is necessary, not only to put on the extra lbs., but to create energy; but other foods are also essential to form the balanced diet which is rich in vitamins and minerals.

The diet should include meat, sea food, poultry, vegetables of all kinds, cheese, fruit and fruit juices, cereals, green salads, cream soups. Butter, of course, has the highest vitamin content and should be spread generously on bread and added to cooked vegetables.

A quart of rich milk a day is a requirement. Take a glass of milk at the end of each meal and one at bedtime. Milk is not just a beverage. It is a food as well.

Exercise should not be strenuous. Deep breathing is helpful to the flyweights who would be curvaceous and not up a front. Air conditioning the lungs speeds up circulation, rids the complexion of sallowness.

Plenty of rest and sleep should be taken. It is during sleep that nature makes repairs, builds new cells. Social affairs should be cut down.

Unpleasant emotional upsets should be avoided as they have a deplorable effect on the digestive motors and the nervous system.

If these rules are followed for several months and no gain is recorded, the thin girl should be obvious and up a front. Air conditioning the lungs speeds up circulation, rids the complexion of sallowness.

Fashion Flashes

Still showing in the shops are smart evening cottons—even if the season is on the wane. Gray denim makes a new sun or dance frock that features black grosgrain enterie and jet embroidery massed at the scoop neckline and hip pockets.

No matter the season, a silk suit sees plenty of smart service. Sensibly priced and ever so attractive is a mid-season model in dull blue, imported silk tweed. The fitted jacket has two collars, one plain, the under one scalloped and indented. Both are piped in black satin as are the scalloped side-entrance hip-pockets. Skirt is slim.

The little black dress may have become a fashion cliche, but, just the same, a good one of that like does major service in every well rounded wardrobe. One such dress in black silk chiffon—all-over-shirred—is done on slim lines, with tiny folds marking the portrait neckline. Short sleeves and a black satin belt complete the picture.

First made in the early 1800's, Buttercup has continued to delight generation after generation of people who appreciate fine bone china. The natural colors of its freely drawn flowers add a gay beauty to the table while lights reflect pleasingly from the basketweave embossing and fluting of the Chelsea Wicker shape. The timeless beauty of natural flowers makes Buttercup appropriate for any setting.

Frost Warns Against Use of Force By or Against Picketers in Strikes

TORONTO (CP) — Violence by picketers or violence to picketers is futile and both contrary to law, Premier Frost said today in a statement.

"The outbreaks of violence which have occurred at widely-separated points during the current strikes in the mining, pulp and paper, construction and Northern Ontario areas," the premier's statement said, "make this a very opportune time to draw the attention of everybody to the very strict provisions of the Canadian Criminal code which cover these matters.

"Violence by pickters or violence to picketers are both contrary to law. Not only intimidation by picketers or attempts to prevent the entering of guards and such instructions as 'shoot to maim' can both lead to grave consequences.

"The use of force to repel force can only at law be used to a sufficient degree to protect oneself from injury and no further. The law allows that the use of any force beyond this is an offence.

"He said he was "impressed by the fact that there appears to be a widespread understanding" of the "law and duties of citizens and police.

Picketing is not subject to provincial law but was governed by the Criminal Code of the Dominion Parliament," with the provinces obligated to enforce provisions relating to picketing under the Criminal Code. It was the duty of citizens to uphold these laws.

The premier's statement summarized the laws relating to picketing as follows:

1. Picketing is lawful if carried on by a reasonable number of persons and if the effect is simply to obtain or communicate information or to persuade. "This is what is commonly known as peaceful picketing."

2. Picketing is unlawful if it involves intimidation, violence, violence, threats, trespass or other unlawful acts. "Such picketing is contrary to the laws of Canada and is a criminal offence."

Mass picketing may be held to be a form of intimidation and it has been so ruled by the courts of the land.

Our thanks go to NEWFOUNDLAND, Canada's newest Province, justly proud of its long history, glorious traditions and the sturdy spirit of its men and daughters. Here, as elsewhere, Pontiac stands high in public favor!

In beautiful PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND, home of birthplace of Canada's confederation, Pontiac brings motoring pleasure and faithful service to the folk whose homes are by the seashore as well as those who live in its green farmlands.

From storied NOVA SCOTIA, home Province of so many of our famous ships and famous men, came the forbears of many Canadians who now live in other parts of our land. Here in Nova Scotia too, Pontiac enjoys an ever-growing reputation for quality and value.

A salute also to NEW BRUNSWICK, that Province so abundantly blessed with sparkling waterways, noble forests and peaceful seaside coves. On the tree-shaded streets of her historic cities, you'll see many a Pontiac glide by.

Newborn in North America is there a region more justly famed than the Province of QUEBEC. Here, where vigorous new industries are growing amid picturesque rural surroundings, more and more people are turning to Pontiac for all their motoring needs.

There's wholehearted acceptance of Pontiac in the Province of ONTARIO, industrial heartland of the nation, whose busy factories are producing more and more of the goods which have helped to give Canadians the second highest living standard in the world.

Across the rolling grasslands of MANITOBA, there's an eager new stirring of interest and enterprise as Canada's heritage grow wider and new frontiers are developed. And many Manitobans have discovered that "Dollar for Dollar, You Can't Beat Pontiac."

Our thanks go also to another young and forward-looking Province, SASKATCHEWAN, where wheat fields and pastures are already ever more shadowed by tomorrow's promise. In this Prairie Province, too, Pontiac's popularity is climbing fast.

All over are ALBERTA, the dynamic source of the new and mighty petroleum and chemicals industry. Each month, more and more Canadian-produced fuel is available for our automobiles. Each month, more and more of these automobiles are seen Pontiac!

Across the Rockies new to BRITISH COLUMBIA, land of magnificent opportunity, Small wonder that this is Canada's fastest-growing Province. Here, as elsewhere, Pontiac has won a leading place in public favor. And so, our thanks go to you, wherever you are, for making Pontiac the fastest-growing car in popularity!

Star Selection

A few eyes sat it was a mistake. They say it would have been the first baseman of the Belleville District Softball League, Jim Harrison, several years ago. He showed love, and he had the form to speed and the body to go the limit from the league to the Senior Ace Holden and the famous days in CNE Park to August 8.

But . . . since that announcement, things have changed somewhat.

While the three gentlemen named know deep down in their hearts they have not, through no fault of their own, rendered sufficient games to clarify them as judges, they should not have the honor of being the judges.

So here is what happened. And while a few method, the results, by or the inevitable squawk, while a few method, the results, by or the inevitable squawk, while a few method, the results, by or the inevitable squawk,

Fox Whip Oshawa To Grab Top Slot Tie

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Brantford Red Sox are a stubborn bunch like that. They just don't seem to want to vacate first place in the Senior Intercounty Baseball circuit.

Thursday night the Sox blanked Oshawa Merchants 5-0 to move back into a first-place tie with Waterloo Hawks as Guelph Maple Leafs dubbed Galt Terriers 13-0 and the lowly St. Thomas Elgins upset London Majors 9-1.

Alf Gavey went the route for Brantford, scattering five Oshawa hits over the route as Red Sox batters worked through three Merchant hurlers. Lou Walters started for Oshawa and gave way to Tony Dalesandro in the fifth with Butch Lawing coming in to pitch in the seventh.

Stan Lipka and Tommy McGrattan were Brantford's big men with three hits in five trips to the plate while Johnny Imbra clouted them all three-for-four in the Merchant cause.

Tommy White hurled the Elgins to victory, their first in six games, but the win proved a costly one as catcher Ray Bruner was removed to hospital with concussion after being hit on the head by a pitched ball. Jimmy Dyer's homer accounted for all three Elgin runs in the eighth inning.

Guelph rolled up eight runs in the first three innings. The Terriers failed to click until the fifth when they came up with five of their own.

The Terriers lost the services of catcher Art O'Connor when he was hit on the head by a bouncing throw from the outfield. When attempts to revive him failed, he was rushed to a Galt hospital.

Royals Move Into Second Spot; Leafs Lose Again

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Buffalo Bisons, fresh from a three-game sweep over Toronto Maple Leafs, clash with Montreal Royals in a home-and-home series beginning at Montreal tonight which may determine the first-place finisher in the International Baseball League.

The Bisons top the circuit. The Royals moved into second place, 3½ games back, by edging Ottawa Athletics 6-5 Thursday night while Rochester Red Wings lost 5-4 to Syracuse Chiefs in 13 innings and are 3½ games off the pace.

Buffalo disposed of Toronto 7-5 in 10 innings Thursday night in a see-saw game with both teams chalking up 14 hits.

Homers by Frank Carswell and Bill Tuttle in the 10th gave the Bisons the sweep at Toronto. Paul Foytack, the last of five Buffalo pitchers, won his second game in two nights. Jack Wallaesa hit a three-run homer in the Bisons' half of the first, his 23rd circuit clout of the campaign.

Outfielder Bob Boyd, recalled by Chicago White Sox of the American League following his tearful farewell appearance with the Leafs by hitting safely in two trips to the plate, ills clouted a triple and four singles.

The Royals used three relievers to edge the A's at Ottawa for an even split in the double-header at Art Fabbro, the second of four Montreal hurlers, won. Outfielder Sandy Amoros hit his 18th homer for Montreal.

Third baseman Hector Rodriguez cracked a ninth-inning double to drive in the tying run and Rollie Truex another double in the 12th to knock in the winning run as the Chiefs edged the Wings at Rochester.

Baltimore Orioles edged the fall-cast Colts 2-1 at Springfield on Arch Wilson's fifth-inning single. Dick Starr started for Baltimore and got credit for the win, although relieved in the sixth.

Canadian Canoe Regatta Opens

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's 1953 two-day paddling classic—the 33rd annual Canadian Canoe Association championship regatta—opens today on the quiet waters of Mooney's Bay course near Ottawa.

Four 10,000-metre events will get the regatta under way while 17 clubs will be out for the 1,000-point divisional honors and the regatta championship. The club that compiles the most points is awarded the association "burgee," emblematic of club supremacy.

Lloyd Rice, 25-year-old Toronto textile cutter, will probably be one of the lustiest blade-wielders at Mooney's Bay. Rice, who paced Toronto Sailing and Canoe Club last year to their first championship in 9 years, captured two of those 10,000-metre events and today will be defending those honors.

It was the first time in CCA history that a paddler had taken two 10,000-metre events in the same day. Rice captured the 10,000-metre double blade single in a kayak and the 10,000-metre single blade single.

The other two 10,000 - metre events to be run off today are the single blade tandem and the double blade tandem.

Five clubs are entered from Montreal, three from Toronto, two from Ottawa and one each from Peterborough, Ont., Gananoque, Ont., Lachine, Que., Trois-Rivieres, Que., Quebec City, Sudbury, Ont., and Winnipeg.

The clubs can compete only in the events in which they placed at divisional trials held in Ontario and Quebec earlier in the summer.

Many of the clubs arrived in the capital Thursday and took to the water to limber up at once after the trip.

The Mooney's Bay course is the permanent site for the regatta. It is located three miles from the heart of Ottawa.

Frees Himself From Moving Belt

PICKERING (CP) — Chester Showers fought a three-minute battle with death, and won.

The 43-year-old mechanic was repairing a combine on a farm near this village eight miles west of Oshawa when his leg became caught in a moving conveyor belt which carries the grain into the separation cylinder.

Showers dropped his tools and pulled with all his strength. He freed himself, but not before his trousers were almost ripped off and his boot was torn from his trapped foot.

Noted Oarsman Fatally Injured

OTTAWA (CP)—Donald Gordon (Danny) Beal, 47, prominent Ottawa business man and sportsman died in hospital Thursday from injuries suffered in a car accident Wednesday.

Mr. Beal was one of the top oarsmen in Canada for many years and was coach of the Ottawa Rowing Club. He competed for Canada at two Olympics and was in the 1930 British Empire Games. He coached many amateur crews in the Canadian Henley.

He was vice-president of Ottawa Business Consultants Ltd.

FAIL TO RECOVER BODIES

Aide to Martin Claimed Involved In Contract Deal

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The Windsor Star Thursday published a contradictory affidavit purporting to be from Emerson, secretary to Health Minister Martin, with commissions paid for obtaining government contracts.

The affidavit, signed by Beni Reaume, part-owner of Textile Plastics Limited, a Windsor textile firm, said that when the contract for the original 725 per cent of the capital stock was to be held in trust by Dr. Emerson."

J. A. Kennedy, Progressive Conservative candidate in Essex East in the June 10 by-election, said he had asked Prime Minister St. Laurent for an investigation of the affidavit's statements before polling day. He added: "I would like to make it plain that I am not sponsoring these charges. . . I don't know whether they are true or not."

Mr. Martin, Liberal candidate in Essex East, said, an investigation last March into matters mentioned in the affidavit showed that Mr. Emerson was innocent of any impropriety.

Mr. Emerson said "the allegation that I received or was promised any consideration whatsoever is false, of course, a bare-faced lie."

Fifty firemen from Smiths Falls and nearby Perth and Merrickville brought the fire under control.

Party Combines Work and Play In Quebec's North

MONTREAL (CP)—In Quebec's northland, in the uninhabited region around Clearwater Lake, an enthusiastic party is busy at prospecting, exploration, and its life study and sport.

Clearwater lake, the centre of operations, is 600 miles north and it is roughly 800 miles north of Montreal and due east of Richmond Gulf on the eastern side of Hudson Bay.

Some of the party are from the United States, interested in the possibility of lead ore locations. When the expedition returns in a month or six weeks there may be important information for Quebec as a result of the scientific research. There likely will also be information about giant lake trout, speckled trout, the arctic charr and the little-known golden-colored trout.

Members of the party all have prospectors' licences and parapines sails for staking claims. They have formed themselves into a company—Clearwater Explorations, Ltd.

First hospital in Canada, the Hotel Dieu at Quebec, was opened in 1639 by Roman Catholic nursing sisters.

Accuses Truckers Of Allowing US Group to Dictate

TORONTO (CP) — A transport official Thursday accused striking Hamilton truck drivers of "shelving the dictates of the American Teamsters' group who are ordered acting to control Canada's entire distribution system."

The charge came from William Murray, manager of the Motor Transport Industrial Relations Bureau. He was commenting on an announcement that James Hoffa of Detroit, vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (IATL), was due in Toronto today to address a union meeting.

At Hamilton, Pat Delaney, business agent for the 1,200-member Windsor-Hamilton local, said union representatives from Detroit, Windsor, Chatham and Hamilton will talk to the meeting.

The strike, over wages, nearing the end of its second week, has tied up Canada trade in southwestern Ontario.

Sunday School Lesson:

Virtues Are Creative

By ROY L. SMITH

Religion that is really good for something is not content with negative things one must not do about the possession of a series of creative virtues.

Most of us know what grace is, but it is left for Paul to tell us how we also know what fruit do when it is allowed to develop the mastery of life. But the great virtues are in every sense creative as the beatitudes were. Any man who incorporates them into his life will find them producing in him those new qualities which make him a new man.

Virtues Creative Virtues

The Apostle Paul was the greatest interpreted of Christianity the world has ever known. All the great theologians have really been men who have followed him at some distance) in the sense of the indestitigable evangelist and missionary. To him the ultimate in Christian living was the product of seven great Christian virtues. If any man could have these within his heart and mind his life was an assured success.

The Uniform Sunday School Lesson for August 2: "The Christian Home." Ephesians 5:15-25; 6:1-4; Colossians 3:12-21.

Compassion, kindness, lowliness, meekness, longsuffering, forbearance, and the spirit of forgiveness! What a galaxy of graces! What a contrast they make to the traits urged upon us by the apostles of peevery, and the advocates of modern success! Aggressiveness, initiative, confidence, belief in self, positiveness, decisiveness, system!

As On Your Homes

Translating the Christian virtues into the most simplest terms, and applying them to the first great social institution—the home —we get something entirely new. Christianity did not invent the idea of the home. The anthropologists tell us that there were homes before there were governments or organized religions. But the home has been the recipient of great reinforcements at the hands of Judaism, and in turn from Christianity.

The Jewish home was the most splendid and gracious of all the homes of the ancients, and the home life of the Jews was their glory. The home in which Jesus grew up in Nazareth must have been something of sublime beauty. But even there we find some of the finest characteristics lacking.

In the seven virtues Paul insisted upon we find the beats of democracy inside the home, a spirit or equality and good-will without which there can be no real home. And unless the democratic process can be made to work inside the home, it cannot be made to work in government.

Authority of Love

Everywhere in the world of the first century the woman was a chattel, except in the Jewish home. In the Roman household the wife had no rights, and before the law she was helpless in the face of her husband's charges or accusations. Her testimony was never accepted in the court in everything her husband was the Lord and Master. She was no better than property.

The first century Christians were surrounded on all sides by paganism with pagan standards dominating business, politics, charity, and home life. It was asking too much to expect those early disciples to make a clean break with everything they had known and all in which they had been trained.

Paul accepted the popular formula, and announced that the husband was to be the head of the house. But that head must be dominated by Christian love. That made him a different creature. Indeed, if the spirit of Christian love could be made to dominate the whole of family life, the institution of the family could be redeemed, and every individual within the family would be the beneficiary thereby. No head of a house would be a dictator.

There must be government inside the home, but that government must never be organized for the purpose of exalting one member of the family and humiliating another. Neither good sense nor good religion would ever sanction a tyrant in his tyranny, no matter what his theology might be—or even what her theology might be.

FATHER MEETS SON

OSSINING, N.Y. (AP)—An ex-convict father left Sing Sing prison after saying goodbye to his son, just arrived as a prisoner in the death house. John Martin, Sr., had completed his attempted larceny term. John Martin, Jr., 18, arrived three days before, under sentence of death for taking part in the robbery and murder of a Brooklyn grocer.

Five RCAF Men Facing Charges At Lachine, Que.

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF said Thursday that five members of the RCAF at Lachine, Que., have been charged with stealing public funds and will face court-martial.

They are LAC. J. J. O. Lambert, 21, Grande Rivier, Que., LAC. J. E. P. A. LaPorte, 20, Montreal; LAC C. T. Howard, 20, Victoria; and two brothers, AC. C. Therien, 20, and LAC. J. Y. R. Therien, 18, both of St. Remi, Que.

The RCAF said all five were taken into custody last week. The date of the court-martial was not known here.

The air force said earlier this week the five were arrested following an audit of financial accounts at the Lachine air base.

It said about $1,500 had been misappropriated, and that a large part of the money had been recovered.

Unofficial reports put the amount involved as high as $20,000.

The Montreal Gazette in a news story quoted an informant as saying that pay cheques of the men involved were left unsigned, and cheques made out in the names of fictitious wing commanders or air commodores to cover the difference.

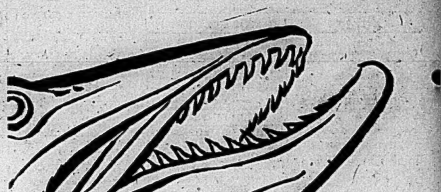
CANNOT HONOR CHAMP

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Authorities cancelled a reception to be held at the city hall by non-Europeans for Jake Tuli, Johannesburg native holder of the Empire flyweight boxing championship. Police told the city council in this race-conscious city that there might be difficulty in maintaining order.

Claims Zhukov Now Real Power In Soviet Russia

LONDON (AP)—The Evening News said Thursday "the real power in Russia has passed to a military government" by the famous wartime hero Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov.

"This dramatic development," says the News, "has taken place—according to reports to (Prime Minister) Sir Winston Churchill during the last few days—because Premier Georgi Malenkov, still faced with the opposition of strong pro-Beria elements, has had to turn to the professional marshal as the only force in Russia capable of maintaining his regime."



The article was signed by the paper's diplomatic correspondent, C. F. Melville. The News, an independent Conservative paper, is directed by Lord Rothermere.

Melville said the two other members of the reported military triumvirate were Marshals A. M. Vasilevsky and Vassily D. Sokolovsky.

The three marshals, he said, are "the power behind the throne" and are strongly in favor of peace with the West, because they "believe Russia is not in a position to risk conflict."

Sunday Is Canadians' Day of Thanksgiving

IN KOREA (CP) — Brig. Jean Allard, commander of Canada's 25th infantry brigade, declared Thursday that Sunday Aug. 2 will be a day of thanksgiving and remembrance for the brigade. He said there will be massed brigade parade in late August.
